Gabbard, Christine
Succession, Chinasano	Christine Gabbard left this world to go home to the Lord and her mother on July 28, 2012. She was born on Houston Creek Road in Breathitt County on Feb. 27, 1955, and was the daughter of the late Rev. Virgil and Martha Gabbard. Chris was the loving wife, confidant, partner and best friend of her husband of a too short 27 and half years Edward Gabbard; mother of two daughters, Joyce (Mike) Kelsay, Jennifer (Ben) Wright; and a son, Bobby Haddix. She was the loving grandmother of Jonica Davis, Kyle Kelsay, Kayla Kelsay, Tommy Wright, Jackson Wright, Mason Wright, Hunter
	Clay Wright, Dylan Patrick Wright and Delaney Haddix; and close friend of Melanie Gabbard, whom she thought of as a sister and whom showed incredible support throughout their friendship. Chris loved to travel, read and garden. She graduated with a Bachelor of Science in biology with honors from Eastern Kentucky University, a Bachelor of Science in chemistry from Northern Kentucky University and a Master in Arts in Education from Eastern Kentucky University. After beginning her career as a chemist with Ef-Atochem and then Keebler Manufacturing, she decided her talents could be better utilized educating children to make the world a better place for them and our future. Chris began her teaching career at Franklin County High School teaching biology, but felt the need to return to her home of eastern Kentucky to teach chemistry at Jackson Independent High School to improve the lives of the children she felt needed someone to not only educate them, but to also help them learn to believe in themselves and realize any dream or goal can be accomplished with hard work and determination.
	She finished her teaching career at Montgomery County High School eaching students that anything was possible, even passing algebra. Many of her former students credit her for becoming doctors, lawyers, military academy appointees and even educators.
	Her greatest reward in teaching was observing the moment when a child could understand a concept that they had been struggling with and seeing the look of achievement in their faces, and former students telling her how she helped their lives.
	Chris is also survived by her mother-in-law, Della (Ken) Baker, whom she thought of as a mother; brother-in-law, Paul Gabbard; sisters, Helen (Roger) James, Norma (Johnny) Gross, Lois (Bruce) Brindley, Anna (Barry) Morris, Evangeline Gabbard and Elizabeth Roberts; and brothers, Howard (Lois) Gabbard and J.B. Gabbard; and numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by two sisters and a brother. A celebration of her life will be at Herald & Stewart Home for Funerals in Mount Sterling on Wednesday from 4 to 8 p.m. with a private family service at the graveside.

and Paul E. Wills of Winchester, Elbert Wills and Barbara Abney of Ohio, and several cousins from Winchester, Ohio, and Utah. She was a faithful and active member of Liberty Bible Church of God, Winchester, serving on the church building committee, church oversight body, singing with the ladies' ensemble, as well as song leading and playing piano when needed. She performed many of the secretarial duties for the church. She has served as both chair and co-chair of Clark County Relay for Life, and was instrumental in their fund raising success for the past 15 years. She also enjoyed selling Longaberger baskets and Mary Kay cosmetics, and in her limited spare time, attending U.K. basketball games, and tending to her backyard flowers and shrubbery, as well as shopping. Anyone who ever met Melanie could feel the love and vibrancy of life that was ever present with her. You never knew it if she was ever down, as her philosophy which she truly lived was to live, laugh, and love. She had a servant's heart, always thinking of other's needs before her own. The community has lost a treasure in Melanie, but God has welcomed home one of His best. Thank you Melanie, for making our lives brighter, and being an example to emulate.

Melanie Gabbard remembered as positive, passionate Relay volunteer

Melanie Gabbard will be remembered as someone who was vivacious, full of life and a "shining light in the world" by friends, family and co-workers.

Gabbard, a Winchester native, employee of Palmer Engineering for 38 years and passionate American Cancer Society volunteer, died Friday in a workplace shooting. She was 54. "She was magic," Paul Hollingsworth, senior pastor of Liberty Bible Church of God, said. "Her presence was something that was easily felt when she walked in the room. She lit up the room like sunshine." Gabbard was an active member of the newly-formed church, where she was a founding member and volunteered with the ladies musical ensemble. She also volunteered to produce the Sunday bulletins and served as secretary of the church board. "She was our go-to person, the right-hand man of my wife and I," Hollingsworth said. "She was well-liked and well-loved through the community, and for our congregation, she was spectacular. "She did not seek the spotlight or jockey for position, but you could not help but know she was there."

Gabbard will be remembered as a caring friend, said Cindy Powe-Juett, who said she knew Gabbard since the fourth grade. "She was one-of-a-kind," said Powe-Juett. "She was always upbeat and willing to help anybody. Every time you would see her, she would have a smile on her face and a bounce in her step. She made you feel good." One place her presence will be especially missed is the Clark County Relay For Life. Since its inception, Gabbard was a passionate volunteer and fundraiser for the annual American Cancer Society event. Fellow Relayers said her passion stemmed from her personal experiences with cancer — her mother was a breast cancer survivor and her dad died after battling the disease. April Wilhoit, Relay For Life community manager, said Gabbard had served in many roles on the Relay board including accounting chair, sponsorship chair, event chair and co-chair. "She was a very good advocate," Wilhoit said. "She didn't just do her volunteer roles in those positions, she really expanded." Wilhoit said she was recently training to become a national volunteer.

"She was so involved and so passionate about Relay," she said. "Everybody in the community saw her as the face for Relay in Clark County because she had been involved for so long, she was so passionate and so competitive in her fundraising." She became active with the Palmer Engineering Relay team in early 2000s, and she regularly earned top individual and top team fundraising awards. Sarah Chamberlain has served as co-chair with Gabbard for nearly two years, and has worked closely with her for close to a decade on the committee. She said Gabbard brought the energy to the committee. "She was just happy all the time, always smiling," she said. "She was full of life and brought a lot of energy."

Relayers said Gabbard helped instill a positive sense of purpose despite the emotional toll the disease takes on loved ones. "I had a lot of anger and unsettled emotions because of losing loved ones to cancer," said Whitney Cook, a former Relay committee member who has known Gabbard for most of her life. "Melanie taught me how to take that negative energy and feed it into something that could make a difference in other peoples' lives. She taught me to take that negative energy and not only find a cure for cancer, but honor our loved ones in the process." Cook said that even in all the little, behind-the-scenes things Gabbard did, she put in full effort.

"She put her heart and soul into everything she did," she said. Wilhoit and Chamberlain said Gabbard's absence will undoubtedly be noticed at future Relays. "It's going to be really sad because she played such a huge role in Relay for so many years," Wilhoit said. "I feel that she will live on through Relay and Relayers in Clark County will really want to push forward to make it count for Melanie, especially this year. We won't let it die, because she poured her heart into it for so many years, we'll push through to show her how much she meant to all of us." "We lost a lot of knowledge in Melanie," Chamberlain said. "This first year without her there will be a lot of sadness, but I know she wouldn't want us to be that way. We're going to try our best to honor her and make this the best Relay." Gabbard was already registered for the 2016 Relay, and had already raised $1,300, exceeding her personal goal of $1,000. Donations to her fund can be made online at relayforlife.org or by mail to the American Cancer Society office in Lexington, Wilhoit said. Gabbard's full obituary can be found on A2.

Police say shooting at Palmer Engineering a murder-suicide

Two longtime employees of Palmer Engineering died Friday in a murder-suicide, Winchester police said. Winchester Police Capt. James Hall said Melanie Gabbard, 54, of Lexington, and Rick Lambert, 43, of Winchester, were pronounced dead on the scene. The incident at the Shoppers Drive business was reported around 12:30 p.m. Friday when employees heard shots fired, Hall said. He said Lambert entered the building and went to Gabbard's first-floor office where preliminary investigation indicates three shots were fired. Gabbard sustained two gunshot wounds and Lambert sustained a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head, he said. "We don't know where he entered the building, but he headed straight to her office, shut the door and the incident occurred," Hall said. "No one else was confronted or harmed. Once shots were fired, other employees called to report the incident." Lambert worked for Palmer Engineering, which provides a variety of engineering services, for 20 years and Gabbard for more than 20 years, he said. He said the shooting was likely the result of a domestic dispute. "We believe that at one point there was a romantic relationship between Gabbard and Lambert," Hall said. "At this time we don't know the extent of the relationship or for how long it lasted. We're still looking at evidence and the investigation is on going." Hall said officers were on the scene investigating for nearly four hours Monday and searched Lambert's residence that evening. He said he could not release information about how police know of the relationship or any evidence found in the home. Autopsies were scheduled for Saturday on both bodies by the state medical examiner's office in Frankfort.

Gagnon, David Philip
Gagnon, David Fillip	David Philip Gagnon, M.D., 62, died peacefully in his sleep at home in Richmond, Kentucky, on July 8, as a result of a 12-year battle with cancer.
	A husband and father, David will be remembered for his commitment to live life fully, whether that meant captaining a sailboat in the Virgin Islands or taking a polar plunge hand-in-hand with his wife the first day of every year. Born Jan. 13, 1953, in Saratoga, of Maine in 1974 and Tufts University School of Medicine in 1981. A family practice physician, David cared for patients for 25 years at Red River Medical Center in Clay City and Clark Regional Medical Center in Winchester, as well as other area medical facilities. An outdoorsman and endurance athlete, David hiked the Appalachian Trail, competed in endurance horseback rides and raced 18 marathons. David believed that a long run could cure just about anything, and that if you did anything three times in a row it became a tradition. And, you shouldn't mess with tradition. David was a fighter.

	T
	His mantra "Cancer Loses Again" was an inspiration to everyone who watched him hike the Sheltowee Trace in between chemotherapy treatments and jump out of an airplane with a brain tumor.
	"Pain is inevitable, suffering is optional," you'd often hear David say. He will be remembered at the start of every road race, in every retelling of Alice's Restaurant, in every bite of deep-fried turkey, and every time someone leaves the music on just a little too loud. David is survived by his wife, Marcy; daughters, Brett and Erin Gagnon; stepdaughter, Nikki Adams and her husband Scott and sons Trenton and Tucker;
	brothers, Damian, Chris and Mark Gagnon; sister, Phyllis Gagnon; father, Philip Gagnon; mother-in-law, Clementeyne Scott; and his beloved dog Maizy and horses Amos Dubai and Jahara. He was preceded in death by his mother, Helen Gagnon. A memorial service for David will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 1 at St. Joseph Catholic Church, Winchester, Kentucky, with Father Norman Fisher officiating. In lieu

Gaines, Caleb AA	Half Hour's Work
	Negro Caleb Gaines, the Assailant of a Little Girl, Taken From Jail at Glasgow, and Hanged.
	Glasgow, Ky., June 17.—At 1 o'clock Thursday morning 50 men rode into Glasgow, proceeded to the jail, forced an entrance by overpowering Jailer Carter, and taking Caleb Gaines, 18, the Negro assailant of Little Ethel Allen, white, from his cell, dragged him out and lynched him in the public square.
	The men, some of whom were masked, had the assistance of a trusty in the jail, who opened the cell doors for them. The mob had previously taken Jailer Carter's keys from him at the rear door of the jail.
	A rope soon encircled Gaines' neck and screaming, praying and struggling by turns, he was hauled along to the public square.
	The entire proceeding from the entrance of the mob to the accomplishment of its design, was but the work of half an hour.
	Before leaving town the mob fired several hundred shots with the threat that if anybody should cut the boys body down before 12 o'clock noon he would be met with rough treatment.

	Jailer Carter several days ago started the report that the little sugar tree in the Courthouse yard, on which the negro, Caleb Gaines, was hanged about a week ago, was getting soft, and that it would yield to the pressure of the thumb and fingers. The report has gained general currency, and every now and then some incredulous person can see.

Gaitskill, Mrs. Frances V.	Death of Mrs. Gaitskill.
	At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harvey A. Rogers, near Wades Mill, Wednesday, December 18 th , of Paralysis, Mrs. Frances V. Gaitskill, aged seventy-four years. For half a century she had been a member of the Primative Baptist Church and died in the full assurance of faith. The remains were brought to this city for interment. Services at the grave by Rev. B. B. Bailey. She leaves four sons, Silas, of McIntosh, Fla., Charles and Strother, of Lexington, and Ed of this city, also three daughters, Mrs. Robt. L.
	Willis, of Lexington, Mrs. Harvey A. Rogers and Mrs. John Burgin, of Wades Mill.
	The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 20, 1901.
	Will of Mrs. Gaitskill.
	The will of Mrs. Frances V. Gaitskill was probated Monday. It was dated October 18, 1896. After making the usual arrangements for payment of debts, if any and for burial, she devised what money she had to her seven children in equal shares. Twenty-one shares of stock in the Mt. Sterling National Bank and the same amount of stock in the North Middletown Deposit Bank, where devised in the same manner, the bequests to be the separate estate of her married daughters, and where the devisees were without bodily heirs, the bequests were to revert to the remaining heirs at death. J. E. Gaitskill and H. A. Rogers were named as executors without bond. By a codicil of April 7, 1897, the remainder interest of S. S. Gaitskill in the arm bought of Mrs. Apperson, is to be divided among the other six children. Her buggy was left to Mrs. Nettie Rogers.
	Provisions were made for the burial of Jim Gaitskill, an old family servant. The old Gaitskill family grave yard in which several generations of the Gaitskill family are buried, is to be reserved for that purpose. This clause recites that Henry Gaitskill was buried there in 1812.

Winchester sailor dies in training mishap estigating training accident that claimed life of 22-year-old Taylor

A Winchester sailor died during a training exercise Thursday with the Navy off the coast of North Carolina. Petty Officer Second Class Taylor Gallant, 22, was assigned to the Explosive Ordnance Disposal Mobile Unit 12 on board the Canadian navy ship HMCS Summerside, according to a news release from the Navy Expeditionary Combat Command public affairs office. He was transported to Naval Hospital Camp Lejeune and was pronounced dead on arrival. John Gay, public affairs officer for NECC, said Gallant's death is under investigation, as the NECC and the Naval Safety Center determine exactly what went wrong. Gallant enlisted in the Navy in 2008, and he reported to EODMU 12 in November 2010. He earned the Good Conduct Medal, the National Defense Service Medal and the Pistol Marksman Medal, according to the Navy. His unit was operating with the HMCS Summerside in preparation for Bold Alligator 2012, a land and water training exercise, the Navy said. The exercise took place in 110-foot-deep waters. Gay said Gallant and his unit were conducting the training in the Cherry Point Operating Area, an area off the coast designated for military training. The exercise Thursday was routine. Gay said accidents like Gallant's do not happen a lot. "This was an anomaly, and that's why we're conducting a complete, thorough investigation to determine exactly what went wrong," he said. ". ... And we really need to determine what caused the death and also try to prevent it in the future." Gay said investigators of the accident are looking at all the equipment Gallant was using at the time of the accident and also his personal physiology. Bill Taylor, Gallant's grandfather, said family members are not ready to discuss what happened.

Commander Eric Bray, Gallant's commanding officer, extended his condolences to the Gallant family in a news release. "My thoughts and prayers are with all who are suffering the loss of Petty Officer Gallant. He was a great shipmate and friend to the entire EOD community. We will miss him dearly," Bray said. According to a fact sheet about the U.S. Navy Explosive Ordnance Disposal, the force has the only capability of its kind within the Department of Defense. EOD officers are "highly trained, skilled technicians who are experts in explosives, diving and parachuting," the fact sheet states. Gay said because of the possible threat of waterborne mines, all EOD officers have to be diving experts. "So they're a very highly skilled force ... he was among an elite group of men and women," Gay said.

Teachers fondly remember young sailor

Gallant was bright student with goals set on a career in the Navy, educators say

Taylor Gallant was known by his teachers as a highly intelligent, driven student who knew exactly what he wanted to do with his life a lot earlier than many of his peers serve in the Navy. Petty Officer Second Class Gallant, 22, a 2008 George Rogers Clark High School graduate, died Jan. 26 during a training exercise with the Navy off the coast of North Carolina. His death is under investigation. He was assigned to the Explosive Ordnance Disposal Mobile Unit 12, a force with the only capability of its kind within the Department of Defense, according to the Navy. John Gay, public affairs officer for the Navy Expeditionary Combat Command, said Gallant "was among an elite group of men and women." While a student at GRC, Gallant was a member of the marching band's drum line. While he was a talented musician, it was Gallant's intellect many of his teachers remember. Math teacher Steven Parks taught Gallant's advanced placement calculus class his senior year. He said Gallant could learn in five minutes what it took other people an entire class period to figure out. Because he already knew he was going into the Navy after graduating high school, "AP calculus was not something he needed," Parks said, and he recalled Gallant paying attention for five minutes and then sleeping the rest of class. "But at the end of the year, there's a national AP exam," Parks said. "It's super difficult, and very few kids pass it. He passed the national exam that year, and he was awake for maybe 10 percent of the entire year. My God, was he bright." About a year after graduating from GRC, Gallant went back and visited Parks in his classroom. Parks said it was obvious to him how proud Gallant was to be serving in the Navy, and "you could tell he really took pride in being a part of the military and looked forward to that as a career." "And it was comforting to me to see someone so intelligent who had found what they wanted to do in life and were succeeding and doing so well and enjoying it," Parks said. "My guess would be that he died doing something that he really loved." Debbie Sharp, a math teacher at GRC whose son was in the band with Gallant, taught him as a freshman. She said he was "highly intelligent" and motivated, with strong character. Sharp remembered playing him in Rook tournaments at school. "He would come down and play during lunch. He was very competitive and he would always try to beat me all the time," she said, laughing. Patricia Fraley, a GRC math teacher who taught Gallant pre-calculus, described him as witty and a strong student. "He could think outside of the box really well. He wasn't one that liked to just sit and do problems. He wanted to do problems that were thought-provoking types of problems," Fraley said. "He was a deep thinker. He was a good student. He was very enjoyable to have in class. The kids liked him. He had a good personality." Fraley said she was not surprised that he went into the Navy. "That's what he always wanted to do. That was his dream," Fraley said. "It was really neat because it's rare that you meet a senior in high school who's that certain of what he or she wants to become," Parks said. Funeral arrangements are incomplete with Rolan G. Taylor Funeral Home, 289 S. Main St.

The Winchester Sun January 31, 2012

More than 250 people attended the funeral for Navy Petty Officer Second Class Taylor Gallant Saturday, and many more lined Winchester streets to pay their last respects to the young sailor who died Jan. 26 during a training exercise. During graveside services at Winchester Cemetery, a trumpet player sounded Taps following the shots fired by a three-person honor guard team in honor of Gallant. Kentucky Patriot Guard Riders, who earlier stood outside the church with American flags during the entire funeral, stood with flags around those gathered outside. Flags that draped Gallant's casket as he was brought back home were presented to his family. Gallant, 22, was an explosive ordnance disposal technician, a career that made him part of an elite group within the Navy. He enlisted in 2008, and he reported to the Explosive Ordnance Disposal Mobile Unit 12 in November 2010. He was a 2008 graduate of George Rogers Clark High School. His teachers remembered him as a highly intelligent, driven student who always wanted to serve in the Navy, and who was proud to have achieved his dream of doing so. Gallant also was a father, a son, a grandson, a nephew and a friend. The private funeral was held at Winchester First Baptist Church on East Lexington Avenue, and it lasted about an hour. The family requested that no media be in the church during the funeral. Speakers included Rear Adm. Frank Morneau, deputy director for Expeditionary Warfare Division, who works at the Pentagon and has served more than 30 years as an explosive ordnance disposal technician; Lt. Brad Penley, Gallant's officer in charge at EOD Mobile Unit 12; and Petty Officer First Class Cliff Frazier, Gallant's leading petty officer and close friend. Penley spoke about Gallant's can-do spirit and his "willingness to do anything and help everyone," John Gay, the public affairs officer for the Navy Expeditionary Combat Command, said in an email. "He also praised Taylor for spending his free time with his 3-year-old son when he was off duty," Gay said. Frazier referred to Gallant as an adventurer and a genius. About 50 sailors attended the funeral, including members of Gallant's team and other sailors from the EOD community. As sailors carried Gallant's flag-draped casket from the church and into the hearse at about noon, Gallant's unit, Kentucky Patriot Guard Riders and members of the Marine Corps League lined the street and saluted him. The hearse was decorated with the U.S. Navy seal. When the procession went down Main Street, hundreds of Winchester residents stood in the rain — some holding American flags and some saluting — to show their respect for Gallant and their support for his family. Patrons of downtown businesses filed outside as they saw the procession coming. Two hundred-and-twenty Boy Scouts, dressed in ponchos and carrying flags, stood in front of the courthouse. Winchester Fire-EMS hoisted a large American flag from its two ladder trucks as the procession went down Maple Street. Firefighters stood at attention in front of Station 1 as it passed. Clark County Fire Department firefighters blocked the intersections of cross streets to Lexington Avenue and stood at attention by their trucks as the procession went by. David Weistroffer, a Winchester resident, stood underneath the Grant, Rose & Pumphrey awning on Main Street as the procession went by. He said he received a notice from the Winchester-Clark County Chamber of Commerce to come out. "I just think it's a matter of respect," he said. Gay said it was the first time he "experienced being in a funeral procession where the community lined the streets with American flags and many of them saluting." "This made me very proud to serve, and I can only imagine how emotional it must have been for the family," he said.

