Taliaferro, James G.		DIED-At Latham, Mr. James G. Taliaferro, aged 79 years. The deceased was an old

	resident of this county, a man of the highest character, and was esteemed and beloved by all. He leaves an aged wife and six children, four sons and two daughters, of whom Captain W. W. of Boonville, J. Ed., of Kansas City, Mrs. Dr. Fryor, of Kingsville, and Mrs. Dr. Latham were with him at the end. We tender deep sympathy to the bereaved family.-Tipton (Mo) Times. Mr. Taliaferro was a native of this county but left here more than half a century ago. He was a cousin of Maj. John Taliaferro, of this city, and married a sister of our fellow townsman, Ed. T. Woodward. The Democrat, Wednesday, December 14, 1892.
Taliaferro, John	Death of John Taliaferro. We are not an old people and Winchester is not an old town when one life spans more than three-fourths of our corporate existence, and this is the case with the life of John Taliaferro who died at his home on the corner of Maple and Hickman streets at an early hour Saturday morning. He had seen Winchester grow from a little village of a few hundred inhabitants, none of whom had ever dreamed of water works, telephones, electric lights or even coal oil, to a city with metropolitan advantages and metropolitan airs, and all this growth he had been an important factor. His father, Hay Taliaferro, and mother Elizabeth Tutt Taliaferro, the former born in 1770 and the latter in 1780, came here from Virginia in 1800, and for a while operated the hotel which is now the Rees House. His father died of his wounds received in the Revolutionary war. Hay Taliaferro was a well educated man, and was educated at William and Mary College. He died here in 1835, his wife having preceded him to the grave years before. John Taliaferro was born near the suburbs of this city, on what is now the Jackson Ferry pike, July 24th 1814, and consequently was in his eighty-fourth year. June 9th, 1842, he was married in the same house in which he died to Miss Lucy Elizabeth Hickman, daughter of Wm. Hickman and niece of Lieutenant-Governor Hickman, Eld. Thos. P. Dudley officiating. One son and three daughters were born to them; the former, Charles, died when quite young; the latter surviving, viz: Mrs. Sarah Morton, Mrs. W. M. Beckner and Mrs. Dr. McKinley. In 1830 he entered the dry goods trade and until 1882 was engaged in that and until 1882 was engaged in that business most of the time. In 1842 he went to Lexington and engaged in business with Alexander and Levi Prewitt. After four years he returned to Winchester where he had since lived with the exception of a short while in Kenton county and a shorter one in Saline county, Mo. While in this city he was in partnership at various times with John Martin and Chas. Taliaferro; A. L. Ferguson and David Hampton; Thos. Moore and E. S. Jouett; Lewis Hampton and E. S. Jouett and with Richard French. In his commercial dealing he was always the soul of honor and had not his goodness of heart caused him to give almost unlimited credit which was often abused, he would have been wealthy. He was the last survivor of five brothers and three sisters. One sister, Mary Tutt, married Judge Richard French and was the mother of Judges C. S. and Jas. French, and Rev. Richard French. Another, Margaret Aylett, married Edmond Hockaday, who formerly lived here, but who moved to Missouri and died. Two brothers, Hay and Philip, were Baptist preachers. The deceased was brought up in the Episcopal Church, but joined the Presbyterian Church, and while living in Lexington in 1846 was chosen as Elder of the Church there, being ordained by Rev. Nathan Hall. The following year, on his return to this city, he was elected an Elder of the Winchester Church, of which Rev. W. C. Matthews was then pastor. Ever since that time he has filled that position and at his death was one of the oldest Elders in point of service in the State. His title of Major was probably an honorary one as is the case with many Kentuckians, although he was a Lieutenant in Capt. L. B. Yates' Company of State Militia in 1838. He took an interest in politics as he did in everything else, but was not a blatant, bitter partisan. He was Circuit Clerk from 1808 to 1874, which was the only elective office he ever held. He was twice Postmaster. Once about the time of the Mexican war and again during Cleveland's first administration. He filled these positions with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of his constituents. He was remarkably well preserved for a man of his age and until a short time before his death could be seen on the street almost any day. His death was due to kidney trouble and the end came quietly and without pain. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, the services being conducted by Rev. J. J. Chisholm. The large concourse of sorrowing friends who followed his remains to the cemetery testified to the high place he held in their estimation. The following officiated as active pallbearers: N. T. Taylor, J. D. Simpson, E. S. Jouett, J. W. Poynter, A. B. Hampton, A. H. Sympson, W. M. Harding and G. W. Strother; and the following as honorary pall-bearers: J. N. Winn, Wash. Miller, E. T. Woodward, V. W. Bush, W. H. Ecton, J. W. Bean, T. Landsberg, Wm. Fleming, J. W. Parrish, W. C. Vanmeter. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, May 2, 1898 Mrs. J. T. Bradford went to Winchester last week to attend the funeral of her uncle, Maj. John Taliaferro.—Georgetown Times. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, May 6, 1898 County Court Items Dr. I. H. McKinley qualified as administrator of John Taliaferro, with T. 	Resolutions on the Death of Major John Taliaferro. Whereas it hath pleased God in his mysterious providence to remove from our number, Major John Taliaferro, who on the 30th day of April ceased from his earthly labors and entered in to rest, therefore be it Resolved: 1st. That the Presbyterian Church has in the death of this good man lost one of her most honored and useful members. We note with pleasure the fact that for fifty-six years he has been numbered with our membership. For fifty-two years he was an Elder of the Session and for nearly forty years the Superintendent of our Sunday school. And, in all these relations he rendered diligent and faithful service. 2nd. That as the Session of our Church we hereby express our appreciation of the fellowship and co-operation we have enjoyed with him during all these years; and we hereby tender to the bereaved family the assurance of our sympathy in their sorrow, and we commend them all to the word of God and to the comfort of the Holy Spirit. 3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be handed to the family by the Clerk and another copy be furnished the city newspapers for publication. May 8, 1898, J. J. Chisholm, Moderator, J. D. Simpson, Clerk. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, May 10, 1898 An Old Residence The old residence belonging to the estate of Maj. John Taliaferro, on the corner of Hickman and Maple streets, has been longer in possession of one family than any other in the city. Eighty-five years ago it was purchased in an unfinished state by William Hickman from Mr. Couchman. It afterward descended to his daughter, Mrs. Taliaferro, and still belongs to the family. The Winchester Democrat, Fri., April 21, 1899 A pleasing feature One pleasing feature of the wedding of Miss McKinley was that both she and Rev. Charles Hay Morton are grand children of Major John Taliaferro, who lived all his life in Winchester, and died here a few years since. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, October 7, 1910

Cinnamon; grandchildren, Meaghan K. Jenkins, Hannah L. Hayslett and Gaven R. Cinnamon; sister, Nancy B. Taliaferro; and several nieces and nephews. Tapp, Eric Keith	Eric Keith Tapp, 45, dropped his robe and departed this world on Monday, March 11, 2013, for his great journey. He entered this world on April 8, 1967. He is survived by his mother, Deloris Ann Segress; his father, Maynard Tapp; his two sisters and stepsister, Sonya Tapp Forschner, Sophia Tapp and Cheryl Kimbrell; his nephew, Hagan Johnson; his stepfather, Dale Segress; and many uncles, aunts and cousins. Eric was a graduate of George Rogers Clark High School where he was the senior class president. After graduation, he attended Embry Riddle Aeronautical School in Florida. He was in the Civil Air Patrol. As co-owner of Tapp's Wallpaper, Eric was considered one of the best paper hangers in Kentucky, with many clients being celebrities and government officials. He held several patents and was an avid inventor, being a member of the Lexington Inventors Club. Some of his other activities and interests were rappelling, hiking in the Red River Gorge and collecting Star Trek memorabilia. Throughout his whole life he was always a kind and gentle man who always wanted to help the underdog in life. He had paid for some computers to be sent to the Third World countries to help the children who had none. As a young child, he helped collect toys to be sent overseas, for as he put it to his mother, "They like to play with toys, too." He lived his life like the words of Gandhi, "Be the change you wish to see in the world." Eric wanted to help as many people as he could. Dignity, not complaining and never issuing a negative word was the way he lived, like his Native American ancestors. With the help and advocacy of his mother, Eric was able to overcome obstacles that would have stopped many. His love of people, his interest in technical issues, and how the future would turn out fueled his desire to think deeply. He will be missed by all who knew him, and it is a loss for all who did not have the pleasure of meeting or knowing him. In lieu of flowers he would want to help others. Send donations to the Homeless Shelter, the National Alliance on Mental Illness, the Animal Shelter or donate a book to the library in his memory. Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m., Friday, March 15, at Scobee Funeral Home by the Rev. Her talent and looks led to her being the George Rogers Clark High School homecoming queen. She always had a big beautiful smile, always joking and laughing. After high school, Sonya went to beauty college and later opened a beauty shop and art gallery called IVOS in Lexington. She loved art and encouraged artists in their craft and displayed and sold their art in her shop. She thought highly of her clients and enjoyed their company and conversations. Tarpy, J. C.	The Winchester Sun Fri., 3-23-1928
Tarpy, John C.	Our gallant chief John Tarpy, Chief of Police, is in a dangerous condition at his home on South Main Street. A number of burglaries have been committed in this vicinity. February 28 th , the post office and store of Clint Pharis, at Ruckerville, was robbed. Thirty-five dollars in currency, eight dollars in pennies, watches, razors and other good were taken. Tom Oldham had sold some of the articles here and at Mt. Sterling. About nine o'clock Saturday night, Chief Tarpy with patrolman Tanner, Ballard and Mal Tarpy, went to

	Oldham's home in the north end to arrest him. After surrounding the house, the Chief and Ballard were admitted by Oldham. On demand for his gun, Oldham said, "Alright." As he drew his gun he began to fire, shooting Tarpy in the abdomen. Ballard then grappled with Oldham, who fired again, shooting through Ballard's hat. Ballard then called on Tarpy to shoot, which he did. Oldham was shot through the head and died instantly. At first, there was no hope for the Chief, but at this writing it is believed that he will get well. Oldham came here from Madison county. In September, 1903, he was sent to the pen for five years for stealing Woods McCord's horse. He was pardoned a few months since. He was a desperate character, and had boasted that he would not be taken alive. Mr. Tarpy is one of the best police officers Winchester ever had, and his friends are not confined to any one class. The Winchester Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, March 28, 1907 Chief of Police John C. Tarpy Succumbs to wounds received in noble discharge of duty Chief Tarpy is dead, and the veil of universal sorrow has enwrapped our city. During the past week his life seemed balanced on the threshold of death, and many were the whispered prayers ascending to heaven for his recovery. His upright character and noble temperament had endeared him to everyone, and his friends were numbered as the sands of the sea. On the night of March 23rd, Mr. Tarpy was wounded by Tom Oldham, whom he was attempting to arrest. At first, great hopes were entertained for his recovery, but complications arose, and death resulted at an early hour Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Tarpy was a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Fire department, and both bodies attended the funeral. Mr. Tarpy had been an efficient member of the Police department for about twelve years, and died bravely and nobly as he had always lived. The esteem in which he was held in this community was betokened by the handsome and numerous floral tributes. Following is the proclamation issued by Mayor Attersall, Tuesday, which was universally observed: "Chief of Police John C. Tarpy, having died of wounds received while discharging a public duty, and 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon having been named as the hour for his burial, as an evidence of respect for this faithful officer, all city offices are ordered to remain closed today, and the proprietors of all stores and other business houses are requested to keep their places of business closed from 4 o'clock until 5 this afternoon, April 2, 1907." He is survived by his wife, mother, three brothers and a sister. Resolutions were adopted by the Fire department as follows: whereas, Mr. J.C. Tarpy, who having been for a number of years a valued member of this department, having died, therefore be it resolved: First, that in the death of Mr. J.C. Tarpy, who lost his life in the noble discharge of his duty, the city has lost a brave and faithful official, the community an honorable and upright citizen, and this department a valued and efficient member. Second, that the department tenders to the family of the deceased its heartfelt sympathy in the hour of their bereavement. Third, that this department as a body attend the funeral. Fourth, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the department, a copy be sent to the family, and that same shall be published in each of the local papers. W.P. Winn, Jas T. Bohem and Stoner Ogden. The Winchester Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, April 4, 1907 In memoriam We, the Mayor and Board of Council of the city of Winchester in regular session assembled, desire to record our high esteem and regard for the late John C. Tarpy, Chief of Police, who came to his death by the hand of an assassin on the night of March 23rd, 1907, while in the faithful discharge of his duty. Death is a tragedy in any form. It makes the human hearth sick and under such circumstances, shocks the whole community. We pity the suffering and pain, we cling to the victim and pray for relief that can on earth hardly be expected. The result is inevitable. All is over, and brother, official, neighbor, friend and defender is no more. We commend his spirit to God who gave it. At the beginning of our term we elected John C. Tarpy Chief of Police for the city, a position involving many duties of great importance to the law abiding citizens of the community. Mr. Tarpy qualified and discharged those duties so faithfully we have rejoiced in the fact that we selected him for that high position. On each occasion when it was necessary to perform his duty, he did it with courage, nobly. The circumstances never daunted him, though surrounded by perils that might have intimidated a less determined and courageous man. The law breakers of the community appreciated his resolve to discharge his duty and feared his dauntless courage. While he was brave and courageous, he was sober, cool, gentlemanly and unobtrusive; he was not quick to anger, but held a perfect control over his actions, and always had the deepest desire to perform his duty without violence; these traits he manifested on every occasion. Had he been less gentle the opportunity would not have been afforded as it was, that resulted in his untimely death. We knew him to be lovable in every walk of life; to be honorable on all occasions. To his memory, we will ever accord that high place that duty well done deserves at our hands; and we trust he will be received and made perfect beyond the grave. Resolved, That this memorial be spread at large upon the records of the city as an humble token of our love and esteem; that a copy be furnished to the widow and family of the deceased. W.A. Attersall, Mayor, S.B. Tracy, Clerk. The Winchester Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, April 11, 1907

Tate, Mary	Miss Mary Tate was buried at Connersville, Ind., a few days ago. She was an eccentric old maid and it was her special request that instead of a sermon at her funeral the minister should deliver a temperance lecture, the same as if the deceased were talking to the audience herself. This was done, Rev. Mr. Joyce carrying out the instructions to the letter. Another singular thing was that she requested that her body be laid out on the piano, which was done. She was a fine music teacher and a great temperance worker. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, August 2, 1895

Tatum, George		The Richmond Pantagraph has the following concerning a former resident of this city: "On the 3rd of this month George Tatum died at the Infirmary and undertakers Collins and Brown embalmed his body. It was kept in the undertaker's room eleven days, and last Saturday looked as life-like and natural as if he were asleep. The flesh was soft and limbs flexible and not rigid as in ordinary cases of death. This is the first real success at embalming ever performed in Richmond. Tatum came from Indiana a short time before his death, looking for work, when he was taken sick and died. Several years ago he worked at the blacksmith trade at Gess' shop, three miles North of town, and was said to be an excellent workman. His wife arrived Friday to get the remains. Buried in the cemetery on Sunday." The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 20, 1896

Taulbee, Lewis	The notorious Buck Combs, the terror of Breathitt county was killed Thursday by Geo. Stevens, who lives in Montgomery county not far from Thomson. It appears that bad blood has existed for some time between Combs and some of the Hargis family who are cousins of Stevens. On the day before the killing, Combs got the drop on Stevens and made him beg for his life. At the time of his death, Combs fired several shots from a Winchester rifle into Hargis's store where Stevens was staying, but without effect. Stevens returned the fire with a shotgun loaded with buckshot killing Combs instantly. Last November Combs killed Lewis Taulbee, a cousin of Congressman Taulbee, and when put in jail broke out and openly defied authorities. He was a principal in many shooting scrapes and several years ago shot Hiram Jett through the shoulder. Stevens is said to be a quiet young man and a good citizen. The Democrat, Wednesday April 24, 1889

Taulbee, William Preston	DEATH LOVES A SHINING MARK Hon Pres. Taulbee Dies From a Bullet at the Hands of Charlie Kincaid As briefly stated in our last issue, Hon. Pres. Taulbee was shot in the capitol building at Washington, on February 28, by Chas. E. Kincaid, the Washington correspondent of the Louisville times. The shooting was the result of a feud of several years standing, and originated while Mr. Taulbee was serving his first term as a member of Congress from this district. At that time Mr. Kincaid held a position under Doorkeeper Donelson, and through some action on the part of Mr. Taulbee he lost it. Since that time Kincaid has been the bitter enemy of Taulbee, and the mountain Congressman has naturally had little love for him. The next act in the series of occurrences that finally culminated in the tragedy that has deprived our State of one of its most gifted sons, happened during

	Mr. Taulbee's second term. At that time the Louisville times published a sensational article from its Washington correspondent, Kincaid, alleging that Congressman Taulbee and a certain female employee of the Patent Office Department had been detected in a very compromising position. Whether this was true or untrue nobody knows, but it is a fact that the Times was the only paper of prominence in this or adjoining States that published it. Mr. Taulbee, with rare good sense, kept his mouth shut concerning the matter, and it soon ceased to be talked of. Shortly before the tragedy it is alleged that Taulbee met Kincaid, called him a coward and pulled his nose. Kincaid procured a pistol, and on meeting Taulbee a short while afterward fired, the ball entering the face just under the left eye. The attending physicians pronounced the wound not dangerous, as it was thought the ball had lodged in the throat. It turned out that it had taken another direction and lodged near the base of the brain producing inflammation and death. Immediately after the shooting Kincaid was arrested, and admitted to bail, but as soon as his victim died he was again arrested and lodged in jail. He is suffering from nervous prostration, and is probably in a pretty tight place, as the laws of the District of Columbia are said to be much more severe than those of this State in such affairs. Ex-Congressman, Taulbee, of Kentucky, who was shot by Chas. Kincaid, also of this State, in Washington, on February 28, died on the morning of March 11, at 5 o'clock, in that city. William Preston Taulbee was born in Morgan county, Kentucky, October 22, 1854, was educated in private county schools; studied for the ministry from 1875 to 1878; and for the law from 1878 to 1881; was admitted to the bar in 1881; resided at Salyersville, Ky.; in 1878; was elected clerk of the county court of Magoffin county, Ky.; was re-elected in 1882, 18 1884 was elected a Representative from Kentucky to the Forty-ninth Congress, and re-elected in 1886. Since that time he has resided in Washington. He brought himself into national prominence at the Kentucky State Convention at Louisville that nominated Gen. Buckner, by making a speech bitterly assailing the administration of President Cleveland. The Louisville times thus voices the sentiments of all who knew him. "The death by violence of Wm. P. Taulbee in the prime of life can not but excite the sympathy of the whole country, four years ago no American had prospect of a brighter future. "Young, eloquent, ambitious, gifted with a superb physique, popular at home and admired abroad, he was a man to be envied and his career one to be emulated. "Sprung from the people, his triumph was their victory, and illustrated the glory of a system whose genius is the equality of citizenship." The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, March 19, 1890. Charlie Kincaid, the slayer of Hon. W. P. Taulbee was Monday admitted to bail in the sum of $20,000. The Democrat, Wednesday, April 23, 1890 The trial of Charlie Kincaid, for killing of Congressman Pres. Taulbee, is set for March 16th. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, January 28, 1891 On Wednesday night the trial of Charles Kincaid for the killing of Congressman Taulbee in February 1890, ended in a verdict of acquittal on the ground of self defense, after having been engaged on the case for several weeks. The jury consisted of eight white men and four negroes. One of the jurors was to have been married on the first Tuesday after the trial began, but could not secure his release and was thus cheated out of a fortnight of wedded bliss. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, April 15, 1891 THE three little boys of the Hon. W. P. Taulbee, the murdered Congressman, were taken to Louisville last week and placed in the Masonic Orphans' Home. The Democrat, Wednesday, September 23, 1891. No section of the State can show a sadder official record than death has made in Eastern Kentucky within less than twenty years. First, Judge John M. Elliott, of the Court of Appeals, fell dead on our streets at the hands of an assassin, afterwards sentenced to death and later declared insane. Judge Richard Reid, of Mt. Sterling, of the Superior Court, died by his own hand. Senators Joseph Garder, R. M. Pieratt and James S. Hargis died while in the performance of their official duties. Congressman W. P. Taulbee was killed in Washington; Judge Van B. Young, of the Superior Court, was scarcely at rest in the grave before Congressman J. W. Kendall followed him. It is a mournful record, which all will hope may never be repeated elsewhere.----Frankfort Capital. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday March 16, 1892 MISS LAURA L. Taylor, B. W.		IN MEMORIAM At a meeting of the comrades in arms of the late Dr. B. W. Taylor, held at the office of Leeland Hathaway, in Winchester, Ky., on the 29 th of March 1875: On motion Capt. B. A. Tracy was appointed Chairman and Rodney Haggard Secretary. A Committee composed of Capt. Leeland Hathaway, Major John Catherwood, and Lieut. J. H. Croxton was appointed, who reported the following resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting which were adopted: Whereas, "The Great Captain" has ordered our comrade to the "Eternal Camp Ground," and he will no longer appear among us in life's parade; therefore be it resolved. 1. That we regret the untimely death of our friend and fellow soldier. 2. That his comrades always found him where duty called, with a heart to sympathize and a hand always ready to help. True in word and true in deed; we recognize in him many of the elements of the brightly soldier, the gallant gentleman and the loyal friend. And his faults (and who has none) were those which are too often the heritage of the gentle and the brave. May they sleep with the bones and only his virtues live after him. 3. That we attend his funeral and follow his remains in a body to the place of

		interment. 4. That we tender our sympathy to his family and kindred. 5. Upon motion the Chair appointed S. T. Talbott, J. L. Wheeler, Grant Jackson, J. H. Taylor, Carl	AA	WILLIAM WILDER, the conductor in charge of a colored excursion train from Frankfort, shot and killed Carl Taylor, one of the passengers. Taylor was a desperate colored man under indictment for murder. He attempted to kick in the door of the water-closet, and when remonstrated with by the conductor promptly knocked him down. The latter then shot him. This precipitated a riot and the train men had to defend their lives by secreting themselves in the baggage car, and drawing their revolvers, awaited an attack from the drunken mob. The Democrat, Wednesday, June 17, 1891.

