| | | Last week we referred to the barbarous manner in which Bob Jackson, a fifteen-year- |
| | | old negro boy of Waco, Madison county, was hung nearly to death by some white men |
| | | merely for sport. This week Jackson struck an eight year old boy on the head with a slab |
| | | fracturing his skull and inflicting a fatal wound. Perhaps it would have been better had |

Jackson, Ellis Jackson, Ellis Jackson, Ernest Jackson, Everett (Ernest) | AA | The Winchester Sun Tues., 11-19, 11-21, 11-22-1991 Wanted to Marry Durrett Jackson, son of Perry Jackson, of the Bobtown locality, was here Wednesday, claiming to have received divine command to marry a prominent and wealthy young lady of this county. He said that unless he married her there would be a big scandal in Jerusalem. Fancying that Attorney Green Clay stood in the way of the union, he called to see that gentleman, but friends had warned Clay of the fellow's evil design and he avoided him. Strange to say, Jackson has never seen the object of his infatuation, having only heard that she is wealthy. He was tried yesterday and ordered to the asylum, where he has been twice before.—Richmond Register. Jackson, Fannie Jackson, Fannie Jackson, Ford Winford Jr. | AA | The Winchester Sun Tues., 11-19, 11-21, 11-22-1991 Wanted to Marry Durrett Jackson, son of Perry Jackson, of the Bobtown locality, was here Wednesday, claiming to have received divine command to marry a prominent and wealthy young lady of this county. He said that unless he married her there would be a big scandal in Jerusalem. Fancying that Attorney Green Clay stood in the way of the union, he called to see that gentleman, but friends had warned Clay of the fellow's evil design and he avoided him. Strange to say, Jackson has never seen the object of his infatuation, having only heard that she is wealthy. He was tried yesterday and ordered to the asylum, where he has been twice before.—Richmond Register. | | | A sad accident which robbed a widowed mother of her baby, although he was twelve years old, occurred Tuesday night. That day French Gay Jackson, the little son of Mrs. Grant Jackson, went with a number of boys on a fishing excursion to the Kentucky river. In his enthusiasm he went without his breakfast and also ate no dinner. Returning at a late hour, tired and empty, he complained of a severe toothache, for which his mother gave him a small dose of paregoric. They both went to sleep, but about midnight she was awakened by his heavy breathing. Medical aid was summoned and all was done that was possible, but all in vain, and he died about five o'clock next morning. It was found that he had taken more of the medicine during the night, and this added to his exhausted condition and empty stomach, caused a fatal result of what, under ordinary circumstances, would not have been injurious. The funeral services were held at the family residence yesterday afternoon by Rev. H. G. Henderson. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all. |

He said Jackson had apparently been smoking a pipe, and sparks caught the bedding afire. The mishap was discovered by Jackson's son, Charles. When firemen arrived at the scene, the son was trying to extinguish the burning clothing worn by his father. The fire was contained to the bed and nothing else was damaged in the two-story frame house. Charles Jackson told firemen that he was upstairs and did not discover the fire until too late. In addition to the son, survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Savannah Bowell, Newark, N.J. and another son, John Jackson, Covington. THE WINCHESTER SUN. | Jackson, Mrs. Ann C. | Died, in Winchester, Ky., at 6 o'clock a. m. on the 1st day of December, 1871, Mrs. Ann C. Jackson, in the 62 nd year of her age. In the death of this estimable lady a void has been left in the society of which she was an honored member, and in the church of which she had been a member for upwards of thirty years past. In early life she united with the Christian Church, and had ever been a pious and consistent member thereof. Her home, both in her own and in the lifetime of her deceased husband, the late Col. T. T. Jackson, was the abode of a refined and generous hospitality. Her devotion to her church was pre-eminent; she had an abiding faith in the atonement of the Savior, and in the blessed promises and hopes of the Resurrection to come. To her children and her surviving relations and friends she has left a bright example. May they profit by it, and be consoled in the reflection that their loss has been her eternal gain. |

| Jackson, Mrs. William | At Greenup a human devil named Wm. Jackson poisoned his wife, and was aided by his mother in holding the suffering, writhing woman on the floor in her death struggle. A gag is said to have been forced in her mouth by Jackson to prevent her moans of pain and screams beyond the walls of her own house. In this condition, flat upon her back, gagged and held down by the brutal, fiendish husband and his mother, the poor woman died. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, July 3, 1894 |
| | AT Greenup, Saturday, William Jackson was sent to the penitentiary for ninety-nine years for murdering his wife last June. He wanted a divorce in order to marry another woman, and failing in this he effected a reconciliation with his wife, and under pretense of giving her headache medicine he gave her strychnine. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, November 13, 1894. |
| | At Greenup the Circuit Court granted William Jackson, convicted of wife murder and sentenced to the penitentiary for ninety-nine years, a new trial on the ground that one of the jurors in the case had his mind made up when accepted. The juror had openly said that Jackson ought to be mobbed. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, Nov. 20, 1894 |

| Jackson, S. Grant | The death of Capt. J. L. Wheeler brings to mind the fact that death is fast decimating the ranks of the Muckletonian Club, at one time the most prominent hunting and fishing club of the South. It was organized in 1872 with eighteen of the most prominent men of Winchester and vicinity as members. In addition to scores of minor trips they occasionally went on more extensive ones to Florida, Arkansas, the Pacific Slope, etc. These trips were truly days of true pleasure and good fellowship. Not a word of discord ever marred the harmony of their meetings. Col. R. N. Winn was the first President and still fills that position, although the remaining members are so few and scattered that the meetings of late years have been few. The first member die was John J. Eubank, followed in spacescion by Pap P. Goff, S. Grant Leckson, M. G. Taylor, Los. D. Goy. |

| made a joint confession, implicating Dr. Wagner who is now in the Lexington Insane Asylum. The execution was set for Saturday morning, but was postpond for several hours as Jackson that morning had confessed that Walling was innocent. Gov. Bradley was informed by telegraph and said that Jackson would have to give facts and particulars, instead of merely stating his opinion before he would interfere. This Jackson would not do, and in a short while he said this confession was false and only made it to gain time. Before being taken to the scaffold they said the confession implicating Dr. Wagner was false and was made to influence the Governor. They both died game and both, at the last moment, said they were not guilty. A part of their last night was spent in playing cards after which they slept the remainder of the time. Until morning Jackson's body was refused burial at Greencastle, Ind., and his mother had it cremated. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 23, 1897 One of the deputies at the hanging of Jackson and Walling says that Jackson's mother told him to die game and not to tell anything. Many good people allow their feelings to get away with them and they go to see or encourage by their approval such disgusting exhibitions of brutality without thinking of the consequences to the young and thoughtless elements of society. Young Jackson had courage and fortitude of a rare quality and would have been a valuable and successful man could he have been restrained until age had given him better control of his facilities. He died gallantly but in vain, unless it be to teach a lesson which will bring the authorities to a fuller realization of their obligation to suppress every attempt in the future to give such exhibitions. The Winchester Sun February 26, 2016 Clark County Coroner Robert Gayheart has worked countless cases in Clark and Fayette counties during the course of his career. What he witnessed Wednesday evening was something he said he's never seen before. Shortly after 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Gayheart received a phone call from the Clark Regional Medical Center saying they had an unresponsive female child, 11-year-old Whitney Jackson, a fifth-grade student who attended Baker Intermediate School. "Anytime you have a child, you start looking at every angle," Gayheart said. "Myself and Deputy Coroner Sarah Crews, the lead investigator on this case, and Tony Fogle, another deputy coroner, spent a lot of time looking at every angle trying to decide what the cause of death was for this young child." Gayheart said an autopsy conducted Thursday determined Jackson died from severe coronary artery disease, with three vessels 100 percent occluded. "It looks to be a genetic coronary artery disease," Gayheart said. "Most 11-year-old children don't have that type of occlusion without a genetic problem." Gayheart said the case is still ongoing and final determination of cause of death is pending microscopic and toxicology specimens. Gayheart said Jackson's case was extremely rare. "I was glad we were able to find an immediate cause because there's nothing worse to continue to search and continue to search and not be able to find a cause for something so immediate like this," Gayheart said. "This was a very sudden onset of symptoms which lead to her death very quickly. "There's nothing that really could've happened to help prevent this. It was a very acute onset that happened and it was a very short window of time." Gayheart said Jackson began feeling ill shortly after eating Wednesday and laid down before an ambulance was called. Her condition progressed quickly and got worse with each passing second "The hospital worked very diligently and did a great job to do what they could do," Gayheart said. "They were distraught as to what happened to this child." "I've been doing this for a long time," he said. "I worked in the Fayette County office for five years and here in the coroner's office since 2008. I don't think I've every seen a case like that at age 11." It was a situation which was immediately felt throughout Baker Intermediate School, which is home to all Clark County fifth and sixth graders. "I have a 12-year-old at home, my deputy coroner has an 11-year old at home and our other deputy coroner has a child that goes to this school. It's tough," Gayheart said. "My daughter went to school here, this whole school is a family-oriented school." Baker Intermediate School Principal Josh Mounts described Jackson as a sweet, loving and intelligent child. "I was floored by the news," Mounts said. "You don't expect to get that news under any circumstances. She seemed like a normal, happy child and she had never seen our school nurse. It's devastating for both the staff and students here.""You can tell in her 11 years, she touched so many people, friends, family and teachers," Mounts added. "(Thursday) was one of the most difficult days we've had here. To come in and tell your staff and students, it's difficult. She was here one day, and gone the next." Mounts said when he first received information of her passing, he and staff members scrambled to get a plan in place. "We have two excellent counselors here and the district sent counselors from other schools and mental health professionals," Mounts said. "We had between 20 and 30 people here for the kids. We had safe rooms for the kids to talk to an adult and some just needed a hug. It was devastating to our student body and staff yesterday." Mounts said to honor Jackson and to help her family Baker Intermediate conducted a hat day Friday in which students could donate $1 to Jackson's family and wear a hat in her honor. "We raised well over $1,000 (as of Friday morning)," Mounts said. "People have been sending in donations. It's been an outpouring of support and comfort from our kids and this community. Baker Intermediate also set up an account at Winchester Federal Bank to help with funeral costs called the Baker Student Memorial Fund. Any one can stop by the bank and contribute, Mounts said. "She was 11 years old, she was an exceptional child, sweet, caring, loving — and talking with students and staff members yesterday, they said the same thing," Mounts said. "She was so helpful to others." Mounts said one student at Baker mentioned to him how on Wednesday, just hours before her passing, she was helping another student who injured their leg and was in a wheelchair by assisting with their lunch tray and through the lunch line. "I've heard hundreds of little stories like that," Mounts said. "She touched so many people, was a good friend, a smart child and an excellent student. She had excellent penmanship and was a terrific kid all the way around." Crews said Jackson's family was close and are struggling with the loss. "It's a very, very difficult time for them at this time," Crews said. "She lived with her grandmother and they were very, very close. Her entire family was at the hospital on Wednesday. It was a sad day. She was such a beautiful little girl." Gayheart said he was impressed with how the community and kids within Baker and the surrounding Clark County schools have reached out following the news. "I can only speak for my daughter, but I know people are very concerned about wanting to help, are bringing in small amounts of change to help and that speaks volumes about their character," Gayheart said. "It's very touching to see children wanting to help others. "One thing you learn in coroner's work, death has no requirement or age. You see it across the board, from infancy to the very elderly." Jackson's funeral service is set for 1 p.m. Monday at Scobee Funeral Home. Visitation is from 6-8 p.m. today at Scobee. Burial will be at Bluegrass Memorial Garden in Lexington. | | Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.—Col. R. T. Jacob, a picturesque figure during the civil war, |
| | died at his home in this city Sunday. Col. Jacob was 78 years old and was widely |
| | known as the man who saved Kentucky from secession and site as the captor of Gen. |
| | John Morgan. |
| | Col. Jacob's career began with a trip across the plains in 1865. He crossed in time to |
| | join Fremont's command for service during the Mexican war. Returning to Kentucky he |
| | was elected to the legislature as a democrat. The secession question came before the legislature and Col. Jacob created surprise by refusing to vote with the Breckinridge |
| | party, his vote giving a plurality of one for the unionists against secession. When active |
| | hostilities opened Col. Jacob organized the 9 th Kentucky (union) cavalry. He |
| | participated in the smashing of Morgan's raid, and it was to Col. Jacob and his |
| | command that the confederate leader and a number of his followers surrendered. Near |
| | the close of the war Col. Jacob became lieutenant governor of Kentucky. |