	Mrs. Rachel R. Garner. Mrs. Rachel R. Garner, of Winchester, Ky., died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Buckner, of that place, on the 7 th of October, 1902. Mrs. Garner was born on the Swannanoa, now Biltmore, on the 2 nd day of June, 1820, the daughter of Capt. Thomas and Mrs. Ora Foster and that was the last survivor of eleven children. She was the aunt of the late Mrs. H. E. Sondley and great aunt of Capt. J. E. Ray, Mrs. G. M. Roberts, Col. J. M. Ray, Mrs. Dr. Millard, Foster A. Sondley and Miss Nannie Alexander. Her father, Capt. Theo Foster, was one of the pioneers of Western Carolina and while not in the modern sense a politician was a prominent citizen and represented his county a number of times in the legislature; was in the lower house in 1809, 12-13-14, and in the Senate in 1817 and 1819. He built the first direct road from Asheville to his home (now Biltmore) and 'tis said the first bridge across any stream of any size—that across the Swannanoa very near the present bridge at Biltmore. His place was one of the noted stock-stands and public houses between Greenville, Tenn., and Greenville, S. C., and singularly two other of the most noted stands on the road were established by his son-in-law, George Alexander, just beyond Cooper, and Col. James Alexander on French Broad, now known as Alexander. Bishop Asbury, one of the pioneer Methodist preachers of this country and founder of Methodism in Western North Carolina, mentions frequently in his diary Capt. Foster and Col. Alexander, Capt. Garrison, Gary Paul	Danville, Ky., - Hugh Thompson, 35 years of age, shot and instantly killed his 18-year-old nephew, Frederick Garrison, at Chilton, near here. Young Garrison had gone to the residence of his uncle for a show case, when Thompson began beating his nephew striking him on the head with a plow point, then kicking him from the house. Young Garrison turned quickly and fired at his uncle, sending a ball through his left leg. Thompson secured a gun and fired a charge into his nephew's breast, death resulting instantly. An artery was severed in Thompson's leg, and his recovery is in doubt. Some month ago Thompson became suddenly insane and was sent to the Lexington asylum. He soon recovered and was released. He is under guard, but is unable to be taken to jail. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, November 24, 1908 Gary Paul Garrison, 67, passed away on November 28, 2016, at his home. Gary was born on March 25, 1949, in Lexington Kentucky, but grew up in Felicity, Ohio, graduating from Felicity Franklin High School and later Eastern Kentucky University. Gatchell, Everett T.	Pathetic suicide
Gutchen, Everett 1.	A pathetic case of suicide came to light at Washington, D.C., Monday when the body of Everett T. Gatchell, of Kentucky, was found in the bottom of a bathing crib weighted down with a heavy stone tied around his neck. The coroner believes that Colonel Gatchell had been dead since Thursday morning. The deceased was appointed to the pension office from Walton, Ky. He was a Colonel in B.W. Foley's regiment of State militia of Kentucky. He left a note to an old companion here in which he said: "I am tired of life. Am worn and weary and old an poor; thank you for your very attentive kindness. Don't believe my arm will ever get well. You are truly one of God's anointed.
	Wish I had been such a man."

Gatewood, John M.	Married at Lexington
	Quite a sensational was created in this city Thursday when it became known that Mrs.
	Jennie Gatewood, one of the wealthiest widows in the county, had been married the evening before at Lexington to her overseer, Mr. Thomas Thomas. Mrs. Gatewood is the widow of the late John M. Gatewood, and at the death of the latter's father, Mr.
	James S. Gatewood, came into possession of considerable property, most of which is in fine bluegrass lands.

	Before her marriage to Mr. Gatewood she was Miss Jennie Lawless, of Glasgow, Ky.
	She has three grown sons, who are among the most popular young society men in the county. She is a good, Christian woman and is regarded by those who knew her best as having extraordinary business sagacity for one of her sex.
	Mr. Thomas came here several years ago from Clark county and was at once engaged by Mrs. Gatewood as overseer of her farm. He is about twenty-five years old and has always conducted himself in such a gentlemanly and dignified manner as to win the respect and admiration of all with whom he came in contact.—Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat.
	Mrs. Gatewood is well known in this county where she owns considerable property.

The Winchester Sun April 20, 2021 At Jake Sampson's store near Big Hill, Madison county, Saturday, Henry Jiles, an old Gattliffe, Joe Union soldier, shot and killed Joe Gattliffe. The men had never seen each other before. Gattliffe and a brother-in-law named Pleas Polly began abusing Jiles, the former drawing a gun. Jiles, whose horse was hitched outside, ran to get his pistol from his saddle pocket. He was followed by the two men. Gattliffe renewed his attack on Jiles who fired a bullet into Gattliffe's chest. The wounded man ran back into the store and died in a few minutes. Jiles galloped away, but was pursued, overtaken and his horse shot from under him. He claims he shot in self defense. The Winchester Democrat Friday July 9, 1897 THE Richmond Register says Henry Jiles, in jail here for shooting Joe Gateliffe, has killed three men besides Gateliffe, has four living wives and has lived all his life about moonshine, distilleries and bawdy houses, while Gateliffe, his victim, was a man beloved by all who knew him, his only fault being that he would occasionally drink too freely. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 16, 1897. Unable to Agree. Richmond, Ky., Sept. 9.—The trial of Henry Giles for the murder of Joe Gatlife at Big Hill last July was concluded Thursday. The jury failed to agree on a verdict and was discharged.

	The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 13, 1898
	AT Richmond, after being out forty-eight hours, the jury in the case of Henry Gaits, charged with the murder of Joe Gatliff, at Big Hill, last July two years ago, returned a verdict of acquittal. As soon as the verdict was announced the overjoyed prisoner jumped from the window and started on a run for home.
	Released on Bond.
	HARLAN, Ky., Dec. 16John Taylor, charged with killing Wm. Lee, and a woman on Puckett's creek was held in $ 1,000. Taylor pleaded self defense.

Gaulbert, Will J.	Left a large estate Louisville, Ky., - Full report of the estate of Will J. Gaulbert, who died last winter, has been made here by court appraisers. They found a total of $1,347,769, nearly a million of which is in stocks, including an interest in the Peaslee-Gaulbert Paint Co. As Gaulbert left no will the estate went to George Gaulbert, his brother, who died some weeks ago, and then to his sister.

Gay,	grandson, William Gay, married Lucy Harrison Crossland, a granddaughter of Benjamin Harrison, the signer of the Declaration of Independence. My great grandfather, Henry Gay was born in Augusta county, Virginia was a soldier in the Revolution, and was at the battle of Yorktown in 1781. He died in Kentucky in 1830. My grandfather, Henry Gay was born in 1799, and died in 1858. He was half-brother of John H. Gay, who was born in Rockbridge county, Virginia, in1787, and died in 1878. The said John H. Gay was the father of Congressman Edward J. Gay of Louisiana, who died in May 1889. What I desire to ascertain is, the relationship, if any, between Dr. Wm. Gay and my great grandfather, Henry Gay. One of my great uncles says that his great grandfather, Thomas Gay, came from England and subsequently went to Virginia. It may be that he was one of the two brothers who came over with John Gay in 1630. Part of the information I desire might be obtained from one of the following works: Bishop Meade's "Old Families and Ministers of Virginia," two volumes; Joel Munsell's American Ancestry," four volumes; "The Genesis of the United States," two volumes, by Alexander Brown; Peyton's History of Augusta County, Virginia; Col. J. Madison McCue's "Annals of Augusta County," and Pocahontas and Her Descendants," by the late ex-Governor Robertson of Abington, Va. I would ask New England, Virginia and West Virginia papers to copy my query. James M. Leath Gay's Creek, Perry Co., Ky. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, February 18, 1891 D. T. Christine Gay, 80, passed away Monday, April 14, at her residence. A native of Falmouth, she was the widow of Eugene Gay and the daughter of the late Will and Grace Watson Graves. She was a member of Broadway Baptist Church, where she served as minister of music for more than 50 years. She was a retiree of Square D in Lexington and a graduate of Lincoln Ridge Institute in Shelbyville. She is survived by a daughter, Leslie Gay; two sons, Larry (Gayle) Gay and James (Sandra) Gay; grandsons, Dwain (Rosalinda) Gay, Kevin Gay, Ron Gay and Nicklas Gay; granddaughters, Khalila, Theda, April, Adrienne and LaTasha; great-grandchildren, Alexis, Kyra, Adaisha, Sateesha, Khalil, Zachery, Trinity, Montez and Slone Adonis; sisters, Ann Higgins and Sylvia Graves; brothers, Thomas (Voncile) Graves and William (Carol) Graves; several nieces and nephews; and a host of loving friends. Visitation will be Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Calvary Christian Church, 15 Redwing Drive. Services will be immediately following visitation. Burial will follow at Clarmont Garden. Adams Hill Funeral Home in charge of all arrangements.

Friends and relatives are mourning the passing of a woman described as a pillar of the community. Christene Gay died Monday at her home on Madison Avenue at the age of 79. "She was a fine Christian lady. She was a friend to everyone. She was a wonderful musician in her church, and a wonderful musician generally," Winchester Mayor Ed Burtner said. Burtner met Gay when he moved to Winchester more than 30 years ago, and said she was a true friend to the community. "She will be missed," Burtner said. Long-time friend Deatra Newell commended Gay for her willingness to help others, and her commitment to friends and family. "What I can say for Ms. Christene, scripture says it best: 'Well done, my good and faithful servant.' Ms. Christene reached out to everybody, whether they were black or white," Newell said. Newell became acquainted with Gay as a child while attending Broadway Baptist Church. The two still attended church together just prior to Gay's death, and Newell recalled seeing Gay at services on Sunday.

"Sunday, nobody would have known that Monday morning, this would have been the case," Newell said. Despite her age, Gay was still active in the community, playing the piano at the Generations Center and helping with the music ministry at church whenever needed. She served as minister of music at Broadway Baptist for more than 50 years, Newell said. "Any function that was going on in the community, Ms. Christene was there to support. If the piano player wasn't there, she would pick up the pieces and keep going," Newell said. Gay also was a member of the Heritage Park Board, served as the grand marshal of the Labor Day parade in 2008, and organized church groups to sing for the residents of Rose Mary C. Brooks Place. The students at George Rogers Clark High School voted to award her the Martin Luther King Jr. Award, sponsored by Central Bank. Fellow Broadway Baptist Church member Flora Shelby said Gay was a friend to everyone she met. Shelby said she had known Gay for her entire life, and considered her a dear friend.

"I can't say anything bad about her," Shelby said. She praised Gay for her willingness to help at the church, and said she was the kind of person people would talk to if they had a problem. "I guess God was just ready to pick his flower," Shelby said. Gay is survived by her three children, Larry Gay, Eugene Gay Jr. and Debbie Gay; six grandchildren, Dwain Gay, Nicholas Gay, Andriene Gay, Kevin Clark, Ron Hooten and Kaliah Williams; and numerous great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, Eugene Gay, and grandson Anthony Gay. "She was a true missionary throughout the community, always helping people," Newell said.

	The death of Capt. J. L. Wheeler brings to mind the fact that death is fast decimating the ranks of the Muckletonian Club, at one time the most prominent hunting and fishing club of the South. It was organized in 1872 with eighteen of the most prominent men of Winchester and vicinity as members. In addition to scores of minor trips they occasionally went on more extensive ones to Florida, Arkansas, the Pacific Slope, etc.
	These trips were truly days of true pleasure and good fellowship. Not a word of discord ever marred the harmony of their meetings. Col. R. N. Winn was the first President and still fills that position, although the remaining members are so few and scattered that the meetings of late years have been few. The first member die was John J. Eubank, followed in succession by Ben P. Goff, S. Grant Jackson, M. G. Taylor, Jas. D. Gay,

Gay, Dunlap	Death Of Mrs. Katie Gay
	Mrs. Katie Gay died at a late hour Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
	Jas. H. Evans, in the ninetieth year of her age.
	She was a native of this county, a daughter of John Gardner. At the age of fifteen she married Dunlap Gay who died in 1865. She was a woman of wonderful vitality and did not like most old people, live in the past, but kept fully posted on all matters, political and otherwise, of the current time.
	For seventy-seven years she had been a member of the Methodist Church, and her funeral was preached at the Methodist Church of this city Sunday afternoon by Revs.
	Means and Froh, the remains were interred in the Winchester cemetery.
	She leaves two sons, Robert Gay, of Montgomery county, and Watson Gay, of Bourbon county, and three daughters, Mrs. B. F. Curtis, Mrs. Jas. H. Evans and Mrs. Bettie Hunt, all of this county. Besides these she leaves a large number of grand-children and great-grandchildren.
	She was a great favorite with all who knew her.

Gay, Mrs. Katie	Death Of Mrs. Katie Gay
	Mrs. Katie Gay died at a late hour Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
	Jas. H. Evans, in the ninetieth year of her age.
	She was a native of this county, a daughter of John Gardner. At the age of fifteen she married Dunlap Gay who died in 1865. She was a woman of wonderful vitality and did not like most old people, live in the past, but kept fully posted on all matters, political and otherwise, of the current time.
	For seventy-seven years she had been a member of the Methodist Church, and her funeral was preached at the Methodist Church of this city Sunday afternoon by Revs.
	Means and Froh, the remains were interred in the Winchester cemetery.
	She leaves two sons, Robert Gay, of Montgomery county, and Watson Gay, of Bourbon county, and three daughters, Mrs. B. F. Curtis, Mrs. Jas. H. Evans and Mrs. Bettie Hunt, all of this county. Besides these she leaves a large number of grand-children and great-grandchildren.
	She was a great favorite with all who knew her.

Gentry Family	Union of Gentry Family.
	Monday morning, August 1st. R. D. Hunter and family, V. W. Bush and family, A. G.
	Bush and family, Maj. Wm. Bush, of Texas, R. H. C. Bush, Mrs. Ella McCoy and daughter, of Indianapolis, and quite a number of others, will leave for Crab Orchard Springs to attend the union of the Gentry family which will be held there the first week in August. The object of this meeting is to bring together as many as possible of the descendants from the revolutionary soldier, Richard Gentry, his brother, David, two sisters, Winnie and Oney, and of his uncles, Martin, Watson, William and Mose Gentry, all of whom came from Virginia, in pioneer days, some settling permanently in Kentucky, others having pushed farther westward as the country advanced. Extensive committees of arrangements have been established for this State, Missouri and other places. A large attendance is expected and every effort is being made to make the meeting a source of great pleasure and information to all who may be present. The Kentucky members will meet at Lexington Monday morning and proceed in a body from there to Crab Orchard. The members from western States will meet at St. Louis and come from that point in a body, meeting the Kentucky delegation at Crab Orchard Monday evening.
	L. H. Bush, of this city, was secretary of the Kentucky contingent and has been indefatigable in working up the matter. Much of the success of the enterprise is due to his diligence and good management.

	law, Green Gentry, has been set for next Tuesday, August 30, before Judge Evans. The killing occurred on last Saturday night near the entrance to the Broadway Baptist Church. Gentry was shot twice and died instantly. Noland escaped but through the efforts of the officers was located next morning at the home of another son-in-law, Porter Gentry, at Lisleville, near the Kentucky river, and brought to town by Deputy Sheriff Stokely. Noland and the dead man lived neighbors in Madison county, and were regarded as peaceable, well-to-do citizens. The Sun-Sentinel Thur., Aug. 25, 1904 Held Without Bail. The examining trial before Judge Evans of Jerry Noland, colored, charged with the murder of his son-in-law, Green Gentry occupied all of Tuesday and resulted in the accused being held to Circuit Court without bail. Noland was ably defended by attorney Jno. M. Stevenson, assisted by a number of prominent attorneys from Richmond. The Commonwealth was represented by County Attorney Jeffries who acquitted himself with much credit. A number of prominent citizens of Madison county testified as to the good character of the defendant and his reputation for truth of veracity. Among those who came over on the morning train from Richmond to attend the trial were Attorneys Jno. C. Chenault, D. M. Chenault, J. Tevis Cobb and James Noland; Sheriff J. W. Bales, Messrs. Leslie Evans, Mike Baxter, Thos. M. Oldham, Jno. F. Wagers. Jos. West, Stephen Green, Cyrus Baxter, Wm. Olds, Charley Jackson, Dee Bush and George Noland. The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, September 1, 1904 The trials of Eli Cary for the murder of Nannie Taylor and Jerry Noland for the murder of Green Gentry are set for Tuesday next, Sept. 27.
	The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, September 22, 1904 Circuit Court The case against Jerry Noland, colored, charged with the murder of Green Gentry, colored, was called and continued to the second day of the December term. Noland was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000, which he gave. The Sun-Sentinel Thur., Sept. 29, 1904 In the Jerry Noland case a strong effort was made for a change of venue, also for continuance, which were denied by the court, and the trial entered into. At the close of court Tuesday evening six jurors had been accepted. The following is the jury as completed in the Noland case: C. T. Gamboe, Sr., John Bartlett, J. D. Gravitt, W. D. Rupard, J. F. Piersall, F. C. Guy, G. H. Fox, J. N. Osborne, Johnson Aldridge, W. E. Welden and Allen Sams. The attorneys for the prosecution are B. A. Crutcher, S. A. Jeffries and J. Smith Hays. For the defense, J. C. Chenault, of Richmond, J. M. Stevenson and F. H. Haggard, of this city. A number of witnesses were examined yesterday. The testimony so far, is very damaging to the accused. He shot and killed Green Gentry near the front door of the Broadway colored Baptist church in this city. It was during the State Association of colored Baptists that was being held here last summer. According to witnesses, without warning he caught hold of Gentry, jerked him around, struck him and shot him twice. When Gentry fell, he shot him a third time. The excellent character and bearing of the witnesses who, are all colored, is a subject of comment. They are not the kind of negroes that are usually heard as witnesses in the courts. The trial will last for several days. We understand that a large number of witnesses from Madison county will appear to prove the good character of Noland. The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, April 20, 1905

	The Noland Case. The jury in the case of Jerry Noland, after failing to agree from Thursday afternoon to Saturday noon, returned a verdict of not guilty. In view of the comments that we have heard since the verdict, we regret exceedingly that we did not hear more of the testimony. We only heard one witness, George Taliaferro, but Mr. Frank Gordan, who sitting near us reported that some six or seven other witnesses had testified in substance the same as Taliaferro.
	We have taken some pains to investigate the plea of self-defense, upon which Noland was acquitted. From all the information available, we conclude that Noland was the aggressor; that Gentry came out of the church and when he arrived at the lower step he was attacked by Noland; that Noland drew his pistol, that he punched Gentry with the pistol, and during the altercation he fired three shots, one after Gentry had fallen; he then ran across the street, with his pistol in his hand, he was struck by James Coleman; that he fell down at the curbing on the South side of the street, got up; went west to where two poles are standing, at this point displaying his pistol to those who were trying to apprehend him. We do not know if this was the evidence before the jury; the testimony of the arresting officer was that Noland's arm was hurt and that he had a bruise over his eye. It is not the opinion of any of the witnesses that he could have received the bruises while he was engaged with Gentry. The killing occurred at the Broadway Baptist church in this city during the session of the State Association last summer. The church was crowded and a large number of people were on the outside. We do not question the honesty of the jury, but we do believe that they made a mistake, and we know that no action in our courts in the past twenty years has caused so much feeling.

Gentry, John	Fatal Shooting Sunday afternoon, John Gentry, who keeps a grocery and liquor establishment near Athens, in Fayette county, had a row with A. Fisher or Fishback, a negro, known by both names. Gentry was shot in the leg, in the breast, and in the groin, the last wound thought fatal. The Sheriff's office and the police of this place were notified that Fuller had started this way, and Sunday evening Deputy Sheriffs Stokely and Bedford started to arrest him. He was traced to a cabin on the place of Frank Lanter, near Becknerville. He was still drinking deeply and was heavily armed. The only way to the loft where he was located was up a step ladder. Knowing his desperate character, the two officers wisely refrained following him in the darkness, but contented themselves with watching the house until daylight. By some means, however Fuller managed to escape through a small window upstairs and escaped over an adjoining roof. It is thought he will be captured soon. George, David E.	Strange and apparently authentic testimony tends to prove that David E. George, who died January 14 at Enid, Okla., was John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln. Claims to this effect made after an alleged deathbed confession by George are further born out by the announcement that Junius Brutus Booth, a nephew of the assassin, has identified the body of George as that of his uncle, and that Joseph Jefferson, Clara Morris and others have agreed with him in the identification. Added to this is a statement from Basil Moxley, of Baltimore, that the body lowered into a grave in Greenwood cemetery by him and three other pall-bearers was not that of Booth, as the world at the time was led to believe.

George, Henry	Died—Henry George, probably the most unique political character in the county, and an independent Democratic candidate for Mayor of Greater New York, died suddenly Friday. His death will still further complicate the situation in that great city.