Taylor, Charles M.	Dr. C. M. Taylor. The remains of C. M. Taylor arrived in this city from Little Rock, Ark., Monday night. The funeral exercises at the cemetery Tuesday morning were conducted by Rev. F. B. Wentworth, of the Episcopal church. The pall bearers were F. H. Dudley, B. F. Curtis, Capt. Leland Hathaway, J. G. Winn, J. D. Simpson, R. C. Estill, W. W. Estill, Judge Geo. B. Nelson. Dr. Taylor was a son of John Pendleton Taylor. He was born about five miles west of this city, 74 years ago. Before the Civil War, he went south. He was surgeon-general of the Trans-Mississippi Dept. of the Confederate Army. After the War he went to Arkansas where he became prominent and wealthy. His first wife was Miss Gibson. They had one daughter, now Mrs. John McClintock, of Lexington, Ky. About nine years ago he was married to Miss Julia Prewitt, of this county. Two children were born to them. One is an infant less than a year old. Dr. Taylor was of distinguished lineage and reflected credit on his ancestors. The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, April 20, 1905 Dr. Taylor, who died at his home in Little Rock, Ark., was a brother-in-law of David Prewitt, and a cousin of our merchant, J. H. Taylor. The Sun-Sentinel, Thur., April 20, 1905 To Break Will It is reported from Lexington that Mrs. Maud McClintock, wife of John McClintock, will shortly institute legal proceedings to recover her share of her father's estate, in Arkansas, which she claims to have been unjustly deprived of by the will of her father, the late Dr. Chas. Taylor, of Little Rock, Arkansas, recently deceased. The estate is supposed to be worth $250,000. Mrs. McClintock is a daughter of Dr. Taylor's first wife, and was left only a small part of the estate. The Sun-Sentinel, Thur., July 27, 1905 Suit To Break Will Mrs. Maude McClintock, of Lexington, has filed suit at Little Rock, Ark., to break the will of her father, the late Dr. Charles M. Taylor, who left her five thousand dollars and the remainder of his real estate was left in trust for his wife and two children by his second wife. A large amount of personal property was left to his wife absolutely. Dr. Taylor was born in this county in 1830, and died at Little Rock about a year ago. His first wife was Mrs. Irene Johnson, of Scott county. Of this marriage was one child, Maude. After the death of his first wife Dr. Taylor married Miss Julia Prewitt, of this county. In 1893 Miss Maude Taylor married Mr. John McClintock, formerly of this city. Her father was opposed to the match and never became reconciled to his daughter. The estate is said to be worth a half million dollars or more. The Winchester Democrat, Tue., April 17, 1906 To break a will Hon. Charlie Pronston and Col. John Allen, of Fayette county, have gone to Little Rock, Arkansas, as attorneys for Mrs. Maud McClintock, wife of John McClintock, in contesting the will of her father, Dr. Chas. Taylor, who died some months ago. Dr. Taylor was a native of this county who moved to Arkansas shortly after the war. In 1868 he married the widow of Dr. John Jordan and possessing a handsome fortune. Of this marriage, the only issue was one daughter, Maud, who married John McClintock in 1893. This marriage was very distasteful to Dr. Taylor who never forgave his daughter. After remaining a widower many years Dr. Taylor in 1895 married Miss Julia Prewitt, daughter of Richard Prewitt, of this county, who with a little son and daughter, survive him. He left an estate said to be worth over half a million dollars. By his will he left Mrs. McClintock only five thousand dollars, the bulk of the estate being left to his surviving wife and her children. It is contended as a basis of the suit to break the will that most of Dr. Taylor's estate came by his first wife and that it was unjust that her only child should receive but five thousand dollars. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, November 6, 1906 Mrs. McClintock wins The suit to break the will of the late Charles M. Taylor, of Little Rock, Arkansas, which was instituted by Mr. John McClintock, of Lexington, resulted in her favor by a verdict of the jury rendered at a late hour Saturday night. The estate is valued at $520,000 and she was left $5,000 by her father with a provision that if she contested the will she was only to get one cent. By the verdict of the jury she will get about $115,000. Under the will the bulk of the estate would have gone to his two children by his last wife, as she was left only about what she would have inherited without a will. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, November 20, 1906 Another trial When the will of Dr. C. M. Taylor, of Arkansas was probated it was found that he had left his daughter, Mrs. John McClintock, of Lexington, only five thousand dollars out of an estate valued at half a million dollars. She brought suit to set aside the will, and the jury in the lower court sustained her contention. It went to the Supreme court of the state which reversed the decision of the lower court. This week the attorneys for the will endeavored to have this opinion extended so as to dismiss the suit to break the will but the higher court refused to do so. The case now stands as it did at the beginning and a new trial will be had in the lower court.

	The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, July 21, 1908 Case compromised Big will case settled by a compromise – Mrs. John McClintock gets part of her father’s estate Much interest has been manifested in the suit of Mrs. Maude McClintock, wife of John McClintock, to break the will of her father, Dr. Chas. M. Taylor. Many years ago, Dr. Taylor, a native of this county, went to Arkansas where he married a widow of much wealth; she, a few years later died, leaving one child as the result of the marriage, this child being now Mrs. McClintock. Dr. Taylor afterward married Mrs. Julia Prewitt, of this county, who with two children, survived him. Dr. Taylor was much opposed to the marriage of his daughter, Maude to John McClintock, and when the father died he left her but five thousand dollars. The rest of the estate, valued at more than half a million dollars was left to the widow and two younger children. Mrs. McClintock brought suit to break the will and was successful in the lower court. The decision was reversed by the Court of Appeals and a new trial of the case was set for this week. News was received here Saturday that a compromise had been effected by which Mrs. McClintock was to receive one-sixth of the estate, outside the dower, or about fifty thousand dollars, and pay the costs of the suit. Taylor, Doc	A story comes from Middlesborough to this effect: "During the last days of "Doc" Taylor, hanged at Wise's Courthouse, Va., several months ago, he constantly told his keeper and others with whom he talked that he would rise from the dead, and in his famous funeral oration from his jail window, to the assembled mountaineers, he reiterated the statement with emphasis. Recently, it is said, he has been seen at the house in which he lived in Scott county, Va. He came to the house and asked for a drink of water. After drinking, he said in sepulchral tones: "I am Doc Taylor," and disappeared. Two weeks later he was seen riding along the road near Norton. A few nights ago he was seen upon the streets of Whitesburg, but when approached he disappeared. The region where these stories are told is inhabited entirely by mountaineers who are illiterate and very superstitious and excitement is running high. Taylor was at one time in his life a leading physician in that district and was known by nearly every man, woman and child. Those who have seen the apparition declare it to be he." The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 6, 1894

Taylor, Joe	AA	Killed His Brother Saturday morning Jerry Taylor, colored, and his brother, Joe Taylor, who work in the lumber yards at Ford, were engaged in loading a car with lumber, when they became engaged in an argument over some trivial matter, and Jerry, the elder one, attacked his brother without warning and cut and slashed him in a furious manner. Numerous cuts and stabs on the breast and a vicious cut in the abdomen which almost disemboweled the victim attested the fury of the elder brother. The murderer made his escape at once. The men were sons of Jack Taylor, the well known colored blacksmith, who stands very high in the estimation of everybody who knows him. The Winchester Democrat, Tue., Oct. 24, 1899

Taylor, Jordan	THE Hopkinsville Kentuckian comments after, the following fashion on the recent hanging of Beverly Adams in that town: “The hanging of a friendless negro in this city Friday was not the kink of an execution that is most needed in this county to make criminals respect the law. Out of twelve legal hangings in this county but one of them ended the career of a white man. There have been plenty of opportunities to punish white murderers, but somehow or other they have all managed to save their necks, and most of them their liberty. So it has been with colored criminals who could raise enough money to resist the law. It is only the poor and friendless negroes who have been hanged in Christian county during the last forty years. Within the last few years men just as guilty as Beverly Adams have been turned loose by chicken-hearted juries. The execution of one guilty prominent citizen, white or colored, would do as much good as the hanging of a dozen Jordan Taylors and Beverly Adamses.” The Winchester Democrat, Friday, October 5, 1894.

Taylor, Josiah G.	By A Hidden Foe. Josiah Taylor Shot From Ambush—His Wounds May Prove Fatal—A Feud Threatens to Break Out. Pineville, Ky., July 18.—Josiah G. Taylor is a feud victim. He was shot from ambush and his wounds are thought to be fatal. Taylor is a school teacher and a member of the family which for years, waged a feud with the Lees—a feud that numbers in its record many deaths. He was riding along the banks of the Pucket creek, returning from his school through the woods, when a rifle shot rang out and he reeled from his horse. He was found by friends soon after, weltering in the blood that poured from murderous wounds. There is little hope for his life. Such an incident will scarcely be passed unnoticed by the feudists, in whose breasts the flames of old differences have been smoldering for a long time. Patrolmen Clay Park and Wilburn Bean, who investigated the affray, reported that they found Taylor dead when they arrived at the residence. His throat had been cut with a razor and he died instantly. It was reported the two had been in an argument and Taylor had hit the negro woman with an oil lamp, cutting a gash in her head. She immediately produced a straight razor and cut his throat, officers were informed. The woman surrendered to officers and was immediately taken to the Clark county hospital for treatment. She will remain in the hospital until doctors permit her removal, when she will then be placed in the Clark county jail on charges of murder. Coroner Ben S. Bartlett conducted an inquest into the case, at the request of Police Chief Mal Tarp. At the conclusion of his investigation, Coroner Bartlett announced that Taylor came to his death "as the result of wounds across his throat inflicted with a razor of the straight type in the hands of Mary Shepherd." 		Blevins; and brothers, Warren and Ireland, all of Mount Sterling. She is survived by sisters Mabel McClure and Elizabeth Vassetti of Louisville and Katherine Goodwin of Fort Pierce, Fla.; and numerous nieces and nephews. She lived most of her early life in Mount Sterling and graduated from Mount Sterling High School in 1931. She was a graduate of the Kentucky Wesleyan College and began her teaching career in a two-room schoolhouse in Montgomery County, which she later visited at the age of 94. She received advanced degrees from the University of Kentucky and remained a Kentucky Wildcat fan all of her life. During World War II, she was a supervisor at a munitions plant near Louisville. After the war ended, she moved to Winchester and returned to teaching. She taught elementary grades at Trapp, Hickman Street and Hannah McClure schools. She later became the pupil personnel director for Clark County Schools. She returned to the classroom when she moved to Louisville late in her career. She was lauded by many students who had the opportunity to have her as a teacher as their favorite teacher. She was a longtime member of the First Methodist Church in Winchester, and later when she retired to Ft. Myers, Fla., she joined Winkler Baptist Church where a former student was the minister. She will be remembered for her giving spirit, her great energy and her creativity that she exhibited in so many venues: her classroom, her needlework, her gardens, and her beautiful Christmas candy boxes that contained a wide variety of homemade confections so artfully arranged and delighted by all who received them. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests that a donation be made to Lexie Bryant Taylor Memorial Scholarship that has been established at Kentucky Wesleyan in Owensboro. The Winchester Sun December 10, 2012

Taylor, Lynn		Lynn Taylor – Whose Desertion of His Fiancée at the altar, Caused Her Suicide, Follows Her Example. Cynthiana, Ky., Nov. 10 – Lynn Taylor, aged 34, hanged himself with a halter to a rafter in his mother’s barn Tuesday. Taylor’s body was found at five o’clock Tuesday afternoon. He had been dead for several hours. The last seen of him alive was early Tuesday morning. Exactly two weeks ago Tuesday his sweetheart, Miss Mary Burns, hanged herself in precisely the same way. For some time she had been engaged to Lynn Taylor, but parental objections had prevented the marriage. These objections were removed a short time ago and the wedding set for October 26. All the preparations had been made and the guests were assembling when word was received that young Taylor had boarded the north-bound train at Cynthiana and left for parts unknown. The intended bride’s grief was pathetic. Friends did everything possible to console her, but she slipped away on pretense of wanting to be alone. She went straight to the stable and hanged herself. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday November 16, 1897
Taylor, M. G.		The death of Capt. J. L. Wheeler brings to mind the fact that death is fast decimating the ranks of the Muckletonian Club, at one time the most prominent hunting and fishing club of the South. It was organized in 1872 with eighteen of the most prominent men of Winchester and vicinity as members. In addition to scores of minor trips they occasionally went on more extensive ones to Florida, Arkansas, the Pacific Slope, etc. These trips were truly days of true pleasure and good fellowship. Not a word of discord ever marred the harmony of their meetings. Col. R. N. Winn was the first President and still fills that position, although the remaining members are so few and scattered that the meetings of late years have been few. The first member die was John J. Eubank, followed in succession by Ben P. Goff, S. Grant Jackson, M. G. Taylor, Jas. D. Gay, David A. Gay, D. T. Buckner, John W. Prewitt, John A. Judy and J. L. Wheeler. The surviving members are R. N. Winn, Leeland Hathaway, J. D. Simpson, A. H. Sympson, and T. F. Phillips, of this city; Geo. R. Snyder and R. J. Snyder, of Louisville and Sam McKee, of Philadelphia. Ten have passed over the dark river while eight await the summons to join their comrades on the other side. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, May 4, 1894 Will Book 2, Page 36 Dated: October 17, 1874 Recorded: June 29, July 25, August 26, 1887

Taylor, Mary T.	Member of an Old Family Dead Miss Mary T. Taylor, who died in Lexington on the 21 st inst., was a sister of the late Hubbard B. Taylor, of this county, and daughter of the late Reuben T. Taylor, who together with his older brother, Hubbard Taylor, was among the earliest settlers of Clark county. General James Taylor came out a few years before Hubbard and Reuben and settled at Newport, Ky. These three brothers took a prominent part in the early settlement of their respective counties. The death of Miss Taylor leaves only one representative of the family, Mrs. Sarah L. Eginton, widow of the late Charles Eginton, Esq., who for his long career as a lawyer at this bar, over fifty years, is well known to all the older citizens of the county. Mrs. Eginton and Miss Taylor are aunts of the Hon. F. H. Dudley, of this city. Hubbard Taylor, Esq., was the grand-father of the late Dr. Hubbard Taylor whose memory will remain fresh in many hearts in this community. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, January 26, 1897 Wills Probated The wills of Mrs. Sarah L. Eginton and her sister, Miss Mary T. Taylor, were probated Monday, F. H. Dudley being named in each as executor. Mrs. Eginton recites the fact that most of property had been distributed and that her estate would consist of only the unspent income from the life interest of the property left by her husband, Charles Eginton. Mr. Dudley as trustee was directed to use this in beautifying and improving the cemetery lot. The will was dated in May, 1896. Miss Mary Taylor's will was made in December, 1894. She leaves $100 to Raymond C. Gray and the remainder to her brothers and sisters, the children of those dead to receive the share that would otherwise have gone to the parents. Those mentioned are Francis T. Taylor, Ann H. Dudley, James Taylor, Hubbard Taylor, Catherine Taylor, Edmund Taylor, Sarah L. Eginton, Reuben Taylor and John Taylor. The second wife of Francis Taylor and her children are not to participate and the share left to Parker Dudley is to be invested for his children. Taylor, Mrs. Boone	Killing at Athens At the Democratic primary in the Athens precinct Monday Chad Taylor and Lucien

	Boone, two young men, were seen standing together at some distance from the crowd talking earnestly together. Suddenly they separated and Boone drew a pistol and killed Taylor. He then sprang on his horse and made his way rapidly towards Clay's Ferry; when he got into the river hills, he abandoned his horse, escaped through the woods, and has not been found. The two men were step brothers, Taylor's father having married Boone's mother. The older people did not get along well together, and the woman tried to commit suicide by shooting herself; the ball entered the leg necessitating amputation from which she died. Thos. Taylor, Mrs. Carrie	Mrs. R.P. Taylor Death of the most estimable lady in Lexington yesterday morning Mrs. Carrie Taylor, wife of R. Pendleton Taylor, died at nine o'clock yesterday morning at a Lexington hospital where she had been for sometime. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn her death. Before her marriage she was Miss Prewitt, a daughter of the late Squire Wm. Prewitt. She was a lady of lovely Christian character, whose many kind and charitable deeds, performed in her sweet and gentle manner, will long be remembered, and her memory cherished by those who knew and loved her best. She possessed many beautiful traits, but perhaps the most edifying and admirable were her devotion and unselfish love for home, husband and children. Here in this sacred sanctuary her sun shone resplendent, and her kind hands and loving heart never wearied in ministrations of love. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved husband and motherless children, but the inheritance she leaves them of a beautifully spent life, will be cherished as a priceless legacy. The remains were brought to this city yesterday afternoon, but up to the hour of going to press no funeral arrangements had been made. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, July 7, 1908 Laid to rest The funeral of Mrs. R.P. Taylor, Mrs. Thomas Ann		Death of Mrs. Taylor Mrs. Thomas Ann Taylor died at her residence on South Main street at an early hour yesterday morning. Her death was very unexpected as she was on the street a few days ago. A deep cold developed into pneumonia and the end came soon. Her maiden name was Atkinson, and she was born here sixty-eight years ago. She married Matt Taylor, a prominent business man of this city, who died a score of years ago or more. Left a widow with three daughters, she bravely took up the battle of life alone and has lived in and for her children. Three daughters survive her, Mrs. Stuart Johnson, of Lexington, Mrs. Will Delaney, of Wichita, Kansas, and Miss Lizzie Taylor, who has resided with her mother, but who for some months has been visiting her sister at Wichita. The deceased had long been a member of the First Christian church. Her daughter, Miss Lizzie, was telegraphed for when her mother's illness first assumed a serious form and is now on the road. The funeral arrangements will not be made until her arrival. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 13, 1895 Mrs. Taylor's will directs that her property be placed with a trustee for the benefit of her daughter, Miss A.E. Taylor so long as she remains unmarried. When she marries the income from the estate is to be divided equally between the three daughters of testator, Miss Taylor, Mrs. Lula Johnson and Mrs. Florence Dulaney. If either should die without issue, the property is to go to the others. The Court appointed F.H. Dudley as trustee. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, January 28, 1896