| Jacobs, Jim S. | Henry Jacobs, of Lincoln, Kansas, has erected a curious monument over the grave of his son, who was of a roving disposition. He had a stone cut in the shape of an old fashioned traveling satchel. On the plate in the center of each side is the name "J. S." above the name is this inscription: "Here is where he stopped last." Underneath the name is the date of death and his age. The stone is white marble and the base is a big boulder which the father hauled from his farm and rolled on the grave. When questioned as to why he chose such a unique design, the old man said: "Well, Jim he were a sort of a rovin' feller and I allowed that this design would 'bout suit him. He never stopped very long before in any one place. But the last time I see him he were at the graveyard, and I jes concluded that he might stay thar a long while. So I had a sign printed on the stone sayin' whar he war last seen and whar he ought to be now." The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, April 12, 1898 |

| James, Louis | Louis James, a farmer of Crittenden county, became suddenly insane. He blacked his face with paint as a disguise and, dressed only in a torn pair of drawers, barefooted, bareheaded and naked to the waist, took to the woods. For five days he eluded capture by hiding amid the dense undergrowth in the river bottoms, without food. Friday night, almost perfectly nude, he made a raid on the farmhouse of Aaron Johnson and chased the occupants away from home. Johnson secured reinforcements from neighbors and captured the famished man while he was devouring a pan of molasses. James is now dying from exposure and hunger. | Jameson, Robert | CIRCUIT COURT The case of Welsey and William Whitaker was called last week but continued until this week as the counsel had been selected as special Judge and special Commonwealth's Attorney respectively at the Hazard Circuit Court and could not be here. The defendant's were allowed until Monday to get ready and the trial is now in progress. Wesley and William Whitaker, the defendants, are charged with the murder of Robert Jameson, or Robert Deheart, as he was commonly called. The case as stated by the Commonwealth and fairly well supported by the evidence, much of which is circumstantial is about as follows. Several years ago Wesley Whitaker committed a criminal assault on Mrs. Deheart, the wife of the murdered man for which he was indicted. Some time after this Whitaker and Deheart arose from his bed about daylight and as he went out of the door he was shot from a clump of bushes on the side of an adjacent hill. A short time previous to the killing the Whitakers had borrowed a gun from a neighbor and at the same time took a handkerchief of peculiar character from the house. This handkerchief was afterwards found at the place where the assassins evidently stood. Tracks showed that it was done by two persons and it is said that the Whitakers afterward boasted of the deed. There is evidently a lot of first class lying being done by some of the witnesses, and we will not venture to predict the verdict of the jury. Wesley Whitaker is either a very bad man or he has been badly maligned. Several indictments for criminal assault or detaining women, for murder, etc., are found among the records. He was a prominent warrior of the Eversole army during the troublesome times in Perry county and is regarded as one of the most dangerous men in the lot. The Democrat, Wednesday, November 11, 1891. Two indictments were found against Joe Miniard in Laurel county for forgery. Miniard was brought here recently as a witness in the Whitaker cases and it is believed by many that he was their companion when Jamison was killed. When |

| | Wesley and Will Whittaker pardoned by Governor Bradley Among the many pardons that have been granted by Gov. Bradley many have been worse than those granted Monday to Will and Wesley Whittaker. In 1880 Robert Jameson, of Perry county was shot and killed. Those were troublesome times in Perry county, being the height of the French-Eversole war. The officers of the law were either unable or unwilling to execute the law and in a few years a score or two of men were killed. Most of these murders were cold blooded assassinations and but few fell in open encounters. After awhile the violence of this warfare abated somewhat and the Grand jury of that county found a number of indictments. Among those indicted were Wesley Whittaker and his brother Will, the latter but a boy at the time Jameson was killed. As Perry county was just emerging from a state of anarchy and lawlessness, and it was felt that justice could not be meted out either in Perry or neighboring counties, a special act of the Legislature transferred all these cases to this county. Whether or not the killing of Jameson grew directly out of the leading feud, Wesley Whittaker cast his lot with the Eversoles and was a very prominent member of that faction. In consequence, when his trial came up here in the latter part of 1891 the State was assisted by Mr. French, who prosecuted most vigorously. For some reason the Eversoles weakened at a critical moment and the Whittakers were left without support. Without money, in a strange county, with the State and a powerful faction combined on the other side, conviction was not a surprise and a life sentence for both was the result. There was but little evidence against Will and had he asked a separate trial he would have been cleared, but he preferred to be tried with his brother in order to save the latter's life, which he |
|---|---|
| | probably did. The pardon on Will has been expected and desired for several years. |
| | Wesley was a bad man and after conviction he made a full confession to representatives |
| | of The Democrat in which he acknowledged to participating in a number of the murders committed during the reign of terror in that part of the State. As the Whittakers were the |
| | only ones convicted of all those sent here for trial, many have thought that they too |
| | should be allowed to go free. They have improved much in looks since their incarceration and Will has grown into quite a handsome man. They were her for awhile |
| | Tuesday, but left for Owsley county where they will reside. |

David also had two good friends, Douglas Martin and Carl Epperson of Winchester. David's wishes were to be cremated, and his ashes scattered in the waters that he loved. His wishes were fulfilled by his sisters on the evening of March 1, 2013, at Lauderdale by the Sea. He was loved very much, and will be dearly missed by his family and friends. |

| | The Kendall's who shot the Jarvis boys at Georgetown waived examination and the cases will go before the grand jury which is now in session. George Kendall, on of the boys will be remembered here, as he was arrested here a few years ago for steeling a horse in Scott county. The cost was a plain one but his attorneys succeeded in making the jury believe he was insane and he just managed to miss the penitentiary. The old man was here a week or two at the same time. | | THE Kendalls who were confined in the Georgetown jail for the murder of Montgomery and Jarvis, broke jail Monday evening and escaped. They got out through the place where the murderer True sawed the iron bars that guarded the windows. They had been riveted, and with a pen knife and a brick they worked out the rivets. They are heavily armed and say they will not be taken alive. They also say they will finish killing the Jarvis family. The old man Milton Kendall was sick in bed and unable to escape. Crowds of armed citizens are after them, and a desperate fight is expected when they are overtaken. The Democrat, Wednesday, November 11, 1891. |

| Jarvis Heirs | Found the Lease. The Kentuckian Citizen says: "Dr. Current, of this city, after an untiring search for eight months, has at last found the lease in favor of the Jarvis heirs, of Rowan county. Said lease was made in 1800 for a term of one hundred years, and contains about 80 acres of lands in the central and eastern part of Cincinnati, supposed to be worth at least ten million dollars. The Doctor has the power of attorney to sue or compromise, as he wishes, and is to have half for his trouble in hunting the lease. He has engaged the best law firm in Cincinnati to prosecute the case, and will begin at once as they think he is a sure winner." The Winchester Democrat, Friday, August 12, 1898 |