George, James Sr.	Death of Jas. George, Sr.
	Well known citizen of Carlisle dies in this city Sunday morning – Burial in Carlisle Mr. James George, Sr., died Sunday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, corner of Highland and Washington streets, aged seventy-six years. He had been in declining health for some time, suffering from asthma, but the immediate cause of his death was a stroke of paralysis which he sustained Saturday evening. The remains were taken to Carlisle Monday morning and the funeral and burial will take place there this morning. Mr. George was a native of Ireland but had lived in Kentucky for many years, his home being at Carlisle where he was engaged in contracting and building. He was a Presbyterian in church affiliation and a prominent Royal Arch Mason. His wife has been dead for many years, and his is survived by the following children: Messrs.
	C.B. and W.W. George, Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, and Mrs. William P. Hackett, of this city, Messrs. James and Robert George and Mrs. John Porter, of Carlisle. One other son, Thomas George, died in this city a few months ago. He was a prominent citizen, highly esteemed by all who knew him and his death is much regretted.

	Mrs. Ellen Shea, of Paris, was called here Sunday by the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. James George.

George, James Sylvester	DIED-Friday night, at the home of Mr. S. B. White, on Winn Avenue, James Sylvester, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. George, aged seven months. The little one had always been frail and delicate and dropped into eternal sleep without a sigh or a struggle. This was the only child of the fond parents and they idolized it with lavish attentions. The funeral services were held at St. Joseph's church Sunday morning, conducted by Rev.
	Father Major and the remains were carried to Paris for interment in the Catholic cemetery at that place. The unusually large funeral procession, one of the largest ever seen here, attest the sincere sympathy of condoling friends.

	OBITUARY
	That life is but an illusion: a vapor gilded by a sunbeam whose rays are sadly dispelled by a sadness crushing the poor heart with its weight of sorrow, was sadly verified in the death of James S., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. George, at Winchester June 8 th .
	Just seven sweet months died baby linger with its fond young parents, then god claimed his own loved jewel to shine in His own house, though baby's home was darkened.
	Yesterday life went well; to-day all is reversed. The sad heart can scarcely lift itself to pray. It seems hard to say it is "all for the best." As o'er a tiny grassmound softly the sweet flowers drop red tears, while a broken-hearted father and mother's tears mingle for their darling, but they do not weep as one without hope, for in their arms they'll clasp him-their own baby again.
	Baby is not dead-laughing, blue-eyed baby, whom the angel bore above to blossom as a star of love, hope and joy in the "Beautiful Beyond." God needed one more angel from amidst His lily band, and, so baby's tiny hands were folded over the little breast; the round, blue eyes closed with Heaven's kiss; the little feet are stilled, one more little cherub wakes in the arms of Infinite Love where he awaits-always young, sweet and fair-leaning over Heaven's parapet with outstretched arms for its parents. To them god gave a holy charge, the keeping of an angel, who will joyfully greet them when life's brief span is o'er, in our External Home.
	Gone beyond the darksome river,
	Only left us by the way'
	Gone beyond the night forever, Only gone to endless day, Gone to meet angel faces
	There our darling treasure lingers;
	Gone awhile from our embraces Gone within the gates ajar.

Geouge, Cedric Trevor	We remember the life of Cedric Trevor Geouge. Cedric, who as a faithful servant, answered God's call Friday, July 28th at 11:15 AM, at the age of 27. Cedric moved to Winchester with his family in 1999 at the age of nine. He was already a gifted and talented boy. When he died, he had already lived a full life as a world traveler with many accomplishments, honors, and commendations to his name. He Joined the Boy Scout Troop 75 in Winchester, KY. He attended National and World Jamborees. He practiced Kempo karate and Shaolin do kung fu styles of martial arts. He had earned his brown belt, and was soon to earn his black belt. He danced three seasons with the Winchester Ballet. He earned his own way for two years as a Winchester Sun paperboy and later at the Grace Lutheran Church Daycare. He was in his second year of college at 17, when he suffered a stroke resulting in Locked in syndrome. But that did not stop him. He continued to complete his Eagle Scout with Honors. He continued as a world traveler. Most recently, he advocated on the issue of Disability Awareness in the Community. He loved people of all ages, especially children. He loved animals, especially dragons. A smile was never far from his face. He precedes his Grand-parents, parents, Paul and Jennifer, and his siblings, Erik and Kyla. And most importantly, his fiancée Ramona, with whom he was starting a family. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Lexington, Kentucky.

Gess, Elizabeth "Betty"	Elizabeth "Betty" Fauntleroy Pursley Gess, wife of William Bush Gess Jr died July 21, 2017. Betty grew up in Winchester on Cools Spring Farm and was the daughter of the late William Fauntleroy and Charlotte Bowman Pursley. She was educated at Bradford College and UK where she was member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. She loved playing tennis and hosting her friends for tennis luncheons. Later in life Betty picked up golf and played along with her friends at Idle Hour Country Club and the Country Club of Naples, where she proudly made a hole in one. She has also been active in the Lexington Junior League, Garden Club of Lexington, Florence Crittenden Home, Naples Yacht Club and she never forgot her lasting friendships she made in the summers at Camp Greystone. Betty was a devoted wife for over 60 years, loving and caring mother of her daughter Diane Gess Alverson (Bill), Paris, KY and son William Bush Gess III (Edie) Lexington, her sister Joan Pursley Mayer. She adored and was very proud of her five grandchildren, William Hamilton Averson, Lloyd Allen Averson, Anne Lawrence Gess Smith (Madison), William Bush Gess IV (Margaret) and Benjamin Alexander Pursley Gess (Lucy); two great grandchildren, Carter Emory Smith and William Henning Gess and two nephews, John Fauntleroy Pursley Mayer (Martie) and Mark Dewall Mayer (Carlisle). We would like to give special thanks to The Breckenridge and Beverly's Angels. Pall bearers will be: William Hamilton Alverson, Lloyd Allen Alverson, Anne Lawrence Gess Smith, Madison Emory Smith, Benjamin Alexander Pursley Gess, and William Bush Gess IV. Gibbons, Louisa	MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE-A Beautiful Young Girl Cuts Her Own Throat-The city was startled on Saturday evening by the report of a suicide as mysterious as melancholy. It was that of Miss Louisa Gibbons; daughter of Benjamin Gibbons, of this city. She resided with her parents at their home on Main Street, and on Saturday morning appeared to be unusually careful and attentive in the discharges of some trifling household duties. Before dinner she retired to her room apparently in good spirits. At diner time her little brother was sent to call her, when to his horror he found her lying in a pool of blood. Her unhappy mother rushed to the room and discovered her daughter in a dying condition, with her throat cut, and a razor by her side. The wound was deep and ghastly. Dr. Desha was called in immediately, to whom the girl said that she had committed the deed herself, giving no reason for it whatever. All efforts to staunch the blood which was fast ebbing away were unavailing, and after recognizing her relatives, the unfortunate girl died. An inquest was held upon the body when the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. Louisa Gibbons was not more than 16 years of age, prepossessing appearance, intelligent and a nature extremely sensitive. Those who knew her best, fail utterly in their attempts to ascribe any cause for her rash act. The Clark County Democrat Thur., 2-8-1872

Gibbs, Andrew	Last Sunday evening, at Slade's Station, on the line of the Kentucky Union railroad, in Powell county, Andy Gibbs was shot and killed by Will Smith. The weapon used was a Winchester rifle. Both Smith and Gibbs lived in Menifee county, but were working on the K. U. Gibbs was the son of Green Gibbs and Smith is a brother of blind John Smith. It is reported that a woman was the cause of the trouble. The body of Gibbs was taken through here Monday for burial in Menifee. Shortly after the Killing Deputy U. S. Marshal John Tolson arrested Smith and lodged him in the jail at Stanton. The Winchester Democrat; Wednesday, September 10, 1890
	Powell Circuit Court adjourned last week, and but little progress was made in its big murder docket. Wm. Smith was convicted of the murder of Andrew Gibbs last August, and was sentenced to be hung May 12 th . This is the first sentence ever passed in the county. The cases of Jas. Hall and Goodloe Combs who were under $10,000 bonds each, for complicity in the murder of Rose; of Simpson Bush for the murder of his wife; of Thos. Baker for the murder of Spencer; and other cases went over to the next term. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 27,1891
	The Court of Appeals has granted a new trial in the case of Wm. Smith who was convicted at the recent term of the Powell Circuit Court of the murder of Andy Gibbs last September and sentenced to be hung in May. Gibson, Ethel Gibson, Ethel Jo Stone	Ethel Jo Stone Gibson, 83, returned to her heavenly home on Monday, November 14, 2022, at Sayre Christian Village in Lexington, Kentucky. Born in Clark County, KY, on October 19, 1939, she was the daughter of the late Woodrow Wilson Stone and Mayetta Everman Stone. In addition to her parents, she was preceded by her brother, Jackie Stone and her husband, David Mitchell Gibson. Ethel was a homemaker and her family meant absolutely everything to her. She was always there for them and happily took on the roles of nurse, cheerleader, carpool driver, secretary, and personal shopper, just to name a few. Gift giving was especially important to her, and she made sure to make each person feel incredibly special on their

birthdays. She loved celebrating Christmas and created wonderful traditions and memories that her family will cherish for years to come. She was the biggest Kentucky Basketball and Football fan there ever was! She never missed a game and traveled to tournaments throughout the years. She cheered loudly from the stands or at home and everyone who knew her genuinely enjoyed her excitement when her favorite team was winning. Ethel amazed everyone with her strength when she became ill in 2019. She declined rapidly and spent 30 days at Mayo Clinic; however, after being treated by over 150 physicians, she returned to Kentucky without a diagnosis. That was incredibly difficult, and she struggled greatly but she never once complained! Her attitude was extremely positive, and she displayed the most wonderful sense of humor. She made the best out of her situation and put a smile on her face most days to everyone's disbelief. To say she was strong is simply an understatement. She was in fact a warrior! She will be dearly missed by all who knew and adored her, and it brings her family tremendous joy that she is now reunited with her beloved husband who has welcomed "Big E" back into his arms. The family would like to convey special thanks to Barbara Jo Redding (Ethel's sisterin-law) for the loving care and countless hours she spent with her. They would also like to acknowledge her caregivers at Sayre (Shirley, Kara, and Roxanne) who provided comfort during her final days. Survivors include her daughters Karen Gibson and Missy (Brad) Manuel, son Mitch (Cheryl) Gibson and grandchildren, Graysen Jo Manuel, Krista Brummette, and Melissa Brummette. She is also survived by her furry friend, Rainey who she took care of for many years. Services will be at 2:00PM, Monday, November 21, 2022, at the Leon Pace Memorial Chapel by Scobee Funeral Home in Winchester, Ky. Burial will follow in Lexington Cemetery. Family will receive friends from 12:00PM until the time of service. Expressions of sympathy can be made to Sayre Christian Village in Lexington, KY. Gilbert, J. D.	DEATHS At his residence, near Mt. Olive, Sunday night, of typhoid fever, Dr. J. D. Gilbert, aged thirty-eight years. Funeral services at Mt. Olive church and burial in the cemetery at this city. He was a native of Madison county but had been a resident of this county for several years. He leaves a widow, a daughter of Howard Hampton, and two little boys. Dr. Gilbert was one of the most popular men and physicians in the county and his loss will be deeply felt. The Democrat, Wednesday, July 29, 1891.
	HOWARD HAMPTON, JR. is recovering from a severe attack of typhoid fever, probably contracted while waiting on his brother-in-law, Dr. J. D. Gilbert, who died a short time ago. The disease was of a most malignant form and a sister of Dr. Gilbert, who lived in Madison, and who was with him in his last illness has since died of the same disease. 	Resolutions of Respect At a meeting of the Board of Education of Winchester, Ky., held Dec. 22 nd , 1897, the following resolutions were adopted: Whereas, the hand of death has recently invaded the family of our President, Mr. C. J. Gilbert, and removed from their midst his beloved daughter, Miss Mattie, a dutiful and affectionate child and lovely Christian character. Be it Resolved, That we tender him and his family our deepest sympathy in this sad affliction and commend them to the only one who can comfort in time of trouble. Resolved, That we wish to record our thanks for the faithful and impartial manner in which he has presided over our meetings for the past two years, and express the hope that he may long be spared to bless his family and community, and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of said Board of Education and that a copy be

Says: Will Gilbert and James Owens, brothers-in-law, were killed in a terrible hand-to-hand battle Tuesday night by John Strauss, at the little town of Keystone, in West Virginia. The fight was the result of an old feud of ten years standing. It seems that the three met on a rough mountain path near town for the purpose of "painting things red", when a quarrel followed.

Gilkey, Lucille Ray	Lucille Ray Gilkey passed away Sunday, January 22, 2017, in Louisville, Kentucky, after a long illness. She was a longtime resident of Winchester for 55 years. Lucille's passion was teaching music for 35 years. After graduating from the University of Kentucky, she started the first band in Clark County and taught at several elementary schools and Belmont Junior High School. Her students fondly remembered her enthusiasm for teaching, love for her students, and dedication to providing families and friends with her musical programs throughout her career. In addition to her professional career, she was also an avid member of her community and an active member of the First United Methodist Church. Lucille touched many hearts throughout her path in life. She had a unique sense of humor accompanied with a contagious smile for all who shared her love for music. She was preceded in death by her parents, Lee Porter and Marian Todd Ray; her sister, Virginia Ray Walker; a nephew, Frederick Walker, Jr. and her husband James Gilkey, Jr. She is survived by her 2 daughters, Carol Gilkey Land (John) and Marian Lee Gilkey; one grandchild, April Land Dunham (Jeremy); 2 great grandchildren, Chase and Ashley Dunham; 2 nephews, Steven Ray (Rebecca) Walker, Jeffery Todd (Betsy) Walker; 1 great niece, Kaitlyn Virginia Walker; and a cousin, Rosanne Tracy Chambers. Visitation will begin at 10:00 a.m. January 26 at Scobee Funeral Home followed by the funeral service at 11:00 a.m. Burial will be in Winchester Cemetery.

The funeral was preached yesterday morning at the First Christian church by Eld. J.H. MacNeill, the remains were buried in the Winchester cemetery. Before her marriage she was Miss Scearce and she was twice married, first to Joseph Owen and after his death to William Gilkey. She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. G.W. West, of this city and one brother, Millard Scearce, of the Soldiers Home at Pewee Valley. She was a popular woman and leaves many friends to mourn her loss. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 18, 1910 Mrs. Minnie Bell, of Huntington, West Virginia, was summoned here by the death of her foster mother, Mrs. Gilkey. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 18, 1910 Will probated The will of Mrs. Alice Gilkey was admitted to probate Monday. Mrs. Gilkey's will was dated in 1896. She left to Miss Lizzie Gilkey the portrait of the testator's mother. All the remainder of her property to her adopted daughter, Mrs. Mamie Bell, for life, with remainder to her children. If she should die without heirs the property is to go to the children of Mrs. J.T. Gilkey. W.B. Kidd was named as executor. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, November 29, 1910 County court items Wm. T. Gilkey waived his right of administration on the estate of his wife, Alice M. Gilkey, and Wm. H. Garner was appointed as executor.

Gilkey, W. T. Jr.	Death Of W. T. Gilkey, Jr. Mr. W. T. Gilkey, Jr., died at the Lakeland Sanitarium, Sunday morning, aged 37 years.
	The remains were brought here Monday noon and the burial was at the Winchester cemetery. The services at the grave were conducted by Elders C. J. Armstrong and J. R. Savage in the presence of many sorrowing friends.
	Mr. Gilkey was a son of Mr. James Gilkey of the county, and a brother to Mr. Henry Gilkey, of this city. He was very popular in business and socially. Some years ago he went to Louisville and took a position with the Stewart Dry Goods Co., one of the largest concerns in the South. He forced to the front and soon held one of the most responsible positions. His health failed more than a year ago. Three sisters are living, Misses Lizzie, Eva and Mary Taylor Gilkey. We join with the family and hundreds of friends in their sorrow. The Sun-Sentinel Thur., Oct. 19, 1905

Gillette, Matthew Warren	Matthew Warren Gillette, 42, was born in his father's hometown of Dunkirk, New York on March 13, 1981. At the age of 3 his family moved to Lexington, Kentucky where he was raised and lived 29 years before moving to Winchester to live his best life for the last 10 years. Matt tragically left us on December 14, 2023, though his spirit, energy, and memory lives on through the people who knew and loved him. This man did not have a selfish bone in his body and served his family, friends, and even strangers to the best of his ability. The word "no" was not part of his vocabulary.
	Matt is survived by his soulmate Ashleigh Lowe Gillette, their son Micah, and his stepchildren Colten and Alivia. He always said to Ashleigh "I super love you" and it showed. Matt and Ashleigh were an amazing couple and had everything in common from favorite movies and music to life goals like how to raise children, how to vacation, and "how to win".
	He was never too tired to practice basketball with Alivia, play guitar with Colten, or chase Micah around the house. One of Matt's favorite sayings was "let me show you how to win" as he doused food in multiple types of hot sauce or made a sandwich with too many toppings and that one topping which may have been questionable. He loved his job at Rumpke and the people he worked with were great friends. It was evident he was completely satisfied, fulfilled, and happy in life. Matt and Ashleigh recently started refinishing furniture together and their pieces are exquisite.
	Matt is also survived by his loving parents Laura and Martin, his brother Michael, and his sister Christinne. Growing up Matt played baseball, the flute, violin, and guitar. He was a Boy Scout, a skateboarder, and dreadlock. He was a rockstar and played in a band together with his wife.
	He was always excited to try new foods, spend time with his family, and eat birria tacos. He will be remembered most for his kindness, humility, and always giving to others ahead of himself.
	Visitation will be held at the Leon Pace Memorial Chapel next to Scobee Funeral Home, 219 W Lexington Ave Winchester, KY 40391 on Friday December 22, 2023, from noon – 3pm with a Memorial Service to follow.

Gilliam, Carol Hope	Carol Hope Gilliam passed away Sept. 6, 2013 peacefully at home surrounded by loved ones, her books and her music. Hope was born to Naomi and Everett Walje of Vanceburg Ky. on Aug. 9, 1943. She was preceded in death by Darrell, her husband and best friend of 45 years. She was also preceded in death by her sister Rebecca Wilson and her brother Jim Walje, both of Vanceburg. Surviving are her beloved son Ben, his wife Tonya who was a daughter to Hope and the light of her life, and her granddaughter Brooklyn Grace. Also surviving are 3 sisters, Jean (Stuart) of San Diego California, Ann (JR) of Lexington and Faith (Chuck) of Vanceburg; and one brother Rick Walje also of Vanceburg. Hope found a church home that enriched her life and sheltered her soul — she was a member of Bridgeport Christian Church in Frankfort. An avid reader, Hope loved her book club and also enjoyed the camaraderie of her retired teachers group. She received her BA degree in education from Berea College and her Master's Degree from EKU. Hope enhanced the life of many children over her 30-year career. Words cannot describe the depth of appreciation felt for her friends and neighbors for their support, assistance and unwavering love over the course of her illness. Heart filled gratitude is extended to Hope's caregivers - Donna Blankenship, Shontel Harris and Raydeana Stockton who became and will remain a part of our family. Visitation will be Monday Sept. 9th from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. at Bridgeport Church, Frankfort. The funeral service will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday with pastor Keith McAliley officiating. There will be visitation at 10 a.m. prior to the service. Graveside services and interment will be held in the Winchester Cemetery at 2pm. Pallbearers will be Raydeana Stockton, Shontel Harris, Donna Blankenship, Terry Tyree, Richard Day and David Walje. Honorary Pallbearers will be Bill Coleman, Michael Scott and Luke Scott. Flowers are welcomed or donations may be made to the Bridgeport Christian Church Missions. Arrangements are under the care of

Gilliam, Darrell Roger	Darrell Roger Gilliam, 67, husband of 45 years to Hope Walje Gilliam, passed away Thursday, March 31, 2011 at Central Baptist Hospital following a short illness. Darrell was born on March 20, 1944 in Benham, Kentucky, the youngest of three children of the late Howard Taft Gilliam and Mable Maggard Gilliam. He grew up in Benham and Whitesburg, Ky., and graduated from Whitesburg High School in 1962. Darrell attended Berea College and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics in 1966, and in 1986 a Master of Arts degree in economics at the University of Kentucky. He began his career as a research economist at Spindletop Research in Lexington in 1969, helping to research and author reports affecting the banking, coal, and thoroughbred horse industries. He later became city manager of Winchester, and then director of community and economic development for the Bluegrass Area Development District, where he assisted Winchester, Stanford, Lancaster, Stanton, Richmond, and other communities in setting up their own economic development programs. He served in the Kentucky Development Cabinet under Gov. Julian Carroll, was executive director for the Winchester-Clark County Industrial Development Authority for six years, and retired after 10 years as executive director for the Capital Community Economic/Industrial Development Authority in Frankfort. During his economic development career in Kentucky, Darrell was successful in helping recruit many new companies, creating thousands of new jobs in the state he loved. He received the James N. Gray Award for Professional Economic Development, the East Kentucky Power Cooperative's Community Development Award, and the Paul Sullivan Award in Frankfort for outstanding service to the community; served as president of the Kentucky Industrial Development Plan; and was one of the inaugural inductees into the Kentucky Economic Development Hall of Fame. Those who knew him professionally, many of whom grew to cherish him personally, held him in great esteem, respecting his unflagging with visitation at 10 a.m. Burial will follow in the Winchester Cemetery. Pastor Keith McAliley will officiate. Pallbearers will be Kim Smith, Sandy Romenesko, Karen Bushart, Tom Calvert, Terry Tyree, Rick Walje, William Coleman, Hank Hancock, Winston Rogers, Timothy Kuryla, David Ravencraft, and David Pribble. Honorary bearers will be J.R. Morgan, Larry Frazier, Ozz Jackson, and Eddie Kennedy. Flowers are welcome while donations are suggested to Berea College and the Humane Society of the United States. A former Winchestercity manager who later steered city and county economic efforts through a time of rapid growth has died. Darrell Roger Gilliam, 67, of Frankfort, died Thursday at Central Baptist Hospital following a short illness. "Darrell was a true professional," said Winchester Mayor Ed Burtner, also a former city manager. "He was outstanding in his field, which was economic development. He did an excellent job, and received much recognition for it." Gilliam began his tenure as city manager in 1972, according to obituary information, and served until 1975, when he became the director of community and economic development for the Bluegrass Area Development District. Later, Gilliam served in the Kentucky Development Cabinet under former Gov. Julian Carroll, where he helped administer grants for the Appalachian Regional Commission. He then returned to Clark County, where he served as the executive director for the Winchester-Clark County Industrial Development Authority. "There was a great deal of growth and development while Darrell was here," Burtner said. "He did a great job of overseeing industrial development efforts during that time." Gilliam served as the executive director of the Capital Community Economic-Industrial Development Authority in Frankfort until his retirement in 2004. He is survived by his wife, Hope Gilliam, of Frankfort; a son and daughter-in-law, Benjamin Ray and Tonya Gilliam; and a granddaughter, Brooklyn Grace Gilliam, all of Winchester.