Taylor, Nannie	AA	Fatal Shot At 9 o'clock Friday in "Buck," on the steps in front of Eliza Boone's eating house Eli Cary, 22, shot and killed Nannie Taylor, 18, both colored. So far as can be learned there was no justification for the deed. The girl was of bad repute, but her father, Tim Taylor, is a worthy citizen. Carey is a bad character. The Sun-Sentinel, Thur., Aug. 4, 1904 Where Is Eli? Since he murdered Nannie Taylor in Bucktown last Friday night and got away, Eli Cary, colored, has "been seen" in a dozen places, and telephone messages have called the officers miles in the county only to find that their informants were mistaken. Rumors as to Cary's whereabouts are as numerous as they are unreliable. The most persistent is that Cary is still in Bucktown, protected by his friends, and frequently visits his old haunts disguised as a woman. The officers have made diligent search but so far have been unable to locate the murderer. The Sun-Sentinel, Thur., Aug. 4, 1904 Got Eli. Slayer of Nannie Taylor Safely Locked in the Clark County Jail. "Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 24 "J. T. Stokely, Winchester, Ky. "Got Eli, Will arrive there with him at 2:45 p. m. Woodson McCord." So ran a telegram received by Deputy Stokely yesterday morning. Four weeks ago Eli Cary, colored, apparently without provocation, shot and killed Nannie Taylor, a young colored woman of the town. Cary escaped and so effectively covered his trail that the officers, although they put forth every effort and diligently pursued every theory advanced, were baffled. Numerous false clues were run down, the search extending in one direction as far as Pittsburg, Pa. The officers did not, however, lose hope. A reward was offered, a description of the fugitive was sent broadcast, the wires were freely used, and when a message Tuesday evening from Middlesboro to Sheriff McCord announced the capture in that city of a negro thought to be Eli Cary there was cause for congratulation but little surprise. Sheriff McCord arrived in Middlesboro at 4:55 yesterday morning and readily identified the prisoner. A few hours later he started back with his charge, arriving here at 2:45 p.m. The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, August 25, 1904

Taylor, Turner	AA	Killing in the county Saturday, Sherman Hall, a well known white man, who for several years has raised tobacco for Joe L. Brown, came to town and got drunk and boisterous. He was arrested and fined, but went with Mr. Brown home in the latter's buggy. When they arrived at Mr. Brown's home, a negro, Turner Taylor, who lives on the place, met them to put away the horse and vehicle. There had been trouble before between Hall and the negro concerning some potatoes and Hall made an allusion to it. Nothing further came of the

		trouble and both of them went home. There they both armed themselves and returning they met each other near Mr. Brown's yard. What passed between them, if anything is not known, but in a few minutes Hall went to the house and told Mr. Brown that he had killed the negro, but that the latter fired first. It is said that the negro declared that Hall fired first. No persons were present but the negro's wife and she testified before the Coroners jury that Taylor was not armed. He was shot in the bowels with a shotgun and lived several hours. Coroner Brinegar held an inquest with the following jury: H.V. Thompson, W.M. Rob, J.H. Campbell, Simon King, S.C. Haggard and J.W. McKinney. After an investigation the jury returned a verdict reciting that Taylor came to his death from a gun shot wound in his bowels inflicted by Sherman Hall, but made no further comment. It is said that the parties who heard the shots will say that the pistol shot was fired first thus supporting the claim of Hall that the negro fired first. Officers Bedford and Tanner arrested Hall that night and lodged him in jail. He was brought before Judge Evans yesterday morning and his bail was fixed at one thousand dollars which he gave; his examination trial is set for tomorrow. As Circuit court is now in session it was thought that the case would be at once brought before the Grand jury and perhaps tried this week but this cannot be done as the following letter from Judge Benton will explain: Winchester, Ky., Sept., 25, 1906. I have been frequently asked if I would have a Grand jury this week to investigate the killing of Turner Taylor by Sherman Hall. The regular Grand jury for the present term of Circuit court reported last Thursday that it had finished its work and was then discharged. When I heard of the killing of Turner Taylor, I determined to empanel a new Grand jury to investigate that killing this week, but I find that the last Legislature made such changes in the jury law that I cannot legally have another Grand jury until the December term of court. Respectfully, J.M. Benton, Circuit judge. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 25, 1906 A belligerent spirit The war spirit was rampant here Saturday night. Besides the killing of the negro Taylor by Sherman Hall, a couple of negroes named Mason were slightly cut by another negro whose name we did not learn. John Parks was cut by John Zeke Bush, Jr., both colored. Bush was arrested and while being conveyed to jail by policeman Ballard the negro resisted. The officer knocked him down several times but he finally turned the table on the officer and fled. The latter shot at the fleeing fugitive several times one shot inflicting a slight wound in the leg. Bush was arrested the next morning and lodged in jail. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 25, 1906

Taylor, William	AA	Will Taylor Hung The mills of the gods grind slowly, but occasionally the sense of retributive justice becomes so keenly alive in the minds of the people that a criminal is punished before the people have forgotten his crime. Such an instance was the hanging of Will Taylor at Richmond Friday. Murder after murder has stained the excutcheon of our sister county of every grade from the taking of life in angry strife to the cool, deliberate, premeditated assassination of a brother, and yet the murderers escaped the gallows. But the last drop in the full cup came when an honored citizen, an officer of the county was foully murdered in his own barnyard. This was too much and the aid of lynch laws would have been invoked had not Judge Scott and other officials promised a speedy and impartial trial, and used their influence to modify the righteous indignation of the people. Our readers are familiar with the crime. A few months ago Squire David Doty became convinced that his horses and mules were being taken from the stable and ridden at night. Suspicion rested upon a family of negroes named Taylor who lived on his place. A negro, Green Kavanaugh, who lived with Doty, told him that if he would go to his stable at a certain time he would catch the culprit. Doty went and found Will Taylor leading a mule from the stable. Doty spoke to the negro Taylor and the latter responded with a pistol shot followed by a couple of others and Doty fell dead. The Taylors and Kavanaugh were arrested and placed in jail on suspicion. Bloodhounds were procured and they trailed the perpetrators to the Taylor cabin. All doubts were removed when Will Taylor, made a confession. He said the other had nothing to do with the crime and that he alone was guilty. He was promptly tried and sentenced to death. Judge Scott fixing the date at the earliest day allowed by law. The condemned man, who claimed to be a preacher, showed no emotion at any time except an increased religious fervor when preparations for his execution were made. The gallows was erected in the jail yard, but so high that those on the outside had a full view of the condemned man as he stood on the scaffold. Beginning the previous day people flocked from all parts of that county and the surrounding counties and the streets and houses near the jail were packed with people when the hour for execution came. It had been expected by many that he would eventually make another confession implicating the other prisoners, but he stuck to his first statement that they had nothing to do with it. He made a rambling talk declaring that Whiskey had caused his downfall and warning others to beware of liquor and concealed weapons. After the cap had been adjusted over his face, Sheriff Simmons pulled the lever and the trap fell. Everything worked according to program and Taylor died without pain, his neck being broken. After hanging until pronounced dead by the physicians he was taken down and the remains were given to his half brother, Jas. Vaughn, of this city, and they were buried here Saturday. This is the first legal hanging in Madison county since some time during the war, when a negro slave was hung for the murder of Lewis Eades, who lived near the Clark line. disgraceful exhibitions of mob violence as have disgraced our State.
The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, January 15, 1895.

The pastor of the Winchester M. E. Church, colored, of which murderer William Taylor was a member, will soon arrange to preach his funeral. When Taylor's body was taken to that place for burial the usual funeral oration was not delivered, only the brief burial ceremony being carried out.—Richmond Pantograph.
The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 5, 1895

An item was published in the Richmond Pantograph last week that does an injustice to the congregation of Clark's Chapel, the colored M. E. Church of this city. The item referred to said that the funeral of Wm. Taylor, the man who was recently hung at Richmond would be preached at this church. Taylor was not a member of this church and Rev. W. S. Rollins, the pastor and his entire congregation are bitterly opposed to it and it is safe to say that some other church will have to be selected if any services are held.

The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 8, 1895

The Madison county Grand Jury has indicted Abe Taylor, Tom Taylor and Green Kavanaugh for complicity in the murder of Squire Doty, for which crime Will Taylor was hung. These negroes were with Will Taylor the night Doty was killed and notwithstanding the latter insisted they had nothing to do with the killing, it is claimed that much evidence has been procured to show they were equally guilty. The two Taylors are now serving terms in the penitentiary for breaking into Jett's distillery at Doylesville.

TO HANG

The Death Penalty Given to Dillard Rainey.

The Murder of Aaron Adams to Be Avenged. The Majesty of the Law Vindicated.

Not in a spirit of vengeance; not with an outburst of wrath nor with the savage senselessness of mob violence; but with the calm, dignified majesty of the law has the blood of Aaron Adams, which cries from the ground, been avenged, or will be when the sentence of the law is executed. A thrill of horror went through our people when the causeless, cruel murder was committed, and when the news spread Saturday that the death penalty had been awarded the murderer, there was a verdict of assent almost universal, and the only regret was that Matt Rainey, the prisoner's father, did not receive the same sentence.

The crime was a most atrocious one, and with no mitigating circumstances. Matt Rainey and James Henry had differences concerning a piece of land near the mouth of Upper Howard's Creek, and Henry had placed Frank Haggard in possession as a tenant. Rainey hauled the fence from around Haggard's garden leaving it open to the stock. Haggard hauled the rails back again and a quarrel on the 13th of last May in which Rainey shot Haggard inflicting a wound that it was thought would prove fatal. Mrs. Haggard saw Aaron Adams passing along the road and asked him to go for a doctor. Adams went after Dr. T. S. Allen, who lived near, and returning with the physician half an hour later, he was met by Matt Rainey and Dillard Rainey, father and son. Matt was armed with a gun and Dillard with a pistol. The former raised his gun to shoot Adams, but was prevented by Dr. Allan. With an oath he told his son to shoot and the latter did so. As Adams sank down pierced with a number of balls, Matt Rainey savagely tried again to shoot him.

Deputy Sheriff Eperson was in the neighborhood and arrested Matt Rainey at once. Dillard escaped, although the officers once got close enough to shoot at him. He went through the mountains and was finally arrested at Roanoke, Va., under an assumed name. Matt Rainey was tried last fall and got a life sentence. He took an appeal and since has been in jail here. Two or three feeble attempts were made to mob him here last Spring but they lacked leadership. Since he has been in jail he has incurred the ill-will of the officers and fellow prisoners all whom concur in saying he is the meanest man with whom they have ever had dealings.

The trial of Dillard Rainey began last Tuesday. The evidence closed Thursday at noon and was argued until the next morning when it was given to the jury, which brought in a verdict of guilty and fixing the death penalty the next day. When the prisoner heard it he turned deathly pale and seemed almost overcome. He soon recovered and was taken back to jail cursing the jury and vowing that he would never be hung. Neither of the prisoners have ever shown any remorse for the poor widow and the six helpless children.

This will make the second sentence pronounced by Judge Scott, the other being the negro Will Taylor, who was hung for the murder of Squire Doty, in Madison county a year or two ago.

If Rainey is hung it will make the fourth legal hanging in the county, and the first white man to be hung.

Many years ago Jesse Winn, a negro, was hung near where Col. R. N. Winn's residence now stands, for the murder of Wm. Emerson, a white man, who owned him or had him hired.

In August, 1839, a young negro named Knight was hung on the Lexington pike near F. H. Dudley's. He belonged to Mr. Morris who lived on Stoner and had committed a rape on a little white girl.

In April, 1841, a negro man, belonging to Daniel Spar, broke into a house and disemboweled his wife. The latter got well, but the negro was hung for housebreaking. The negro woman belonged to Geo. Anderson and her assailant was hung near the far

		end of the C. and O. trestle on the side of Poynterville. In November, 1850, Thomas Nichols killed his master, Fred B. Nichols, at a rock quarry on the Lexington pike. He was hung about Christmas of the same year. The late Wm. Simpson was Sheriff at the time, and not liking the job of hanging the negro, he employed Marsh Lawrence to tie the rope. A year or two later Marsh Lawrence was killed by his brother, Jack Lawrence. The latter fled to Missouri, but was caught, brought back and sentenced to be hung. He was the first white man in the county to receive the death sentence, but was finally pardoned by Gov. Powell. About seventeen years ago, Ben. Plunkett was lynched, being hung to a tree in the Courthouse yard, the charge being an attempt assault on Miss Annie Ball, now Mrs. Bradford. In the fall of 1895 Bob Haggard was hung from the bridge on the Muddy Creek pike for a similar assault on Miss Elkin of near Ford. No motion has yet been made for a new trial, but this will be done. Since the death penalty has been given to Dillard, his father says he does not wish a new trial, but is inclined to accept the life sentence given him last fall. The general opinion is that if he should secure a new trial he would also be hung. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, February 16, 1897.

Taylor-Lee Feud		The Taylor-Lee Feud The Members of the Factions Have Quit Their Work and Are Heavily Arming Themselves for a Fight. Pineville, Ky., June 8.—Late reports Wednesday morning from Harlan county say that the situation between the Taylors and the Lees is growing grave, and the members of the factions have quit their crops and heavily armed themselves. Eli Howard, a prominent farmer, was seen here Wednesday morning and stated that a red flag had been raised at the head of Pucket's creek by members of one faction, and that three black spots were placed on the flag, meaning that three had to die. All are heavily armed with Winchesters, and a general outbreak is expected at any moment. Good citizens, who are neutral, are keeping quiet and staying close to home, fearing that they might get mixed up in the affair. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, June 13, 1899 Was Killed From Ambush. A Member of the Taylor Faction Laid Low at a Spring—Another Kentucky Feud Fatality. Middlesboro, Ky., June 13.—A story comes from Harlan county, where the Taylor-Lee factions are at war, telling that Tom Messer, one of the Taylor faction, was shot down near his home. There is a threatened outbreak of the old feud and there may be many deaths in the next 24 hours. It is said Messer went to the spring near his house to get water and without warning a volley of shots were fired from the bushes. There seemed to be several in the crowd who fired upon him and they could be heard riding away as Messer lay dying. Messer's wife is nearly overcome from sorrow at the sudden and violent death of her husband. This is the second killing within a fortnight. More trouble is sure to follow. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, June 16, 1899 The Lee-Taylor War. Middlesboro, Ky., June 16.—The Lee-Taylor war is still raging in Harlan county. There has been no more murders but everyone goes armed. The feudists keep their actions concealed and have warned newspaper men to keep away.

	The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, June 20, 1899 Assuming a Serious Aspect. A dispatch from Lexington in Saturday's paper says: "I received a telephone message from Adj. Gen. Collier, at Frankfort," said Col. Roger D. Williams, of the First Regiment Kentucky State Guards, "informing me that the situation in Harlan county is assuming a serious aspect, and instructing me to have the Captains of the Middlesboro, Barbourville, Williamsburg, Winchester, and Somerset companies make requisition at once for complete camp and field equipment." The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, June 20, 1899 By A Hidden Foe. Josiah Taylor Shot From Ambush—His Wounds May Prove Fatal—A Feud Threatens to Break Out. Pineville, Ky., July 18.—Josiah G. Taylor is a feud victim. He was shot from ambush and his wounds are thought to be fatal. Taylor is a school teacher and a member of the family which for years, waged a feud with the Lees—a feud that numbers in its record many deaths. He was riding along the banks of the Pucket creek, returning from his school through the woods, when a rifle shot rang out and he reeled from his horse. He was found by friends soon after, weltering in the blood that poured from murderous wounds. There is little hope for his life. Such an incident will scarcely be passed unnoticed by the feudists, in whose breasts the flames of old differences have been smoldering for a long time. Tensley, Edward	Man Slain And Robbed In Home Here A 75 year-old man was beaten to death and robbed Saturday in a two-room shack in Bell's Alley, according to police and coroner reports today.

		The victim was identified as Edward Tensley, Negro, former janitor at the Winchester port office. Coroner James w. Bean said the body was found at 2 p.m. Saturday and that the man had been dead since about 6:30 a.m. that day. Injuries to his head indicated he had been struck with a heavy object, possible a lead pipe, the coroner said. Pockets in his clothing were found turned out and an empty wallet was found in a wastebasket, the coroner said. Coroner Bean said he was informed that Tensley received two pension checks early each month. Friends were quoted as saying that he also had a gold watch on his person when they last saw him on Friday. The body was found by neighbors who summoned police. Tensley's living quarters were in the alley at the rear of the Browning turkey-processing plant, which fronts on Maple Street. The coroner said the shack was dilapidated and was infested with rats. THE WINCHESTER SUN. Terry, David S.	A TRAGIC ENDING Last Wednesday morning whilst Justice Stephen G. Field, of the U. S. Supreme Court, was eating his breakfast at a station in California where the train had stopped for that meal, he was slapped in the face by Judge David S. Terry, who was drawing back to repeat the blow when a deputy U. S. Marshall named Nagle sitting at the same table, drew his revolver and shot Terry dead. About a year ago, Judge Field ordered Terry to jail for contempt in trying to stab the same deputy Marshall in his court. Since then Terry has been threatening vengeance, and is believed that if he met Judge Field, he would assault him with deadly intent. Judge Field was warned to arm himself but very properly refused to do so, saying that if a judge of the highest court in the land could not travel his circuit without violating the law by carrying concealed weapons, free government is a failure and the people need to be aroused. It seems that while Terry was assaulting Judge Field, his wife had gone back to the sleeping car on which they were traveling for his satchel in which he had his pistol , and was returning with it when her husband was shot. She is the same Miss Hill who sued Senator Sharon's estate claiming that she was his widow. Judge Field had decided this against her, and Judge Terry was her lawyer and afterwards married her. When the court gave its opinion in this case, she became furious and was very insulting to the judge who ordered her removed from the court room; and while this was being done, Judge Terry drew his dagger and assaulted the officer who was obeying the order of the court, for which Judge Field sent him to jail. Nagle had been detailed by the Marshall of the district to go around with Judge Field while in California and keep his eye on Terry, who has always been a desperate man. It is fortunate that he was present when the assault came, and all will agree that Terry got what he deserved. He was elected judge of the Supreme Court of California by the Know Nothings years ago, and killed Senator Broderick before the war in a duel. His temper was ungovernable and he had been in many desperate affairs. The world is better off without such people, and although it is unfortunate that he could not be taken away more regularly—at the end of a rope for instance, all good men in his region will be thankful that he is gone. It is strange how blind men become in their passion. Terry had sense and ought to have known that Judge Field could not have been assaulted or killed with impunity. Men of his class however, never realize that the time will come when they will meet somebody just as handy with the pistol or the knife as they are and that they cannot die peacefully. No one man can bully the world. Even Napoleon with his great armies and an empire failed in trying to do so. The Winchester Democrat, Wed., 8-21-1889