| Jeffries, Samuel | A remarkable family Samuel Jeffries, eighty years of age, who died at his home in Casey county Wednesday, leaving a widow, helplessly paralyzed, eight grown children, and eighteen-seven grandchildren, had a rather interesting remarkable family record. He was married in Russell county many years ago, but for six years and six months after his marriage no child was born in the family. During the succeeding fifteen years, however, he became the proud father of nineteen children. Eleven of the lot were girls. There were seven sets of twins that arrived consecutively and then five singles. Two of the girls married and each of them became twice mothers of twins. |

| Jennings, Rice AA | PIERCED HIS HEART. A Disorderly Man Shot and Killed at Camp Nelson Cemetery. Nicholasville, Ky., May 31Five hundred frenzied Negroes surrounding the body of Rice Jennings and vowing vengeance on Lieut. Moss was the closing scene of the memorial day services at the National cemetery in Camp Nelson Friday. Lieut. Moss had just arrested a white man of the name of Pollard, when Capt. May the keeper of the cemetery, sent a messenger to Moss, asking the arrest of Jennings, who was drunk and firing his pistol. Just as the word reached Moss the Negro passed, and Moss ordered one of the deputies to arrest him. Jennings drew his revolver and defied him. Moss then turned his prisoner over to the deputy, and started toward the negro, who leveled his pistol and snapped it at Moss. Moss drew his revolver and fired at Jennings. The first shot struck Jennings in the left hand and ranged up the arm. The second shot from Moss' pistol struck Jennings in the arm, and the third pierced the heart. Lieut. Moss immediately surrendered to County Attorney Mitchell, and was placed under guard. Jennings home is in Lancaster. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, June 6, 1902. |

| | A most interesting and complicated case occupied the attention of the Court a day or two this week, F. Bush Hodgkin acting as special Judge. The administratrix of the late Hiram Jett sued Allen Griggs upon a note of $200 which is said to have been found among Jett's papers after his death. Griggs acknowledges the signature to the note as genuine, but claims the body of the note was raised from $2.10 to the amount claimed. To refute this a note of nearly the same date and for the latter amount was produced by Mrs. Jett. The signature to this Griggs says is forged. After occupying the attention of the court a day or two the defendant filed affidavit to show that certain jurors had been talking about the case before it was finally submitted and that they had expressed opinions. Counter affidavits were filed by the other side, and after due consideration, Judge Hodgkins overruled the objections of the defendants but at this point it was agreed by both sides that the matter should go over until the October term, which was done. The case had been tried once before when a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff, which Judge Nelson set aside and granted a new trial. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, August 31, 1894 |

| Jewell, Perry | The death of Mr. Perry Jewell near Sharpsburg last week recalls the romance attached to his wedding over forty years ago. The wedding ceremony was unusual in that the officiating minister stood in one county and the bride and groom in another county during the ceremony. At that time Hinkston Creek, which divides Bath and Nicholas counties, was at high tide from heavy rains, could not be forded, and there were no bridges at that early date. The officiating minister was in Bath county, while the bride and groom stood on the other side in Nicholas county. The groom tied the license to a rock and threw it across to the minister, who there upon pronounced the ceremony. The Winchester Democrat Friday, January 22, 1909 |

| Joeson, Hugh & family | Family of Six – Burned to death in their home near Pineville, Ky. Pineville, Ky., July 8 – Hugh Joeson and family, who reside about 15 miles northeast of this place, met death in a burning building Tuesday midnight. It is believed the building was set on fire by incendiaries. The following are those who perished in the flame: Hugh Joeson, the father; Mary Joeson, his wife; Fannie Joeson, a daughter 14 years old; John Joeson, a son 10 years old; a daughter 8 years old; Maggie, a daughter 6 years old. All were found Wednesday in the burning debris. The family had had some trouble with near neighbors. The Bell circuit court is in session and it will take the proper steps to investigate the matter. The family was prominent, and the case will be investigated by the present grand jury. It is believed by many citizens of the community that the buildings caught on fire by negligence of the family, who failed to extinguish the kitchen fire when they retired to bed. The bodies were indistinguishable, but enough was found to show they are the bodies of the Joeson family. The Winehester Democrat Friday July 9, 1897 |

| Johnica, William | Reasons for reversal In reversing the verdict of the Grant county jury which gave a verdict for $7,500 damages for the killing of William Johnica, of this city, while working as brakeman on a train, the Court of Appeals says: "In this action for damages for the death of a brakeman who was killed by one of Appellant's trains, a peremptory instruction should have been given to find for appellant upon the conclusion of appellee's evidence on the ground that circumstances were merely presented upon which one might theorize as to the cause of the accident, but which did not show with an certainty how it occurred. The burden of proof was upon appellee to make out the case and if upon the evidence of presumption in favor of the conclusion that deceased was killed as claimed by appellee was no stronger than the presumption that he was killed in some other way, there is a |
| | failure of proof, and this is the precise question here." |

| Johns III, Granam Francis | Graham Francis Johns III, 66, of Winchester, Kentucky, passed on to perpetual life eternal on June 27th, 2018, at his residence. He was the son of Joan Schlegel Anderson and Graham Francis "Connie" Johns Jr. |
| | He was a graduate of Centre College and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He was retired from East Kentucky Power where he was internal auditor and also accounting manager. |
| | Graham was a lover of sports. For thirty years, he was involved with T-ball, softball, golf, and was the voice of the Clark County Cardinals, both in girls and boys basketball and football. He spent countless hours walking the fairways all over the state of Kentucky with his daughter, Meredith, playing golf. He continued following her college career over the state of Indiana while she attended Hanover College. |
| | He was a member of the Clark County Toastmaster's Club, where he found joy in public speaking. He was an active member at First Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, where he he served in many capacities, but loved the music and playing the bells most of all. |
| | His greatest accomplishment was his love for his hometown. He saw such great potential for the growth of Winchester. He was president of Winchester First and was an integral part in organizing banners recognizing Hometown Heroes. He worked diligently to make the community a better place. |
| | Graham is survived by his wife of 35 years, Lisa Crawford Johns, his daughter, and son-in-law, Meredith Anne & Clarke Hall. |
| | In lieu of flowers, please donate to Hospice East or First Christian Church. |
| | Visitation will be Monday, July 2, 2018 from 4:00-8.00 P.M. at First Christian Church. |
| | Funeral will be Tuesday, July 3, 2018, 11:00 A.M. at First Christian Church. |

It required the greatest coolness and bravery on the part of the officers to get the principant oppolace. Even the hetter class of his own race wanted the Judge to place Plunkton in their hands for punishment. It became very evident during the evening that no power could save him. The roads were watched and he could not have been taken to another town, and no citizen of either color could be found who was willing to risk his life in a futile attempt to guard the life of so depraved a villain, but it must be said that the officers did their whole duty. The night wore away quietly until about half-past eleven o'clock, when a number of masked men came into town from several directions, and at the signal, a pistol shot, orders were given to put out all the lights, and a rush was made for the jail. The jailer and Marshall were overpowered and compelled to deliver Ben Plunkton to them. The other prisoners were not disturbed. A rope was placed around his neck while he was being dragged from the jail, and his hands were tightly princed behind him. The doomed Negro yelled "Fire, fire, murder, murder!" a few times, but was speedily throttled, and only a few piteous cries for mercy escaped him. He was taken across the street to a maple tree in the corner of the Court House yard, and in less time than it takes to write it the rope was thrown over a limb, his body drawn up about two feet from the ground, and he was speedily strangled. Nowhere in the world is female virtue and purity more highly esteemed or more zealously guarded than in Kentucky, and woe to him, whether he be white or black, who attempts to commit an outrage so shocking to all law and principle. We went to the cell of the doomed Negro about dark, in order to obtain his statement of the case. He did not appear to realize the danger impending, and denied to the last that he was the guilty party. His restless air when closely questioned, and the transparent manner in which his excuses were given, did not, however, tend to lessen the opinion of his guilt. He claimed to have been elsewhere at the time, but his identification by the young lady was so clear and positive, and the circumstantial evidence so convincing, that but little doubt was left as to his being the criminal. From all we can learn the regulators did not attempt to secure a confession or denial from him, so well were they convinced of his guilt. His body was cut down about 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning, and an inquest held thereon in the court house by Coroner Parrish and a jury. He was preceded in death by his wife of 57 years, Matilda Shea Johnson. Ewart was born June 25, 1922, to the late J. Andrew and Lucy Hil Johnson. He resided in Winchester, until relocating to Clearwater Beach, Fla., in 1985. While in Winchester, Ewart had many business ventures, including founding both Automatic Vending Company and Office Coffee Systems. Ewart also served as Kentucky State Parks. Commissioner from 1971 to 1975. During that time, one of his favorite projects was the construction of Fort Boonesborough at Fort Boonesborough State Park. He also was instrumental in the site selection and development of the Kentucky Horse Park. In 2002, he was honored when the Boonesboro Bridge on Kentucky Highway 627 was renamed the Ewart W. Johnson Bridge. He was a devoted member of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Winchester and St. Brendan Catholic Church in Clearwater, Fla. Ewart, affectionately known to many as "Big Daddy," always had a story to tell, and with his engaging personality, as well as a quick wit, lived a full life enjoying many friendships. Ewart is survived by sons E.W. Johnson Jr. (Sue) of Louisville, Robert J. | | Former state parks chief dies in Florida |
| | Johnson, 89, a Winchester native, is best known for his role in the construction of Fort Boonesborough at Boonesborough State Park. His obituary lists his involvement as "one of his favorite projects." According to the park's website, the reconstruction of Daniel Boone's fort was dedicated Aug. 30, 1974. During his tenure as commissioner from 1971 to 1975, the Kentucky Horse Park also was founded. Life-long friend Nick Nicholson, president of the Keeneland Association, praised Johnson's work for the Kentucky Department of Parks, and his efficient style of management. "He was very proud of the fact he cut the administrative costs of the department by more than $1 million. It's very popular these days to talk about the cost of government, but he was a pioneer in that area," Nicholson said. "He took his business acumen to Frankfort, and ran the state parks department as you would a business." Winchester Mayor Ed Burtne spoke of the increased tourism in Clark County and the surrounding area because of Fort Boonesborough, the Civil War Fort and the Fort Boonesborough State Park. "It's huge. It's a major tourist attraction for Madison and Clark counties. It is a place where there are events practically every weekend. Their tourist draw is national. It's been a major tourist option for not only people in Kentucky, but people nationwide," Burtner said. In addition to his work with the Department of Parks, Johnson was active at St. Joseph Catholic Church until moving to Clearwater, Fla., in 1985, according to his obituary. In Florida, he became an active member of St. Brendan Catholic Church. Nicholson said Johnson also enjoyed volunteering at St. Agatha Academy, when the school had high school students. Nicholson described Johnson as a role model for aspiring entrepreneurs. "He started out with his wife selling pimento cheese sandwiches out of the back of a truck, and he would sell them to the Curlec Clothes People," Nicholson said. Eventually, Johnson's vending machine business, Automatic Vending Company, became a mul |