Gilligan, Martin	A well known character dead Poor, crippled Martin Gilligan, so well known to every man, woman and child of this city, died Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He had seen better days in the earlier part of his life. He was fairly well educated and possessed a humorous and witty nature. He was a harmless creature and ever willing to do a charitable act for any one. Until a few days before his death he was homeless and friendless and was in dire distress, not even having the necessaries of life. This fact became known to one of the members of the Young Men's institute, who brought it to the notice of this charitable organization and steps were taken to make his last days on earth comfortable. May god reward these charitable men. He died at the boarding house of Mr. Watson and was buried from St.
	Joseph's church Monday at 2:30 p.m.

	because of an accusation of attempted robbery, rejects the story of theft as the motive.
	She says John McAtee is an only son and could have had financial assistance had he asked for it. A gruesome coincidence comes to light in connection with the death of McAtee. When he was a young man he was intimate with three other well known young men-Irvin Gillis, Dudley Reynolds and Will Coker. Each of these men has since died by his own hand and McAtee is the last of the quartette to take his life.

Gillispie, Eleanor	Women are very seldom hung in Kentucky and the Owingsville Opinion gives the following account of the first judicial hanging in Bath county: "The first person to suffer capital punishment in the county was a woman, Eleanor Gillispie. She was hung for the murder of her husband. The execution took place at the forks of the road, near the foot of the hill on the Mt. Sterling and Owingsville turnpike. The crime for which this woman was hung was a most atrocious one. It seems that her husband came home and retired, and while sleeping off the effects of too much liquor, the woman compelled a little boy—probably her son—to get a rope and hold one end, while she held the other across the neck of her husband and thus strangled him to death. The boy was acquitted but the woman was hung on the 28 th day of July, 1817. One David Hynomon built the gallows, and the court allowed him $6 for the work.

That Ginn's jealousy had been directed principally at his son, Thomas P. Ginn, Jr., 22 years old, is the belief of neighbors, who had heard frequent quarrels between the man and his wife. At the supper hour when Mrs. Ginn went to a grocery her husband followed her. As the two entered an alley near their home Ginn pulled his revolver and shot his wife in the back. She fell dead at his feet. Ginn was a tobacco worker and was in comparatively good circumstances. His wife was before her marriage Frances Goodwin. Both lived in Maysville, Ky., several years but had moved to Louisville a short time after their marriage. 	Canewood, The Seat of the Gist Family.
	By Hon. James Flanagan. In the last part of the eighteenth century, Col. Nathaniel Gist, a soldier of distinction in the Continental Army under General Washington, was granted a military warrant for 7,000 acres of land in Bourbon and Clark counties, Kentucky, for meritorious and gallant services to his country in the war of the Revolution. Col. Nathaniel Gist was the son of Col. Christopher Gist, who accompanied Washington as a guide to Logtown and Fort Duquesne, and saved his life twice on that expedition. He was subsequently killed at Braddock's Defeat, where his son, Nathaniel, was taken prisoner. At the time the warrant was issued about three-fourths of the land was situated in Clark county and the remainder in Bourbon county. Subsequently the line between the counties was changed by an act of the Legislature, and all of the land except a few acres, was placed in Clark. The grant contained some of the finest land upon earth, unsurpassed in fertility of soil, and abundance and quality of timber. Before it was settled it was covered by a dense growth of cane, and such was the luxuriance of the grass, cane and peavine, and the tract contained so many pretty streams of water, that it was a kind of rendezvous for all sorts of game, such as deer, elk, buffalo, wild turkeys, pheasants, etc., and it was a noted hunting ground. The streams abounded in various kinds of fish, and one of the small tributaries to Stoner Creek was considered so beautiful that it was called "Pretty Run."

In the year 1793 Col. Gist sold the southern half of the grant to Thomas Lewis, of Fayette county, for 900 pounds in current money. Thomas Lewis was the father of Asa K., Stephen and Thornton Lewis, and Mrs. Green Clay, wife of Gen. Green Clay, of Madison county, and the 3,000 acres conveyed by Col. Gist was known in the early times as the Lewis Territory. The Northern half of the 7,000 was retained by Col. Gist, upon which he erected a house for his residence which he called "Canewood," the name being taken from the character of the land and cane woods. These lands are now owned by Matthew D. Hume's heirs, Eli Bean's heirs, L. B. Cockrell, Thomas Sydner and the heirs of George Owen. Col. Gist settled at Canewood in the early days of the county and established the seat of the Gist family in Kentucky. He died in 1793 and is buried in the family cemetery, now a part of the farm on which Matthew D. Hume lived. He left a widow, Mrs. Judith Gist and the following children: Judith, who married Dr. Joseph Boswell, of Fayette county, Sarah H., who married the Hon. Jesse Bledsoe, of Bourbon county; Maria C., who married the late Benjamin Gratz, of Lexington; Eliza, who married Francis Preston Blair, a daughter who married Capt. Nat Hart, of the River Raisin; Davidella, who died unmarried; Thomas M. Gist and Henry C. Gist. A granddaughter, Judith Ann Bledsoe, married Judge Mason Brown, father of Col. John Mason Brown, of Louisville.

When the children came into the possession of this magnificent property they soon sold out their interest in the estate to other people, except Benjamin Gratz, whose wife inherited 177 ½ acres on which Canewood, the old residence was situated. Mrs. Gratz kept the old homestead until 1852, when she sold it to Matthew D. Hume. Martin Sydner bought Davidella's share of the land, where Sydner's famous water mill was built on Stoner Creek now in Clark county. In the establishment of the county in 1792, the site of Sydner's mill was then in Bourbon county, but by an act of the Legislature in 1798, it together with the lands of Evans Wade and others, was attached to Clark county. The descendants of Col. Gist were people of uncommon gifts and attainments and the daughters all married men of ability and learning. Among them was Benjamin Gratz, one of the most respected citizens that ever lived in Lexington, and for whom Gratz Park, in that beautiful city is named.

Capt. Nat Hart, a brother of Mrs. Henry Clay, of Ashland, and who was killed at the battle of the River Raisin in the war of 1812, also married a daughter of Col. Gist, of Canewood.

Francis Preston Blair was the editor of the Globe, at Washington City for eight years during the administration of Gen. Andrew Jackson and for four years during the administration of Martin Van Buren. He was the father of Francis P. Blair, Jr., who was a Major General in the United States Army in the War of the Rebellion and Montgomery Blair who was Postmaster General under the administration of President Lincoln.

Jesse Bledsoe was the peer of any lawyer or advocate in the State and was characterized by Henry Clay as the formidable man he ever met at the bar in Kentucky. Dr. Boswell was one of the most eminent men of Lexington in his day, one of whose daughters was the first wife of Gov. Luke P. Blackburn, of Louisville.

Judge Mason Brown was an eminent scholar, lawyer and jurist and was the father of the late distinguished John Mason Brown, of the Louisville bar, at one time the leading lawyer in the city of Louisville, and perhaps more learned in law than any man in the State. Col. Gist's sons were men of fine natural endowments, enjoyed the advantages of collegiate education and began life with prospects which bid fair to shed luster upon the escutcheon of their heroic ancestry and were cherished by their friends as a part of the hope and expectancy of the grand old Commonwealth. But they were so unfortunate as to inherit a large estate and yielding to the fascinating seduction of conviviality, they failed to leave that impress which their talents and attainments should have won for them.

Col. Gist was buried in the cemetery at Canewood and several years after his death a hickory tree sprang up at the foot of his grave, which in a few years grew to be a very tall tree. It is claimed that this tree was an omen that the descendants should be Democrats and support General Jackson. Accordingly the sons were strong Democrats and ardent supporters of Gen. Jackson, as were the sons-in-law, except Mr. Gratz, who was a Whig. The hickory tree is still standing at the foot of the grave.

"Canewood" was the seat of refinement and elegant hospitality, the ideal country home of the olden time. The writer was at Canewood in 1841, before time had wrought her vengeance and demolished this primeval house, surrounded by yard and grounds as lovely as nature in her prodigality could make them, and he remembers no spot upon the earth that has since looked more beautiful to him than did this old time mansion on that glorious morning in June, 1841. The place was then owned by Mrs. Gratz, and the old negroes belonging to Col. Gist, were the only occupants of the premises. It was kept at that time by Mr. Gratz as a summer home, where he would bring his family every year to spend about two months. Flowering plants, rose trees in full bloom, attested, the care once bestowed upon this Eden, and gave play to the imagination to picture the loveliness of the spot where woman's gentle touch mingled with the invisible in helping to adorn a home of man. Mrs. Gist was a woman of great strength of character, and capacity, and must have been a very remarkable woman in every respect to have been the mother of girls, whose hands were sought by the character of men who married them. A few years after the death of Col. Gist his widow intermarried with Gen. Charles Scott, one of the early Governors of Kentucky, and a distinguished soldier in the war of the Revolution. After his marriage with Mrs. Gist, Governor Scott lived at Canewood until his death, which occurred in 1813. He was buried in the family cemetery at Canewood and the Legislature erected a monument over his grave at this place. Subsequently the Legislature removed his remains to Frankfort and interred them there in 1853 or 1854. After his marriage he was frequently a visitor to Winchester, and such was his reputation that he was the cynosure of all eyes, as being one of the survivors of the Revolution and the compatriot of General Washington. He was buried at Canewood with Military honors, the Old Light Infantry Company, composed of the battle-scarred heroes of River Raisin and Dudley's Defeat that had served under Capt. Nathaniel Hart in the war of 1812 coming from Lexington to perform the funeral rites over the dead soldier. Governor Scott is said to have been a very original man, possessed of a great amount of strong sense, and with a discriminating judgement of men and things. He was the author of the famous expression that "The people, when they got wrong had to get damned wrong before they could get right." In his contest before the people for the office of Governor his opponent was a learned man in the law and literature, and one of the best orators of that day. Gen. Scott, in reply to him upon the hustings, upon one occasion, said in his blunt style, that he could make a pretty speech and honey fuggle the people and belonged to that class of politicians, who lick the people's feet before the election and want the people to lick his feet after the election. Canewood with all its beauty and glories has passed away. Naught remains of the old home of two distinguished soldiers of the Revolution but the recollection of the generous hospitality displayed by its illustrious tenants in other days and generations. 	Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 19The jury at Dixon, Ky., in the case of Jean Couch, a Negro union miner, charged with shooting into a wagonload of nonunion Negroes en route to the providence mines, returned a verdict of guilty and sentenced Couch to 20 years in the penitentiary. President Wood, of the district United Mine Workers' Union, who is now in Central City, claims that two attempts were made by unknown persons to assassinate him Tuesday night. The Webster county grand jury, in session in Dixon, returned indictments Wednesday against James D. Wood, president U. M. W. of A., 23d district, Kit Barnaby, vice president, and W. B. Kissinger, a member of the official board, who has been actively engaged in unionizing Hopkins, Webster and Christian counties, charging them as accessories before the fact for willful murder. The indictments are the result of an investigation into the facts connected with the attack made on the Providence mines by the union men five weeks ago. One of the union men named Givens, who was killed in the battle, had papers on his person which were introduced as evidence against the union leaders. A list of the guns their numbers and the names of the men to whom the guns had been given, were found, together with other evidence. Wood, Barnaby and Kissinger, the indicted, will be refused bond.

	Barnaby was in Madisonville Wednesday when the news came. Wood is said to be in Central city, though he may be in Halifax before morning. Two union men were tried at Dixon in circuit court Wednesday and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The bodies were buried in one grave at Elizaville, with the honors of the Masonic Lodge of which they had been members for years. The unusual and pathetic funeral services were conducted by the venerable Dr. Scudder, of the Presbyterian Church at Carlisle, who in the course of his remarks said that in his long experience with a hard world he had never known such unusual, unselfish and remarkable love between brothers. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 4, 1902 News comes from Harlan county of the horrible killing of a negro named Henry Givens. He was found near his home tied to a tree with his body riddled with bullets. His skull was crushed and both eyes shot out. The negro had a bad reputation and is reported to have attempted to poison several persons. There is no clew to the names of the parties who mobbed him.

Glancy, Bernard	Death of Mr. Bernard Glancy. At his home near this city yesterday morning Bernard Glancy died after a long illness of consumption, aged twenty-two years. He was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Glancy, and a young man of much promise, and his death is greatly regretted. The funeral will take place tomorrow at eight o'clock from St. Joseph's church, the services being conducted by Father Ryan and remains will be taken to Lexington for internment. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, May 24, 1897.
	Rest In Peace

On Wednesday, May 26th, at St. Joseph's Church occurred the funeral services over the remains of all that was mortal of Mr. Bernard Glancy. All of the people in our community who could possibly do so, turned out to show their respect for the bereaved family and to honor the memory of one whom they had known so well in life. At 8:30 the funeral cortege began its procession from the old homestead on the Boonesboro pike to St. Joseph's Church. When the funeral procession arrived only the sorrowing members of the family were able to gain admittance so densely packed was the edifice by sympathizing friends. As his sister is a school teacher in our schools, the school officials and the pupils turned out to do honor to his memory and to show respect for one who has labored so faithfully What a beautiful tribute it was to the dead to find our Catholic church in its possession of our non-Catholic friends. All seemed to vie with each other in doing honor to the bereaved family. Such conduct speaks volumes and puts to shame the accusations that we are a bigoted people. In chronicling the death of Bernard Glancy we cannot pay a more fitting tribute to his worth or integrity than that paid by Father Ryan, his pastor and spiritual advisor. Nine months ago he was stricken with that fatal maladay, consumption. His father, mother, sisters and friends did all in their power to make him easy in his sufferings. But God had decreed for him to die and escape the fatal sentence he could not. It is an old saying that "Death Loves a Shining Mark" and the truth of this expression was verified in the death of Bernard Glancy. It must have been hard for him to die as he was a young man who had just crossed the threshold of manhood, and was just able to become of service to his kind parents. In character he was simple and childlike so that all loved him. He was the bright light of joy in the family circle, as all hearts were centered in his welfare and happiness. On this account his family will miss him, as there will ever be that vacant chair and the longed for wish that Bernard may come. His patience during his long hours of suffering was an example and source of editication to all. In a word he can be classed as a model young man, and in saying this we have summed up his qualities. God grant that his life may be a beacon of light to all, and especially his companions the certainty of death and the uncertainty of life and lead them to that narrow path which leads to God. Pages could be written in commendation of his exemplary life, but let these few words suffice to keep his memory green, and may God grant him eternal rest is the wish of all his friends. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, June 1, 1897. Glancy, Cecelia Frances The Winchester Sun Wed., 1-9-1929 The Winchester Sun Wed., 5-16-1917 Glancy, Luke Glancy, Margaret Death Of Miss Glancy For the third time in as many years, the Angel of Death has entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Glancy and taken from the household their daughter, Margaret, aged 19 years. She has been ill quite a while with the dread disease consumption, and while not unexpected, the announcement of her death at an early hour Wednesday morning, came as a great shock to her many friends. Miss Glancy was an exceptionally bright young lady, a graduate of our City schools, and was finishing her studies at Kentucky Wesleyan College when stricken by her fatal illness. She had a sweet, amiable disposition, and was beloved by teachers and The funeral was held at eight o'clock Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Church, with solemn Requiem Mass, after which the pastor, Rev. W. B. Ryan, spoke very feelingly of the many virtues of the deceased. The remains were taken to Lexington for interment. Mr. Glancy and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. The Winchester Democrat Fri., March 23, 1900 Glancy, Mary Death of Miss Mary Glancy Miss Mary Glancy died Sunday night at her home near the suburbs of the city, after a lingering illness of consumption, aged twenty-eight years. She was a native of this city and had lived here all her life. She was a bright girl and when she graduated from the Winchester High School eight years ago, a position as teacher in the city schools was at once offered her, which she accepted. As a teacher her success was as great as it had been as a pupil, and each year since then she had been reelected. Her loving, earnest nature specially fitted her for work among the little children and here her work was done. Upon the plastic minds of the little boys and girls committed to her care she impressed lessons of truth, sobriety, benevolence and kindred virtues, and the full extent of her influence for good will not be known until all things shall be revealed in the last day. For the last year she has fought what she knew was a losing battle for life, but bravely, cheerfully and uncomplainingly she faced the Grim Destroyer, conscious that "it is not all of life to live nor all of death to die." Not on imposing granite shaft or costly mausoleum but in the loving memories of pupils and friends will her virtues be inscribed, and the world will be better for her having lived in it. The funeral services will be held at St. Joseph's Church this morning at eight o'clock by Rev. W. B. Ryan at which the Faculty and the Board of Education of the City Schools will attend in body, and the remains will be carried to Lexington. We extend sympathy to the family who, less than a year ago, lost a son from the same dread disease. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, May 10, 1898

Glasscock, widow	The widow Glasscock of Clark county, who is about sixty years of age and enjoying a pension of twelve dollars per month, concluded recently that she wanted to marry a young man named Tillett, aged twenty-one. So they were married, which, of course caused the old lady to lose her pension. And Tillett was a model husband for a few weeks, until one evening he came home and found his wife gone off to visit a neighbor and left the house all locked up. But prizing up one of the windows, he entered, and after pocketing his wife's husband's watch and a few other valuable articles. Left for parts unknown. And it is useless to say, nothing has been heard of him since. Moral – It is better for an old lady to have a pension of twelve dollars per month than to have a young husband – Jackson Hustler.