Tevis, Mrs. Emily Berkley	Then and Now. The great change in traveling made in the last half century is hardly appreciated. The Lexington Herald published the following letter from J. H. Tevis of Polk county, Mo., which illustrates this point quite forcibly. “In March, 1845, my mother and I were returning to our home in Missouri from a visit to her mother, whose maiden name was Emily Berkley, and who lived near Clay’s Ferry, Clark county, Kentucky. I was then a child, three years old. We took the stage at Clay’s Ferry for Lexington. There were sixteen passengers, including three children, and to accommodate mother and myself Mr. Alexander Franklin, who resided in Madison county, rode with the driver. When we neared Lexington the horses ran away, and over-turned the stage opposite the residence of Col. John R. Dunlap. Mr. Franklin jumped, but was crushed under the stage and died almost immediately. The jar broke and the glass windows of the stage and all the passengers were more or less cut by the glass. I have a scar on my forearm now from it. Col. Dunlap, seeing the accident, came to our rescue, and assisted us all out of the coach, and took us to his home. After our wounds were dressed we resumed our journey to Lexington. The horses took the front wheels of the coach with them and came to a halt at the postoffice. Mother and I resumed our journey from Lexington to Frankfort by rail; the cars the motive power of which were blind horses. Only blind horses were considered safe for transportation. The rails were wooden ones. They thought at that day that it was a very rapid transit. From Frankfort we floated down the Kentucky river on a flatboat to the Ohio river, and there took a boat to Cairo, where we were transferred to another boat for St. Louis, and from the latter place were again transferred to a boat on the Missouri river for Boonesville, Mo. From Boonesville we were transported to our home by a yoke of cattle. We were two weeks making the trip from Kentucky to Missouri. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 16, 1900

Tevis, Robert AA	Probable Murder As the east bound passenger train stopped at Pine Grove Tuesday night, Mose Million, a negro man informed the people present that the train had killed a man on the tressle, a few hundred feet further on. On being requested to go back with a party he refused, saying he was in a hurry and must inform the dead man’s family. He then disappeared and has not been seen since. On investigation, Bob Tevis was found under the tressle with two wounds in the forehead, his skull being crushed. He never recovered consciousness and died in a few hours. The wounds were of such a nature that the train could not have reasonably inflicted them, and Million was suspected of the crime as the two men had been together for several days. Coroner Wills went down the next morning and held an inquest. The jury returned the following verdict: We the jury believe the body before us to be that of Bob Tevis and that he met his death by a blow on the head by some one with murderous intent. We further find that he was in company with Mose Million, and from the evidence believe that he killed him. Said killing was done 26 th of December, 1899, at Pine Grove, Ky. Pete Dailey T. J. Harris Wm. Perkins J. N. Baber Trebo Devary T. Shanks-Foreman The body was brought to this city and in the afternoon was shipped to Sam Tevis, the father of the dead man, at Richmond. Tharp – Day Feud	At a primary election held at Quicksand, Clark county, one man was killed, two mortally wounded and several others slightly injured. The Tharp and Day families have been at outs for some time and the bad blood culminated in a shooting match, during the progress of the election. Oliver Tharp and his son, Will, and three of the Day brothers met. Young Tharp had a row with one of the Days who drew his pistol and fired. Tharp's father stepped between the two just in time to receive the load through the heart. Young Tharp then shot Day in the breast and another one of the Day's then shot Tharp. Two or three bystanders were slightly wounded by stray shots.—Louisville Times. Well, hardly. Quicksand is in Breathitt county, not in Clark. Tharp, Tom (Tricky Tom)	“Tricky Tom” Tharp killed. Tom Tharp, long known in the criminal records of Breathitt county as “Tricky Tom.” Was shot and instantly killed at Lee City Monday morning. His slayer was Matt Sloan, a young man of good appearance, but who is locally considered as desperate a character as “Tricky Tom” himself. The trouble between Tharp and Sloan arose over a crap game in which Sloan was the loser. Sloan proved to be the quicker man and used his pistol with such deadly effect that Tharp fell dead at a single shot, with a bullet through his heart. “Tricky Tom” Tharp was a friend of Curt Jett, and at one time assisted Jett in making his escape from the Jackson jail. During the Jett-White trial at Cynthiana Tharp, who was wanted as a witness, attempted to leave the State, but was intercepted at L. & E. junction by Sheriff McCord, who took him to Cynthiana. Sloan was immediately arrested and conveyed to the Campton jail, and the Wolfe Circuit Court being in session Judge Riddell ordered that a special term of the grand jury be immediately paneled. Sloan will be indicted and tried this week. The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, January 28, 1904. Forfeited his bond Ed Mullins indicted for the killing of “Tricky Tom” Tharp, at Jackson one year ago was arrested in Lexington at the Union Station Tuesday afternoon and placed in jail awaiting the arrival of the Breathitt authorities. Thomas, nester of the American turf, owner of Dixiana and _____ stock farms, of this county, breeder of Himyar and Dominion, left his entire estate, valued at $80,000, except a few bequests to friends and relatives to Margaret Pryer, his faithful negro housekeeper. Three of his farmer negro employes were remembered with $1,000 each. Judge J. R. Morten is named executor without security. To his relative, William R. Howe, of Rannockburn, S. C., Thomas left $5,000. The Winchester Democrat, Fri., May 25, 1906 Maj. Thomas Will Provides For Interment Of Negro Servant By His Side At Death Lexington, Ky., June 5 It was learned that Maj. B. G. Thomas, the noted turfman, who died here a month ago, had inserted a clause in his will providing for interment by his side in Lexington cemetery of Margaret Pryor, an aged negro servant, at her death. This announcement created a sensation here. Maj. Thomas lived alone here except for servants and at his death he left the Pryor woman the bulk of his large estate. She had cared for him for many years and he took this method of showing his appreciation. Mrs. Emma Howe, Bannock Burn S. C., a relative of Maj. Thomas, who was bequeathed a small amount, has notified parties interested that she will contest suit because most of the major's property was left to the negress. The manager of the Lexington cemetery said no objection would be made to the proposed interment there. They allege that the negro woman, Margaret Pryor, who for half a century had been Major Thomas servant, unduly influenced Thomas when his mind was not clear, thus causing him to leave the bulk of his large estate to her. Thomas, Bill	AA	A first class hanging seems to be in order just now. Saturday night Bill Thomas a young Negro living near Elkin was stabbed to the heart and instantly killed by Matt George, another Negro commonly known as "Hartshorn". From the evidence before the Coroner's jury the killing was entirely unprovoked, as the parties had not quarreled. The murderer was brought to town and lodged in jail. He waived an examination yesterday and was committed to jail without bail. The Winchester Democrat, Wed., 7-11-1888 As we go to press the jury in the case of Matt George, for the killing of Bill Thomas at Elkin some months ago, brought in a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for life. The Winchester Democrat, Wed., 11-14-1888 Efforts are being made to secure a pardon for Matt George or "Hartsborn" as he was usually called who is serving a life sentence for the murder of Bill Thomas, another negro at Elkin several years ago. Hartsborn was not considered very bright and a number of white men around the store had told him of various threats which the murdered man was alleged to have made merely for the purpose of amusement by seeing Hartsborn's rage or fear. No one anticipated serious trouble, but to the surprise of everyone Hartsborn took matters so seriously that when Thomas appeared he plunged a knife into him and Thomas died in a little while. Since his incarceration Hartsborn has made a model prisoner, and some of those recognizant of the circumstances and feeling that it was not a case of premeditated murder, have interested themselves in his behalf. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 6, 1895

Thomas, Duryea B.	Policy not affected The Court of appeals affirmed the Bourbon Circuit court in the case of the Metropolitan life insurance company vs. Duryea B. Thomas. The action involved a policy of $1,000 which had a provision cutting down the amount of insurance in the event the insured died by his own hand within 2 years. The court holds that it was proven that the insured was insane when he committed suicide, and the provision does not invalidate or affect the face value of the policy. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, January 31, 1908

	days of intense suffering he quietly breathed his last, just as the “dewy evening was sprinkling crystal tears on mead and meadow,” in token of it’s sorrow and sympathy for the bereaved and desolate hearts that bowed in anguish around his dying couch. Young, joyous and cultured, in the flush of life’s beautiful morning the idol of a home and the “immediate jewel” of a mother’s heart, his going out of life seems the very irony of fate. “Life’s morning sunlight was upon his pathway and it’s dew upon the flowers.” But sorrow for his going is soothed by the thought that he died at his beautiful home surrounded by friends whose souls were in touch with his. A mother was near who would have given her own life to have saved the darling boy. A manly brother received his last message; and as his young life passed away the arms of a devoted father encircled him. Our dear friend has gone; we are indeed bereft of one we tenderly loved. As we bent over the fragrant lilies and the gorgeous jonquils above his priceless heart, they seemed emblems of the purity and beauty of his character. Kind, gentle and manly, as genial as the sunshine, the flowers will not spring greener over his grave than will ever be the memory of Eddie Thomas to those who knew and loved him through his boyhood days into death. Thomas, Etta AA	Shot to Death. Monday about noon at the house of Alice Bean, colored, in the alley running from Broadway and intersecting Washington street at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Etta Thomas, colored, aged about 28, was shot and killed by John Hathaway, colored, of Jackson, who then tried to kill himself. Four of five shots fired at the woman took effect, producing instant death. Hathaway then reloaded his pistol and fired several shots at himself, all of which went wide of the mark. He made no attempt to escape and was still in the house when officer John Tardy arrived and placed him under arrest. He was put in jail. It seems that Hathaway was in love with the woman, and because she refused to live with him, determined to kill her. Coroner Brinegar held an inquest, and the following verdict was returned. Winchester, Ky., Jan. 4, 1904. We the jury reviewed the remains and find the dead body to be that of Etta Thomas, and that we believe from the evidence before us that she came to her death by three pistol shots at the hands of John Hathaway, and find him guilty of murder in the first degree. A.N. The testimony that implicated Hite was that he attempted to have Etta Thomas meet Hathaway. In the case of the Commonwealth vs. John Hathaway, colored, who confessed to the charge of murdering his paramour, Etta Thomas, the jury was out only about ten minutes and brought in a verdict sentencing the defendant to be hanged. This was Hathaway's second trial. Last fall the case was given to a jury upon his confession, when the jury hung on the degree of punishment.

To Be Hung July 19

John Hathaway, colored, condemned to die for the murder of Etta Thomas, colored, was brought Friday morning before Judge Benton who, after the usual preliminaries, sentenced the prisoner to be hung in the jail yard in this city between the hours of sunrise and sunset on Tuesday July 19, 1904, in the presence of not more than fifty persons.

When asked if he had any reason to give why sentence should not be passed Hathaway made no reply.

Must Hang.

The court of appeals Affirms the Decision of the Lower Court in the Hathaway Case. The court of appeals Tuesday affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of John Hathaway, colored, convicted at the April term of the Clark Circuit Court of the murder of Etta Thomas, colored, and sentenced to be hung.

The crime for which Hathaway must suffer was committed early in January last. He and the woman had been living together at Jackson. She left him and came to Winchester. He followed and under pretense of wishing to have a friendly talk gained an interview with her at the house of Alice Bean. During the conversation he suddenly drew a pistol from his sleeve and shot her dead.

At the February term of the Court Hathaway confessed, but the jury failed to make a verdict, eleven being for the death penalty and one for life imprisonment. At the April term the prisoner was represented by able counsel, but by his own testimony he was condemned, the result being a verdict of guilty with the death penalty attached.

Hathaway was sentenced to be hung on the 19th day of July, but the case was taken to the court of appeals and a stay of execution was granted pending the decision of the higher court.

It now devolves upon Gov. Beckham to fix a time for the execution, which in the event that no petition for rehearing is failed, he will do at the expiration of thirty days.

Hathaway To Die.

The Story of a Man in a Fit of Desperation Murdered His Paramour.

At a few minutes past noon on Monday, Jan. 4th, of this year, John Hathaway shot and killed Etta Thomas. The tragedy occurred at the home of Alice Bean in this city.

Hathaway did not try to escape. He was tried and at the first trial the jury hung. The disagreement was on the degree of punishment. A second jury rendered a verdict fixing the death penalty. From this verdict an appeal was taken. The lower court was sustained and the governor has fixed Tuesday, Jan. 3rd, 1905, for the day of execution.

It is due the attorneys, Capt. Hathaway and Messrs. V. W. Bush and P. J. Altizer to say that they have exhausted every legal means in defense of their client and that without compensation. Hathaway is above the average intelligence for the colored race.

For a number of years he was a jockey and rode races successfully.

Later he worked in hotels and bar rooms. He is married and his wife now lives in Cincinnati. About five years ago, he became infatuated with Etta Thomas and left his wife. He and the Thomas woman lived together as man and wife for four years. It was understood between them that he was to get a divorce when they would be married.

Thanksgiving day the writer spent two hours with Hathaway in his cell and heard his story. His is the most remarkable case of blind infatuation and insane jealousy that we have ever known. They were living at Jackson, Ky., where they were employed at a hotel. Just before Christmas, 1903, there was a separation. The woman came to Winchester. It is claimed by Hathaway and his statement is corroborated that influences menated from their city caused the woman to leave him. On the morning of Thursday, Dec, 31. Hathaway came here to try to induce Etta to go back and live with him again.

He was unable to find her. On the afternoon of the same day he went to Cincinnati and returned to this city. On the Sunday night following he states that he could neither eat nor sleep. His story is pathetic. While in Cincinnati, he ordered a turkey dinner and when it was placed on the table there was celery in it. This called to his mind how Etta loved celery and her manner of eating it. He was overcome and left the dinner. He did not go to bed Sunday night. About 8 o'clock Monday morning he went to the section of the town known as Bucktown, where he met Kid Hite and told him his troubles. Kid volunteered to help him find Etta. He believed that she was at Alice Bean's which proved to be true. At 10:15 Hathaway went to Alice Bean's. He was not admitted at first, but there was a stormy talk at the front door which lasted some thirty minutes, which upon the request of Hathaway he was admitted. The three, John Hathaway, Alice Bean and Etta Thomas went back in the kitchen. After an interview, lasting more than an hour, in which rough language was used the Thomas woman said, "I have got a white man and I will not live with any damned negro s__ of a b___." Hathaway then pulled his pistol and shot her dead. He then attempted to shoot himself in the head but failed.

He is indifferent as to his fate and when he was told that the day had been fixed for his execution, he showed no change. He says he wants to die and would commit suicide if the opportunity were offered.

Note.—The above was read to Hathaway and he says it is correct. In addition, he requests us to say that he came here for no other purpose than to persuade the woman to return and live with him and that if he had desired to do so, he could have introduced testimony before the jury that would have mitigated his offense. He bears no malice and wants to die because Etta Thomas is dead. He also requests us in his behalf to thank the attorneys who so ably defended him.

The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, December 1, 1904

Hathaway Baptized

The Sun-Sentinel, Thur., Dec. 8, 1904

Hathaway.

An earnest appeal has been made to the Governor to commute the sentence of John Hathaway to imprisonment for life. Jan 4th 1904, he shot and killed Etta Thomas a woman with whom he had been living for four years until about ten days before that date when she left him at Jackson, Ky., and came to Winchester. He followed her to persuade her to live with him again as he states. In the first and only interview they had, when she said according to his statement, that she would not live with him again as he states, that she had a white man and would not live with any negro---. He drew his pistol and fired. Facts are known as to why she left him but they did not appear in his trial. They are not to his discredit. It was an awful crime; one for which no excuse can be offered, but we do not believe that it was a premeditated murder. It was his blind infatuation for the woman and insane jealousy that controlled him for the moment. In the absence of any action by the Governor the hanging will take place in the jail yard at 8:30 Tuesday morning.

The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, December 29, 1904.

John Hathaway.

"I want to thank you, Mr. Perry, for all that you have done for me and tried to do for me. I want you to say through your paper that my heart is full of gratitude to Mr. V. Bush, Mr. Hamp Bush, Mr. Altizer and Capt. Hathaway; and say, too, that I thank the Governor for his patient consideration of my case. I want to thank the county officials and all others who have been kind to me.

Please say, too, that I have no feelings of enmity against those who want me to be hung. I am at peace with the world and with my god, I am ready to go. I killed Etta Thomas but I did not come here to kill her. I loved her better than my own life. If my fate will be a warning to my race to lead correct lives, I will be glad."

The above is the result of an interview with Hathaway at 10 o'clock, Monday night. At 8:55 Tuesday morning he walked to the scaffold without a tremor, the trap was sprung and his neck was broken. In eight minutes life was extinct. Ten minutes more and his body was in the coffin, to be buried at the expense of the county. The crime for which Hathaway was hung was committed Jan. 4th, 1904 in this city. He killed Etta Thomas, a woman with who he had been living for four years.

There has been few legal hangings in the county. In the early history of the county a negro woman was hung near what is now the corner of Washington and Highland streets.

About ten years before the civil war there were two hangings on the Lexington pike and a little later a negro man was hung for killing his wife in what is now known as Poynterville.

The scaffold on which Hathaway expiated his life was borrowed from Fayette county and has the following history.

Henry Mitchell Smith, a negro, was the first man hanged on it, June 2, 1896. The next was Clarence Vinegar, also colored, who killed a man in Georgetown.

Clarence Williams, a negro, killed a woman in Paris and expiated his crime on this gallows.

Will McCarty, a white man, was condemned to be hung on it for the murder of his wife but cheated the gallows by taking poison the night before the day set for the execution. While the scaffold was built for a double hanging in the first place the purpose was not carried out until Earl Whitney and Claude O'Brien were hung in July 1902, for the murder of A. B. Chinn.

The scaffold will not stay in Winchester long as it will be needed in Lexington January 13th, which is the date set for the execution of J. W. Bess for the murder of Mrs. Martin. The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, January 5, 1905

Thomas, J. M.		Capt. J. M. Thomas. The death of Capt. J. M. Thomas has removed one of the brightest men in Kentucky. He was a profound thinker and made few mistakes. He was broad in his views and in no sense a partisan as some of the papers would make him appear. He was always interesting in conversation. His fund of general information was remarkable. He was a many sided man. By business judgement he accumulated a large fortune. He was a philanthropist. He was well posted in Bible teachings. He was a student of political economy and with all of his acquired knowledge he was an independent thinker. Some of his articles written for this paper attracted general attention. He was one of our first subscribers and frequently complimented and advised with us. We feel that we have lost a friend and write these lines in sorrow. He was 72 years old. The burial was at Paris, Ky. He is survived by his wife and four children. They are Mrs. John Ireland and Mrs. Thomas Moore, and Messers William R. and Robert Thomas., The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, June 22, 1905 The will of Capt. J. M. Thomas, Laurie Reynold	“To be born Welsh is to be born privileged. Not with a silver spoon in your mouth, but with music in your heart, and poetry in your soul.” Wilfred Wilson Dr. Laurie Reynold Thomas (87) was born in Carmarthenshire, South Wales, Great Britain, on June 3rd, 1935, to Marianne Griffiths Thomas and David Benjamin Thomas. He was an outstanding rugby player for Saint Bartholomew’s Medical College of the University of London, England, where he graduated with honors. He was selected to come to the United States for general medical surgery training under Dr. Ben Eiseman, Chief of Surgery at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in exchange for a student sent to St. Bartholomew’s to study under Sir Naunton Morgan, Laurie’s prior chief of surgery. While in Lexington for his residency, he met the love of his life, Ann Heath Moloney of Augusta, KY. After they were married, he completed a three-year residency at the Cleveland Clinic in Otolaryngology followed by a National Institute of Health Fellowship with Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh where he specialized in surgery for cancer of the head and neck. Laurie and Ann eventually settled in Lexington where he became the first ear, nose, and throat surgeon with the Lexington Clinic. Later, he went into private practice in Winchester where he founded the Thomas Otology and Audiology Clinic, and later added allergy services after achieving his specialist degree in allergy. Dr. Thomas was a member of the First Christian Church, a former forty-five year member, founding father, Deacon and Elder at Tates Creek Christian Church, a member of the Keeneland Association, a five-time Kentucky Colonel, a former member of the Thoroughbred Club, Iroquois Hunt Club, Lexington Country Club, Cave Run Sailing Association, and the Kentucky Speech and Hearing Association, an honorary deputy for the Clark County Sheriff, and a former member of the Lexington Philharmonic, where he once conducted the orchestra under the tutelage of Dr. George Zach. Dr. Thomas never forgot his Welsh roots but was proud to be an American, gaining his citizenship in 1976. He lived the American dream of coming to this great country, falling in love, rearing and educating a family, and serving thousands of patients through his medical practice. He was an entrepreneur, starting the Glenbrook Trout Company, raising trout for retail sale to restaurants and grocery stores. He was a horseman, riding with the Iroquois Hunt Club, and owned several racehorses including “Raise the Bridge”, a multiple stakes winner. He was also a jump judge for the first World Three-Day Event held at the Kentucky Horse Park. He and Ann were honored to donate land for the establishment of a healthcare clinic in Bracken County. He was a kind and giving man, always taking time to help those around him. He is remembered by so many for his caring bedside manner and prayers for his patients. He always had a good sense of humor and keen wit. His greatest delight was his family. He cherished his children and grandchildren’s athletic endeavors and activities and always took an interest. He enjoyed all types of music including opera, classical, and Kentucky Bluegrass. He enjoyed raising Black Angus cattle and was one of the first to raise Wagyu cattle in Kentucky. Because of his affection for animals, he volunteered to operate on dogs to restore their hearing. He was truly a renaissance man, the last remaining of seven siblings. He will be deeply missed. Laurie is survived by his wife Ann Heath Moloney Thomas, sons Hywel Lytle Thomas (Stephanie), Dafydd Ian Thomas (Shannon), and Trefor Noel Thomas (Elizabeth) and daughter Megann Moloney Colvin Thomas, granddaughters Audrey Frances, Julia Belle, Gwyneth Ann, Lauren Elizabeth, and Alice Megann and grandsons Benjamin Ian, Trefor Reynold and William Lytle. A private family celebration of life will be held at the Augusta Christian Church where he and Ann were married 58 years prior. The service will be conducted by Reverend Joseph Cooper, former Pastor of First Christian Church in Lexington. Pallbearers are sons Lytle, Ian, Trefor, and grandsons Benjamin, Trefor and William, and nephew Huw Thomas of London, England as well as C. Richard Colvin and John Thomas Lundy. Honorary Pallbearers are Dr. Freddie Terrell, Stanley Hitchner, and Nicholas A. Colvin.