the most remarkable on record. Ezekiel Johnson, a boy 13 years old, son of Esq., Elisha Johnson, also a minister in the Baptist church, was corrected by his father the 9th of April, 1889, and was sent to the field to plow in oats. In about an hour his father missed him and went in search of his son and found him suspended by the neck from a leaning tree on the mountain side outside of the field, dead. Friday, the 5th inst., the funeral of

| | the boy was preached on the mountain side where the boy hanged himself. The father had the clothes which his son wore when he hung himself stuffed with straw, with the hat and shoes on, making the effigy look everything like the boy. This effigy was hung from the same tree by the same rope on which the boy hung. In the presence of this spectacle the ministers conducted religious services on Friday. About three hundred yards from this is the grave of the boy, over the grave is a little house built, and upon this house was stretched a canvas upon which was written in large letters a conversation the boy had with his sisters the day before he committed suicide. Among other things he wished Revs. Miller and Taylor to preach his funeral and his sisters to come of evenings and sing at his grave. Saturday and Sunday the services were conducted in the bottom four or five hundred yards from the scene of the hanging. The crowds were large each day, but on Sunday there were 1,500 people present. Such as assembly had never before convened in Breathitt county. Just at the close of the third day's service the affray occurred in which Andy Palmer was shot and killed.—Jackson Hustler. | Johnson, father AA | Deputy Marshal Evans Shot and Killed at Mt. Sterling. ANOTHER tragedy occurred at Mt. Sterling Saturday night. A negro named Johnson and a noted tough was raising a row in a saloon when Policemen Charles Evans and Horace Lane went in to arrest him. He fired first at Lane, the ball striking his silver badge just over the heart and glancing off without injury. Johnson then shot Evans in the groin, inflicting a wound from which he died the next day. The negro was shot in the face and also in the breast and is badly hurt. When Evans died a mob was talked of but the officers prevailed and Judge Cooper will hold a special term June 28th to try Johnson, who will be hung if he don't die of his wounds. Evans, the dead policeman, was married last Wednesday to Mrs. Ida Langston, whose first husband was killed several years ago by Sam Everett. A brother of the murdered man lives in this city on Mt. Abbott. Johnson had only been out of the pen a few weeks where he had been serving a sentence for shooting a negro woman a few years ago. Henry Watson, the manager of our Telephone Exchange, was fired upon a few nights ago by some unknown party and it is now believed that Johnson was the man, as Watson, while on the police force, shot and killed Johnson's father. |

Jett's reply was, according to Mrs. Johnson's testimony in Jett's trial: "Yes, I killed him, but it was Hargis' money that did it." The Sun-Sentinel Thur., April 7, 1904 |

Shot From Ambush.

The Crack of the Assassins Rifle Again Rings Out in Breathitt.

The news dispatches Saturday told of another outbreak of the spirit of assassination in Breathitt.

The story is that Friday evening near the mouth of George's branch a few miles from Jackson James, Johnson was shot from ambush and killed. The fatal shot was fired, it is alleged, from a Winchester rifle in the hands of "Bummer" Spicer, a cousin of Sheriff Eli Callahan.

Spicer's father, Roger Spicer, has been engaged in a lawsuit with George Johnson, father of the murdered man, over the title to lands in this county. The Spicer's were enjoined from cutting timber on the land over a year ago. Johnson alleges that in violation of the injunction Spicer entered the land and cut over 100 trees. Friday afternoon young Johnson went to the river where Roger Spicer was engaged in rafting the logs. He was informed by Spicer that if he did not go away "pretty quick the boys would put out his light." He responded that he did not come for trouble, but wanted to remonstrate with them for taking his father's timber. He turned to go, and had moved but a few steps when a rifle shot rang out from the window of Spicer's house about 100 yards distant, the ball taking effect in Johnson's back. He staggered a few feet and sank.

Elijah Roberts, who was rafting timber on the opposite side of the river, says he saw Spicer fire the shot from the window. He rushed over to where Johnson had fallen, and found the man mortally wounded. He sent a messenger to Johnson's house, and with the assistance of Levi Holland the wounded man was carried to his mother. He died before the arrival of the physician.

Roberts brought the news to Jackson and made the following statement.

"I saw "Bummer' Spicer with a Winchester poked out of the window in his father's house. Johnson ran a little piece and fell. I crossed the river to where he was. He begged me piteously not to let them shoot him any more, saying: "They have killed me now." Young Johnson's mother is a sister of Attorney J. B. Marcum, who was assassinated in the courthouse doorway in Jackson last May. Spicer is an uncle of Sheriff Ed Callahan, whom the Marcums charge with being accessory to the Marcum assassination.

Mrs. Johnson went before the grand jury at the recent March term to indict the Spicers for confederating. She stated that Roger Spicer had taken an armed mob to her house a few nights previous, carried her husband out and after leading him some distance told him to leave the country. She said they threatened to ambush him if he was ever seen again. He has not returned since. She stated that they had also driven her son off, and that she was living alone and was afraid they would murder her. The grand jury refused to make an indictment. The Commonwealth Attorney was disgusted with the course of the grand jury, and remarked that the evidence indicated that there would be a murder in that neighborhood soon.

George Johnson is supposed to be in Perry County with his son-in-law, who is County Clerk of that county, and one of the most influential men in that section.

Out On Bond.

At Jackson the trial before Judge Hargis of "Bummer" Spicer charged with the murder of James Johnson resulted in Spicer being released on $2,500 bond to answer at the June term of the Breathitt Circuit Court.

The Sun-Sentinel, Thursday, April 14, 1904

Judge Riddle has granted a change of venue from Breathitt to Lee county in the case of Jack Spicer charged with the murder of James Johnson, nephew of the late J. B. Marcum.

The Sun-Sentinel Thur., June 16, 1904

"Bummer" Spicer, charged with the killing of James Johnson in Breathitt county, was tried in the Lee Circuit Court on change of venue. The jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty."

The Sun-Sentinel Thur., Dec. 1, 1904

Murder case passed

Special Judge Beckner went to Jackson Friday where he called the case of Roger Spicer, charged with the murder of James Johnson. On motion of the Commonwealth the case was passed until today.

| | caught hold of his arm to place him under arrest when a desperate fight began. The officer tried to use his club, but the negro grabbed it with his left hand and with a razor |

knife proceeded to carve his antagonist in the most approved style. Fortunately, Mr. Tarpy had on a very heavy overcoat and the weapon did not reach his person. His coat was badly cut in several places. Tarpy then drew his pistol and, as the negro started to run he fired several shots. One struck the fugitive in the calf of his right leg and another struck him about the same place in his left leg. He was arrested and taken to jail, where the jail physician pronounced his situation very serious, as blood poisoning is feared. The prisoner is a desperate scoundrel. His real name is thought to be Columbus Smith, but he now goes by the name of Jim Johnson. He is a native of Alabama and seems to have no permanent home, but goes from place to place. He is wanted in Frankfort for house breaking and the officials think he has been guilty of the same crime here. Two or three years ago he was arrested in this city and taken to Mt. Sterling and from there he was sent to the penitentiary for two years for house breaking. This sentence expired a few months ago. Previous to this sentence he was sent up for life from Bowling Green for murder, but by a misplaced act of executive clemency, he was pardoned. During the fight he was struck on the head by the policeman's club, and as we went to press he was thought to be dying from concussion of the brain.

The Coroner's Inquest.

Coroner Wills held an inquest Wednesday afternoon to investigate the death of the negro, who died in jail the previous day. The jury was composed of Vic Bloomfield, Thos. Prewitt, F. T. Martin, C. T. Haggard, J. W. McClure and Dock Pigg, who decided that the man's real name was Christopher Smith and the wound that caused his death was given by Mr. Tarpy in self defense. All testimony showed him to be a bad, dangerous negro, and while Mr. Tarpy regrets the necessity which caused him to take a human life, he as well as every one else feels that he did only what was necessary to protect his own life.

The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 2, 1898

Where the Trouble Lies.

Tuesday morning the remains of James Johnson, the negro prisoner who died in jail the previous night, was taken to the potter's field for burial. In the midst of a storm of rain and sleet, the coffin without any covering of any kind, with not a single follower, the remains were carried at a rapid gait and hurried into the ground by a few impatient negroes.