	Liz graduated from Women's College, now known as UNC-G, in 1946. She completed graduate work at Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, Va. as a registered dietician. She married Richard R. Glenn on Sept. 12, 1954. She maintained a long career as a dietician at many local facilities, including Arbor Acres. Many of those caring for her in her last days worked with her or were trained by her during her tenure there. Lib was very involved in the community and her church, Centenary United Methodist, where she was a member of the United Methodist Women, taught Sunday School, and edited the 1968 Centenary Cookbook, in addition to many other church and community activities. She is survived by her husband of 59 years as well as her children Kathryn Glenn Crumpler and husband, Randy, of Raleigh, N.C; Richard Reece Glenn, Jr. and wife, Sarah, of Winchester, Ky.; and Elizabeth "Libit" Glenn of Winston-Salem, N.C. Lib also leaves behind four grandchildren Mary Glenn Crumpler

Glenn, Richard Reece	Richard Reece Glenn passed away Monday, October 24, 2016. He was born in Winston-Salem on May 25, 1923 to Mary Reece Glenn and Jesse B. Glenn. Dick graduated from RJ Reynolds High School and attended Wake Forest University on the original campus in Wake Forest, NC. He then attended and graduated from Bowman Gray School of Medicine in 1946. He completed Pediatric internships and residency programs in Philadelphia and New York, as well as a fellowship at Babies Hospital in Wilmington, NC. During that time he also served in the Korean War, working in various medical facilities in Japan. On September 12, 1954 he married Elizabeth Roe Glenn. He and Lib lived in Johnson City, TN for several years, moving back to Winston-Salem in 1957 to open his Pediatric practice and to raise their family.
	After over twenty five years as a Pediatrician, he retired from private practice and worked at the Veterans Administration, and then with Price Davis Florist. In addition to his devotion to children and medicine, Dick was an avid gardener and was well known for his beautiful roses. One of his greatest joys was to share these roses with many of his dearest friends for their weddings and other special occasions. As a faithful member of Centenary United Methodist Church, he taught the first grade Sunday School class for over forty years. In that role he brought the stories alive by periodically dressing as the biblical characters and leading the children throughout the church on various adventures. Dick's wife Lib predeceased him on September 14, 2013. He is survived by his children Kathryn Glenn Crumpler and husband, Randy, of Raleigh, NC; Richard Reece Glenn, Jr. and wife, Sarah, of Winchester, KY; and Elizabeth "Libit" Glenn of Winston-Salem, NC. He leaves behind four grandchildren: Mary Glenn Crumpler Coleman and her husband Will, Connor Crumpler, Reece Glenn III, and Caroline Glenn. Dick was looking forward to the birth of his first great-grandchild due later this week. He is also survived by a sister Jane Glenn Longfellow and husband Howard of Columbus, OH, as well as his sisters-in-law Martha Roe Goss of Lansing, NC and Barbara West Roe of Lansing, NC.
	Visitation will be at Arbor Acres, Robinson Hall, on Saturday, October 29, from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. A Memorial service will be held at Centenary United Methodist Church on Sunday, October 30, at 2:00 p.m. Family will also receive visitors following the memorial service in the church auditorium. The family is incredibly grateful for the compassionate care provided for both Lib and Dick by the remarkable staff at Arbor Acres Retirement Community. Donations may be made to Arbor Acres, 1244 Arbor

Glore, W. Scott	W. Scott Glore, for several years largely interested in the Frankfort Lottery of Kentucky, died of paralysis of the brain at his residence in Louisville last week, aged forty-eight years. He leaves a fortune of $150,000 for a widow and one son. A strange fatality has followed the owners of this lottery. Ex Gov. Bramlette, one of the founders, fell dead of heart disease before he realized any of his profits; C. M. Briggs, another, met the same fate; W. D. Barrow made a fortune in it and died suddenly while on a visit to Colorado; Chas. J. Howard, one of the founders, and who also was one of the starters of the New Orleans lottery was thrown from a buggy in New York and killed; M. L. Stewart, who had a long legal contest about the lottery, fell dead on the street, and George Miller, a prominent owner, died of delirium tremens. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 2-13-1889 Glorieux, John B.	DIED-Rev. Father John B. Glovieux, pastor of St. Patrick's church at Maysville, died Friday, aged 78 years. He was born in Kent, Belgium and had been pastor of the church in Maysville for nearly thirty years. He was a genial, affiable gentleman, who, during his long pastorate, made a legion of friends both among and outside of his congregation. He had been in failing health for some time, never having fully recovered from an accident received on the K. C. road several years ago. Father Glovieux was noted for his extreme piety, and his acts of christian charity will long endear him in the hearts of those who knew and loved him best. Godfrey, Thomas	Murder Mystery

	Thomas Godfrey Killed by Two Unknown Men in His Saloon.
	Lexington, Ky., Jan. 14.—Thomas Godfrey, aged 41 years was mysteriously murdered in his saloon, at the corner of Montmullin and Sellier streets, at 8:30 Wednesday night.
	Mrs. Godfrey says that her husband was playing checkers in the grocery part of the establishment with his children at 8:20, when she came and called them to bed. She went with them upstairs, leaving no one in the grocery, save her husband. She has seated herself to teach the youngest tot its prayers when she heard a pistol shot in the saloon below. She rushed immediately down the stairs. Through the pistol smoke which yet clouded the room she saw her husband stagger backward and heard him exclaim:
	"My God, I'm done for," and then heard his corpulent body strike the floor. The screams of Mrs. Godfrey attracted neighbors, who found Godfrey lifeless in a pool of blood which had streamed from the hole in the left temple. On the counter sat two dry glasses and in the right hand of the dead man was a quart bottle of whisky. The front door, which Mrs. Godfrey left closed, stood ajar. The dead man had all his valuables.
	His own revolver was properly loaded and in place in the drawer. Inquiry by the police developed the fact that young Donovan, at the switchman's shanty on the Cincinnati Southern road, had heard Mrs. Godfrey's cries and on rushing to the door saw two men, one wearing a slouch hat and a long overcoat, rushing up the railroad from the direction of the saloon. Freight Train No. 49, on the Cincinnati Southern, north bound, was making up the yards. The watchman in the tower said he saw two men answering the description board the train as it went out.
	Capt. Crane was notified Wednesday night that three men, supposed to be the murderers of Thomas Godfrey, were taken off the train at Williamstown. They will be held for him until Thursday.

Goebel, Mrs. Annie	Fond admirer
	Of late Gov. Goebel was relative who passed away Cincinnati – Mrs. Annie Goebel, at whose knee played the late Gov. Goebel in his boyhood, died at the home of her life-long friend, Mrs. Rosa Meehan, at 1136 Eastern avenue. She was born in 1823, and was the second wife of the grandfather of the late statesman, Arthur and Justus, and she was extremely fond of the three boys, whose subsequent notable careers in politics and business she watched with pride and pleasure.
	When her hair silvered and her vitality was sapped by the encroachment of old age her every wish was anticipated and supplied by the Goebel brothers. The late governor, however, was her favorite, and she fairly idolized the man. When he fell under an assassin's bullet the happiness was taken from her life. After his death she was a changed woman. At the time of her death she was the second oldest member of St.
	Paul's German church, at Eleventh and Banklick streets, Covington, and the funeral took place from that church.

Goff, Elisha		Elisha Goff A prominent Clark county citizen dies suddenly Thursday night at his home at Indian Fields Friday morning our citizens were deeply pained upon learning of the sudden death of Mr. Elisha Goff at his home at Indian Fields, this county. Mr. Goff had been in his usual health and on that day and the two days previous had enjoyed hunting with a number of friends and relatives. Shortly after retiring on Thursday evening he was seized with a coughing spell and ruptured a blood vessel, dying in a few minutes. Mr. Goff was not a robust man, and for several years past his health had been impaired, but he was never at any time thought to be seriously ill, and his sudden death was a great shock to his relatives and friends. He was a son of the late John Goff, of Indian Fields, and was one of the most prominent young men in the county, of the strictest integrity and of the most genial, kindly nature. He was twice married, his first wife being, Miss Ada Burton, of Mt. Sterling, a few years ago he was married to Miss Ida Mitchell, the only daughter of the late William Mitchell, of this city, who survives him. Of a large family of children he is survived by Mrs. Henrietta Bedford and Mr. Levi Goff, of this city; Thos. Goff, of Lexington; Prof. John Goff, of Mississippi; Cas. P. Goff, of Bourbon county; Mrs. E.B. Bedford, of Columbia, Mo.; Mrs. John R. Downing, of Mason county, and Miss Margaret, of Dennison, Texas. Funeral services were held at his late residence at Indian Fields Saturday morning at ten o'clock by Eld. J.H. MacNeill, of the First Christian church, and the interment was in Machpelah cemetery at Mt. Sterling. The following kinsmen were pall bearers: Messrs. Marcum Prewitt, Dan Prewitt, Prewitt Young, Cliff Prewitt, Jr., John Bedford and Cas. P. Bedford. The honorary pall bearers were Messrs. Allen Prewitt, Sr., N.B. Young, Cliff Prewitt, Sr., and Charlton Evans.

	Death Of John H. Goff
	Mr. John Hedges Goff died shortly after midnight Wednesday at his home at Indian Fields, of old age, he being in his eighty-first year. The remains will be interred in the Winchester cemetery today at noon, with services at the grave. His wife, formerly Miss Martha Prewitt, died in 1895; three children are also dead, and ten survive, viz: Thomas Goff, of Lexington; Mrs. H. C. Bedford and Levi Goff of this city, Mrs. Emma Browning and John Goff, of Jackson; Elisha Goff, Cas. Goff and Miss Margaret Goff, of this county; Mrs. Lizzie Bedford, of Columbia, Mo., and Mrs. Patsy Browning, of Mason county.
	Mr. Goff was born at Indian Fields and had lived there all his life. Although for many years one of the most popular and prominent men in the county, he never held political office, but for many years had been an Elder in Bethlehem Christian Church. He was devoted to public improvement, and was a prominent breeder of Shorthorn cattle. He was instrumental in building the Iron Works turnpike and Kentucky Union Railroad, in both of which he lost money, resulting in financial embarrassment later.
	He was a good neighbor and a splendid citizen, and his death is a loss to the whole community.
	A singular coinsidence was that his death occurred on the anniversary of the marriage of his favorite granddaughter, Mattie Bedford.

Community mourns death of 9-year-old

Students at several Clark County Schools are mourning the loss of a popular classmate this morning. Providence Elementary School fourth-grader Whitt Goff was killed Friday night when he was struck by a truck while riding his dirt bike along Elkin Station Road. Clark County Superintendent Elaine Farris said the district will have grief counselors on hand for students this morning at Providence, Hannah McClure Elementary, where he previously attended school, as well as Clark Middle and George Rogers Clark High School, where siblings and close family friends attend classes. Former Providence principal and close family friend Brenda Considine said teachers and administrators immediately reached out to Providence students after hearing of the accident. "When we first heard about it on Friday we gathered at Providence to make phone calls to his classmates because Providence is such a small school, we're all like family, and we felt like they needed to hear it from school personnel and parents," Considine said Sunday.; "Monday is going to be a very difficult day for the entire school system because there were so many lives touched by him and his family. We have a big hole in our hearts at Providence as I'm sure they do at Hannah McClure and the other schools also." Goff was an honor roll student and outstanding athlete who had a magnetic personality that endeared him to everyone he met, Considine said. "Whitt had the biggest smile and his eyes literally sparkled. He was just loving school, loving his friends, he was never having a bad day. He was so full of life. When I say he was full of life, he lived life to the fullest," said Considine. "Children were drawn to his personality because you want to hang around people who are always happy and having a good time, and that was Whitt. He had a good relationship with everyone." While Whitt was proud of his exploits on the athletic fields, Considine said he was even more proud of what he had accomplished in the classroom.

"Whitt was an honor roll student and very proud of it," Considine said. "He was part of the Bug Program and he brought his grades up while he was at Providence and he was so proud of that Bug certificate. He worked really hard to get on that honor roll." Third grade teacher Lora Birkes said Whitt's smile was contagious. "He was just such an energetic, happy child. He was funny and he had such a good heart and you couldn't help but love him," Birkes said. "He had fun every day. He was smiling and enjoying being there, which then made me smile. Even on the playground, he was with all the kids of every age, and they loved him. I feel blessed to have been his teacher, and I feel like he will stay with me always." He transferred to Providence from Hannah McClure Elementary School in the middle of last year, and like Considine and Birkes, his former teacher at Hannah McClure, Kathy Miller said Whitt's smile and his eyes were something she will never forget. "We meet people every day, but once in a while a kid comes by and they just catch your eye and you dont' forget them. They tug at your heartstrings, and that's what Whitt did," Miller said. "He had the most precious eyes. It didn't matter if you were trying to teach him or discipline him or what, when he looked up at you with those little eyes, everything just melted." Along with Whitt, Miller also taught his sister Claire and brother Tucker, and said one of her fondest memories was of seeing the three leaving school each day. "Every day Whitt would come across the hall from his second grade class and hug me when he picked Claire up. Then they would walk hand-in-hand down the hallway to meet Tucker, then Tucker would put Claire on his back and there they would all three go walking along," Miller said. "It was just the most heartfelt time, because they were all three so close and such sweet, sweet kids." Whitt also was very active in sports and loved swimming, dirt-bike racing and hunting and fishing. He also played both baseball with the Dodgers and football with the Cowboys where he was continuing a family tradition, said Cowboys coach Mike Bordas. "I coached Whitt's uncle Jake Goff and brother Tucker, and his sister Claire cheered for us, and his grandfather, Ben Goff helped coach us for a couple of years, so Whitt has been around the Cowboys for a long, long time. I loved that boy," Bordas said. "He played running back and linebacker and he was a tough little kid who wasn't afraid to tackle a buzzsaw. He truly loved football, and he will be greatly missed." The Civitan football league will honor Whitt this year by having his No. 2 placed on the helmets of every player in the league, Bordas said. Visitation for Whitt Goff will be today from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church. Funeral services will be 1 p.m. Tuesday at the church. Scobee Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Goings, William	A Choctaw Indian, Charged With the Killing of Nine Persons, Executed. The Bullet Missed the Heart and Goings Moaned Piteously for an Hour Before Expiring-Water Poured Down his Throat to Hasten Death. HOUSTON, Tex., July 14A special from Goodland, J. T. says: Wm. Goings was shot at Alikchi I. T., Thursday, under sentence of Choctaw court for murder. During Wednesday friends of the prisoner gathered and it was rumored that an attempt would be made to rescue him. Twenty Indian deputies were placed on guard and everybody was warned to stay away. Feeling among the Choctaw was further aroused by a report that an attempt would be made to prevent the execution by another habeas corpus, Federal Judge Townsend having stopped the execution once by habeas corpus. The day he was to be shot after the case, Judge Townsend held that Goings having been convicted before the Indian courts were abolished, the federal government had no jurisdiction and turned him back to the Chotaw authorities. Application was made Wednesday to Federal Judge John R. Thomas for a writ of habeas corpus by Goings' attorney an order by Judge Thomas granting the writ was telegraphed from Tulsa, I. T., Thursday night. It directed the Indian sheriff to have the body of Goings at South McAlester, July 22, and a deputy marshal arrived at Alikchi with the writ at daylight Thursday morning. District Attorney Clay and Sheriff Thomas were in consultation when it was presented. The sheriff refused to receive it. The district attorney declared that Almighty God or Judge Abner James, the Choctaw judge, could stop the execution. A runner was dispatched to Judge James, 16 miles away, notifying him of the telegram from Judge Thomas. He was in bed sick and sent a verbal message to go ahead with the execution. It was noon when the message was received. The execution took place two hours later and was a horribly sickening sight. A few minutes before Goings was led out four Choctaws appeared bearing a coffin, which was deposited in front of the courthouse, and near

	"The subject of this sketch, Hon. G. W. Goode, was born in Clark county, Ky., February 18, 1836and is a son of Walter R. Goode and Amanda Rankin Goode. His paternal grandfather, Wm. Goode moved from Essex county, Va., to Woodford county, KY., in 1800 and engaged in farming, having previously participated in the Revolutionary war. His maternal grandfather, John Rankin, was born in Pennsylvania, and moved to Clark county, Ky., in 1808. Geo. W. Goode was educated in the common schools of Clark county. He was married in 1860 to Jane F. Lyne, of Woodford county.
	After his marriage he engaged in farming at his present place of residence in Jessamine county. Mr. Goode is a plain, practical farmer and his friends predict, will make a Representative whom the Democrats of Jessamine can look to with ride. This is the first political office to which he had aspired.

Goode, Mattie	Died—A dispatch from Lexington says the remains of Miss Mattie Goode, daughter of George Goode, whose home was Nelson, in Jessamine county, were buried in Lexington cemetery Friday afternoon. The girl fell into a sound sleep Tuesday afternoon and Friday at 3 o'clock her breathing ceased, and the physicians pronounced her dead. She was afflicted with a peculiar disease, which was noticeable six months ago. She would fall asleep in her chair, and could not be awakened for an unnatural long time. She went to sleep Monday morning of this week and Tuesday morning she awoke apparently bright and fresh. She went into the yard, watered the flowers and received a caller, but within two hours her last long sleep overtook her. She was eighteen years old and her father represents Jessamine county in the Legislature. Mr.
	Goode is a Clark county man and is a brother of John Goode of this county.

Goodloe—Swope Tragedy	THE SWOPE—GOODLOE TRAGEDY
Goodloe, W. C.	Last Friday afternoon A. M. Swope and W. C. Goodloe, two of the leading citizens of Kentucky met in the post-office at Lexington and after a few angry words, engaged in a combat which ended in the death of Swope and the mortal wounding of Goodloe who died on Sunday. For fierceness and relentless desperation, it has no parallel in the bloodstained annals of Kentucky. Swope used a pistol and fired twice hitting his adversary once but penetrating his bowels. Goodloe had a clasp bowie knife, with which he struck his adversary thirteen times making fearful and ghastly wounds with each blow. Both were powerful men and energized by a hatred which years of rivalry for political leadership had brought to a white heat. Col. Goodloe had recently been appointed collector of internal revenue at Lexington, a position which Col. Swope had for several years held. They were both men of wealth and high social position and each had many admirable qualities. Swope was of a more popular turn and, with the exception of Wadsworth, the most potent speaker of the Republican party in Kentucky.
	He had begun life poor and made his own way in the world. Goodloe was a gentleman of culture, had been born under a happy star, and was bon vivant, who enjoyed and had from childhood all the good things in this life. Swope was a bachelor, Goodloe had made a most fortunate marriage which brought him fortune and the happiest domestic relations. He leaves a wife and eight children. It is hard who was most to blame when the fatal reencounter took place. Strange to say their boxes at the post-office were adjoining, one being 333 and the other 334 which brought them in collision each day. It seems strange that men like these who had been reared by pious mothers, who had lived all their lives in sight of church spires and who knew so well the importance of law and order should allow the passions of humanity holds in common with the brute creation to obtain such a mastery over them that they could not be restrained. They were apparently men of kindly natures and tender sympathies but really carrying deadly weapons and watching for an opportunity to quench their wrath in the life-blood of the object of their respective hates. We would not be astonished to hear a story like this concerning two Indian Chiefs whose training and surroundings had been of a character to fit them to enact such a tragedy. We have all no doubt read the incident of the high-landers Grant McPherson between whose clans there was a feud and who meeting at a narrow path in the mountains where one or the other must give back a little, fought to the death because neither would yield an inch. Most probably both Swope and Goodloe had read this story and been amazed that men should act so foolishly even in the darker ages that are past but here they were in full blaze of the 19 th century doing what was equally as lawless and inexcusable.
	People will say there must be something wrong in our civilization when such an affair as this can occur in one of the most refined and intelligent communities in the country.
	Of course there is something wrong, but it is deeper down than our civilization. It is human nature and may be partly attributed to a vicious sentiment which is encouraged even by those who try to live according to the precepts of the New Testament and who know the consequences of every violation of either human or divine law. It is sometimes called the prompting of the devil. It is really the instinct of the tiger. It is worshipped as courage. It is a natural feeling stimulated by parents who teach their children to strike those who offend them. It is not peculiar to Kentuckians and exists in spite of law, civilization and Christianity. It is that diabolical spirit of resentment, which would shed blood for every manifestation of opposition and for every fancied insult. It has its only remedy in a fuller sway of that divine religion whose noblest, grandest characteristic is that it teaches us to love our enemies and to accept blows rather than give way to hate. Look now at the end of Swope and Goodloe.
	They lie in their graves, the worms eat them and men mock their folly.

Goodman, Daniel William	is held as a fugitive from justice. Louisville, Ky. Nov. 13Newell C. Rathbun, who according to the police, has confessed that he planned to defraud an insurance company out of $4,000 pretending that a corpse shipped to Little Rock, Ark., was his own dead body, had admitted, according to the authorities, that the man who accompanied him to the hotel in Jeffersonville, Ind., and was found dead the next day, was Charles Goodman, who is said to have come from Evansville, Ind. Rathbun made the following statement to Chief of Detectives Sullivan: "I admit everything except that I killed Goodman. I meant to kill him, and kept him drunk for the purpose but he died of alcoholism, and I was not forced to make way with him. My story about an accomplice named Blanchard was fictitious. I acted alone and without a confederate." A special from Evansville, Ind., says: "Charles Goodman is little known here. About a year ago he induced Jake Schneider, 16 years old, to accompany him on a tramp. They were gone some months and then returned here. Goodman got drunk, fought an officer and was sent to jail. After his release nothing was heard of him till last Friday, when Schneider got a letter from him at Louisville, asking the boy to go on the road with him." Goodpaster, Mrs. Richard	Died—About the beginning of the present year, Richard Goodpaster left here for Geuda Springs, Kansas on account of his failing health. On Monday of the last week his wife was stricken down with heart disease and lived but a few minutes. She was a Miss Dooley, of this county, and was twice married. In 1853 to I. M. Johnson, to whom were born six children, five of whom are living. In 1871 she married Mr. Goodpaster of this marriage one child. Miss Lida survives. The many friends of the deceased in this section will attest to the many virtues of the deceased and will join with us in sympathy.

Goodpaster, Noah	Wilson.
	Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson died at her home on Winn Avenue in this city Monday, January 9 th . The remains were buried the following Wednesday in our cemetery after services by Elders J. W. Harding and T. Q. Martin. Mrs. Wilson was a native of Bath county.
	Her maiden name was Sharp. She was married to her first husband, Noah Goodpaster, in 1833. He died in 1877. They were the parents of 14 children, Justice F. F.
	Goodpaster, of this city being one of them. The other living children are, Mrs. Julia Gilvin, of Bath county, Mrs. Josephine Cox, of Nicholas county, and Mrs. Mollie Saddler, of Oklahoma. Her second husband, Mathew Wilson, was of about the same age as herself. They moved to this city thirteen years ago. Mr. Wilson died two years ago. Mrs. Wilson was a remarkable woman for her age in vigor and intellect. She was a good woman and we know of nothing better that can be said of anyone.