Thomas, Mark Francis	Mark Francis Thomas, beloved son, husband, father, brother, uncle, cousin, and friend joyfully entered the gates of heaven at 6:42 p.m. on December 5, 2017 at Saint Joseph Hospital in Lexington, KY. 	death by his maternal grandparents, Lester and Edna Henshaw, paternal grandparents, Herman and Antha Thomas, father, Paul Roger Thomas, and niece, Miranda Carol Thomas. Fran is survived by his wife of 27 years, Liza Gwenn White, daughter, Anne Chandler, and son, Mark Francis, Jr. He is also survived by his mother Dorothy Ann Henshaw Thomas of Morganfield, KY, one brother Paul Roger (Dava) Thomas of Owensboro, KY, sisters Patricia Ann (Pat) Lilly of Morganfield, KY and Carolyn Jean (Doug) Plummer of Richmond, KY, father-in-law, Jack Langdon White of Marathon Key, FL, in-laws Andrew James and Scarlett White Ryan of Winchester, KY, Ratomir and Rosanne White Veljkovic of Ft. Lauderdale, FL, five nieces Laura (Mark) Vincent of Owensboro, KY, Claudia (Ben) Johnson of Chieri, Italy, Jerrianna (Dennis) Kelly of Nashville, TN, Langdon Ryan (Preston) Worley and Sydney Ryan (Grant) Owen of Lexington, KY, five nephews Jack White Veljkovic of Lexington, KY, Christopher Lilly of Henderson, KY, Mitchell (Brittany) Thomas of Woodlands, TX, Paul (Seomi) Rhye of Busan, South Korea, Jordan Rhye of Elkhart, IN, four great nieces and three great nephews, and a host of aunts, uncles, and cousins. Fran attended grade school at St. Ann School in Morganfield, KY where, along with his two best friends, cousins, and partners in crime, Vincent and Don, he participated in much mischief. He was a 1980 graduate of Union County High School and went on to attend Madisonville Community College before completing a Bachelor's degree at the University of Kentucky where he was a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity. While attending the University of Kentucky, Fran worked part time for United Parcel Service and quickly moved into management taking him to a position in Owensboro, KY. Fran and Liza were married in August 1990. In 1993, the couple moved to Manchester, KY where he worked in sales at White Chevrolet-Pontiac. In 2001, the family re-located to Winchester, KY and he joined the Andy Ryan Nissan team. Most recently, Fran was employed by Kentucky Farm Bureau as an agent in Clark County. His career with Kentucky Farm Bureau gave him an avenue to continue his life long love of farming and community by supporting Future Farmers of America and countless local events. It was common to spot Fran sporting a blue apron, behind the grill at school, political, and charity fundraisers and at the Clark County Fair judging competitions ranging from livestock and farm implements to 4-H speeches. Fran was a member of St. Ann Catholic Church and Knights of Columbus in Morganfield, KY. He was affiliated with Manchester Baptist Church in Manchester, KY and First Christian Church in Winchester, KY. He was a member of the Winchester Country Club where he had the opportunity to pursue one of his greatest loves, the game of golf. His friends know him as a fierce competitor who would show no mercy to any opponent. Next to golf, his second loved sports were hunting on his farm in Trapp, KY and fishing from Canada to the Florida Keys. The people closest to him would vouch that he had an ability to imitate animal calls that made his entire family proud. He was feared and respected as one of the best dove shots in Kentucky from Union to Clark County. In the realm of sports, Fran had no problem letting anyone know that he was a huge Kansas City Chiefs fan, an even bigger St. Louis Cardinals fan, and, on occasion, a Louisville Cardinals fan but not if the Cardinals were playing the Kentucky Wildcats. Of all the loves in his life, first and foremost, Fran loved and adored Liza, Chandler, Mark, and of course, his dog, Snipper. Our loss is truly heaven's gain. Visitation will be held at The First Christian Church, 24 East Hickman Street, Winchester, KY 40391 on Saturday, December 9, 2017 from 10:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. with a service to follow at 1:00 p.m. Following the service, a celebration to remember Fran will be held at Clark County Farm Bureau, 115 South Highland Street, Winchester, KY 40391. The family is requesting donations to the American Cancer Society, 1640 Lyndon Farm Court #104, Louisville, KY 40223. Envelopes will be provided by Scobee Funeral Home. The Winchester Sun December 8, 2017

Thomas, Mrs. George	Hunt Died—June 17 th , Mrs. Geo. Thomas, aged 61 years. Her funeral was preached by Rev. Henry Brock, and the remains were interred in the family burying ground. The Democrat, Wednesday, June 25, 1890 Death is sad in all its forms, but when it comes in the shape of hydrophobia, it is more than ever to be dreaded. Some two months ago Mrs. George Thomas, a most estimable lady living on Four Mile, was attacked in her own barnyard by a large dog, which threw her down and badly lacerated her. As the dog was supposed to be rabid, a madstone was applied, and as time passed on with no evil effects, fears of hydrophobia passed away. On Sunday, however symptoms of the dread malady began to be manifested. The victim speedily grew worse until Wednesday, when she died from it. Reuben Sympson, an old colored man, was bitten by the same dog, but as yet no traces of the disease have been manifested. Mrs. Thomas was about sixty-five years old and came of a family remarkable for it's longevity. Her mother, Mrs. Thomas, who lives near Doylesville, Madison county, is still living, aged about one hundred years, and an aunt died several years ago aged ninety-six years. Her sister, who lived in Missouri, was killed last year in a railroad accident near Richmond, just as she was nearing her childhood's home on a visit for the first time in thirty years. Thomas, William Rodgers	Death of W.R. Thomas One of Winchester's most prominent men the victim of pneumonia – a useful life ended Mr. William Rodgers Thomas died at his home, corner of Belmont and Maple Streets, shortly after ten o'clock Sunday night. A week previous he was attacked with grip which speedily developed into pneumonia. The attending physicians gave but little hope from the first but Saturday night and Sunday morning it was reported that he was better and the hopes of his friends revived, but Sunday night he grew worse and the end came quickly. He was the son of the late Capt. J.M. Thomas, formerly State Senator from this district. He was a native of Bourbon county, and was fifty one years old. For many years he had charge of Estill Springs but gave that up to take charge of the large business interests of the Ford Lumber Company, to the Presidency of which he succeeded at the death of his father. About three years ago he removed from Paris to this city where he has since resided. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Carrie Hanson, of Paris, one son, Hanson, who was summoned from school at Andover, Mass., and reached home but a short time before his father's death, and one daughter, Miss Ethel Thomas. Among the relatives of the deceased who are here are his sister, Mrs. John Ireland and husband, of Lexington, his brother, R.L. Thomas, of Jacksonville, Florida, his brother-in-law, Thomas Moore, of Paris, and Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Burnett, of Louisville. Mr. Thomas was a public spirited and generous man who was foremost in everything that would promote the interest of our city, while his private benefactions were numerous. In his death Winchester and her interest have suffered a great loss. The funeral will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at the family residence, services by Eld. J.H. MacNeill, of this city, and Eld Carey Morgan, of Paris, and the remains will be buried in the Winchester cemetery. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 8, 1910 Funeral of W.R. Thomas The family residence was crowded Tuesday afternoon at the funeral of W.R. Thomas, many persons from other cities being in attendance. The services conducted by Elds. MacNeill, of this city, and Morgan, of Paris, were simple and beautiful. The beauty and immense number of floral designs attested in a small way the great esteem in which he was held by people of all classes. Following were the pall bearers: Active – H.H. Phillips, Lewis Hampton, Wallace Reese, Chester Reese, Dr. D.H. McKinley, Jeff K. Stewart, Jack Lisle, and Walton Rounsavall. Honorary – R.L. David, of Ford; Dr. Roberts, of Lexington; D.L. Pendleton, Dr. B.F. Johnson, W.H. Garner, Thomas Hampton, S.D. Goff, John S. Reese, C.E. Gibbens, C.W. Burt, Dr. C.H. Rees, E.S. Jouett, and B.R. Jouett. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 11, 1910 Mr. Robert Thomas, of Jacksonville, Florida, who was called here by the death of his brother, W.R. Thomas, left Saturday for his home. He plans to remove his family to this city at an early date and make Winchester his home. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 15, 1910 Will come here to reside Robert L. Thomas, who for years has been a prominent figure at the various race courses of this country, will sell his string of racers and move to this city to reside. For some weeks his horses have been racing in Florida and he has gone there to make arrangements to dispose his stable. Since the death of his brother, W.R. Thomas, the management of the affairs of the Ford Lumber Co., at Ford will devolve upon him and this will consume so much of his time that he will not be able to care for his racing stable. Winchester teen killed in Sunday crash A Clark County teen died in a single-vehicle accident in Bourbon County early Sunday morning. Kentucky State Police said Alexis Thompson, 19, of Winchester, died on the scene of the accident, which happened around 8 a.m. on Clintonville Road in Paris. Troopers said Thompson was traveling north when she lost control of her 2008 Toyota Corolla, veered off the roadway and collided with a wooden fence. What caused Thompson to lose control of the vehicle is still unknown. The vehicle took out about 20 yards of the fence before crossing the center line and coming to a stop in a nearby driveway. Other news agencies reported Thompson was wearing a seatbelt, according to investigators, but her fatal injuries were caused by parts of the fence that entered through the windshield. Thompson, Garth AA	To Hang In The Courthouse On March 16 th , Garth Thompson, a negro, is to be hung at Madison for murder. When

	the county authorities set about fixing a place for the hanging they chose a vacant lot near the city jail. The city authorities objected to this arrangement and the matter was laid before Judge Gordon, who issued orders to the Sheriff to build the scaffold in the courtroom. The scaffold will be erected over the Judge's desk and court will be adjourned the whole day of the hanging. The reason given by Judge Gordon for hanging him in the Courthouse is that it would cost too much to have an inclosure made as required by law. The Winchester Democrat, Fri., March 9, 1906

Thompson, Harrison (aka Thomson)	The Hon. Harrison Thompson The subject of this sketch was born in Clark County, Ky. Sept. 8th 1811. He was the third son of Matthew and Sibby Thompson both of whom died in this county, the father with the same disease that terminated the life of the son, they both, as well as others of the family, having died of heart disease. Mr. Thompson, was a member of a large family of children, only two of whom survive him. Matthew Thompson, the father of Harrison was a man of remarkably strong native intellect, and enjoyed the esteem and confidence of his fellow citizens in a high degree, as is evinced in the fact that he was more than once called upon to fill positions of trust and honor. In Nov. 1828, Mr. Thompson was married to Miss Joicy Quisenberry with whom he lived in great domestic felicity till the hour of his death, and who remains upon the shores of time to mourn his loss. Perhaps no man in Clark county ever enjoyed a more extended acquaintance than did Mr. Thompson. Not only was his name as familiar as household words in almost every family in the county, but he was also personally and familiarly acquainted with many of the leading politicians and statesmen of the nation. He was a man of very marked and positive character, indomitable energy and unyielding perseverance being distinguishing traits in his life. Neither rain, nor snow, nor storms, nor distance presented any insurmountable obstacle in Mr. Thompson's way when once his purpose was matured. This is the secret of his success in life. He undertook a thing just as though he knew he would succeed, and held on with a firm grasp till his plans were realized, or every means looking to their accomplishments had been tried. Mr. Thompson was a man remarkable for his strong attachments to his friends. If you were his friend, he would stand by you under all circumstances, and would at any time, do anything within the bounds of reason for your accommodation. If you were not his friend, he did not want to do with you, and you soon found it out. This is the case with all men of great positiveness of character. They have their friends and they have their foes. Another distinguishing characteristic of Mr. Thompson was his affability and other marked social qualities. He perfectly understood all those courtesies and civilities that characterize gentlemen in their intercourse with each other, and whenever he met you, whether upon the highway, surrounded by nothing but fields and forests, or in the nations capital, in the midst of the splendor and fashion and aristocracy, that crowd the streets and halls of such a place, it was always with the same cordial, friendly grip and smile. He was not of that class of men who know you or fail to know you, according to the circumstances by which you are at the time surrounded. Mr. Thompson was remarkable for his princely hospitality. He knew just what was due you in his own house, and it mattered not who was his guest, he felt himself impelled by his high sense of duty and propriety and courtesy, to extend every attention and kindness in his power, so that you always felt at ease and at home when under his roof. The poor and distressed always received a large hearted sympathy from Mr. Thompson. Nor did his sympathy end in words. He was sympathetic in "deeds, and in truth," as the many who have received substantial evidence of his kind heartiness, can bear witness. Being a man of stirring public spirit, he was intimately associated with the public interests of his country and State. He was one of the founders of the State Agricultural Society, and was particularly active in all measures looking to the promotion of agriculture and industry. Blessed with a strong physical constitution, and endowed with a discriminating and far seeing mind together with great enterprise and energy, he was, in all the material interests of general community, truly as public benefaction, who will be greatly missed. In 1849 he was chosen by his constituents to represent them in the lower branch of the Legislature, and in 1865 he was elected to the Senate in which positions, so far as I have been able to learn, he discharged the duties entrusted to him with satisfaction to all. His death, which occurred on Mar. 14, 1872, has created a vacuum in our county and community which it will be difficult to fill. He leaves four children, three children-in-law and several grandchildren and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss.

Thompson, John		A very bloody affair occurred at Mt. Sterling about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in which one man was killed outright and several others wounded, some of them dangerously. The row was commenced by two men named Howard, from Estill county, who were drunk and got to shooting. One of their shots went through the window of a grocery, and hit John Thompson, Esq., in the head, killing him instantly. James Young, the town marshal attempted to arrest the Howards, and was shot and stabbed by them, and it is thought he will not recover. His cousin, Tom Young, the talented editor of the Sentinel, went to assist him, and was shot in two places, the right side and the right breast, but we are glad to learn that his wounds are not at all dangerous. One of the Howards was shot through the head, and will die. The other was shot in the leg and was arrested and put in jail. James Young, who was so dangerously wounded, is a brother of poor Tom Young who committed suicide in this town five years ago. The whole affair is to be deeply regretted. Thompson, Mrs. Nannie J.	Mrs. Richard Thompson Dead Mrs. Richard Thompson died of consumption at her home on Indian Creek in this county. Her husband and ten children survive; Miss Josephine Thompson, one of our valued correspondents being one of them. She was a good woman. The Sun-Sentinel, Thur., Aug. 17, 1905 In Memoriam. Mrs. Nannie J. Thompson, formerly Miss Jordan, wife of Richard Thompson, of Bloomingdale, Clark county, Ky., died, Tuesday, August 8, 1905, aged 57 years. She was born and reared in Madison county, and leaves a husband and ten children to mourn the loss of wife and mother. She was a consistent member of the Baptist church at Mt. Olive and was a true Christian woman. During the last week of a severe illness which slowly, but surely ushered her into the dark valley of death, she did not murmur. Her physician was devoted and untiring in his attention, but human skill was of no avail. As a friend she was social, genial and true. As a wife, good and affectionate. As a mother, devoted and loving. No wonder then the once happy home is desolate, and the devoted husband and children almost heart broken. She lived a Christian and died a Christian; she said "Trusting Jesus that is all." What she suffered no mortal tongue can tell, but her reply to that was, "My Savior had to suffer; how much better am I than He!" One less at home; again the circle is broken, a dear face missed day by day from its accustomed place. A precious mother from us has gone, A voice we loved is stilled, The chair is vacant in our home Which never can be filled. Dear mother, she has left us; Left us! Yes, for ever more; But we hope to meet our loved one On that bright and happy shore. Passed her suffering, passed her pain Cease to weep, for tears or pain; Calm the tumult of thy breast For she who suffered is at rest. Josephine Thompson. Thompson, W. D.	Death of W. D. Thompson. Mr. W. D. Thompson, one of Clark county's most highly respected citizens, died at his home on Highland street in this city, at an early hour Wednesday morning, of the infirmities incident to old age. He was seventy-seven years of age, a native of this county, and for seventy-five years lived in the house in which he was born in the Wades Mill precinct in the eastern part of the county. The funeral services were held at the family residence yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. P. W. Sawin, of Shelbyville, a minister of the Old Baptist faith, of which the deceased had long been a faithful member. Mr. Thompson leaves a wife, who was a Miss Duerson, and two sisters, Mrs. Columbus Thomson, of Wade's Mill, and Mrs. Sue Collier, of Greencastle, Ind. Several nephews survive, among them Judge J. H. Evans, who is the only son of a deceased sister. Mr. Thompson had, by frugality and industry, accumulated a competency. His quiet, unostentatious manner, won him many friends; his charities were numerous, and his devotion to his church evidenced the true, kindly spirit of the deceased. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 18, 1902 Dr. and Mrs. Charles Duerson, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Proctor, Misses Lizzie, Ann and Minnie Duerson, Dr. C. B. Duerson and F. C. Duerson attended the funeral of W. D. Thompson at Winchester Thursday.—Mt. Sterling Sentinel Democrat. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, July 22, 1902 Will of W. D. Thompson. The will of W. D. Thompson, who died at his home in this city a few days ago, was proved Monday by the oaths of E. S. Jouett and P. J. Althizer, attesting witnesses and admitted to probate. After providing for the payment of his debts and funeral expenses, he leaves his real estate, consisting of brick house and lot, corner of Hickman and Highland streets this city, and a farm of 530 acres on Stoner, to his wife during her life or widowhood. If she marries, an administrator is to be appointed by the court to sell all the real estate and distribute the money according to further provisions of the will. He devised to R. T. Colliver, $2,500, to P. O. Colliver, $2,500 and W. D. Colliver $1,000, and Cora Waltz, $500, the remainder to be divided equally between testator's sister, Mrs. Columbus Thomson, and his nephew, Judge Jas. H. Evans. All the personality except the bank stock and other reservations is to go to his wife absolutely. To W. D. Colliver he leaves a note for $500 and interest which the latter owes the deceased; and to R. T. Colliver a similar note for $400 and interest. To Eld. S. H. Dunrand, of Southampton, Pa., he left $500 cash. To Anna Duerson, of Mt. Sterling, ten shares of stock in the bank of Taylorsville, Ky. To Lizzie Thomson ten shares of stock in the same bank. To Geo. W. Thomson is left five shares of stock in the Winchester Bank the same to be held in trust and the proceeds devoted to keeping up the family graveyard. The remainder of his bank stock is left to his wife. The residue of his property is left to his wife, Mrs. Columbus Thomson and Jas. H. Evans, each to have one-third. His wife is appointed executor without bond. The will is dated in May of the present year. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, August 1, 1902. County Court Items Geo. W. Thompson, Wanda	Wanda Thompson was born Wanda Lee Adams on September 19, 1934; the fourth child of Charlie and Myrtle Cope Adams of Franklin, Ohio. Wanda described childhood as her being a tomboy who loved to play outside, climb trees and spend summers on her grandma's farm in Tennessee. She fell in love young, and married Jim Thompson at the age of 16. They enjoyed almost 68 years of marriage together. Wanda was a homemaker most of her life, showing herself to be strong, capable and tireless. Except for a short time in Greenville, South Carolina, while Jim was in the United States Air Force, Wanda made her home in Franklin, Ohio, until 1989 when she and Jim decided to move to Lexington, Kentucky to enjoy the farm life with their son, Troy. Wanda longed for adventure. She celebrated her 80th birthday by skydiving and, just last fall, in an effort to complete her bucket list, she went zip lining. She described it as one of the favorite days of her life.