When we look at his career, his end was not unexpected. He had sown the wind of a violent life and he reaped the whirlwind of a violent death; settling all law and all officers of the law at defiance he died at the hand of one of the latter as might reasonably have been expected. If what is said of him is true he should have died at the hand of the Sheriff years ago, and thus would the policeman have been saved this job at a later date. It is said that he committed a murder at Bowling Green for which he should have been hung, but as too often the case, the jury, which should have hung him gave him a life sentence in the penitentiary instead. In a few years he was pardoned by Gov. Brown, and a violent and blood thirsty criminal was once more turned loose upon society. That he did not appreciate executive elemency or profit by his punishment is shown by the fact that he was soon again in the penitentiary for violating the law and if he had lived to be an old man the chances are that he would always have been, from choice, a violator of the law.

In this instance as in many others, we know that executive clemency has been misplaced and in such instances we are apt to blame the Governor and him alone. In many cases the censure is right, as when Governor Bradley pardoned a lot of negro exconvicts just before the election solely that they might vote the Republican ticket here, but in many cases the Chief Ruler of the State is not altogether to blame. A petition for pardon, no matter how atrocious the crime, will find plenty to sign it. Not very long ago an atrocious murder was committed in our own county. One of the participants was sentenced to death and the other to life imprisonment and even while all the circumstances were fresh in the public mind, scores signed a petition for pardon. Many times, men who as jurors and under oath, have said that punishment should be meted out to and offender against the law, will sign a petition for pardon, thus stultifying themselves. Sometimes a man is guilty of crime according to the letter of the law, while according to the spirit, he does not deserve punishment; in such cases executive clemency is well bestowed. This is also true in a few instances where subsequent events change the nature of the case, but usually the criminal deserves all that he gets at the hands of a jury and the man who signs a petition for pardon works a public injury. This man Johnson, might as easily have cut the throat of Policeman Tarpy as his coat, and had he done so, the people who signed his petition for pardon, and the Governor who pardoned him when serving a merited term for a heinous crime, would have been responsible for the murder of a brave and efficient officer. As it is this officer was forced to take a human life in defense of his own and these people are responsible, in a degree, for the negro's death. We cannot be too careful how we strive to nullify the just retribution of the law.

The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 2, 1898

The Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat says that a brother of the negro Johnson who was killed here last week by Policeman Tarpy, was hung some years ago in that city, for killing Policeman Chas. Evans.

Johnson, Jimmy

A Sensational Murder.

Princeton, Ky., Aug. 19.—Thursday afternoon Jimmy Johnson, white, 12 years, and Chas. Wood, a Negro, aged 14, were engaged in a game of marbles and began disputing

| | over the matter when the Negro picked up a rock and advanced toward Johnson, |
|----------------------------|---|
| | striking him in the back of the head. Johnson fell and died in a second. Officers |
| | succeeded in capturing Wood and he was lodged in jail. There is great excitement over |
| | the matter owing to the prominence of the Johnson family. It is thought by many that a |
| | mob will hang the Negro. |

| Johnson, Luther | Chicken Thief Killed Last week Luther Johnson, a notorious chicken thief of Montgomery county, went to |
| | the home of Cas. Prewitt and stole a number of chickens. In returning he attempted to cross the railroad track in front of the train, fell through a cow gap and was cut to pieces by the cars. He had in a sack, nineteen dead chickens which he had stolen. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, March 18, 1898 |

| | Hog Thieves Shed Mason and John Coons, colored, were tried by Judge Hazelrigg yesterday on the |
| | charge of stealing hogs from Henry Williams. They were held to answer at Circuit Court, and in default of $500 bail were sent to jail. The trial developed the fact that |
| | Luther Johnson, who was killed by a train a few days ago, was with them when the hogs |
| | were stolen, and while there was no proof of the fact, the officers were satisfied that the thieves were together on a chicken stealing expedition the night Johnson was killed.— |

She was about forty-five years old and leaves a husband and five children. The former was serving on a jury at the time and Judge Parker at once continued the case and adjourned court when he heard the news. Mrs. Johnson, before her marriage was Miss Mary Verlinda Ramsey, daughter of Mrs. Sue Ramsey, of this county, where she has a large circle of family and friends. The Winchester Democrat Friday, April 17, 1908 Mrs. Richard Johnson died suddenly Tuesday afternoon of heart trouble while on her way to the home of Mrs. Joseph Downing to attend a meeting of the C.W.B.M. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. J.S. Barnes were in a surrey and as they reached the avenue leading to Mrs. Downing's Mrs. Johnson complained of feeling sick and sank on Mrs. Barnes' shoulder. Before she could be carried to the house she was dead. She is survived by a husband and five children. He was seven years old the only son of his parents, and the only grandson of his grandparents, all of whom idolized him. The remains were followed to their last resting place in the cemetery by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, January 18, 1898 In Memory of Our Sweet Little Neighbor We sadly miss our bright little neighbor, Webb Johnson, who has gone from our sight. He has but obeyed the call of the angels who summoned him to be their comrade. Peace be with him, and may it be a comfort to his sorrowing parents to know that he died as sweet and pure as the angels, one of whom he now is. He will live in our memory as the bright little boy who acted and talked like a little man. S. | Do not try to re-arrange them, they are sacred, leave them there, Their the pencil and the paper, the horse that he just drew, From the world and men and nature he was drawing lessons true. Leave the "sojers" where he left them, all drawn up in long array, There little general's missing, he's "off duty," now for aye, Yes a furlough has been granted that will last for time and years. But there's comfort in reflecting that the soldiers were but tin, That our boy had never 'listed in the wicked war of sin, That no stain of crime or blood-shed foul was on the pure white hands, That no foot-prints lost or straying far, are left upon life's sands. While I muse in grief and sorrow that the day now seems so long, I list and catch the echo of the psalmist's prayerful song. Yes I sing the hope of David, "Child thou canst not come to me," But blest be God I have the faith that "I shall go to thee." -P. F. W. | A death of peculiar sadness was that of little Webb Johnson, only son of Dr. R. F. Johnson and wife, which occurred Thursday night. He was seemingly as well as usual until the day previous when he was attacked by that dread scourge diphtheria, to which he quickly succumbed. He was seven years old the only son of his parents, and the only grandson of his grandparents, all of whom idolized him. The remains were followed to their last resting place in the cemetery by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. | | Secured Judgement. Mrs. W. W. Johnson, of Paint Lick, has secured judgement in the Lancaster Circuit Court for $10,000 against an insurance company. Her husband died suddenly, and had $100,000 in life policies. The companies refused to pay claiming that Johnson committed suicide. She will now secure other judgements. The courts have uniformly decided that suicide does not invalidate a life policy.—Richmond Pantagraph. |

| Johnston, Eugene Rhodes Jr. | Eugene Rhodes Johnston Jr. died after an illness on January 31st at his home in Clark County. He was 70 years old. Born in Charlottesville, Virginia, Johnston spent his infancy in Hawaii, where his father was stationed as a Navy doctor. He spent his childhood and youth in Birmingham, Alabama, then attended Vanderbilt University, where he was an English Major and a member of the DKE fraternity. After suspension from Vanderbilt over a notorious but ultimately harmless prank, he graduated from the University of Alabama at Birmingham. Johnston spent the late 60's, 70's and 80's doing what he loved best, riding horses. He sat on the Board of Governors of the United States Equestrian Team in the early 80's, and helped his mother organize the oldest riding event in Alabama. During this time he held a multitude of jobs, his favorite being that of a newspaper reporter, working for the Nashville Tennessean, the Anniston Star, Shelby County Reporter, and the Montgomery Advertiser. Johnston also was active in the Civil Rights and antiwar movements, living in Northern California and writing columns for the Berkeley Barb, and then moved to Gees Bend, Alabama, where he was involved with anti-poverty programs. Upon moving to Kentucky, Johnston farmed in eastern Clark County. He was a founding member of the Community Farm Alliance and later worked for the Governor's Office on farm policy. In the mid-nineties he became a nurse. Johnston always kept horses and was known throughout the community for his acerbic wit and his letters to the editor. Johnston is survived by his wife, Janet White; a daughter, Alice Johnston Melendez; and two grandchildren, all of Clark County. He also is survived by his mother, Eleanor Miles Johnston of Birmingham; a brother, Hardee, of Charlottesville; a brother, George, of Birmingham; and a sister, Eugenia, of Fort Payne, Alabama. | | Clark County man killed in US 60 crash Friday |
| | A Clark County man was killed in a head-on crash Friday night on U.S. 60 near Cassell |

| | Creek Golf Course. John Johnstone, of Constitution Drive, Winchester, was pronounced dead at the scene, Clark County Sheriff Berl Perdue Jr. said. The crash was reported around 9:30 p.m. Friday. Perdue said it appeared Johnstone's car was traveling west and drifted across the center line before striking an eastbound Ford Ranger. The Ranger's drivers, Steven King, was transported to the University of Kentucky Chandler Medical Center by ambulance with shoulder, arm and neck injuries, Perdue said. When interviewed by deputies following the crash, Perdue said King did not remember the accident or anything surrounding the incident. Both men were alone in their respective vehicles, he said, and were wearing their seat belts. The severity of the impact led to King's injuries and Johnstone's death. So far, no witnesses to the accident have been found. The investigation into the crash is still ongoing, he said. Though there were no indications at the scene of alcohol or drug involvement, blood samples were taken from both drivers for testing, Perdue said. The highway was closed for about three hours |