Gordon, Jesse Gordon, Jesse E.	Death of E. T. Woodward. Edwin Taylor Woodward died at an early hour Thursday morning, June 22 nd , at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Ramsey, on East Broadway, of brain trouble, in his eighty-third year. He was a native of this county and the last of a family of four children. He was for many years a merchant of this city, and afterward being connected with the late Jesse Gordon in the shoe business. In 1872 he moved to Tipton, Mo., where he remained for ten years, when he returned to this county, where he has since lived. His wife, who was Miss Mary Haggard, a daughter of Martin and Sallie Haggard, died in Missouri in 1873. He leaves a son, James Woodard, and a daughter, Mrs. Jesse A. Ramsey. He was for sixty years or more a consistent member of the Baptist Church, and was always regarded as a just and upright man and, one of our best citizens. The remains will be interred in the cemetery at this place at ten o'clock this morning; services at the grave by Revs. Richard French and B. B. Bailey. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, June 23, 1899. The sufferings of Jesse E. Gordon culminated in his death Wednesday evening at his home near this city. At the time of his death he was in his 59 th year and a large part of his life had been devoted to the welfare of his fellow men. He was twice elected County Clerk and performed the duties of the office with signal ability. For many years
Gordon, Jesse E.	he had been an officer in the Baptist church and his death will be a severe blow to that organization. Clark county has produced few better men and in his death loses one of her most valuable citizens. The funeral services were held at the family residence and were conducted by Rev. T. C. Stackhouse and Dr. Wm. Steward. The funeral procession was the largest ever seen in our city, a fact which attests the hold he had on the affections of our people. He leaves a wife and four daughters to mourn his loss, to whom goes out the profound sympathy of the whole community. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 7-25-1888 Jesse E. Gordon, John E.	John E. Gordon, a native, and for many years a prominent citizen, of this county, died last Thursday at his home in Lexington of pneumonia. The burial took place in the family graveyard at Pilot view on the following day. The deceased was born near Pilot View in this county in 1827. Early in life he engaged in the livery business here, owning the stable on Fairfax street, now known as Miller's stable, and operating a line of stage coaches and transfer wagons between Lexington and Mt. Sterling.
	Later he engaged in mercantile pursuits with varying success, having his seasons of prosperity and adversity in common with the rest of humanity. Many years ago he moved to Lexington, making that his home to the end.
	In his business and social relations, he was a true man, honorable in his dealings and devoted to his family.
	He is survived by his third wife who was originally Miss Bettie Spillman. At the time of their marriage she was Mrs. Chiles. The surviving children are Mrs. Geo. M. Adams and Mrs. Jno. E. Garner of this city; Mrs. B. W. Turner, of Richmond; S. B. Gordon, of New York and Drs. R. Lee and J. Ed Gordon, of Lexington. Four brothers also survive, Louis, Frank, Thomas and Ryland Gordon, all of this county.

Tuesday about noon, at a negro assignation house in Louisville. An anonymous note had warned Gordon of his wife's intimacy with Brown and he followed the guilty couple to the assignation house. A short time after their arrival Gordon came and going upstairs pistol and shot his wife twice. She ran down stairs and fell dead. Gordon was arrested and lodged in jail. He is much prostrated and fainted several times. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide and public opinion justifies Gordon. Both parties belong to the best families. Brown was the oldest son of Gov. Brown and a grandson of Gov. Dixon. Mrs. Gordon was a daughter of Mrs. Cornelia bush, formerly State Librarian, and Gordon was for many years proprietor of the Kentucky Hotel at Frankfort. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, May 3, 1895 Fulton Gordon Admitted to Bail Louisville, Ky., May 2—Late Wednesday afternoon upon application of Fulton Gordon's attorney's, Police Judge Thompson reversed the action of Special Judge Smith in refusing to release the prisoner on bail. Judge Thompson fixed the bail at $3000 in each case, which was promptly furnished, and Gordon was released. It is believed Gov. Brown will not prosecute him for killing Arch Brown. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, May 3, 1895

	Probably no case in Kentucky for a long time attracted so much attention as the killing of Gov. Brown's son and Mrs. Nellie Gordon at Louisville by the latter's husband, Fulton Gordon. Gordon was tried and Thursday was acquitted by the examining court. The verdict meets with almost universal approval both here and elsewhere. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, May 14, 1895
	The Louisville Grand Jury, after a full investigation, refused to indict Fulton Gordon for the murder of his wife and Arch Brown. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, May 28, 1895
Gordon, Mrs. Kate	Resolutions of Respect The Sugar Ridge Woman's Missionary Society in a meeting held January 23, 1892, adopted the following resolutions upon the death of MRS. KATE GORDON, which occurred on the 6 th inst.
	Resolved. That in the death of this excellent Christian woman this Society has lost one of its most consecrated workers. 2 nd . That though we mourn our loss we question not the goodness of the Master. 3 rd . We commend her example to others, for though seldom present at our monthly meeting, she gave willingly of her time and means to promote the Missionary cause. 4 th . We extend to the bereaved family our tenderest sympathies and commend them to the tender Shepherd's care, upon whom she leaned so sweetly, even in the valley of the shadow of death, and reared no evil. 5 th . That these resolutions be spread upon our Memorial Book and a copy sent to The Winchester Democrat for publication. Miss Alice Ramsey Mrs. Fannie Tanner.

	In Fayette Circuit Court; Anthony Duncan was sentenced to death for the murder of Dr.
	Gorham a few months ago. The murderer received the verdict with stolid indifference. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, February 18, 1891
	When the Lexington jury in the case of the negro Duncan charged with the murder of Dr. Gorham retired to their room their first act was to kneel in prayer, after being out a short time they brought in a verdict of guilty with the sentence of death.
	In commenting on this fact the Louisville Commercial says: "As a Kentucky jury prayed fervently for divine guidance in making up their verdict, and then brought in a hanging one, it is reasonable to suppose that the Lord is in favor of capitol punishment of murderers."

Grady, John	Death of John Grady
	John Grady, a well known citizen of this city, died at his home on South Highland street, Thursday evening. He had been for some time a sufferer from locomotor ataxia, from the effects of which he died. He was thirty-six years old and a resident of Madison county until a few years ago, when he moved to this city and engaged in the saloon business on Main street. He was a genial, unassuming man, who made and retained friends and was one of our best citizens. Some time ago he sold his interests on account of his health and for some months had not been in any business. The funeral was preached Saturday morning at St. Joseph's church by Rev. Father Ryan, and the remains were taken to Richmond for interment. He leaves a wife, formerly Mrs.
	Warren, of Madison county, and one child, a daughter, about twelve years old.

Grady, Mrs. Margaret	Mrs. Margaret Grady.
	She is Sixty Years Old, But Has Just Eloped for Her Fourth Matrimonial Venture.
	Lexington, Ky., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Margaret Grady, of this city, 60 years of age, it develops, has run away to Cincinnati to be married to her fourth husband, who it is said, is only 30 years old, the reason of the runaway match was the fact that her son did not favor the nuptials.
	Mrs. Grady's fourth matrimonial venture is a Mr. James Cook, in the employ of the Continental Tobacco warehouse here. Her son, Policeman James Donahue, by her first husband, is 35 years old.
	The couple left for Cincinnati Monday, and it is said they were married there that same day. They have not returned, and it is presumed that they are still there.
	The bride was a Miss Margaret Lavin. She then became the wife of Jas. Donahue, and at his decease married Andy Lavin. He gave way at his death to Mike Grady, and now her fourth venture upon the matrimonial sea has been launched. She is a charming lady and conducts a thriving dry goods store in this city.

Graham, Jennie	Death of John W. Bowren. At this home at Clinton, Illinois, John W. Bowren died of grip complicated with typhoid pneumonia, aged sixty three years. He was a native of this city, a son of Alfred and Elizabeth Bowren. He was in business here for a while with his brother, A. F. Bowren, and during the war was in the Quartermaster's Department with Buell's army. In 1868 he went to Illinois where he has since resided with the exception of a short while in Arkansas. For a while he was in the grocery trade at Clinton and afterward in the shoe business. Most the time, however, he was a clerk and bookkeeper. For many years he was City Clerk, Deputy County clerk, Township Collector and Assessor. He was a Republican for a long time but since the Greeley movement had been a Democrat. In 1872 he married Miss Jennie Graham, a daughter of Judge Graham, of Clinton. She died a few months ago leaving two sons and two daughters. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Magill, of Clinton, Mrs. C. P. Ford, of Kansas, and Henry Bowren, O' Kenney, Ill. Mrs. Catherine Kohlhass, of this city, is a half sister; Mrs. Christopher Parrish was also a half sister. Mr. Bowren will be remembered by many of our older citizens. Graham, Richard	In the year 1785 Richard Graham patented 33,715 acres of land, lying on the waters of Kentucky and Red Rivers. In 1781 he sold 16,125 acres to John Holder, which left him 17, 690 acres undisposed of. Graham died, leaving three children, George, Catherine and George W., the last named being an infant. In 1823 John and Catherine, the two adults, appointed Hon. Chilton Allan their attorney in fact with power to sue and dispose of their undivided two-thirds interest in this land, which he did, reserving one-third in each deed that he made to purchasers. In the year 1854, George W. Graham (the infant), then of age, conveyed this one-third interest belonging to him to Chilton Allan. In 1858 Mr. Allan died, leaving a will in which he devised this one-third interest to his son, W. B. Allan, who died in 1862, leaving as his only heir Chilton Allan, then a small boy, who is now of age, asserting his claim to this land. About 800 acres of his one-third lies in Clark and the rest in Estill. W. D. Jackson, his attorney, will earnestly prosecute the claim, assisted by Col. Jas. Flanagan, of this place, and W. O. Dodd, of Louisville. The suit for possession will be brought in the United States Court. The Clark County Democrat Wed., 8-6-1879

Graham, Tom	Tom Graham, 82, of Brentwood, Tennessee passed away Wednesday, January 11, 2017 at Alive Hospice in Nashville, Tennessee. Tom leaves behind a loving family and many treasured friends. He was born on July 24, 1934 in Bethany, Kentucky, and was the son of the late George Thomas and Josie Lee Hollon Graham. He was the 13th of 14 children born to the couple. He graduated from Wolfe County High School and was voted President of his class all four years. He attended the University of Kentucky and was a member of UK's bowling team. In January of 1954, he enlisted in the US Army and became a Paratrooper in the 11th Airborne Division. He served in Germany and Alaska. Tom returned home to Winchester, Kentucky, where he married the love of his life, Patricia Ann Townsend, on June 12, 1959. Within six years, they had three children whom they taught to "experience life to the fullest." Tom took his family on extensive vacations so they could "see the world." He retired from IBM in 1990 after 32 years of service. In 2006, Tom and Pat moved to Brentwood, TN, where they became members of Clearview Baptist Church and the Clarion Sunday School Group. Tom loved everyone in the Sunday School Group calling them his best friends. He loved life and enjoyed people. He was a consummate gentleman with a renowned sense of humor and clever wit. There is no doubt, he was happiest when surrounded by his children and grandchildren. He especially loved golfing with them. Tom was preceded in death by his brothers, Joe Graham, Edward Graham, Alvin Graham, Henry Ford Graham, Fonzie Graham and Hollon Graham; his sisters, Belle Lockard and Nora Hollon. 	weeks. Henry Grant, aged seventy-seven years. The funeral was preached in that city by Rev. Mark Collis and the remains were brought to this city for interment, Rev W. S. Keene conducting the services at the grave. Mr. Grant lived in this city for many years and by industry and frugality built up a comfortable competence. He afterward bought a farm and lived on it for many years, but sold it and for a number of years had not been in any business. His wife, nee Miss Alexander, died many years ago, leaving one child, afterward Mrs. V. W. Bush. The latter left two children, the only direct heirs of Mr. Grant, Henry G. Bush, of this city and Mrs. Henry Woodford of Mt. Sterling. The Winchester Democrat, Wednesday, February 14, 1894
	Will Book 2, Page 151 Dated: April 25, 1890 Recorded: February 26, 1894
	Will of Henry Grant proved by oaths of J. M. Benton and A. H. Hampton. He leaves a house and lot in Lexington to his sister, Harriet Cook, and also $200 in cash per year to be increased if sickness, etc. renders it necessary. His grandchildren, Lelia Woodford and H. G. Bush, each get one-half the net income of the estate for life, the estate to pass absolutely to their heirs. Should either of the two die without issue the estate to go to the other. Two sections of land in Texas to be sold by the administrator, A. H. Hampton, who is named in the will. V. W. Bush, E. S. Jouett Sr. and J. N. Winn, appointed appraisers.

	We were recently shown several old accounts dated 1840. There was not so much difference in the prices of most things as one would think. Sugar was worth 9 cts. Per pound, chocolate 3 cts.; lead for rifle balls, 81/2 cts.; barlow knives, 10 cts., each; tar was 11 cts., a quart and whiskey 12 cts.; common blue calico, 15 cts. per yard. These things were bought by J. W. Grant who ran a little store. His will was among the papers, in which he left everything to his wife, Hannah Grant, who lived to be one hundred and eight years old. A letter from Grant to his wife at a later day, congratulates her on the fact that he had secured a job in Grant county at ten dollars per month. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 18, 1898

Orant, 19118	Mrs. Grant, an inmate of the Clark county poor-house, is something of a historical character. She is more than one hundred years of age, but is still very spry and active.
	Last Monday she walked from the poor-house to Winchester, a distance of seven miles, in an hour or two, and did not seem to be much fatigued by the exercise. That night she was showing some ladies and gentlemen how the Indians danced their war dances in the 1 mile management and generation and management and olden time, and is said to have moved around with a good deal of grace and agility. She was born in New Jersey, and was brought to this State when young, by her parents. She was subsequently captured by the Indians and retained for some time, but finally succeeded in making her escape. She cooked for General Harrison at Cincinnati when that city was scarcely as large as Winchester now is. She was also a chambermaid on the steamboat on which Andrew Jackson came up the Ohio river on his way to Washington to take his seat as President. She is indeed a remarkable old lady in a great many respects. Whether she is one of the "relatives" of U.S. Grant, deponent saith not,

Grant, William R.	William R. Grant, an award-winning producer of some of public television's most successful programs, died May 15 in Atlanta of complications from pneumonia. He was 72. Mr. Grant, who in 2001 was inducted into the Kentucky Journalism Hall of Fame, spent 28 years working in television after 18 years as a reporter and editor for newspapers in Kentucky, Michigan and California. He won numerous awards over the course of his career, including 13 Emmys and eight Peabody Awards. He was executive editor of the PBS science show "NOVA" and managing editor of the public affairs program "Frontline." He was executive director of science, natural history and features for WNET, the New York City flagship of public television. He produced many of PBS's most popular and critically acclaimed series, including "The American President" and "Stephen Hawking's Universe." His work in print journalism, specializing in reporting on educational issues, also was frequently lauded. He won five awards from the National Council for the Advancement of Education Writing, two Charles Stewart Mott education writing awards and the American Bar Association Silver Gavel. Mr. Grant also was a Nieman Fellow in the prestigious program at 1 0 1 0
	Harvard University from 1979 to 1980. In addition, Mr. Grant was one of the founding board members who launched the Jackson Hole Wildlife Film Festival in 1991. He became chairman of the board in 2002, a role he maintained for a decade, when the board agreed to let him retire only if he remained on the executive committee and maintained his position as chairman emeritus. "Under Bill's leadership, the festival grew to become the most prestigious event of its genre," said Lisa Samford, executive director of the Jackson Hole Wildlife Film Festival, where winning an award is considered the "Oscars" of conservation and nature film. "His impact was indelible and his leadership was very much a reflection of what he was as a human insightful, wry, intelligent and always a true Southern gentleman." But Mr. Grant's proudest achievements came closer to home. In a 2007 interview with WildFilmNews, Mr. Grant said there were only a few things he couldn't live without. "My children and grandchildren are the joy of my life," he said, adding wryly, "That, and my big screen HD television."
	Mr. Grant was born on July 5, 1943, in Winchester, Ky. He was an Eagle Scout was inducted into the Order of the Arrow, the national honor society for the Boy Scouts. He attended the University of Kentucky, initially planning to become a lawyer before he got the journalism bug, and became editor of the student newspaper, the Kentucky Kernel. In 1965, he became the school's first student to earn a master's degree in mass communication. He was named to the University of Kentucky's Hall of Distinguished Alumni in 2005. He started his career during a golden age for print journalism. He worked for The Courier-Journal of Louisville, the Lexington Herald-Leader, the Detroit Free Press and theSan Francisco Chronicle. The reporting and storytelling skills he honed there held him in good stead when he switched to television, working at WGBH, the Boston affiliate of public television, for two years as managing editor of "Frontline" and 10 years as executive editor of "NOVA." He joined WNET in 1997, where he was executive producer for important and well-received public television series and specials, including "Savage Skies," "America on Wheels" and "Knife to the Heart." "He knew all the J-school stuff, and how to drill down," said Tamara E. Robinson, vice president of programs at WNET and Mr. Grant's boss during his years there. "He was very good writer. Coupled with that, he knew his craft as a television producer." Robinson described Mr. Grant as a perfectionist and a voracious reader of history. On the rare occasions when he did not already know a lot about a subject she assigned him to produce a program on, he quickly mastered it and figured out not only the best experts to talk to but the best person to help frame a proposal for a grant. "He was, bottom line, an absolute joy to work with," she said. "His staff adored him, and would kill for him.
	He gave them enough space to be innovative and creative. He also had the most 1	generous heart in the world. If someone was in trouble or needed money, he would

		quietly try to find out how to help that person, and never seek credit. There is much to admire with Bill Grant." When Mr. Grant retired in 2011 and moved from New York to Atlanta, where many of his relatives live, he received an accolade more dear to his heart than any of his professional awards. His older son, Mitchell, noted his dad's retirement on his Facebook page, and concluded, "If I can have a career half as successful as him, I will retire an extremely happy man." Mr. Grant is survived by his wife, Ellen G. Grant of Alpharetta, Ga.; two sons, Mitchell Grant of Boston, Mass., and Rees Grant of Columbus, Miss.; a daughter, Elizabeth Mitchell Grant of Athens, Ga., and two grandchildren, Owen Grant Shalin and Theodore Henry Shalin, both of Marietta, Ga.; a brother, Walter M. Gratz, Chester	AA	Negro killed Not known whether it was an accident or murder — All parties are a bad lot About 8:30 o'clock Sunday night a parcel of negroes were in the back room of Alice Skinner's restaurant in Bucktown when the explosion of a pistol was heard and Chess Gratts fell with a bullet in his breast and died shortly after. The police were on hand in a short while and about two o'clock arrested Dock Rome and Spencer Turner, otherwise known as "Duck Fry," and lodged them in jail. Neither would talk much, but each said the other did the shooting, which they said was accidental. It seems that Spencer Turner and Chess Gratts had taken a drunken white man home and on the way had relieved him of his pistol. They returned to the restaurant and it is claimed that Rome had the pistol in his hand and was snapping it when it exploded killing Gratts. All parties are bad niggers. The dead man had served one or more terms in the penitentiary. Rome has been there twice and when out of that institution spends more than half his time in jail. Turner is a graduate of the penitentiary. Mose Mitchell, who is mentioned as a witness has not been out of the State prison very long. The trial of the prisoners had not been fixed at the hour of going to press. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, November 2, 1909 Brought out for trial Spencer Turner and Dock Rome were brought before Judge Evans Wednesday morning charged with the murder of Chester Gratz. Their examining trial was fixed for the following day and they were remanded to jail. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 5, 1909 Coroner's inquest Coroner Brinegar held an inquest Monday over the body of Chester Gratz, who was killed in Bucktown the previous night. The jury was composed of J.W. Lawrence, R.B. Swope, C.T. Hill, S.D. Humphries, W.M. Kirk and Roy E. Smith. The testimony was somewhat conflicting, but the verdict was that he came to his death from a shot through the body, that the shot was fired by Spencer Turner and that he is guilty of murder. While it did not come out in the evidence it is believed that Gratz and Turner robbed a drunken white man and fell out over a division of the spoils. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 5, 1909 Examining trial Spencer Turner and Dock Rome were tried before Judge Evans Tuesday on the charge
Gratz, Henry		Spencer Turner and Dock Rome were tried before Judge Evans Tuesday on the charge of killing Chester Gratz Sunday night. But little testimony was adduced to show that either one was guilty of murderous intent and if all the parties would tell the truth it would be shown that the killing was the result of an accidental discharge of the pistol in the hand of one or the other of the defendants. Judge Evans evidently did not think there was much in the case as he released Rome on his own bond and Turner on a nominal bond of $150. Graves, Cash	The Innocent Suffer.
	Judge Benton tells that the most painful duty he has had to perform was passing sentence on Cash Graves at Richmond last week after a jury had given him two years in the penitentiary for mule stealing. Graves is a man of some education and attainments and of splendid appearance. His career in Madison county as a free booter has been as thrilling as that of the James boys in Missouri. He is now sixty years old and his headquarters were originally out in the Red Lick country on the southern side of Madison county. More than a quarter of a century ago he was sent to the penitentiary from Madison county for killing a fellow man. Before his term expired he escaped from the penitentiary possibly at the time several desperate convicts escaped and when surrounded in a cornfield in Fayette county, fought with such desperation that several of their pursuers were killed, and all the convicts who were engaged in the fight were left dead on the ground. It is not believed that Cash Graves participated in that though one of his brothers was considered the leader of the convicts and was killed in the battle.
	Cash Graves returned to his old haunts on Red Lick and married a young woman there about seven years ago. It was charged in the indictment under which he was tried at

Dishmond that on the All of March 1907 he stale a mule. The two also of the mule ruses Richmond, that on the 4th of March, 1897, he stole a mule. The tracks of the mule were followed until they reached a creek near his house and then disappeared. His pursuers learned that he had crosses the Kentucky River at the mouth of Tates Creek, and the mule was, in October 1898 located near Shelbyville. It developed on the trial of the case that in the fall of 1896 and spring of 1897, Cash Graves had at his brother Tom's, who then lived in Anderson county, quite a number of mules which he was selling out to the neighboring farmers. Capt. J. J. Peel, a peace officer of Jessamine, undertook to run down Graves. At one time, in 1898, the officer came upon him near Clay City in Powell county and presenting a double barreled shot gun demanded that Graves throw up his hands, but Graves fell to the side of his horse fired a pistol shot at Peel and made his secape. A few nights later the officer fell in with Graves in the Big Hill country in Madison county at midnight recognized him and say that Graves was leading a horse that the officer had for several days ridden in his search for Graves. The officer again demanded his surrender, but again Graves got in the first shot and made his escape. He then went to Indiana and finally to southwestern Missouri. Now comes the pathetic part of the story. In 1897 Hugh Collier was elected Sheriff of Madison county. It is the boast and pride of the Sheriffs of that county that no man has ever successfully evaded them and Collier openly announced that he intended to capture Cash Graves. Two years ago Collier located Graves in Vernon, Missouri, procured a requisition for him and sent his brother R. W. Collier, to get him. When the Sheriff of the Missouri county was seen and requested to arrest Graves, he at first refused to do it, saying that Graves had lived in his county for three years, had led an exemplary life and was as good a citizen as the county contained. The Sheriff was finally induced to make the arrest. Graves' wife and three young children were with him. He was broug and they too cried: then the strong man, the criminal broke down, and when the Judge passed sentence on him there were no dry eyes in the court room. It was the clearest case of the innocent suffering for the misdeeds of the wicked that had been witnessed in that court room, and the like of which the Judge hopes he will never see again.