	Wanda's character shined through these past months after being diagnosed with cancer. She demonstrated grace, wisdom and tried her best to make it easier for everyone around her. Wanda is survived by her husband, James F. Thomson, _____	Several Deaths From Typhoid Fever at Athens A representative of The Democrat was this week in the vicinity of Athens and finds typhoid fever almost epidemic there. In the little village of a few hundred people and in the vicinity about thirty-five cases are on hand and several deaths have occurred. Miss Thomson, of Madison county, came over on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Martin, took the disease and died. Mrs. Martin was stricken also and has since died. Woodson Owen, formerly of this city, has five severe cases in his family. The village is full of hog pens, as nearly every family keeps those animals and during the recent hot and dry weather they naturally became very offensive. Many attribute the prevalence of the disease to this fact. Others think the supply of drinking water is the reason. The State Board of Health has been asked to send a representative to investigate the matter. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, September 6, 1895

Thomson, Austin	AA	Among the wills probated at Lexington, Monday, was that of Austin Thomson, a colored blacksmith. His death recalls a story of the time shortly after the war. Old Ben Graves was County Judge and Austin was up before the court charged with stealing a hog. He acknowledged having killed the hog but insisted that he got it from another negro. Judge Graves asked him if he could produce the "other nigger" in court. Austin was doubtful about it but Graves finally discharged him under promise that he would bring in the guilty man dead or alive. A few days after this, Austin drove up to Judge Graves' office with a cart and entering the office told the Judge that he had the guilty nigger. "Bring him in" said the Judge. "I can't" said Austin; "he's dead." It seems that he had taken the Judge's instructions literally. Austin went after this nigger who naturally refused to go, when Austin shot him dead, loaded him into the cart and proceeded to deliver him to the Judge. The affair caused an immense sensation in the community. There was talk of impeaching Judge Graves and of hanging Austin, but the talk died down, the matter was dropped and nothing was done. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, January 11, 1898

Thomson, Columbus		Death of Columbus Thomson Columbus Thomson died at his home on South Highland Street Wednesday in the seventy-eighth year of his age. He died from a complication of diseases and the decay incident to old age. The funeral will be held today at the Old Baptist church with services by Elder J.J. Gilbert and J.M. Thomas and the remains will be buried in the Winchester cemetery. He was a native of this county and had lived here as a farmer all his life. He joined Gosben Old Baptist church in 1861 and has since lived a consistent Christian life and for a long time was a deacon and clerk of that church. Forty-seven years ago he married Miss Henrietta Homson who survives him, with one son, George, and one daughter, Miss Lizzie; a brother, Frank Thomson, of Missouri, also survives him aged eighty-five years. Mrs. R.P. Scobee and Mrs. J.C. Scobee are nieces of the deceased. Columbus Thomson was one of the few remaining gentlemen of the old school. Formal, yet courteous and kind he had a pleasant word for everybody and a most chivalrous respect for women. His voice and example was always for purity of language, life and conduct, and in his death Clark county has lost one of her very best citizens. The following were the pall bearers: R.M. Scobee, Will Gordon, Lee Evans, Jas. Halley, Roy Morris and R.S. Scobee. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, June 24, 1910

Thomson, Mrs. Catherine Goff	Died—At her home, near Hustonville, in Lincoln county, Kentucky, Mrs. Catherine Goff Thomson, of paralysis, in the fifty sixth year of her age. The brightest jewel in the cluster has vanished from the family coronet. The portals of the tomb have again closed and shut out the dearest treasure on earth. The grave is hushed in silence, save the symphonies of gladdened angels humming voices. Sorrow dwells around the family heart stone. The aged husband, bereft of his dear companion, is humbly bowed under its weight, and with manly sadness strives to comfort his motherless children. A devoted wife, an indulgent mother, a fond sister, a true friend, a resigned Christian and a beloved neighbor has gone. No tear can dampen her spirit; no sigh can molest her sweet slumbers. For about eighteen months she had borne with Christian fidelity her sufferings from the first attack by the dread scourge that finally carried her away, when her family and friends thought she was convalescing, when she was rapidly gaining strength and flesh; when her sprightly look; her full and flushed cheek; her quickened step and her busying tireless hands had won all to the hope that she would be spared many more sweet years with us. The sleeping adversary was again aroused from his lethargy, armed with the “poisonous arrows of death,” he smote her down; sent her guileless spirit to its eternal abiding place in the palaces of Heaven, and left the material, lifeless form to be consigned by her heart stricken husband, children and friends to the cold charnel-house of death. When she was called she was ready, she answered without murmur. She had performed the work her maker had assigned to her. She had completed her earthly mission and, with scarcely a struggle, she passed calmly and peacefully through the “Dark Valley and Shadow of Death” to the Missions of eternal glory. It is sometimes hard to reconcile ourselves to the providential rulings of God. His workers are mysterious, but there is divinity in them. He has taken away our darling mother. He has caused us to “drink the cup of sorrow to its bitterest dregs.” It is hard, but there must be wisdom in it, for “He doeth all things well.” She was too good and too pure for this dark vale of sorrows and woes, and He called her to a brighter home. Darling mother, we sometimes imagine that we can see thee in thy heavenly home, with thy golden crown and royal robes. It was sad to give thee up, but ‘twere cruel to wish thee back, for thou art happy. The shades of life are resting heavily over thy husband, and thy children will soon cross life’s meridian, and as we are standing quietly upon the verge of life’s peaceful river, with the premonition of life’s glorious sunset fast gathering around us, we are admonished that we too must die, and the cheering hope greets us, that we shall meet thee once again in that celestial realm. “Brighter, fairer far than living, With no trace of woe or pain; Robed in everlasting beauty, Shall we meet thee once again. By that light that never fadeth, Underneath eternal skies; When the dawn of resurrection, Breaks o’er deathless Paradise.”

Tilden, Samuel J.		Samuel J. Tilden left an estate of nearly $ 5,000,000, the most of which he willed to the city of New York for the establishment and maintenance of a free public library. Mr. Tilden used to boast that no will drawn by him had ever been broken and it is strange that his own should be the exception. The Supreme Court of New York has confirmed the previous decision of the lower Court that Mr. Tilden's will is too obscure and indefinite with regard to the expression of the maker's purposes, or of the power conferred on the trustees, to render it possible to give it legal effect and execution. The courtesy has not yet ended, but it is probable that the whole of Mr. Tilden's great wealth will go to his legal heirs. The Democrat, Wednesday, July 2, 1890.

Tilford, Joe		Sentenced to Death George Stephenson, who killed Joe Tilford, a thirteen-year-old white boy, at Crab Orchard, July 4 th , was tried at a special term of the Lincoln Circuit Court and on last Thursday, after the jury had been out only fifteen minutes, was sentenced to death. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, July 19, 1898. Paid The Penalty Geo. Stephenson Hanged at Stanford, KY., for the Murder of Joe Tilford—He Was Strangled to Death. Stanford, Ky., Aug. 19.—Geo. Stephenson, colored, was hanged here at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

	In 23 ½ minutes, Stephenson who killed Joe Tilford, was pronounced dead by Drs. C. M. Thompson and W. B. O'Bannon. His neck was not broken, owing to the stretching of the rope. He died of strangulation. He was not the least excited, and after walking to the gallows unsupported, he spoke several minutes in a clear voice, telling how his sins had been washed away. Threats by Negroes amounted to nothing and nothing unexpected happened. On the afternoon of July 4, 1898, at a flag raising at Crab Orchard, Lincoln county, George Stephenson, on coming out of a saloon and without a word of warning, shot to death Joe Tilford, a white boy, 13 years old firing five shots, three of which struck him. After a hot chase the Negro was caught and placed in the little wooden jail there and a force of men ordered to guard the building. A number of starts were made to take Stephenson out and hang him, but cooler heads prevailed on those who wanted to hang him to let the law take its course, and at nightfall Sheriff Sam M. Owens, with a heavy guard, brought him to Stanford and put him in the county jail. A grand jury was summoned the next day and his trial ended two days later, when the jury returned a verdict of death. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, August 23, 1898 George Stephenson, colored, was hanged at Stanford Thursday for the murder of Joe Tilford, a white boy, fourteen years old, at Crab Orchard July 4th. He was tried and convicted three days thereafter. The killing was deliberate and entirely unprovoked. He spoke a few words on the scaffold saying he was prepared to die. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, August 30, 1898

Tillet, _____	Some marked peculiarities appear in connection with the drowning of persons in the Kentucky river from Boonesborough up to the Mouth of Red river. The drowning at Ford last week brings forth these remarks. From the settlement of this locality, 1775 to about 1885, a period of eighty years, it is believed nobody was drowned. About the latter year Capt. Turnbull, of Winchester was drowned at the mouth of Bear Run. Probably three years later, Pen Coe, another Clark county man was drowned just below the mouth of Four Mile. In 1882, a dozen negro men and a white woman were washed out of a railroad camp on Two Mile creek into the river and drowned near Ford during a sudden rise. A few years later, several boys from Clark were drowned at the Mouth of Upper Howard's creek. Since that time the number of drownings especially at Ford, have been too great to be recalled, but perhaps every instance except that of John Sewell, several years ago and the boy East a year ago and a colored boy the past Spring that were from Clark. Thus it spans that for nearly a century and a quarter only four or five Madison county people have been drowned along about fifteen miles of river and those within the brief period of less than six years, while Clark has been unfortunate for nearly forty years and the extent of dozens. But our Madison people on the North side never had any great love for water except for farming purposes.—Richmond Register. This is only a partial list of those drowned near Ford is even the last generation: Rufus Emerson was drowned at Boonesboro; a man named Tillet near the Mouth of Otter Creek; John Atkinson some where near the same place; two sons of Commodore Richardson at the mouth of Two Mile, and a negro boy in the big eddy above the Mouth of Four Mile. Zach Hukill drowned himself on account of ill health near Riverside; Bennie Butler was drowned in Two Mile creek and his body was afterward found in the river. Quite a number of other drownings have occurred, the names of the victims having escaped our memory. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 2, 1897

She had been for most of her life a member of the Baptist Church and was an earnest, consistent, Christian lady. Her husband, William Timberlake, to whom she had been married more than fifty years, died two weeks previous, and as his body was placed in the vault of the Winchester Cemetery, it is probable that these two so long together in life, will be buried together. It directs that no interest be charged on this note and that a sum should be paid Miss Mary Timberlake sufficient to make her equal to these two advancements, after which the residue of the property was to be divided equally, Mrs. Hoge's part to be for life with remainder to her children, while Miss Timberlake's part is to be hers in fee simple. Tipton, Kavanaugh	A HORRIBLE TRAGEDY Jailer and Sheriff Howard of Montgomery, Killed by a Horse Thief Jailer Tipton and Deputy Sheriff Howard left Mt. Sterling early yesterday morning and went to a point near the Menifee county line to arrest a horse thief whom they had located there. The Officers entered the house when the thief opened fire, instantly killing Howard and mortally wounding Tipton. The murderer escaped but will be lynched if caught as the officers were among the most popular the county ever had. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, July 27, 1892 For several days this week, it was rumored that Brookshire, the murderer of the Mt. Sterling officers, had been caught in Breathitt County. The following from the Jackson Hustler shows that, although a slight mistake was made, the catch was a good one: "Tuesday" evening Detective Drake arrested a man on the K.U. train on suspicion that he was the murderer of Tipton and Howard. He lodged him here in jail over night and Wednesday morning started to Mt. Sterling with him as he suited the description of Brookshire so well. He found out on the way that the fellow's name was Charley Davis, who had been in Powell county nearly a year. The man had shown so many evidences of guilt that Drake determined to hold him until he could work up his case. He told Davis that he would bring him back to Jackson on a pistol case and hold him until he could write to Tennessee where a letter taken from him had been mailed to Davis but written to Shade Bonnard. At this announcement, Bonnard broke down and confessed that he was indicted for murder in Hancock county, Tennessee. At an Association last September two relatives of his were killed, and he was mixed up with the fray and skipped out. He is in our jail awaiting his fate. Mr. Drake showed a fine knowledge of men in this transaction. He is rapidly making his reputation as a detective by the successful work he does.

The Democrat, Wednesday, August 3, 1892.

Our last issue contained a short sketch of the murder of Jailer Tipton and Constable Tom Howard, of Montgomery county. The particulars since have created much excitement here. It seems that a valuable horse was stolen from F. M. Hill, of Madison county, who telegraphed Tipton to be on the lookout. He was soon on his track with Howard, Geo. Rayburn and two others in the posse. They trailed him to the house of John Pitts, in Menifee county, which they reached before day Tuesday. Tipton and Howard pretended to be on an electioneering tour, went inside and saw a man lying on a bed. Tipton advanced to the head of the bed and Howard to the foot. A light was made and Howard shook the apparently sleeping man to wake him up. In a moment the latter seized a pistol from under his pillow and shot Howard through the brain; turning, he put another through the head of Tipton, and with pistol in hand, made for the door where he met Rayburn, at whom he fired, wounding him in the side and arm. A large bull dog seized Rayburn at the same time and tore his legs badly. The murderer, who was recognized as a man who went under the names of Alonzo or Charlie Brookshire and Charlie Crow, escaped from the house, but in a few moments returned and wanted to shoot Tipton again as he was not quite dead, but was prevented by Pitts. The horse was found there and returned to the owner. A special train was dispatched from Mt. Sterling, which brought back the bodies of the murdered men, who were buried under the most intense excitement ever beheld in that city. A large reward was offered for Brookshire and soon all the country between there and the Virginia line was being scoured for him. A man was arrested near Clay City but he proved to be a man wanted for murder in Tennessee. Thursday he was seen near Doyleville, Madison county, and Friday morning he entered a store at Valley View, near which his uncle, Wiley Brookshire, lives. He was recognized and Sheriff Bales was notified. Bales summoned a posse and started there at once. He was found in a cornfield with his back against a tree, surrounded by weeds, with a couple of big revolvers in his hand. Bales pretended not to see him, but road past him, when Brookshire's was eye drawn to another one of the party, he leaped from his horse and leveled his shotgun at him, upon which Brookshire gave up and was taken to Richmond. A number of Mt. Sterling people were present when he was brought before the County Judge next morning and seemed to be satisfied when the Judge made an order to transfer him to Menefee county yesterday. This was only a ruse, however, and he was taken to Lexington that afternoon. He will have to be taken to Menefee for trial and it is hardly possible that he will escape being lynched as he passes through Mt. Sterling, unless he has a very large guard in attendance. Brookshire is only 22 years old and was raised in Estill county. He is a son of Martin Allen Brookshire, formerly of this county, and has many relatives here, all of whom are good law-abiding citizens. His father, however, served a term in the penitentiary for stealing meat. Young Brookshire has always been a hard case and was sent up from Jackson for four years for house-breaking, being arrested at the same house he was found in this time. He escaped from the railroad where he was at work, but was caught in a couple of weeks. A short time before his term expired he escaped again, this time getting clear away. He came to this county and stayed for some time near Renick. While there he, together with a fellow named Parker, was arrested for breaking into the house of Mr. Owens and stealing a vase. While awaiting trial on that charge, John Oden, at that time Chief of Police, learned he was an escaped convict, and took him back to serve out his time. Several months ago he was arrested and placed in jail here, charged with stealing horses from Rev. Wm. Repard Geo. Hunt, and Ben Franklin, but the charge could not be proved and he was released.

The Democrat, Wednesday, August 3, 1892.

Had Col. H. Clay King, the Tennessee murderer, been confined in the Mt. Sterling jail for safe keeping, he would have been hanged long before his commutation. Those Montgomery fellows are evidently not the kind to make a distinction between poor and wealthy cases. It is only a matter of time until murderer Brookshire will meet his fate. – Richmond Climax

The Democrat, Wednesday, August 31, 1892.

Menifee Circuit Court convenes in September and Brookshire, the murderer, now in the Lexington jail, will be taken there for trial.

The Democrat, Wednesday, August 31, 1892.

Brookshire Sent to the Pen For Life.

Monday morning the jury in the Brookshire case at Frenchburg reported a verdict of murder in the first degree fixing the punishment at imprisonment for life in the penitentiary. Immediately after receiving the sentence, Brookshire was taken by Sheriff and a guard across the country to a station on the C. and O. railroad, and taken by a circuitous route to Frankfort.

The Democrat, Wednesday, September 21, 1892.

That the juries of Kentucky are largely responsible for the bloody record which makes the name of the State a reproach in the land, has received fresh verifications in the action of the Menifee county jury which tried Brookshire.