| Johnstone, Will | At Berea, Madison county, Christmas day, Will Johnstone and Less Mitchell engaged in a pistol fight. Johnstone was instantly killed and Mitchell was mortally wounded. An old grudge was the cause. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 27, 1895 |
| | Desperate Fight Two Men Stand and Fire at Each Other—One Dead, the Other Dying Berea, Ky., Dec. 26—A desperate fight took place here between two factions, in which Will Johnstone was killed instantly and Less Mitchell riddled with Bullets will die. The two men met on the streets of Berea and Mitchell approached Johnstone and threatened to blow his brains out. Both men drew their weapons simultaneously, and standing face to face, within three feet of each other, began firing. Each fired four shots. They then ran, each in a different direction toward their friends. Mitchell dropped to the ground before he had gone 50 yards. While on the ground four shots were fired by unknown parties and when Johnstone was reached it was found that his body was riddled and that he was dead. It is supposed the shots came from the friends of Mitchell. Mitchell's body was found 100 feet from the scene of the shooting with three bullets in it. He was still alive at last accounts, but can not live. |

| | The shooting is the outcome of an old grudge between the two men. A Christmas entertainment was in progress near which the shooting occurred and the firing almost caused a panic. Both parties belong to prominent families. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 27, 1895 |

| JOHNSTOWN FLOOD | A TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE: The most terrific accident that has ever occurred on this continent was the destruction of Johnstown on the Conemaugh river in Pennsylvania, and neighboring towns last Friday night. A large artificial lake nine miles above the city and built as a supply basin for a canal, gave way, and the flood came rushing down on the unsuspecting people. The fall in that distance was 300 feet and the force of the torrent was so fearful that nothing could resist it. An immense viaduct below the city caught the debris until it was piled up forty feet high, and the passage of the water was absolutely stopped, making a lake over thirty feet deep which almost instantaneously submerged the city. The people were washed from their homes into the whirling flood and then to add to the horror, the debris caught fire, and those who might have escaped the water were burned to death. It is estimated that 8,000 lives were lost and twenty million dollars worth of property destroyed. The story of the disaster is sickening indeed. From all over the country contributions are pouring in, for the relief of the sufferers. The Democrat Wednesday June 5, 1889 |

| Jones, Charlie | Horrible Accident |
| | As the morning train from Jackson Sunday came through the tunnel near that city it ran |
| | into a mass of slate that had fallen from the heights above completely blocking the road. The road makes a curve in the tunnel so that the obstruction could not be seen until it |
| | was reached. The engineer, Charlie Jones, reversed his engine and applied the air brakes |
| | but could not stop the engine in time. It struck the mass, spread the rails and leaving the |
| | track, turned completely over. Jones did not have time to jump and was caught between |
| | the engine and a large stone: his hip and leg was caught and crushed. In this manner he |
| | remained for three hours before he could be extricated. He was fully conscious all the |
| | time and refused to take an opiate. John O'Brien, the fireman, had his ankle crushed so |
| | badly that amputation was necessary. The family of Jones was notified and a special |
| | train with the wife, two daughters and physicians were soon on hand. Both Jones and |
| | O'Brien live in Lexington, the latter being well known here and were carried to the |
| | hospital there where Jones died late in the afternoon. Dr. C. H. Rees and wife, of this |
| | city, were on the train and Dr. Rees did good service in extricating the wounded men. None of the passengers were injured as the coaches did not leave the track. |

| | Horrible murder |
| | A crime similar to the West-Devers outrage in Marion county Richmond, Ky., Jan. 30 – Attorney Thomas Coyle, of Berea, brought news to this place |
| | Wednesday of a horrifying crime similar in some respects to the West-Devers outrage |
| | in Marion county, at Horse Lick, Jackson county, a wild, sparsely settled locality 35 |
| | miles south of here, and remote from railroad or telegraphic communication. The house of Christopher Jones, a farmer living in that locality was burned on Monday night, and |
| | Tuesday morning the charred body of Jones was found among the ashes. Suspicion |
| | pointed to John and Zion Cornelius, brothers, who with Jones had quarreled a few days |
| | before about his wife. As Jones was last seen with them they were arrested on warrants issued by County Judge Lunsford, and are now in jail at McKee, the county seat |
| | charged with the double crime of murder and arson. The general belief is that Jones was |
| | murdered and the murderers carried the body home and set the house on fire to conceal |
| | the crime. Mrs. Jones, the wife of the unfortunate man, says that he perished in trying to escape from the burning building. |

| Jones, Fauntleroy | The Winchester Sun Wed., 11-20, 11-21-1963 DIED-at his home at Jones' Nursery, Saturday, Fantleroy Jones, aged 83 years. Burial |
| l sines, I duminerally | yesterday at his residence, funeral by Rev. W. B. Cooper, Mr. Jones was one of the |
| | most prominent men in his section of the county and for years was a prominent |
| | nurseryman. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, November 23, 1897. |
| | The Whienester Belliocrat, Tuesday, November 23, 1037. |
| | Fauntleroy Jones |
| | By the death of Fauntleroy Jones has passed from our midst a worthy gentleman and in many respects a very remarkable man. He lived modestly and unpretentiously. It was |
| | his taste. Several years ago a successful candidate for Judge of our Court of appeals in |
| | passing through the county called at Mr. Jones residence. His visit was protracted much |
| | beyond what his companion had expected and after they left, as this companion afterwards informed us, the Judge would ride for some minutes apparently absorbed in |
| | reflection when he would say, "That is a remarkable man we have left, a remarkable |
| | man, sir!" Within the last three years a prominent lawyer in one of our larger cities, a |
| | scholarly gentleman and a man of some literary pretensions, spoke to us of an article of |
| | a purely literary character on which he had spent much pains and which he intended for public use. He said to us, "For some time I have thought of changing one or two |
| | sentences in this article and I have several times thought I would go to Mr. Fauntleroy |
| | Jones home in Clark county and read the article to him and get his judgement on it for I |
| | would rather risk his judgement than any man's I know." Rev. Moses E. Laird, the eminent Reform preacher used to come out from Lexington and spend several days, |
| | some times a week, with Mr. Jones and they would sit in the most animated |
| | conversation for hours at a time. Some of the Church folks objected that he should give |
| | more of his time to them, but the reverend gentleman, when in the neighborhood, seldom failed to put in a good part of his time at Mr. Jones'. Mr. Jones was not a |
| | professing Christian and we are not able to say whether he believed in the divinity of |
| | Christ, but we know he was an interested reader of the Bible and he saw the infinite |
| | wisdom and love of God reflected by nature in many ways not visible to the average man, for he was a devoted lover and student of nature, and he saw God in the flowers, |
| | in the running brooks, in the sunshine, in the songs of birds, in everything. A few days |
| | before his death he said, "I have read the Bible and I know the richness and wonderful |
| | depths of its wisdom. The more I have read it the more I have become convinced it is a |
| | work of inspiration. I am not afraid to die, if only my passing can be without pain. I believe that God has made some proper provision for me." |
| | Like many another of his type he was not always understood. He was an intensely |
| | intellectual nervous temperament, and he had a high temper, ungovernable at times, |
| | which was the bane of his life. In his daily life and in his conversations, which were always elevating and ennobling, he was as pure and chaste as a woman. Except when |
| | irritated, he was as gentle as a little child and almost as trustful, but when aroused he |
| | apparently had no sense of personal danger. He believed in integrity of character |
| | beyond everything else. What he saw to be just and right he pursued unflinchingly and without regard to consequences. This element in his nature brought him into unpleasant |
| | contact with the federal authorities during the late war. At first he was a union man but |
| | when he became convinced that the North meant to resort to coercive measures he |
| | espoused the cause of the South with all the earnestness of his intense and fearless nature. One result of this was that he was arrested and confined for several weeks in a |
| | federal prison at Lexington. The latter years of his life were spent almost entirely with |
| | his books and flowers. He had been all his life an extensive and exhaustive reader. He |
| | loved knowledge for its own sake and enjoyed the rare faculty of completely absorbing and retaining with great tenacity whatever he read. He was born in 1816, and in early |
| | life lost a considerable fortune which he had embarked in the manufacture of hemp |
| | bagging in this city, so that he not only began his married life without fortune but |
| | considerable debt. He had not been inured to physical labor. His father was a Virginia |
| | gentleman of ample means, a large slave-holder and this was his favorite son. But he possessed an indomitable spirit. He obtained permission from his mother to plant the |
| | beginning of a nursery on an extreme corner of her farm. He built a shop close to his |
| | little cabin home. He employed a man to work in it and from him he learned the trade of |
| | a wheelwright. He worked by day in his nursery and at night by lamp light or candle light at his trade, making large spinning wheels on which servants used to spin yarn, |
| | and smaller wheels for spinning flax. He made chairs also which then brought higher |
| | prices than similar articles now bring, also the tall old fashioned bedsteads, which he |
| | turned on a turning lathe at which he became very expert. In course of time his nursery grew until it absorbed all his time and he gave his entire attention to it. Day after day |
| | and night after night, year in and year out, he toiled like any day laborer until he paid |
| | every dollar of his indebtedness and acquired a neat competency for himself and his |
| | family. He became the most noted nurseryman in Central Kentucky, and most of the old |
| | orchards in this and neighboring counties were supplied from "Jones' Nursery." His reputation extended rapidly and he was known far and near as a man whose word was |
| | worthy of absolute trust. But Mr. Jones was more than a nurseryman. He was a learned |
| | horticulturist and an accomplished botanist. He viewed his avocation from the |