	Burst Of Applause When The Judge Acquitted The Wife Of Killing Her Husband Georgetown, Ky. During the examining trial of Mrs. Ellen Graves, charged with killing her husband, Squire Hamrick was introduced to show her purpose in hunting him was not murder. He said she had asked him to help her search and he had gone to the saloon at her request. Vic James testified that the husband knocked defendant down a year ago. When County Judge Yates in an opinion full of pathos dismissed the defendant for lack

Graves, John	After Many Years. A dozen or more years ago, A. L. Kirby shot and killed a man named Graves in Madison county, and fled without being arrested. He went to Fresno, California, and under the name of Green, became a prosperous farmer. His arrest and detention were brought about in a peculiar manner. He has a sixteen-year-old daughter, and a Jap, whom he had employed as a foreman, committed an outrage upon her, for which he was arrested. In some manner, it seems, the Jap had become acquainted with Green's or Kirby's former residence in Kentucky and the crime with which he was charged, and he soon let his former employer know that if he was prosecuted for rape, he would inform the authorities of his crime in Kentucky. Kirby did not listen to the Jap's proposition, and the latter carried out his threat, with the result that the authorities communicated with Sheriff Colyer and found that Kirby was really wanted there for murder. The Jap was recently sentenced to the California State prison for his crime, and Kirby is in jail awaiting extradition. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, September 13, 1901.
	After Many Years A.L. Kirby, charged with killing John Graves, in Madison county, twelve years ago, was acquitted at Richmond. After the killing Kirby changed his name and went west where he married and grew rich. He was discovered by accident last summer and brought back. The Winchester Democrat Tue., Dec. 10, 1901

Greathouse, Clarence P.	Kentuckian By Birth.
	The Death of Gen. Clarence P. Greathouse at Victoria, B. C.—His Exciting Experiences in Corea.
	Louisville, Ky., Nov. 17.—Clarence P. Greathouse, whose death was announced in Thursday's Oriental advices from Victoria, B. C., was a Kentuckian by birth and lived in Versailles up to the time of his appointment as consul general at Yokohama during President Cleveland's first administration. Greathouse's relatives have as yet no news of his death further than that conveyed to them by Thursday's press dispatch. They did not credit the report of Greathouse's critical illness published in the newspapers three weeks ago because several times before dispatches from San Francisco have reported the death of Greathouse or his mother, who, a few days later, would cable that they were in good health.
	During his service as consul general at Yokohama Mr. Greathouse had so greatly assisted Ni-Kung, the king of Corea, by giving him helpful advice, that the king urged him to accept the created office of "Ho-Pang," which it is said, would correspond in civilized monarchies to the position of prime minister. Mr. Greathouse resigned his consulate in 1890 to accept the office tendered by the Corean king and went to Seoul to live.
	His career in that country was one of constant excitement and many times his head was in great in operaty. During the violent disturbances in Corea in 1804, which culminated in great jeopardy. During the violent disturbances in Corea in 1894, which culminated in the assassination of the queen in her chamber in the palace by a mob, Mr. Greathouse was appointed to investigate the murder of the queen, it is said, caused the arrest of several of the murderers, who were adjudged guilty and beheaded.
	"Gen." Greathouse, as he was called by the king, was a strong factor in the development of Corea and the king is said to have been in hearty sympathy with the progressive views of his Yankee ally, favoring the building of railroads, the development of the mines, the opening of the ports to foreign commerce and the teaching of English in the Corean schools. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, November 17, 1899

		Green, Jr. He had moved from South Carolina to attend Southeastern Christian College and was, at that time employed by Bundy Tubing, Inc.
		J.B. and Betty had two children; Cindy and Brian. The two provided a safe and secure home for their family, that was filled with love, laughter, and endless support for each other and their children. Their highest priority was to raise their family with a Biblical worldview, naming the Bible as the only true source of absolute truth. This while guiding each child towards developing their own personal relationship with Jesus Christ.
		Betty was a skilled seamstress. She enjoyed crafting of every kind and could reproduce anything she liked, always making it better. She could paint, crochet, knit, cook, decorate and figure out a way to do anything she needed. She was a very sharp thinker, along with being a very devoted wife and mother. She lived a long, blessed life, both always involved and supporting the local church, which they both considered a high priority as they raised their family. They both, most recently, enjoyed attending Christview Christian Church and were very faithful until Betty was diagnosed with leukemia at Christmas, in 2018.
		Her tireless giving of love and support for her husband and children continued up until her passing on Valentine's Day, appropriate for a life well-lived, in love.
		Betty Green is survived by her husband, James B Green, Jr., and two children; Cynthia C. (Cindy) Farmer, husband, William R. (Rod) Farmer, and Brian D. Green and wife, Alicen J. Green. She had seven grandchildren: Elessha D. (Esh) Campbell and husband, Dr. Charles F (Chas) Campbell, Brian D. (Bub) Farmer, Kelsey M. McFarland, husband, Jordan L. (Tyler) McFarland, Jacob H. Green, Zachary C. Green, Bradyn N. Green, and Emily F. Mencias.
		She was also blessed with three great-grandchildren; Alaina K, (Laineybug) McFarland, Tylee A. Green, and Maya J. Craig.
		In addition, Betty was preceded in death by her Father, Reverned Benjamin D. Rake, her mother, Sarah Louise Rake, and her brother, Revernd Ben Rake, who is survived by his wife Linda Rake. Visitation will be Tuesday, Feb. 23, 2021, from 11 a.m. until the hour of service in 1 p.m., at Rolan G. Taylor Funeral Home. Burial in Clarmont Memorial Gardens, Mt. Sterling Rd. Rolan G. Green, James AA	A Strange Coincidence
	A year of two ago the colored people of the city were startled and greatly alarmed by what was, to say the least, a very remarkable coincidence. James Green, a well-known member of one of the colored churches, was tried before an ecclesiastical tribunal on a charge of adultery. His guilt was clearly proved, and he made many promises of amendment, supplementing these avowals with the solemn wish that God should paralyze him the moment the offense should be repeated. By a strange coincidence his imprecation was literally fulfilled, and he was paralyzed. Since that time until his death, which occurred Sunday, he has been looked upon as a man who bore visible marks of the wrath of God. His wife obtained a divorce from him and he was shunned and feared by most of the colored population.

Green, Jane Waller Hylton	Jane Waller Hylton Green, widow of Ecton W. Green, Jr., passed from this life on December 14, 2021. She was born in Winchester to Homer and Anna Braxton Waller, who predeceased her. Her brilliance was undeniable. She graduated valedictorian of the Clark County High School in 1947 and attended both Kentucky Wesleyan College and the University of Kentucky. She blazed a trail for working mothers and professionals who would take nontraditional routes to business success. She was an executive officer of Delta Natural Gas Company for over forty years and served on the Delta Board of Directors and Powerline Construction Company as an officer and board member. During and after her professional career, our astute, gracious mother dedicated herself to creating opportunities for women in the workforce.
	She was a member of the First United Methodist Church where she served on the Administrative Board and the Board of Trustees. She was a charter member of the Clark County ALTRUSA service club, a member of the Hart Chapter of the DAR and the Clark County Democratic Women's Club, and served on the Board of Winchester Municipal Utilities. No person could better prepare to call, conduct, and report an organization's board meeting than our mother. She loved working in service of the people who and entities that she valued, and her skills as organizer, orchestrator, and officer were unparalleled. The center of her world was her family. She cared for her elderly parents and raised women of strength and character. She encouraged her grandchildren to live rich lives full of fun and purpose. Whether it was enjoying a sunny afternoon on the golf course, a road trip with her daughters' families, or a brunch at home with Ale-8 in champagne flutes and bacon gravy, there was always time for family, an abundance of laughter, and space beside her to get your arm scratched or your back rubbed. Our mother anchored this family, and we cherish the legacy she created for us.
	She was predeceased by her brothers John M. Waller and Homer Lee Waller. She is survived by her daughters, Garnett Hylton Davis (Dr. William), Julia Hylton Adams (Steve), and Charla Jane Hylton, and her grandchildren, William S. Davis, Jr., Elizabeth Davis Morton, Rebecca Davis Upperman, Andrew Hampton Davis, Cole Adams Maier, and Lisle Hampton Adams, and her thirteen (13) great-grandchildren. Her sister, Sue Cole Waller Seale, of Alabama is left to cherish her memory along with Teresa Green Kincaid, Ellen Green, Jim Green, and the friends who became family, especially those who loved her as "Aunt Jane" or "Granny Jane."
	Services will be conducted at the First United Methodist Church on December 20 at 11:00 a.m. with Dr. William S. Davis officiating. Grandsons will serve as pallbearers. Visitation will be at the church and begin at 9:30 a.m. COVID protocols, including masking, will be observed. Please enter the church through the back door located on Wall Alley. Burial will follow the service at Winchester Cemetery. Scobee Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

	Green Will Hang
	Lexington is to have another legal execution. The jury impaneled to try the case of the Commonwealth against George Green, colored, charged with shooting and killing his wife, Annie Green and her step-father, Henderson Wakes, brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, and fixed Green's punishment at death. The double murder for which Green will hang was committed there last May. Annie Green was shot while I	lying in bed asleep in her step-father's house and Henderson Wakes was killed while coming down stairs in his house to investigate the shooting that had killed his daughter. After the killing Green attempted to suicide by shooting himself in the head. The jury was out but six minutes. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 17, 1895 George Green, the negro who killed his wife and her stepfather at Lexington last May, was found guilty Wednesday and his punishment fixed at death. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 17, 1895

	Henry Smith to Hang The Lexington juries have decided to remove the stigma applied to Kentucky juries, that they dare not inflict the death penalty, about ten days ago after deliberating a few minutes, the jury decreed that Geo. Green should be hung for the murder of his wife and her step-father, Friday, in less time, a jury decreed that Henry Smith should be hung for a rape committed on Mrs. Hudson, an aged white woman. Both the condemned men are negroes and committed the crimes under circumstances of great brutality. N. A. Nichols, formerly of this county, was foreman of the latter jury. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 24, 1895
	Will Appeal the Case The attorneys for the negro Green recently sentenced to death in Lexington, made a motion for a new trial which was overruled. His attorneys, two colored lawyers, say they will carry the case to the Court of Appeals and afterward to the Superior Court of the United States. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, September 27, 1895
	The Court of Appeals has reversed the case of the negro George Greene, of Lexington, who was sentenced to be hung Nov. 29 th , for the murder of his wife and her stepfather. The higher court says incompetent testimony was allowed to be introduced and a new trial is ordered. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 6, 1895
	The second trial of Geo. Green, the Lexington negro for killing his wife, Annie Green was finished Thursday. The first time he got a death sentence. The Court of Appeals reversed this and on the second trial he was sent to the pen for life. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, February 4, 1896

Green, Thomas Marshal	AA	Death of Thos. M. Green.
Orcen, Thomas Marshar		Thomas Marshal Green, one of the best-known men in the state, politician, editor and newspaper correspondent, died in Danville Thursday evening at 6 o'clock of acute diabetes.
		He was a frequent contributor to newspapers and it was over one of his articles that the duel occurred between him and State Senator Lew Baldwin on Main Street in Lexington several years ago, in which Baldwin was killed. He used a great deal of vituperative rhetoric and invective in his writings, and consequently trouble grew from them. He was Presidential Elector in 1857 and again in 1868. He was challenged while a student at Center College to a duel, which he readily accepted, being a man absolutely without fear. He chose bowie knives and his adversary thereupon withdrew his challenge. It will be recalled that he and the late Judge Thomas F. Hargis had trouble over an article Green published concerning his (Hargis's) election to the Supreme bench of Kentucky.
		He was a member of the famous class of 1855 of Center College, in which the following noted men graduated: W. C. P. Breckinridge, ex-Governor John Young Brown, ex-Governor Thom T. Crittenden, of Missouri, Boyd Winchester, Judge Thomas Z. Morrow and others. He had been in the Internal Revenue services for the past 11 years. He is survived by his widow, who was a Miss Craig, of Danville, and nine children. The deceased moved to Danville 12 years ago from Maysville.

Greene, Rush C.	OBITUARY
Greene, Sarah J.	Rush C. Greene Death, in whatever form it may come, always brings with it more or less of sadness, reminding us of our own mortality, and of the great debt which sooner or later, we shall be called upon to pay, each for himself, but this sadness is greatly enhanced in the case of one who, in the full flush of an early manhood, and in all vigor and promise incident to this period, with a prospect of great usefulness opening up before him, is suddenly called to pass away from the scenes and associations of earth. Thus. It is with feelings of no ordinary sorrow and regret that we are called upon to chronicle the early death of our friend, Rush C. Greene. It was writers privilege to know him somewhat intimately, and he can without flattery, bear the most unqualified testimony to the purity of heart, sincerity of purpose, fidelity as a friend, affection and kindness as a son and brother, and the constant and unflinching adherence to the principles of truth and virtue, which marked the character of this young man. These traits together with his pure and noble generosity made him the loved companion among those who were his associates, and now that we are called upon to mourn his loss, we feel that he passed away with the confidence and respect of all who knew him. But whilst it is a comfort to his surrounding friends thus to contemplate his character, they may be cheered and solaced most of all in the reflection that he died in the Christian faith, and, thus, while our grief at his loss is great, we "sorrow not as those who have no hope." Having committed his soul to Him that judgeth righteously, he manifested no fear in meeting the "King of Terrors," but came to his end calmly and peacefully after weeks of patient suffering. Truly, "Death loves a shining mark." While we mourn his loss and cannot but grieve over his early death, we can emulate his virtues and take comfort from the hope of a blessed reunion in that land of peace and joy, where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary be at rest. Five years ago two rival merchants, Henry Woods and Thomas Gregory became involved in a difficulty, when Woods was killed by Gregory, who was tried and acquitted on the ground of self defense. Shortly after his acquittal, Gregory was on the streets of Manchester under the influence of whisky, and he was armed with a pistol and Winchester rifle. He said that he had killed Woods and was not afraid of any of the surviving members of that family. Gregory Woods aged twelve years, a son of the man killed, procured a pistol and killed Gregory. On account of the boy's age sympathy was with young Woods and at his trial shortly after the killing, the jury stood eleven for acquittal and one for a short term in the penitentiary. The case was called last week and a jury from Owsley county summoned. A verdict was returned giving the boy a life sentence. He is now seventeen years old but is large for his age. Gresham, Walter Q.	Death of Secretary Gresham Another change has taken place in President Cleveland's Cabinet this time by the hand of death. Secretary of State, Walter Q. Gresham, died Monday after a short but severe illness. He was a remarkable man, and in turn belonged to different parties without losing consistency or respect. He was a member of President Arthur's Cabinet as Postmaster General and Secretary of the Treasury. He was at various times spoken of as the Republican candidate for President and was offered the Presidential nomination later by the Populists, but declined. When Harrison was nominated he bolted and worked for Cleveland and was made Secretary of State, a position he filled with credit to himself and country. No official mention will be made as to his successor until the funeral ceremonies are concluded, but the papers seem to think the place will be tendered to W. C. Whitney, Secretary of the Navy under Cleveland's administration. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, May 31, 1895

Terrible Feud Outbreak.

Five Men Reported Killed in Clay county Ky.—War Between the Philpot and Morris

Louisville, Ky., July 18.—A special from London, Ky., tells of a report reaching here of the outbreak of another feud in Clay county by which five men lost their lives Monday. The dead are said to be: Robert Philpot, Ed Fisher, Aaron Morris, Jim Griffin and Hugh Griffin.

These fatalities resulted from a pitched battle fought near Little Goose creek, three miles of Manchester.

The feud dates back nearly two years. On Christmas, 1897, James Philpot was killed by Aaron Morris, but before he died he shot and killed Wm. Bundy, a friend of Morris. The Morris and Griffins were closely affiliated. Since then the feuding between the two factions has been very bitter, and it has been aroused recently by the White-Baker hostilities.

The Philpots, who are the strongest faction in the mountain numbering about 750 voters, openly espoused the cause of the Bakers, White, the Griffins took sides with the Whites. The story that reaches here from Manchester is to the effect that Bob Philpot was arrested Monday morning by Deputy Sheriff Wash Thacker. While very circumstantial, in other respects the report does not show clearly the origin of the trouble nor give the reason for Philpot's arrest.

It is said that while Thacker was taking Philpot's bond, the latter was shot from behind by a member of a crowd that had gathered. This precipitated a general fight with Winchesters and revolvers, which was participated in by George, Granville, Robert and Peter Philpot and Ed Fisher on one side and Aaron Morris, Hugh, Jim and Green Griffin on the other.

The battle began about 9 o'clock and raged fiercely for ten or fifteen minutes. When it was over it was found that the five men mentioned above had been killed outright, three of the belligerents were seriously wounded, while Pete Philpot was the only one on either side to escape injury. Granville Philpot is said to be one of the most seriously wounded. He is a union veteran having lost a leg at Stone river. He is an ex-member of the Kentucky legislature and is said to have killed three or four men.