This man, who is less than twenty-five years old, is a professional criminal, having already severed a term in the penitentiary. The crime for which he was tried in Menifee county is one against which no meritorious defense could have been set up. He was an escaped convict, a horse thief, an outlaw seeking to avoid arrest, and murdered two

	officers of the law who were attempting to capture him. There was no excuse for his bloody deed-it was attended by no palliating circumstance-yet by the verdict of the Menifee county jury he goes to the penitentiary for life instead of to the gallows. In a few years some sympathetic Governor will come along and give Brookshire his liberty. This is the usual course in such cases, and this is an illustration of Kentucky "justice," so called. Truly may the people pray for protection against Kentucky Juries.-Covington Commonwealth. The Democrat, Wednesday, September 28, 1892. BROOKSHIRE, the Menifee murderer, was safely lodged in the penitentiary last Wednesday. He seemed glad to get there. To a reporter he said: "Yes, I have been here before. I was sent to the penitentiary in 1888. They accused me of breaking into a house. They made me a trusty, and I heard my mother was sick and I ran off. I was a kid then. They caught me three months later at Winchester and brought me back. I was then sent to the railroad camp, and they made is so hot for me that, when I had only two months and twelve days to serve, I ran away. You see they whipped a fellow nearly every time he turned around. I was out two years and three months when I was captured again at Winchester, and I was released from prison the 18th day of last December. "Why did you kill Mr. Tipton and Mr. Howard?" "I thought they were going to kill me. I waked up in time to see them drawing their pistols, and I don't know how I got my pistol out from under my pillow in time to get the drop on both of them. I was excited, too, and I don't know how I did it. I never saw either one of them before, and did not know what they wanted, except that when I opened my eyes they were drawing their pistols. No, sir, Mr. Tipton never arrested me before." The Democrat, Wednesday, September 28, 1892. Late Friday afternoon, Gov. Brown issued his proclamation offering a reward of $300 for the arrest of Alonzo Brookshire, the murderer of Tipton and Howard, and it appeared in Saturday's issue of the Capitol. The executive order has however been revoked, it appearing to the satisfaction of the Governor that Brookshire was already in custody when it was issued. The proclamation has been withdrawn from the Capitol and Mr. Brookshire saves the treasury $300 by surrendering at an early instead of a later hour in the afternoon. The money will come in very well to buy a scaffold when the time comes to hang him. The Winchester Democrat, Wed., 8-10-1892 A dispatch from Frankfort says Alonzo Brookshire, the notorious outlaw, who after he escaped from the penitentiary about a year ago, killed Jailer Tipton and two deputies who were endeavoring to arrest him for horse stealing, died of typhoid fever within the walls there Wednesday. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, September 13, 1893 A Coincidence Mrs. Kavanaugh Tipton, of Mt. Sterling, has lost a husband and brother in almost the same way. While her husband was Jailer of Montgomery county, he attempted to arrest Alonzo Brookshire, of this county, a horse thief, who was resisting arrest, and the officer was instantly killed; and Sunday her brother Howard Wilson, was killed by Tipton Day, a murderer whom he was trying to arrest. The Winchester Democrat, Tue., July 10, 1900

Todd, B. Frank	Eld. J. W. Harding preached the funeral Tuesday of Frank Todd, of Madison county, who died suddenly of heart disease. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, November 26, 1897 While sitting in his chair before the fire Sunday afternoon B. Frank Todd, a wealthy farmer, living two miles East of Richmond, died suddenly of heart disease. He was the father of Matt. Todd, whose assassination four years ago resulted in the sentence of Will Todd, also a son of the deceased, to the penitentiary for life after one of the most sensational trials in the history of the county. Only a few weeks ago another son, Rutherford, killed Dan Little in a fierce duel, but was cleared on the plea of self defense. These troubles, it is believed, caused the death of the old man. Col. Todd was a man of the highest standing, and leaves a large estate, to be divided among seven children. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, November 26, 1897 Wealthy Madison Farmer Disinherits a Daughter Six years ago Miss Minnie Todd, daughter of B. Frank Todd, a wealthy farmer living near Richmond, eloped much against her father's will and married Peter M. Gentry, a neighbor's son. Instead of the usual blessing, her father sent her word that for her disobedience she should never have a cent of his property. Some months afterward, however, his heart softened and he forgave the couple and seemed to forget that there had ever been any dissention. Mrs. Gentry became almost a daily visitor to her father's home. A few days ago the old man died, and when the will was probated in the County Court it was found that Mrs. Gentry's name was omitted from the document, the property, amounting to something like $30,000, being willed to the other four children, completely disinheriting her. Todd, Matt	Matt Todd, a well known Madison man, was shot and killed Saturday night by a negro who fired on him through the window while he was reading. There was considerable trouble over the settlement of his estate and the negro says that Will Todd, a brother of the victim, hired him to commit the deed. The dead man has numerous relatives in this county. Both Will Todd and the negro confessed yesterday. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, February 14, 1894 Monday was set for the examining trial of Jesse Hatton and Will Todd for the murder of the latter's brother at Richmond. Both prisoners waived examination and were held over without bail. Both have made confessions and have gone over the grounds with the officers and showed each movement in detail, showing conclusively that they were together, although each claims the other fired the fatal shot. It is thought the sisters of the dead man will be implicated before the matter is ended. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, February 21, 1894 The Madison Circuit Court began yesterday. Among the most important cases is that of Will Todd and Jesse Hilton for the murder of Matt Todd The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 4, 1894 In the Circuit Court at Richmond, Wednesday the case of the Commonwealth vs. Bill Todd, for killing his brother, Matt in February, was called. There are over one hundred witnesses. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, September 14, 1894 Given a Life Sentence In the Circuit Court Saturday morning Will Todd, aged twenty-three years, was sentenced to the penitentiary for life for the murder of his brother, Matt Todd, in February last. It was a cold blooded assassination, in which Todd was assisted by a negro named Jesse Hatton. They fired upon Matt Todd through a window, killing him instantly. Hatton's trial will occur at the next session of the court. The almost universal sentiment at Richmond was in favor of hanging, and ten of the jury were for giving Todd the sentence. He received the verdict with stolid indifference.—Richmond Pantagraph. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 25, 1894 AT Richmond Jesse Hatton, colored, was given a life sentence for complicity in the murder of Matt Todd, white, last February. Will Todd, a brother of the murdered man, in company with the negro, went to Matt Todd's house and shot him through a window. Will Todd was given a life sentence in September and Hatton can now join him. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 14, 1894. WILL TODD, who was sent to the pen for life for the murder of his brother, Matt Todd, of Madison county, had his hand cut of by a saw last week while at work in the penitentiary. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, December 18, 1894. THE Sheriff of Madison county passed through here Tuesday with Jesse Hatton, whom

	he was conveying to the penitentiary to serve a life sentence for the murder of Matt Todd last Spring. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 21, 1894. A petition is being circulated at Richmond asking for the pardon of William Todd, who it will be remembered, was sent to the penitentiary for life three years ago, for the assassination of his brother, Madison Todd. A negro named Hatton was also implicated, and he too, is serving a life sentence. Todd's youngest sister, Miss Maggie, is circulating the petition, which is receiving many signatures. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, June 29, 1897 A petition is in circulation for the pardon of Will Todd, of Madison county, who is serving a life term for the murder of his brother, Matt. Todd, and the chances are that it will be granted. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 2, 1897 Rufus Todd, of Madison county, will be tried today at Richmond for cutting Dan Little in a dispute about some cattle. Todd is a brother to Will Todd who is serving a life term in the pen for killing Matt. Todd another brother. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, October 12, 1897 Gov. Bradley has refused to pardon Will Todd, of Madison county, who was given a life sentence for the murder of his brother, Matt Todd. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 29, 1898 In the Richmond Circuit Court Saturday, Rutherford was acquitted of the killing of Dan Little some months ago. Todd is a brother of Will Todd, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of Matt Todd. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 20, 1898 Sentence Commuted Will Todd, of Madison county, who is serving a life term in the penitentiary for the murder of his brother, has had his sentence commuted to thirty years from date of conviction by Gov. Worthington. Todd is about thirty years of age and has already served five years. The Winchester Democrat, Fri., May 26, 1899 Murderer Pardoned Wednesday, Governor Bradley issued a pardon for Wm. Todd, who was convicted and given a life sentence from this county about six years ago for killing his brother, Matt, the particulars of which are still fresh in the minds of our readers. The prisoner is in the last stages of consumption and the physician in charge says that his presence is dangerous to other inmates of the hospital. It is said that he will be taken by his friends to Montana where a brother and some sisters reside. Richmond Register The Winchester Democrat, Fri., Dec. 15, 1899 It is said that Will Todd, of Madison county, who was pardoned out of the penitentiary where he was serving a life sentence for the murder of his brother, must leave the state as one of the conditions of the pardon. He will go to Montana, where he has a sister living. The Winchester Democrat, Tue., Jan. 16, 1900 Pardon refused Gov. Wilson refused to pardon Jesse Hatton, a negro sent to the penitentiary from Madison county for complicity in the murder of Matt Todd, a prominent white man a number of years ago. Will Todd, a brother of the dead man, was also convicted, but has been pardoned. Gov. Willson says because the principal has escaped punishment by being pardoned is no good reason for pardoning the accomplice, if he is guilty. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, October 1, 1909 Prisoner paroled Jesse Hatton, a negro prisoner serving a life sentence from Madison county, was paroled this week. He was convicted with William Todd, a white man of the murder of Todd's brother. Todd was pardoned by Gov. Bradley ten years ago, but Hatton has been in ever since. Todd, O. Frank	Broke The Will Several years ago, Miss Minnie Todd, daughter of O. Frank Todd, a wealthy farmer of Madison county, eloped with P. M. Gentry, to Ohio, where they were married and resided for several years. On hearing of the elopement the irate father announced his determination "to never give his daughter one cent of his estate." This resolve he seems to have zealously kept, for at his death, two years ago, Mrs. Gentry found no mention of her name in his will. Upon the advice of a lawyer, she filed a petition to have the will set aside, and last week in the Circuit Court, her petition was sustained by the jury's verdict. Mrs. Gentry will receive about $3,000 as her portion. The Winchester Democrat, Fri., April 20, 1900

Besides a husband she leaves four sons and two daughters to mourn the loss of the earliest, best and most unselfish friend they ever had. Mrs. Toohey was born in Ireland, but came to this country in early girlhood and for the last half or more of her life she has lived in this county. Modest and unassuming she performed the duties of life as they presented themselves cheerfully and well. As a wife she was the staff and comfort of him whose hearthstone is now desolate; a mother she brought her children up in the fear and admonition of the Lord; as a neighbor and friend, she was kind, courteous and generous. Born and reared in the tenets of the Holy Catholic Church her faith never faltered and when the summons came it found her prepared to lay down the cross and take up the crown which is promised to those who have kept the faith. Toomey, George	CITY, COUNTY, STATE-AT Lexington Tuesday night Jas. Green, candidate for marshal of Athens, shot Geo. Toomey through the bowels inflicting a fatal wound. The men had been enemies for some time. Green was arrested and lodged in jail. Both men formerly lived in this county. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, November 9, 1894. IN our last issue we noted the shooting of Geo. Toomey by Jas. Green, of Athens, at Lexington, on the night of the election. Toomey was removed to his home, while Green remained in charge of the constable. A few days later several of the Athens crowd were in Lexington some of them bent on having Greene placed in jail and others opposed to it. Marshal Traynor became involved in a row with Lew Sharp, Ike Davidson, Pat Toomey and some other person, over the matter. Traynor knocked Sharp down and cut him very badly in the face and near the hand. The others ran up and one of them struck Traynor who had Sharp down. The latter arose with a big pistol in each hand, and while he covered a part of his foes with one, with the other he shot Issac Davidson, inflicting a wound from which he died in a few moments. Traynor surrendered and is out on bond. Davidson was a prominent distiller of Athens. Sharp is badly hurt but may get well. He was a Confederate soldier, a member of Cluke's regiment and has numerous comrades in this county. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, November 13, 1894. Geo. Toomey, who was shot by Jas. Green at Athens on election night, has since died, and Green was brought before Judge Bullock, of Lexington Tuesday on a charge of murder. He was released on $3,000 bail. Toomey, W. M.	Kissed by the queen In taking the census of Harrodsburg the enumerators only found one man who was born in London. This was Mr. W.M. Toomey whose parents brought him to this country when he was nine years old. He is probably the only man in America who ever kissed Queen Victoria and had for a playmate the late King Edward VII. Mr. Toomey's father was gardener at Windsor palace, and there was a school established by the Queen for the children of the employees which he attended as a child. He was quite a vocalist and the show singer of the school. One day the Queen visited the school and the teacher made the gardener's son sing "God Save the Queen" as she entered. His sweet voice and childish innocence quite won the noble lady, and she impulsively stooped and kissed the little singer. – Harrodsburg Herald. Mr. Toomey was raised in Clark county, where his father died and where his mother lived for many years. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, May 31, 1910

Topic, Harvey	Two Men Dead And Another Fatally Wounded, the Outcome of a Pistol Duel in Leslie County. Pineville, Ky., Jan. 25.—Wm. And Harvey Topic are dead and Lew Wallace is fatally wounded as the result of a pistol duel in a room in Leslie county, near the Bell and Harlan county line, Sunday night. The Topic boys were invited by Wallace to go to his house and engage in a game of draw poker. The game seemed to be one sided. Wallace winning all the money. Finally the Topics refused to pay some money that Wallace said they owed and a quarrel followed. Peace was finally secured and the game continued until nearly morning, when the quarrel was renewed. Pistols were drawn, the lights shot out and a desperate duel begun. When the shooting ceased the two Topics were found to be dead and Wallace fatally wounded. Tracy, Buford Allen	HORRIBLE ACCIDENT Capt. B. A. Tracy Caught in an Elevator at Gay's Warehouse and His Neck Broken.

	A Good Citizen Gone. The uncertainty of human life was once more exemplified by the terrible accident by which Capt. Buford Allen Tracy lost his life yesterday afternoon. He was at the warehouse of David S. Gay, and was conversing with some one in the basement of the building. Having finished his work there he called to some one to carry the elevator to the ground floor. John Wickline was their with a load of tobacco for M. H. Gardner and seized hold of the rope which controls the elevator. Not being familiar with the working of the machine, he failed to stop it when it reached the desired point and it continued to ascend. It is supposed that Capt. Tracy attempted to jump from the elevator platform to the floor, after he found it would not stop. He had waited too long however his head came in contact with the beams of the floor above, breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous and he suffered no pain. The news spread rapidly and a large crowd was soon present, the efforts of the police being necessary to clear the building so that the undertakers could take charge of the body. He was liked by everybody. Bluff and cheery, his presence dispelled low spirits and he toward was a better for his having lived in it, he was a man of strong convictions and never hesitated to express them. When the tocsin of war sounded, he responded early in the action, and did his part well. He left with the rank of Captain. He was for some time on the staff of Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge. He never held civil office, but was prominently mentioned for Railroad Commissioner under the present administration and was a candidate for that place at the time of his death. He took a prominent part in the organization of Confederate Veterans; he was Vice President of Clark County Confederate Veteran Association and Adjutant of Roger Hanson Camp of Confederate Veterans. He was a prominent member of Goshen Baptist church and had been for years. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Holloway, and the following children; Mrs. Mayme Scobee, Buford, Starling, Mattie, Lizzie, Will, Stuart and Jeannette. He had ten thousand dollars insurance on his life. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 21, 1894. Mrs. Wm. Tracy, Mrs. Elizabeth	Horrible Accident Mrs. Elizabeth Tracy Receives Fatal Burns Yeaterday morning the Fire Department was called out by an alarm from the residence of Mrs. Lizzie Tracy, on South Maple Street. Upon arrival it was found that the services of the firemen were not needed, but a tragedy, far greater than the destruction of property, had occurred. Some days ago Mrs. Tracy had severly bruised her leg by breaking through a defective spot in the kitchen floor. Yesterday morning she was sitting before the fire bathing the bruised member with turpentine. Her daughter, Miss Mattie, in the discharge of her household duties, accidentally overturned the bottle. The volatile fluid at once caught fire enveloping Mrs. Tracy in flames. Efforts to extinguish them were unsuccessful until most of her clothing had burned off. By this time she was unconscious, in which condition she remained until death came to her relief a few hours later. Mr. Charles L. Vanmeter, Miss Lizzie Tracy and the colored cook were each badly burned in trying to divest the unfortunate lady of her clothing, and Miss Mattie Tracy was also burned but not so badly. Mrs. Tracy was originally Miss Holloway, of Henderson, and one of a large family of brothers and sisters of whom eleven are still living. Col. J. H. Holloway is the only one living in this vicinity, but the others were at once notified by telegraph. Her awful fate recalls the tragic death of her husband, Capt. B. A. Tracy, several years ago, his neck being broken in the elevator of the Gay warehouse in this city. The funeral will take place from the Presbyterian church this afternoon at two o'clock, burial in the Winchester cemetery. The Winchester Democrat Tue., Nov. 27, 1900

Tramps	Tuesday night a negro named Will Smith was accosted by a tramp near Prewitt Station, who used very threatening language and as the negro says, tried to rob him. Smith ran into a house and the tramp followed and renewed his attempts when Smith shot him. Smith then reported the fact but upon search no blood was found and the tramp had disappeared. Nothing more was thought of the matter until the next day when the track walker found the body some distance away. Coroner Alexander summoned a jury who examined the body, but beyond the fact that the man was dead and that Smith had killed him, nothing further was elicited. Nothing was found on the body by which it could be identified. He was a man of dark complexion, aged about 35 years, the right arm off near the shoulder, dirty and roughly dressed. The body was brought to this city for interment. Smith was brought here and lodged in jail and the matter brought before the Grand Jury which refused to indict him. His body was mangled beyond recognition. Cleveland Harrison, a tramp who was riding in a box car, was killed. Treadway, Mrs. Patsy	The Mt. Sterling Advocate has the following account of "Aunt" Patsy Treadway, who is a fair specimen of the Kentucky women of her day. "Aunt" Patsy is past 84 years old. Born in Clark county in 1811. Her maiden name was Martha Ann Haggard. In 1826 when 15 years old she married Stephen Treadway and raised 10 children. Aunt Patsey has been a hard worker. When 18 years old with two children, after getting breakfast, one in her arms and the other astride of neck, she would walk three miles, cut her 12 shocks of corn, return home, get supper, and repeat the same work, cutting the entire crop. In addition to this work she would cut wood, split rails, plow, sickle or cradle wheat, pull flax, make it into cloth garments and wear it. All kinds of farm and home work she has done and today is hale and hearty and on Thursday she will leave for Columbus, Ind. To make her future home with her daughter, Mrs. Kavanaugh. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 20, 1895 An old lady On last Wednesday, Aunt Patsy Treadway walked into our office, exclaiming: "This is my birthday. I am just 85 years old today, and have been here during three wars – 1812, 1848 and 1860. I was a Miss Haggard, of the county of Clark, and at the age of 15 married Stephen Treadway. I am the mother, grandmother and great grandmother of 103 children. When just past 18 years old, I was the mother of two children. I carried them with me to the field after milking and getting breakfast, tied them in a fence corner, cut twelve shocks of corn per day, and returned to my home to attend to domestic affairs. Of course I have been a hard worker. I have cut wood, split rails, handled the reap hook and cradled in harvest time; sowed, pulled, broke, hackled and swingled flax, spun it and wove it into cloth. I have sheared sheep and made the wool into blankets, lindsey and jeans. I have done all kinds of work and feel none the worse for it. At the age of 19 I joined the old Lulbegrud Baptist church under the ministry of Rev. Thomas Boon, and when the missionaries withdrew and organized New Lulbegrud my husband and I went with them; I am now a member of the Mt. Sterling Baptist church. This is my last birthday." – Mt. The Seventh was Col. D. W. Chanault's regiment and James B. McCreary was a Major in the same regiment; Joseph Tucker of Winchester was Lieutenant-Colonel. Chenault was killed at Green river bridge, July 4, 1863, while trying to take the stockade. Capt. Alex Tribble, of Richmond, was also killed in the same fight, as were Lieut. The stockade was on a bluff on the Columbus side of the river going from Lebanon and was under command of Lieut. Miller, who belonged to some Michigan regiment, we believe. Col. Chenault wrote a note demanding the surrender of the stockade and the men, to which Miller laconically replied: "On any other than today I would consider the matter, but under the circumstances, if you want it, you will have to come and get it." Chenault attempted to do so with the assistance of Cluke's regiment and met with disastrous loss. After the fight was over Miller had the wounded