| | standpoint of a scientist who was thoroughly familiar with the properties of soils and the nature and habits of plant life; and his knowledge along these lines was thorough and comprehensive. He was a lover of mankind and was deeply interested in whatever tended to elevate the human family or alleviate its sufferings. His father Thomas Jones, came to Kentucky from Essex county Virginia and located in this county where he served as Magistrate for a number of years, until that office became elective. Mr. Jones passed away as if in gently slumber Sunday morning, November 21st, about 5 o'clock. During his illness he suffered much at times. His nephew, Mr. Jas. Headly and his daughter, who have been living in the house with him for several years gave him the kindest attention during his sickness, and his eldest daughter, Mrs. Moore, was also with him constantly during the latter part of his illness. His children are Dr. Frank Jones, of Becknerville, Judge L. H. Jones, of this city, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Woodford, of this county, and Mrs. R. M. Moore, of Lexington. | Jones, James Calvin Jones, James E. | James Calvin Jones, 72, of Winchester, passed away peacefully in his home on April 6, 2016, after recently being diagnosed with terminal lung cancer. James was born in Bakersfield, CA. After honorably serving his country in the United States Navy, he moved to the Fort Worth, Texas area where he eventually began work with the Kroger Company. He was relocated to the Cincinnati, OH, area and eventually relocated again to the Winchester Farms Dairy, where he worked through retirement. James was a dedicated employee, fair boss and great friend to all. He enjoyed sports of all kind, but mainly golf where he enjoyed countless hours with many. James is survived by his wife of 46 years, Paula Jones; daughter and son-in-law, Christy (Todd) Calvert; two grandchildren, James and Cole Calvert; brother Ronald Dintino, Jr., of Burleson, Texas; and sister, Doris Sadler of Fort Worth, Texas, along with numerous nephews and nieces. James is preceded in death by his parents, Ronald and Thelma Dintino and three sisters. James was peaceful and content in knowing that he had touched so many lives in a positive manner. With respect to all that he touched, there will be no visitation or funeral services. In lieu of these events, the family asks that anyone wishing to pay their last respects make a donation in James's name to the Clark County Animal Shelter, Hospice East or The American Cancer Society. | Jones, James V. Jr. | James V. Jones, Jr., a former resident of Morgantown, WV and son of the late James V. Jones, Sr. and Mary Holmes Jones, died on January 24,2021 at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington, KY at the age of 79. Jim gave 32 years of service to the Federal Government, most of which was with the Federal Bureau of Prisons, Department of Justice. Former duty stations: NTS Washington, DC., NYC Morgantown, WV, FCI Lewisburg, PA; FCI Terre Haute, IN; |

| | | FCI Petersburg, VA; FCI Memphis, TN. He retired as Chief, Budget Execution of the Bureau of Prisons, Department of Justice in Washington, DC. There his accomplishments included the introduction of FMIS budgeting module in the Bureau of Prisons, mastering the system to the point that the Department of Justice recognized the Bureau of Prisons for having one of the finest budgeting systems in the department. Even tempered, kind to everyone he met, but most of all Jim loved the Lord and was a devoted Christian. He was dedicated to his family which he loved very much. Jim leaves behind his wife of 59 years, Julia Frazier Jones, two daughters, Julie Lynch (Danny Lynch) and Jamie Smith (Steve Smith), four grandsons, Weston Lynch, Joshua Dunston (Kristi), Aaron Lynch, and Jacob Dunston (Taylor), and three greatgranddaughters, Peighton and Brennan Lynch, and Harper Dunston. We are deeply saddened by his departure; however, we will cherish our memories we have of him. A private graveside service will be held at Beverly Hills Memorial Gardens in Morgantown, WV. | Jones, John | Death Of John Jones Mr. John Jones died at his home on Four Mile Wednesday night, aged seventy-nine years, of general debility. The funeral will be preached at ten o'clock this morning at the Church of Christ on Fairfax street by Elder T. Q. Martin and the remains will be buried in the Winchester Cemetery. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Martha A. Lawrence, to whom he was married nearly sixty years ago, six sons, William, James, Asa B. and Rodney Allen, of this county, Richard H., of Muncie, Ind., and Robert L., of Lexington; also five daughters, Mrs. Martha Lawrence, Mrs. Lulu C. Aldridge, Mrs. Fannie Watts, and Miss Mary Jones of this county, and Mrs. Sarah F. Parrish, of Lexington. He was the last of a family of five brothers and sisters. Although he and his wife had been married nearly three score years and had raised a family of eleven children, this was the first death in the family. He was a good father, neighbor and christian and an excellent citizen. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Aug. 29, 1902 Hunt |
| | John Jones, aged seventy-nine years, died at his home, two miles south of Winchester, Thursday, August 28, after a long illness, caused by flux. He is survived by a wife, six sons and five daughters. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. Q. Martin from the Fairfax Christian church. He had been a true and faithful member of the Christian church for fifty-five years. He was a kind husband and a loving father, and had many warm friends who, with the bereaved family, mourn his loss. His remains were laid in the Winchester cemetery. | | Reminiscences of Soldier Life. |
| | Mike H. Haggard, of Georgetown, sends us some reminiscences of the soldier life of |
| | "Little Johnnie" Jones, who died a few weeks ago. He never acquired familiarity with |
| | military titles and always addressed his captain as Mr. Bruner. One night the word came down the line that the enemy was firing in the rear Jones was leading the |
| | Captain's horse and wanted to be sure to get him at the right place so he called out, |
| | "Mr. Burner, which way is the rear before or behind." While a prisoners at Camp |
| | Douglas, we were given for a while large rations of coffee, more than we could use. |
| | The other boys wasted their surplus, but Johnnie saved his and stored it away in the legs |
| | of an old pair of pants. In a short time the coffee rations ceased and Johnnie was the |
| | coffee king of the prison. He wouldn't dispose of his holdings and to keep the boys from stealing it, he used the pants as a pillow. Then the boys stole it while he was at |
| | exercise, and to prevent this he wore his old pants on his head with the legs full of |
| | coffee as a collarets. His peculiarities caused many a laugh among his comrades, but he |
| | was a good soldier and had the esteem and respect of all. |

| Jones, John Paul | Porter first rested upon American soil. Out in the bay, miles distant, but most of them clearly visible from the naval academy, rode at anchor three great warships flying the tri-color of France, the Admiral Aube, the Conde and the Marseiller, first-class cruisers all, under the command of Adm. Campion. Beside them were the United States battleships Alabama, Indiana and Iowa, the cruisers Cleveland, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Denver and Colorado and the yacht Mayflower. From these came more than 1,500 sailors and marines, 200 of the former being from the French vessels. When the president entered the armory it was to face 10,000 standing cheering men and women. At the close of the several addresses the audience rose and remained standing while bodybearers, selected from among the petty officers of the United States and French warships, lifted the casket and bore it from the armory. Just outside it was placed upon a truck and the procession moved slowly toward Bancroft Hall. The way was led by Chaplain Henry Clark, U.S.N He was followed by a file of marines, the midshipmen officers and then by the naval academy band, playing the dead march from "Saul". When the casket had been placed beneath the stairway, where it is to rest under constant guard, Chaplain Clark said a brief prayer and the ceremonies were at an end. | Jones, Lawrence | Lawrence Jones, lately Commonwealth's Attorney of this district died at the residence of Warren, in Woodford county, on the 15 th instant. He had consumption and had been gradually sinking for nearly a year past. Captain Jones was born at Paris, Ky., March 4 th , 1840, and received his education at the common schools of that vicinity. He read law for a while in the office of Major George W. Williams; then with his maternal uncle, Col. Thomas H. Holt, of Louisville; and finally with Hon. Wm. S. Greesbeck, of Cincinnati, when he was reduced to many straits by his extreme poverty. His brother, Jos. M. Jones, now living in Paris, who was then clerking in Cincinnati, divided his room and salary with Lawrence and being unable to pay board they did their own cooking and lived on the cheapest fare. In the fall of 1869, Capt. Jones began to practice law at Cincinnati. In 1861 he joined Gen. John H. Morgan's company and |
| | fought gallantly throughout the war. When the ever memorable race for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney began in the fall of 1867, he entered the lists, seemingly |

| | without the slightest suspect of success. Gen. John S. Williams, Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge and Capt. E. C. Marshall, three of the most able speakers that Kentucky could produce and with all due respect to the traditions of the past, perhaps as brilliant a trio as has ever offered in the West for any State, were eager candidates. They were all poor and sought the office Capt. Jones knew nobody outside of Bourbon save a few comrades-with whom he had served in the army. It was the fiercest struggle that we have ever seenthe leading aspirants and left Capt. Jones the sole survivor of the fight Since then, until recently when he resigned, he has served as Commonwealth's Attorney with a devotion to the duties of the place, a fearlessness in the prosecution of criminals, and a courtesy to all with whom he came in contact: that made him universally popular. The people had the utmost confidence in his courage and integrity, and we have never heard anybody interested in the prosecution complain that the representative of the Commonwealth had failed to do his duty. Capt. Jones was a faithful friend, a true gentleman and a sincere Christian. During his long illness there was no complaining or repining, but the calmest resignation to the will of his Maker. He expressed a desire before dying that no funeral should be preached over his remains, and that the bar should refrain from passing any resolutions, as is customary when lawyers die. He was twice married, and leaves a widow, but no children. The Clark County Democrat Wed., 9-25-1878 |

| Jones, Lula | Death of Miss Lula Jones. In our last issue we noted the fact that Miss Lula Jones, of this city, had been taken to the Good Samaritan hospital at Lexington to be operated on for appendicitis. The operation showed other complications, which dispelled the slight hope entertained before the operation and she died Thursday night. The body was brought here the next morning and the funeral was preached Saturday morning at the Baptist Church by Rev. B. B. Bailey and the remains were buried in the Winchester cemetery. Miss Jones was nineteen years old, a modest, intelligent, cultured lady, who was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her. She was exceedingly popular at the Winchester bank where she was trusted stenographer of President Witherspoon. For many years she had been a consistent member of the Baptist Church and died as a Christian should. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, June 27, 1899. |