Ed Fisher, who is reported dead, was another man with several nicks in his cane. He was but 23 years old but was said to have killed three men. The story of this battle caused consternation here notwithstanding the fact that serious trouble has been expected to break out among the mountaineers of Clay county ever since the assassination of Tom Baker several weeks ago. An effort was at once begun to secure deputies to go to the seat of the trouble and attempt to restore quiet, but up to a late hour in the afternoon there had not been enough responses to make up a force that would command respect. 	Committed Suicide A week or two ago Boyd Griffith and Elijah Bolin, of Breathitt county quarreled over the weight of a steer. Bolin struck Griffith with a rock, from the effects of which the latter died in a Lexington hospital. Bolin was arrested and on his preliminary trial was held over by Judge Hargis without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. He was sent to jail and a few hours afterward took a large quantity of morphine from the effects of which he died. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Oct. 2, 1903

	Found Morphine In The Dead Child's Stomach, and Mrs. Griffith Is Held Without Bail Lexington, Ky.
	Mrs. Etta Griffith, wife of Nolan Griffith, charged with the murder of her 15-month-old baby daughter, was held for the grand jury without bail. State chemist Peter ascertained, it was claimed, that the stomach of the child contained morphine. It also developed during the trial that the mother had purchased a bottle of morphine shortly before the death of the baby, and fragments of the broken bottle containing the poison were found near the house. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Aug. 3, 1906 Young mother Accused of murder, collapsed when murderer marched to his death Lexington, Ky., - As pathetic as was the execution of Thomas Stout in the yard of the county jail, there was a scene enacted on the third floor of the jail building that brought tears to the eyes of even the experienced sheriff and his deputies. As the death march began from Stout's cell to the gallows of, the walls of a young woman were heard by the officers, and Holt was made for a moment to ascertain the origin of the sounds. They were the cries of Mrs. Etta Griffiths, wife of Nolan Griffiths, herself under indictment for the murder of her 15-month-old-babe. Mrs. Griffiths occupied a cell on the third floor, directly overlooking the jail yard, and since the workman began the erection of the scaffold on which Stout was to meet his doom Mrs. Griffiths has been in a state of almost total collapse. As Stout and the guards passed from the jail to the gallows Mrs. Griffiths was removed to the cell vacated by the doomed man in order that she would not see nor hear the drop. Mrs. Griffiths was arrested on a warrant sworn out by her husband's mother, charging her with murder, and the recent grand jury found a true bill against her. Stout was executed for the murder of Sim Lee, committed several months ago. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 4, 1906

	Died in the Asylum Some months ago Mrs. Etta Griffith, who lives in Fayette county, lost her little girl who died rather mysteriously. After the investigation by the Coroner she was arrested and charged with having poisoned it. On her examination she was held over for trial without bail and placed in jail. She became very nervous and since the hanging of the negro, Tom Stout, a few days ago, she has shown symptoms of insanity. She was taken to the Asylum where she died Saturday the result of exhaustion from acute mania. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 11, 1906

Griffith, William	AN exceedingly rare case has just been developed at College Hill, this county, by the CIIIII,	removal of a body which had been buried ten years. Upon examination it was found to be in a well preserved state. William Griffith, a prominent citizen of the above place, died ten years ago. His body was interred in the family garden at his own request, the location being on a rise and very dry. It was the desire of the family to remove the body to the village cemetery, and lay it beside either members of the family who have since died. The coffin was carefully raised and found to be perfectly sound. One end of the box had slightly decayed slightly. But for the blackened condition of the shroud, it would have been difficult to tell but what the body had been just laid away a day previous. This is a very rare case, and sufficiently important to be classed with other miracles out of the ordinary.—Richmond Climax

Griffiths, William	Youth Kills His Father
	Cornetsville, Ky., April 20 William Griffiths, a farmer at Leatherwood, six miles from here, met death at the hands of his fifteen-year-old son, whom he had reprimanded. While his mother was preparing breakfast and his father was asleep, the boy took his father's rifle and, resting it on the headboard of the bed, fired into Griffith's brain. The boy is held in Hazard jail without bond.

Grigalis, Nancye Ruth Haggard Erwin	Nancye Ruth Haggard Erwin Grigalis, 77, adamantly adored wife of Zigurds Edgar Grigalis, passed away on Tuesday, July 31, 2018 following a long-term illness but comforted throughout by loving family and friends.
	A native of Pilot View, KY, she was born on July 16, 1941 to the late Clarence W. and Mae Belle Leach Haggard. A 1959 graduate of Clark County High School, she resided in Lexington, KY and attended Ashland Avenue Baptist Church and Ephesus Baptist Church in Winchester, KY.
	Above all else, Nancye Ruth had no greater love than for God and family. Always ready to tell a story related to family heritage and relatives she was a loving wife and homemaker who adored her children. Unwaveringly patriotic and always proud of the long family tradition of military service dating back to pre-Revolutionary War era. Nancye and Zig were active historical preservationists dedicated to the restoration of homes and farms in upstate New York, Philadelphia, and especially the Lexington and Frankfort area. In 2006, Nancye and Zig were recognized by Kentucky Trust for Historic Preservation for the restoration of the Governor William Owsley House and John Goodman House, Frankfort, KY. Additionally, she was a former PNC bank employee and long-time office manager for Grigalis Group Architects.
	In addition to her husband, she is survived by three children; Lieutenant Colonel (USA, Ret.) John (Larisa) Moore Erwin II, Jeffrey Wayne Burke Erwin and Nancye Carol Erwin; and three granddaughters, Lucia Marcella Erwin, Lauren Elizabeth Lovett, and Regina Theresa Erwin; five grandsons, John Moore Erwin III, James F. Lovett III, Joseph Michael Erwin, Preston Stephen Charles Erwin, and John Vincent Erwin; three sisters, Lieutenant Colonel (USA, Ret.) Ann (the late Charles) Delaney Eckels, Helen (the late Ernest) Joyce Manley, and Dorothy (Ray) Carol Cavender; two brothers, Tandy (the late Joyce) Young Haggard and Paul (Carol) French Haggard; beloved former daughter-in-law, Theresa Marie Arcuri and former son-in-law, James F. Lovett, II; numerous cousins, nieces and nephews; three stepsons; six step grandchildren; and many beloved and cherished friends.
	Along with her parents, she was preceded in death by her first husband, John Moore Erwin, Sr. of Ashland, KY, and brother, Harold (Donna) Blaine Haggard of Fort Mill, SC.
	Services will be held at 1:00 pm, Tuesday, August 7, 2018 at Scobee Funeral Home. Brother Dale Hanson, Elk Lick Baptist Church, Lewisburg, KY and Brother Todd Rader, Ephesus Baptist Church, Winchester, KY will officiate the service with burial at the Winchester Cemetery. Celebration of life with family and friends to immediately follow at Ephesus Baptist Church. The family would like to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to the members of Ephesus Baptist Church.
	Visitation will be Monday, August 6, 2018 from 5:00-7:00pm at Scobee Funeral Home.
	In lieu of flowers memorial donations may be made to the Lupus Foundation of America (www.lupus.org).

	Death of Mrs. Collingsworth. Mrs. Frazer Collingsworth died May 22 nd , at the home of Woodson Owen at Missouri, of cancer, aged eighty-four years. She was originally Miss Frances Rainey, a native of this county. In early life she married Minor Griggs. They lived together until past middle age, and by industry and economy, accumulated a competence. The husband finally sickened and died and Mrs. Griggs, after the conventional time of mourning had elapsed, married William Estis. The angel of death passed that way again, and again Mrs. Estis was a widow. Fully believing that it is not good for either man or woman to be alone, she again stood before nuptial altar, this time with Jas. Ecton. Before many years had elapsed, she followed his remains to their last resting place, but nothing daunted, she again laid aside her widow's weeds, this time at the solicitation of Rev.
	Smith V. Potts. Death is not respecter of persons, and it was not very long before he, too, was gathered to his fathers, leaving a disconsolate widow. Still convinced that marriage is not a failure, and longing for the strong arm of a younger husband to support her declining Frazer Collingsworth, a young man who worked for her. For various reasons this marriage was not a happy one, and the groom left after squandering much of his wife's possessions. She shortly afterward obtained a divorce from him and some time ago went to Missouri. It was reported here that she had married again a few months ago, but it is said to be untrue.

Grigsby, L. B.	Col. L. B. Grisby-His Sudden Death in Denver-The news of the sudden death in Denver of Col. L. B. Grisby, of Clark county. It will be remembered that Col. Grisby left for the west a year ago and settled in Denver. During the recent political campaign he conversed the mountain precinct, speaking for Hancock and English. Thus engaged he contracted a severe cold which turned into pneumonia upon which dropsy supervened. He was brought home to Denver, where he lingered for two weeks, when he died. Col. Grisby was in the prime of manhood. He was at one time engaged in the hotel business in this city with General Robinson. On leaving Lexington he took up his residence in Winchester, where he practiced law. He was a politician and a speaker of no mean order. He was a man of generous impulses, a free liver and a free giver. He was calculated to make friends and keep them. In his death the many friends of Col. Grisby in Kentucky have suffered a loss, and Colorado has been deprived of a good citizen and worthy gentleman.—Lex. Press The Clark County Democrat Wed., 11-10-1880

Groom Family	Mr. B. B. Groom, formerly of this and Clark counties, but now of Texas, is in the city, visiting his son, Mr. Harry T. Groom. Mr. Groom used to be one of the leading breeders of short horns in Central Kentucky, and when that industry suffered a reverse he went to the wall and lost his fine fortune. He afterwards went to Texas and started a beef cattle ranch. He is now engaged in the cultivation of wheat in the same State. His company has about ten thousand acres of magnificent land, on which can be raised wheat as fine as any in the country. It is a red wheat and classed as No. 2. The plantation is not far from tide water and the wheat is shipped direct to Liverpool from Galveston, the freight to the English port being no greater than that of wheat shipped from Nebraska to New York. Texas, Mr. Groom thinks, will become one of the greatest wheat growing States

	Admitted to Bail.
	A short time ago we made notice of the arrest in California of A. L. Kerby, of Madison county, who killed a man in that county twelve years ago and fled. He was living in California under an assumed name, and had a family. He acknowledged the killing, but says it was done in self defense. He has made a good citizen since the killing, and much sympathy is felt for him. An officer went to California and brought him to Richmond where he was lodged in jail. Application was made to Judge Scott in this city this week for bail, and he was released on $2,500 bond.

Guerrent, Sr., Rev. Wallace	Rev. Wallace Bullard Guerrant, Sr., 77, went home to be with his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, on Friday, February 16, 2018, surrounded by his adoring family. He was born at the Guerrant Clinic in Winchester, Ky. on January 4, 1941 to the late Dr. Edward Owings Guerrant (1908-1993) and Julia Elford Bullard Guerrant (1908-
	Dr. Edward Owings Guerrant (1908-1993) and Julia Efford Bullard Guerrant (1908-2006).

Wallace graduated from Winchester High School in 1959 then attended Hanover College in Indiana for 1 year. He then transferred to Transylvania University, Lexington, Ky., from which he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1963.

He worked for the State of Kentucky, Epidemiology Department for several years and then moved his family to Springfield, Mo. to attend Central Bible College where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Bible and Theology in 1974. He was ordained into the ministry that same year.

Upon returning to Winchester, he preached in various capacities while managing the billing and insurance office of his father's medical practice.

In 1983, Wallace became interested in opticianry, passed the 2 board exams and opened a retail optical shop along with his wife, Lana (also an optician). He worked as an optician for the next 30 years of his life.

Wallace married Lana Kaye Shearer on June 28, 1963 in Central Baptist Church, Winchester, Ky. They were happily married for 54 years.

Among Wallace's many accomplishments, he was a founding board member of Christ Center in Lexington, Ky. and Registrar for the first Kentucky Faith at Work Conference in 1968. He spent countless hours ministering to the needs of hospital and Hospice patients and preaching at local nursing homes.

Wallace was a long-time member of the First United Methodist Church where he sang in the choir, taught classes, and founded First Spanish Church. He sang with the Winchester Chorale for many years, was a member and chairman of the Kentucky Foster Care Review Board, and President of the Winchester Kiwanis Club, 1982-1983.

Wallace is survived by his lovely wife, Lana, of Winchester, Ky.; one sister, Hattie Lee Guerrant of West Palm Beach, Fl.; three brothers, Edward Owings Guerrant (Coleen) of Fairfield, Ca. Edward Putney Guerrant (Pippi) of Winchester, Ky. and Frederick Wilson Guerrant (Suzanne) of Thomson, Ga.; two biological children, Julia Guerrant Walz (the late Rev. Mark D. Walz, Sr.) and Wallace B. Guerrant, Jr. (Dr. Nancy L Smith Guerrant), both of Winchester, and six adopted children, John Guerrant, Karen Guerrant Embry (Andrew), Kenny Guerrant, Cokie Guerrant, Julio Rodriguez-Guerrant (Kate) and Erick Garcia Guerrant (Allison). Wallace has 31 grandchildren, 5 greatgrandchildren and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins.

Visitation will be Thursday, February 22, 2018 at First United Methodist Church, 204 S. Main St. Winchester, Ky. 40391, from 6-8 pm. Memorial Service will be held at First United Methodist Church on Friday, February 23, 2018 at 11:00 am. Burial will follow at Winchester Cemetery, 625 W. Lexington Ave., Winchester, Ky., "Section K-Woodlawn".

Pallbearers will be Frederick Wilson Guerrant, Barry Wayne Shearer, Dr. Wallace B. Guerrant, Jr., John Guerrant, Julio Rodriguez-Guerrant and Erick Garcia Guerrant. Honorary Pallbearers will be Oliver Franklin "Butch" Shearer, Edward Putney Guerrant, Robert Gaylord Shearer, Kenny Guerrant, Cokie Guerrant, Mark Dixon Walz, Jr., Wallace Bullard Guerrant, III, Michael David Walz, Russell Putney Guerrant, and Matthew Dylan Walz.

University of Kentucky ROTC Army Cadet Daniel Edward Guerrant will escort his grandmother throughout the funeral proceedings.

In lieu of flowers, Lana Guerrant requests memorial donations be made to Common Good, a children's and teen ministry in which Wallace's grandson, Mark Dixon Walz, Jr. is involved. The address is Common Good, 1015 N. Limestone, Lexington, Ky. 40505. Donations may also be made online at http://weblink.donorperfect.com/commongoodlex.

	respected.
	The following is the verdict of the Coroner's jury on the death of Ford:
	We, the jury, identify the body before us as that of Frank Ford, colored, and that from the evidence produced before us came to his death, we believe, by a pistol wound from the hands of Harrison Guest at the residence of Ann Bratton near Donaldson turnpike.

Guest, James "Jim"	James "Jim" Guest, 58, born in Greenville, S.C., and most recently of Washington, Pa., died on Monday, Sept. 5. He was the beloved husband for 34 years to Linda Lee Guest, formerly of Winchester, and daughter of Don and Olive Lee; loving father of Anna Lee Guest-Jelley and Julia Marie Guest; much loved son of Betty Levi Guest Ingram; cherished brother of Mary Lee Thilman; and also is survived by devoted extended family. Jim was proud and privileged to work for 84 Lumber Company for 35 years. A gathering to celebrate his life will be held on Thursday from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Beinhauer Funeral Home, 2828 Washington Road, McMurray, Pa.
	A funeral service will be held on Friday at 11 a.m. in Peters Creek Baptist Church, 6300 Library Road, South Park, PA 15129. Memorial contributions may be made in his memory to the church. Please add or view tributes at www.beinhauer.com .

	On the evening of June the 29 th Mr. Guinn met with the injury that caused his death. He was knocked down by the wheels of a buggy at the crossing near the Post Office. He did not fully regain consciousness afterwards. His life was spent in this county. No man ever lived in the county who bore a better reputation. In the days when it cost something to be a republican in Kentucky he was true to his convictions and remained so to the end. He was married twice. There were ten children by his first wife of whom four are living; by his last wife, who survives, there were six children; four are living. The funeral services were held Monday at Owen's Chapel and the burial at the Tuggle grave yard. Truly a good man is gone. The Sun-Sentinel Thur., July 20, 1905

Gullett, J. D.	The passenger train from Lexington to this place Saturday night crashed into a hand car a few miles West of this city, and killed one man and seriously hurt another. The foreman's watch was several minutes too slow and they were thus unaware of the proximity of the passenger train until too late. The man killed was J. D. Gullett a white section hand who hailed from near Morehead. He was instantly killed, his head and chest being crushed. The man injured was a colored man named Dock Hardy. Coroner Boone held an inquest over the remains of the dead man yesterday, which adjourned until tomorrow. The Democrat Wednesday, March 20, 1889
	The Coroner's jury over the body of J. D. Gullett, the section hand who was killed by as east-bound passenger train on the evening of March 16 th , returned a verdict Thursday after several adjournments. It lays the responsibility of the accident upon J. J. Wells, the section boss. From the evidence it appears that he was drunk, which fact occasioned the trouble. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but he had fled and is said to have fled and is said to have gone to Nashville, Tenn.

Gullick, Wm.	Died At his home in Falmouth Sunday of paralysis, Wm. Gullick, aged 70 years. He left a family, one of the daughters being Mrs. Ewell Renaker, of this city. The Winchester Democrat Tue., April 18, 1899
	The funeral of Wm. Gullick, of whose death we made mention last week took place at his home in Falmouth. The Pendletonian of that city in a notice of his death says: "Mr. Gullick was one of the wealthiest men in the county, owning large landed estates and other property personal and real, all of which he made and accumulated by industrious and frugal habits. He was a devoted husband, a kind and indulgent father, and a faithful and true friend. He was also filled with the milk of human kindness and did much to relieve the distresses of many an unfortunate, and not a few will miss his many liberal acts of charity. He was not a member of any church, but was a believer in an All Wise Father and was a Master Mason." Mr. Gullick was the father of Mrs. Ewell Renaker, of this city. The Winchester Democrat Tue., April 25, 1899

Guloski, Walder Gum III, Paul B	The Winchester Sun Wed., 11-29-1922 Paul Ballengee Gum III, 54, of Winchester, KY and formerly of the Brookline area of
Guin III, Faui B	Pittsburgh passed away on April 5, 2019. He is survived by his devoted ex-wife/friend/companion Charlene Hatton and her grandson Jeremiah Eytcheson, his daughter Ashleigh Hammel, as well his loving parents Paul and Jean Gum of Rockwood, PA, his sister Lorie (Tom), brother Percy (Dulcie), his nieces Tara (Tyler) and Keri (Scott) and his nephew Mike (Emma) plus four great-nephews and his dedicated canine companion Gizmo.
	Paul was a free spirited, hard-working man who lived life on his own terms. As a youth he enjoyed the outdoors and loved camping with family. As an adult, he worked in various trades and was also a cook/chef at several restaurants. He was always appreciated for the quality and dedication to his work and loved showing off his talent with a knife – including carving an apple into a swan. He also had a unique way of quickly striking up new friendships and making himself a key part of the local landscape.
	Over the course of time he lived in Pittsburgh, Norfolk, and Raleigh before landing at his final stop in Kentucky. Paul was mechanically inclined. While in Norfolk (where he met Charlene) he worked with government contractors on numerous naval bases before a short stint in North Carolina where he quickly filled the role of "crazy uncle" with numerous escapades including sneaking out with his nieces and nephew for clandestine rides on the Harley. Following a move back to Virginia, he moved on to Kentucky where he worked in landscaping and served the local apartment complex as a "handy man". It's there that he married Charlene and fell in love with her grandson – Jeremiah.
	Among the constants in Paul's life were his Chevy S10 pickup and three generations of dogs – Timber, Splinter, and his most recent – Gizmo. All three were loyal and well behaved, eagerly following their master from adventure to adventure.
	At Paul's request there will be no formal service though his ashes will be brought back to Western Pennsylvania where we'll share a can of "The Beast" in his honor before sprinkling his ashes near the graves of Timber and Splinter. The family is grateful to the physicians, nurses, and staff of Winchester Hospital for their care of Paul. Any donations can be made to the Clark County Regional Medical Center or the Clark County Animal Shelter both located in Winchester, KY.

	Lewis Eades Charged with Slaying Friend Victim's Body is Found on Kentucky River Bank Bystanders at Scene of Fight Defendant Claims His Children Were Abused. General Gum, 26, ex-convict was stabbed to death late Sunday night on the banks of the Kentucky river opposite Boonesboro bathing beach. Lewis Eades, 40, was arrrested on charges of slaying Gum and was placed in the Clark county jail at two a.m. Monday. Arresting officers were Deputy Sheriffs Harvey Franklin, and Leo Cruse. Eades told the officers Gum had abused the former's children and had broken a window in Eades houseboat prior to the slaying. A large pocket knife was used in the slaying, and Gum's throat was slashed from the right ear to nearly the corresponding point on the other side of his neck. Witnesses said Gum supported himself by a tree limb until he dropped to the ground. Both men, apparently friendly until the fight, resided on adjoining houseboats docked opposite the beach. Officers said Gum and Eades had been drinking prior to the slaying. Several persons were aboard Eades' boat when Eades left and engaged Gum on the banks, officers were informed. Gum's body was found about ten feet from the water. Officers said his knife was found nearby. The knife allegedly used by Eades had not been turned over to the authorities Monday morning. General Gum recently served a term at the state reformatory for stabbing a Clark countian in the back. A few years ago, he served a year in the Clark county jail for stabbing a Lexington college student. William Kleiser, a member of a picnic party. Both stabbings occurred only a short distance from the spot on which Gum died. He had served jail sentences here and in Richmond on numerous other charges. Gum's body was taken to the Scobee and Barlett funeral home. No arrangements for burial have been made. Survivors include a brother, Bull Gum, of Ford, and a sister who resided at Georgetown. Coroner Ben S. Bartlett said an inquest would be held during Eades' examining trial before County Judge Joe S. Lindsay, the date for which has not been set. The Winchester Sun Monday May 16, 1938. 	Eades Freed in Slaying of Gum A warrant charging Lewis Eades with the fatal stabbing May 15 of General Gum, was dismissed at his examining trial Saturday before County Judge Joe S. Lindsay. Eades claimed that he stabbed Gum in self-defense. A coroner's jury which heard the testimony in a joint hearing under Coroner Ben S. Bartlett, returned a verdict stating that Gum died as the result of knife wounds inflicted by Eades. The slaying occurred on the Clark bank of the Kentucky river, opposite Boonesboro bathing beach. The two