Tribble, Andrew J.		Obituary-In the death of Andrew J. Tribble, Clark county loses one of its strongest men. After a brief illness, he passed to his rest last Saturday night and is mourned by all who knew him. He had outlived three score but was hearty, active and vigorous when his fatal sickness struck him. As a friend who had known him intimately for many years and who had for him a tender, sincere regard, I cannot allow him to be put away without a tribute (slight and inadequate as it is) to his memory. He was born in Madison, but spent the greater part of his life in Clark. He married the daughter of Samuel Halley for years the owner of historic Boonesboro, and leaves her a distressed, heartbroken widow. In his young manhood he united with the Christian church and faithfully endeavored to live up to the precepts of the religion of Jesus Christ. He was a life long and consistent democrat, and although always tolerant of the views of others, never wavered in his political faith. For years he was a Justice of the Peace, but although ever an active partisan, never sought an office. To his friendships he was as true as the needle to the pole. When he liked a man no slight could change the current of his regard; neither did he ever deceitfully pretend to care for those who were not agreeable to him. Always manly, upright and honorable, his word was as good as his bond in the community where he lived, and in all his dealings with the people of this county we have never heard a charge of unfairness or injustice. Fearless is the expression of his opinions and courageous in the maintenance of whatever views he believed to be right, he was a model citizen, a devoted husband, a good neighbor, a true friend and an exemplary Christian. The community is indeed bereft in the loss of such a man. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 6-8-1887 IN the court of Appeals this week the case of Lisle vs. Tribble was decided. This case arose from the settlement of the estate of the late Andrew Tribble. Some time before his death, his wife being very sick, gave him a note for $ 1,000 which she held against him, for the purpose, of destroying it in case of her death. She recovered and Mr. Tribble proposed to alter his will giving her more there-in in place of the note. He subsequently died without doing so and some time after his death Mrs. Tribble brought suit on it as a lost note against Mrs. J. B. Lisle, who was residuary legatee. The Circuit Court decided in Mrs. Tribble's favor and this was affirmed by the Court of Appeals. The Democrat, Wednesday, December 9, 1891. Trobridge, Jas.		An Escaped Lunatic Caught Some weeks ago, Jas. Trobridge who was sent to the asylum from Fayette county, escaped, and came to the home of his brother-in-law, Chas. Wilson, of this county. Sheriff Scobee went after him a few days ago, but he drew a big knife, and not wishing to hurt him, or be hurt by him, the Sheriff returned without the man. In company with Jailer Boone and Policeman Walden, Sheriff Scobee went after him Friday, taking him unawares, they captured him without trouble. While coming to town he jumped from the surrency and although handcuffed, outran them easily, but was again captured in a few minutes and brought to this city from whence he was again sent to the asylum. Troulins, Cyprian		The Case Of Mrs. Troulins, Held for First Degree Murder, Continued Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 17.—Mrs. Cyprian Troulins' trial for murder was Wednesday continued until the May term of court on motion of the commonwealth. The court intimated that she would be granted reasonable bail. This she will likely be able to furnish in a few days. July 5 her husband was shot through the window while he was sitting at the supper table. The affair was a mystery for some time. A clew was finally secured which resulted in a mob taking action. Mrs. Troulins and Eph Brinkly were captured and Mrs. Troulins was hanged to a tree until she confessed that Brinkly had killed her husband. Brinkly was then strung up without further ado. It was decided that it would not do to hang the woman and the law was allowed to take its course. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, February 18, 1898

Tuck, Evan	While playing squirrel Evan Tuck, the ten year old son of Elwood Tuck, of Sugar Grove, died Wednesday last from the effects of a gun wound at the hands of a little playmate. The two boys were playing around the yard in innocent glee, one climbing a tree and the other taking aim at him with an old gun which they supposed to be unloaded. They took it time about, climbing a tree and acting as a squirrel. When it came young Tuck's turn to be squirrel the gun went off and the ball took effect in the abdomen, which resulted in his death. The affair was shocking and the parents of both children are heart broken. – Bowling Green Messenger The Winchester Democrat Friday, March 4, 1910

Tucker, Joseph T.	In an old scrap book we find the following among the “Sketches of Prominent Kentuckians” from the Frankfort Commonwealth, published in 1872. Col. Tucker was then the representative from this and Montgomery counties, in the Legislature: Col. Joseph T. Tucker, Member from the counties of Clark and Montgomery, was born in Boston, Mass., in 1833, and graduated at Yale College in 1849; came to Kentucky in 1850, graduated at the Transylvania Law School at Lexington, Ky., in 1853, and commenced the practice of his profession in Winchester, Clark county, in 1854. Entered the Southern army in 1862, as Lieutenant-Colonel of the 7 th Cavalry Regiment, Kentucky Volunteers, under Gen. John H. Morgan. When Col. Chenault was killed in July, 1863, he succeeded to the command with the rank of a full Colonel, and served with distinction until captured with Gen. Morgan, in Ohio. He is chairman of the committee on revised statutes; also belongs to the important committees on the judiciary and Circuit Courts. He is recognized as a working member—rarely ever speaks and when he rises in his seat you may know that there is a law point under consideration; he means business. Turnbull, Capt. _____	Some marked peculiarities appear in connection with the drowning of persons in the Kentucky river from Boonesborough up to the Mouth of Red river. The drowning at Ford last week brings forth these remarks. From the settlement of this locality, 1775 to about 1885, a period of eighty years, it is believed nobody was drowned. About the latter year Capt. Turnbull, of Winchester was drowned at the mouth of Bear Run. Probably three years later, Pen Coe, another Clark county man was drowned just below the mouth of Four Mile. In 1882, a dozen negro men and a white woman were washed out of a railroad camp on Two Mile creek into the river and drowned near Ford during a sudden rise. A few years later, several boys from Clark were drowned at the Mouth of Upper Howard's creek. Since that time the number of drownings especially at Ford, have been too great to be recalled, but perhaps every instance except that of John Sewell, several years ago and the boy East a year ago and a colored boy the past Spring that were from Clark. Thus it spans that for nearly a century and a quarter only four or five Madison county people have been drowned along about fifteen miles of river and those within the brief period of less than six years, while Clark has been unfortunate for nearly forty years and the extent of dozens. But our Madison people on the North side never had any great love for water except for farming purposes.—Richmond Register. This is only a partial list of those drowned near Ford is even the last generation: Rufus Emerson was drowned at Boonesboro; a man named Tillet near the Mouth of Otter Creek; John Atkinson some where near the same place; two sons of Commodore Richardson at the mouth of Two Mile, and a negro boy in the big eddy above the Mouth of Four Mile. Zach Hukill drowned himself on account of ill health near Riverside; Bennie Butler was drowned in Two Mile creek and his body was afterward found in the river. Quite a number of other drownings have occurred, the names of the victims having escaped our memory. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 2, 1897
Turnbull, Emma	Death of Miss Turnbull One of our most highly esteemed ladies passed away – The last of her name Some time ago Miss Emma Turnbull was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital at Lexington to submit to a surgical operation for intestinal trouble. When the operation was performed it was found that the trouble was a malignant cancer and that she could live but a few days. She lingered until Tuesday morning when she passed away. The remains were brought to this city where the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the First Christian church, services being conducted by Eld. J.H. MacNeill, and the remains were buried in the Winchester cemetery. Miss Turnbull was sixty-eight years of age, and was one of the oldest native residents of Winchester. She was the last of her name and race, and in her death our city loses a lady whose abounding charity has helped many in time of need. The only near relatives are two nephews, Dr. Julian McClymonds, of Lexington and Jas. McClymonds, of California, and one niece, Mrs. Dan Smith, of Cincinnati. The following were the pall bearers at the funeral: Active – J.M. Hodgkin, J.N. Martin, V.W. Bush, B.R. Jouett, J.R. Martin, and J.W. Stapleton. Honorary pall bearers: W.P. Winn, J.W. Poynter, C.B. Stewart, W.H. Strossamn, C.W. Parrish, Robert Prewitt, J.W. Ishmael, Wm. Phelps, John Waller, M.T. McEldowney and Stuart Taylor. The Winchester Democrat Friday, September 9, 1910 Attended in body For many years Miss Emma Turnbull had been a valued member of the local auxiliary of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, and the auxiliary attended her funeral in a body. The Winchester Democrat Friday, September 9, 1910

	Will probated The will of Miss Emma Turnbull admitted to probate – Legacies to various relatives The will of Miss Emma Turnbull was admitted to probate yesterday. After making provisions for the payment of debts, she name Dr. Julian McClymonds, as executor without bond. The will directs that her mercantile business be wound up as soon as possible, having due regard to the interest of her partner, whom she did not wish to be rushed about the matter. It bequeathed to her niece, Lida Smith, $1,000; to her sons, Harry Smith and Hamilton Smith, each $500; to Annie McClymonds, wife of James H. McClymonds, $1,000; to his son, William McClymonds, $1,000; to Julian McClymonds, $4,000. Theses legacies are to be paid out of the proceeds of her business, her two thirds interest in a cottage on South Main street and from her personal property. If there should not be enough funds from these sources, the legacy to Julian McClymonds shall be reduced, provided that it not reduced below $3,000. A lot near the stand pipe is given to Julian McClymonds. The land owned by testator in Brewster county, Texas, is left to Julian McClymonds, Jas. H. McClymonds and Mrs. Lida Smith in equal portions. The executor is given full power and discretion to manage and control this property for a period not exceeding ten years. He is not to be held responsible for errors of judgment in said control, but shall account annually for proceeds. He may sell it any time, but must sell it and divide proceeds within ten years. The will is dated January 16th, 1907. By a codicil dated September 12th, 1908, the testator provides that the $1,000 left to Annie McClymonds shall be invested by the executor for her benefit for life with remainder to her son, William McClymonds. In regard to the Texas land, one third of the share devised to J.H. McClymonds is left to his wife, Annie, for life with remainder to her son, William. The remainder of the estate not mentioned is left in equal parts to Julian McClymonds, Lida Smith and William McClymonds, son of J.H. McClymonds. The charges of the codicil in regard to the property left J.H. McClymonds, are made through no lack of love for him, but because his business ventures are somewhat speculative, and his property might be lost. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, September 27, 1910 An opportunity In order to wind up the estate of the late Miss Emma Turnbull it becomes necessary to dissolve the firm of Artis & Turnbull. The class of goods carried by this firm has always been firstclass and the opportunity offered to purchasers by the big advertisement on the last page of this issue should not be overlooked. These are real bargains which are seldom found. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 27, 1910 The Sun Sentinel Thur., 1-19-1911

Turner, A. C.	FOUGHT OVER A WOMAN. Duel to the Death Between Four Men in Clay County-One Man Instantly Killed. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 11.-A special from London, Laurel county, Ky., says: Details of a desperate duel to the death have just reached here from Sexton's creek, in Clay county, between Tom Whitmore and Dan Parker on one side and A. C. Turner and John Murray on the other, which resulted in Parker killing Turner instantly. The fight was brought about by the rivalry of Parker and Murray for the hand of a young woman in the neighborhood. They secured a friend apiece and the impromptu duel began on the road which ended in Murray's friend being killed instantly, both pair escaping practically unhurt. Turner, Geo.		The daily papers of Friday contained intelligence of another outbreak in Harlan county. About the August election Geo. Turner was killed by Wilson Howard. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but both the sheriff and jailer were his relatives and refused to make the arrest. Wilson Lewis, the county judge, summoned a posse and went to arrest Howard. He found him surrounded by a number of his friends and opened fire, fatally wounding a member of Howard's party named Spurlock. Geo. Hall of the attacking party, was also killed during the fight. Both parties were scattered. Meredith and Craig, of the Judge's party were ambushed on their way back and badly wounded. Judge Lewis and his brother were followed and fired on but without effect. Howard has a number of determined men with him and says he will not be taken. The Gov. of Missouri has offered $5,000 reward for his arrest for crimes committed there and Gov. Buckner has offered $500 on account of the last killing. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 8-28-1889

Turner, George	AA	GEORGE TURNER, aged 45, colored, was murdered at Richmond last week by being shot in the head and shoulder with a shotgun. After he was shot one murderer deliberately took the butt end of the gun and beat the dead mans head to a pulp. No one was near at the time of the killing but all the evidence points to the guilt of "Dock" White, also colored, who was angry with Turner, having been soundly whipped by the latter several weeks before. White was caught and ordered in Richmond jail. He had been waiting at a point where Turner would have to pass in going to his work and from the numerous tracks near the spot had waited since daybreak. He was secreted behind a tree and was unobserved by the victim. White confesses the killing claims it was done in self defense. The Democrat, Wednesday, March 8, 1893. DOCK WHITE was held without bail for the killing of George Turner, at the examining trial at Richmond. The Democrat, Wednesday, March 15, 1893. At Richmond, Monday, Dock White was sentenced to the penitentiary for life for the murder of George Turner, both colored. The murder was committed last February and was a most brutal one. The trouble between the men arose over White's wife. He waylaid Turner and butchered him in a horrible manner. The verdict of the jury created great surprised as it was thought he would surely hang. Old lawyers say that this is the only regular assassination that ever occurred in Madison county. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, September 20, 1893

Turner, Heater		Heater Turner Blew His Brother's Head Off-Was Himself Wounded. Scottsville, Ky., Feb. 4.—A feud of long standing between brothers is settled. One brother is dead and the other is dying. Heater Turner shot off his brother's head; with a hatchet James Turner split his brother's skull. The Turner boys lived at Alexander, Ky., seven miles south of here, near the Kentucky-Tennessee line. Both were dealers in illicit grog, and it was the rivalry in their business that caused the bad feeling between them. They often have come together, but nothing more than words or a few eye-blackening and face-bruising blows resulted from their mix-ups. Monday morning they met and there was many harsh words passed, but no serious trouble occurred. Shortly after dinner, however, Heater loaded his double-barreled shot gun and went to call on James. He found him splitting kindling. With the muzzle of the gun he punched James in the ribs and announced that he had "come for his scalp," adding that his gun was loaded. James by way of reply, buried his hatchet in Heater's forehead. Staggering and falling, Heater pulled both triggers and the two loads of buckshot decapitated James. Heater was carried home unconscious, and will it is thought, die before morning. Both men were the heads of families. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, February 7, 1902

Turner, Oscar	Ex-Congressman Turner dead Louisville, Ky., Jan. 23 – Ex-Congressman Oscar Turner died at his home here Wednesday afternoon. He became a distinguished figure in Congress over a decade ago, becoming known nationally as the “outlaw.” Judge Turner earned this sobriquet by a series of remarkable contests for the seat in Congress from the First Kentucky district, running as an independent in defiance of the democratic party. He was so popular that he was returned for two other terms and the party machine abandoned the effort to defeat the “outlaw,” as his enemies dubbed him: He was 80 years old. Turner, Thomas	DISTROUS WRECK. Freight Train on L. & N. Plunges Over High Embankment at Riverside, Killing One Brakeman and Injuring a Number of Others. A bad freight wreck occurred near King’s Tunnel, on this side of Ford at an early hour yesterday morning. It is said workmen in repairing the track had left a piece of timber on the track across the rails. The Southbound through freight came along about eight o’clock, struck the timber, left the track and was wrecked. The engine and a number of cars went over the steep bank a distance of probably fifty feet and were completely demolished. Head brakeman, Thos. Turner, of Covington, was in the cab and was caught under the engine, being crushed to death. He leaves a wife and one child.

	Fireman McGarr had a leg broken, was badly scalded from his hips down and was otherwise hurt. He is badly hurt, but his injuries are not necessarily fatal. Engineer Ed. Tally, of Covington, attempted to leave the engine and was thrown about sixty feet, alighting on his hands and knees. He was considerably scratched and bruised but not badly hurt. The wrecked engine came near striking the house of Henry Waters, who lives below the track and would have destroyed it. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, April 18, 1902. Verdict of the Coroner's Jury. Coroner Brinegar finished the inquest Tuesday over the body of Brakeman Turner, who was killed in the wreck at Riverside Thursday. No evidence tending to throw light on the cause of the wreck was secured and the jury brought in a verdict that the deceased was killed in a railroad wreck and the cause of the wreck was unknown. A sheriff's posse in Knott county killed Noble in a battle with the alleged desperado, who was riddled with bullet's while refusing to surrender. Rewards aggregating $700 had been offered by the authorities of Breathitt county for the capture of Noble dead or alive. Noble, who was but 22 years of age, had previously killed three men. After shooting down Jailer Turner he escaped into the mountains and several posses had been searching for him since that time. Noble was first heard from in the Lost Creek section of Breathitt county, where for two days he is understood to have been under the protection of armed henchmen. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 1, 1908 Case reversed In the Breathitt Circuit court Mrs. Amelia Allen was given a life sentence for killing Fannie Tutt. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, June 2, 1909 A change of venue Mrs. Amelia B. Allen and her husband, charged with the murder of Mrs. Fannie Tutt, in Breathitt county, about a year ago, and who were sentenced to life imprisonment, have been granted a change of venue to Estill county. The execution will likely be in January. This is his second conviction, the court of appeals is having given him a new trial. Tutt killed his wife because she expressed her intention to go to a baseball game in a neighboring town. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, December 6, 1898 Will Tutt Executed. The Wife Murderer Ends His Earthly Career on the Gallows at Mayfield—His Nerve Failed Him. Mayfield, Ky., April 14.—Will Tutt, the Negro wife murderer, was executed from the gallows inside the county jail yard at 9:27 Thursday morning, and pronounced dead in nine minutes by Drs. J. H. Creery and J. L. Dismukes, jr. The condemned man refused to address the large crowd from the platform especially constructed for that purpose, but asked to be carried to the gallows. He appeared indifferent until the noose was placed around his neck, when his nerve failed him and he became so weak he could hardly stand alone. Before leaving the cell Rev. Robert Jewell and Latham, white ministers prayed and talked with him and received expressions of confidence as to his hereafter. Tutt shot and almost instantly killed his wife in this city on the morning of August 11,

	1897, because she was going to a baseball game with another man. He was 27 years of age, brownish color, good appearance and six feet in height. Burial was at the colored people's cemetery. Tutt came to Mayfield from Owensboro, Ky., just prior to his bloody crime. Shortly before the execution Tutt sent for three white ministers, saying the Negroes swore his life away and he had no confidence in them. The ministers prayed with him and Tutt professed conversion. The condemned man made several attempts to speak on the scaffold, but broke down each time. When the trap was sprung the rope slipped and death resulted from strangulation. Fifty people were admitted to the hanging, four Negroes among them. Several women witnessed the execution from jail windows. Tutt was to play with a Mayfield team in a game of baseball at Columbus, Ky. His wife insisted on going to Columbus to see the game. Tutt became so enraged at her insistence and finally fired four pistol balls into her body, one piercing the heart. He rushed out exclaiming: "Now you are going to Columbus, are you?" The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, April 18, 1899

Tuttle, I. N.	Another case which has not yet been appealed but which may be, is one of very general importance and one which the Court of Appeals will soon be called upon to interpret even if the case from this county does not go up to it. The case in this county relates to the rights of I.N. Tuttle to the lands of his deceased wife. As is well known the law in this State for a great many years gave the widow a life estate in one third of the real estate left by her deceased husband, which is called her dower. On the contrary the husband's right or courtesy comprised a life estate in all the real estate left by his wife at her death. A few years ago the Legislature passed a law making the husband's courtesy the same as the wife's dower, one-third. Mrs. Tuttle had died since the enactment of the last law and the question raised was whether the surviving husband's life interest should be in one-third of the estate or comprise the whole. Judge Scott decided that marriage being a civil contract that husband and wife acquired vested property rights by the contract which could not be impaired by subsequent legislation and therefore he was entitled to a life interest in the whole estate. If this view of the law is held by the higher court, all husbands, except those who have been married in the last year or two will have a life interest in the whole of their wives' real estates. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, March 17, 1896 County Court Items Jas. The Winchester Democrat Friday, January 17, 1896 The death of Mayor Tyler, of Louisville, was a great loss to the Democrats, but the election of his successor may cause trouble in the Republican ranks. Republican success at Louisville was attained by the help of the A.P.A., the anti-Catholic association. They wanted to elect a man named Johnson as Mayor, but the old line Republicans elected George Todd, who is not a member of the A.P.A. A howling mob filled the Council Chamber, and the votes for Todd were greeted with howls and curses. The members thus voting were afraid to leave the Council Chamber for some time and were guarded by a strong force of police. The new Mayor is an uncle of Mrs. I.N. Cardwell, of this city. In pardoning him Governor Brown said: "This prisoner, of whose guilt there is substantial doubt, has been in confinement over sixteen years, and been obedient to all rules. He was confined in jail for several years before his conviction. He is only forty-one years of age. He had a wife and several children when sent to the penitentiary, who are now widely scattered.