He recognized that his mind was affected and was glad to go to the asylum for treatment. He is a son of Rev. Spencer Jones who died here several years ago. The Winchester Democrat Fri., March 15, 1901 Horrible Death. Luther J. Jones, who was a resident of Winchester for some years, but later lived at Torrent, met a horrible death near North Bend, Ind., Wednesday morning. He went to sleep on a railroad track and a train coming along crushed him into almost an unrecognizable mass. He was a brother of Mrs. Sommers Searcy, of Torrent. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, July 25, 1902 Brought Here For Burial. The remains of Luther Jones were brought Tuesday night and placed in the cemetery vault; they were buried the next morning, services at the grave being conducted by Rev. John Reeves. He was run over and killed by a train near Lawrenceburg, Indiana, and the body was much mutilated. He was subject to fits and had been an inmate of the lunatic asylum. It is the opinion of friends here that he was accidentally killed, but the following special to the Louisville Times from Petersburg, Ky., would indicate that such was not the case; "It is the opinion of the police of this city and Lawrenceburg, Ind., that a foul crime has been committed and that Luther J. Jones, of Torrent, Ky., was murdered and his body |
| Jones, Luther R. Sr. Jones, M. Burton Jones M. N | placed on the railroad bridge just across the river from here. When the engineer of the train ran over him first saw the man was lying with his head toward the locomotive, with no signs of life about him. His telescope valise was found in the weeds under the bridge, and had been rifled. He was well dressed, apparently about thirty years of age, and in his pockets were two funeral notices, a letter from his sister and a letter from Dr. J. G. Furnish, Superintendent of Lakeland Asylum." The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, July 29, 1902 Petersburg, Ky., July 26.—The police believe that Luther J. Jones, whose mangled body was found on the railroad bridge across Tanners creek, opposite here, was murdered and his body placed on the rails. His valise, found in the woods near by, had been rifled. The body has not been claimed. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, August 1, 1902 The Winchester Sun Wed., 11-1-1961 The Winchester Sun Tues., 10-31-1950 |

| Jones, Mary | Wades Mill. Died, June 26 th , of paralysis, Miss Mary Jones, aged 67 years. Last January she fell and sustained a fracture of the hip joint and has been out of her bed only a few times when she was stricken with paralysis on Wednesday before she died. Miss Mary had been a consistent member of the Methodist church for many years. We never knew a patient to bear their affliction with any more patience and fortitude than did Miss Mary. Her pastor, Eld. Thomson, held funeral services at the home of her mother, aunt Bertha Jones the day following. Interment at the Winchester cemetery. Birth and death are two wonderful events that happen alike to all and over which we have no control. It is the time between these events that so much concern the human race. If this period is spent in useful and right living our life is a benefaction. We are glad to know that Miss Mary's life was so spent and her helpful cheerful presence will be greatly missed around the family hearthstone. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, June 30, 1899 |

| vonco, may | Verdict charges Laughlin with murder, criminal assault and arson Augusta, Ky., Feb. 20 – The coroner's jury convened in the mayor's office at ten o'clock. The coroner examined several witnesses Wednesday morning. Marshal Sayers was at Maysville Tuesday night, returning here early Wednesday morning. Several of the officials of the Maysville jail have been here in attendance at the inquest. The examination of Edward Fitzgerald, the Chesapeake and Ohio detective, and Arthur Pumpelly, turnkey in the Maysville jail, corroborated the statements of Marshal Sayers and other witnesses in regard to the published confession of Robert Laughlin. The jury returned the following verdict: "We the jury believe, from all the evidence in the case, that Sarah E. Laughlin and May Jones came to their death by an iron poker in the hands of Robert Laughlin and that he ravished May Jones and burned the bodies within the house." | | Jones Mrs. Hannah E. Jones died at the residence of her son-in-law, J. T. Clinkenbeard, at |
| | Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 10 th . The remains were buried in the cemetery here Friday. Services were held by Elder R. |
| | French. This family is one upon which sorrow has come heavily. About fifteen years |
| | ago the husband and father, Spencer F. Jones, died suddenly at his home near this city. |
| | About ten years ago, Samuel, a son, died: about three years since, Miss Lula, one of the |
| | brightest young ladies that we have ever known, died: some two months ago Luther, |
| | the only son left, was killed on the railroad track, near Lawrenceburg, Indiana. This leaves Mrs. Clinkenbeard and Mrs. Fenton Searcy, of Torrent, the only members |
| | of the family left. |
| | That worthy people should be so uniformally unfortunate is a mystery. |
| | We give our sympathy, it is all that we can do. |

| Jones, wits. wrattle beatord | From the bridal altar to the tomb in little more than two short weeks is the sad and brief |
| | history of the married life of Mrs. Mattie Bedford Jones, wife of Joseph Jones of |
| | Becknerville, who died Friday, shortly after noon at the home of her mother, Mrs. |
| | Henrietta Bedford in this city, of typhoid fever, in the twenty-third year of her age. |
| | She was a faithful member of the Christian Church, possessed a bright, cheerful |
| | disposition, and was a universal favorite. We tender our sympathy to her young |
| | husband, to her mother and brothers thus bereft. |
| | Owing to the serious illness of her brother, John Bedford, of the same disease, services |

| Jones, Myrna Jean Ewen | Myrna Jean Ewen Jones, or "Granny" as her grandchildren affectionately called her, |
| | was welcomed into her new heavenly home by her Savior Jesus at the beautiful age of |
| | 90 on Sunday, August 2, 2020. Myrna was born in New Castle, IN, and raised in Slade, KY as one of 12 children (bless her mother!). She later moved to Winchester where she |
| | met her husband of over 70 years, Henry Edward Jones, at the Forest Park Bowling |
| | Lanes when she was 17 years old. Despite both being very young, they married and |
| | were able to build something akin to the American Dream, sacrificing for their two sons |
| | - Henry Lee and Jerry Edward Jones. Grandaddy delivered a morning rural route for |
| | the United States Post Office and Myrna worked at Sylvania in the afternoons so she could be with the pride & joy of her life at the beginning of each and every day. Both |
| | sons became doctors and carried her spirit and smiles to patients and friends all over the |
| | world. She was a faithful and active member of Belmont Church of Christ for over 65 |
| | years, serving as a Sunday school teacher and on various committees. |
| | She will be remembered with extraordinary amounts of love for the home that she |
| | immaculately kept and the amazing smell that cannot seem to be replicated; where |
| | Christmas decorations became so abundant that she did not bother to take them down, |
| • | making every day like Christmas. Her rare teacup collection, Booby Trap under the |

| | couch, Bingo for prizes drawer, stockings on Christmas eve, the yard sale trinkets and harmonizing with Elvis and Andy Williams records on while she cooked from the heart, without recipes, sometimes simultaneously, in both of her kitchens. "Jeanie" kept her hair appointments and loved beautiful jewelry. She always waited up when her family would arrive late at night and was the person to come up with the answers to the impossible pink questions in the original version of Trivial Pursuit. Granny had the rare ability to always be busy, but seem happy, content, and calm. For her, it truly was a wonderful life. Myrna is survived by her sons: Henry Lee Jones (Marcia) of Indianapolis, IN and Jerry Edward Jones of Danville, KY. She was the sweetest Granny and best cook to her six |

| Jones, R. W. | Resolutions of Respect. |
| | At a call meeting of the Board of Education held at the office of Geo. W. Strother at 9 |
| | o'clock a.m. March fifth, 1901 for the purpose of adopting suitable and appropriate |
| | resolutions respecting the death of R. W. Jones, a fellow member of said board: |
| | Whereas, It has pleased the all-wise God to remove from our midst our friend and |
| | fellow member, R. W. Jones, therefore be it resolved; 1st That in the death of R. W. Jones, the Board of Education has lost one of the most |
| | efficient and zealous members, the cause of education one of its most enthusiastic and |
| | hearty supporters, a man of unquestionable honesty and integrity. He did what he |
| | believed to be right and just, and voted and acted upon all matters pertaining to his |
| | duties as a member of the Board from a pure and unselfish standpoint, and after careful |
| | investigation of a subject matter before the Board he would make up his mind and |
| | follow his honest convictions and no argument or persuasion could change him. 2 nd That the community in which he lived has just lost an upright, honorable and |
| | highly-respected citizen. The church of which he was a member one of its most earnest |
| | and active workers and his family a loving and devoted husband and father. |
| | 3 rd As an evidence of the high esteem and respect in whether he was held by his fellow |
| | members of the Board of Education, the schools are now dismissed for the day and the |
| | Board of Education will attend the funeral services in a body. |
| | 4th That we tender to his distressed and bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this |
| | their hour of grief and trouble. 5 th That those resolutions be spread upon the records of the Board of Education, |
| | published in papers and that a copy of same be sent by the Secretary to the family of the |

| | Death of R. W. Jones. Richard W. Jones died Tuesday morning at his home on Jefferson street, of chronic |
| | bowel trouble, aged fifty-four years. The funeral services were held the following day |
| | by W. G. McCready, of this city, and G. C. Abbitt of Mt. Sterling, and the remains were |
| | buried in the Winchester cemetery with the beautiful ceremonies of the Red Men |
| | conducted by Frank L. Smith of Lexington. The Odd Fellows and Confederate Veterans |
| | to both of which he belonged attended in a body. |
| | Mr. Jones came to Kentucky from Essex county, Virginia and came of one of the best |
| | families of the Old Dominion. He left college in his senior year to join the Confederate army and served under Stuart Jackson and officers in the Virginia campaigns. He then |
| | tried farming but afterward came to Kentucky where he has been in the railroad |
| | business for a number of years. He was an officer in the Episcopal church and stood |
| | high in the Red Men and Odd Fellows. For a number of years he has been a member of |
| | the city Board of Education of which he was a valued member. No man stood higher for |
| | the truth, honesty and integrity. He leaves a wife, five sons and three daughters. |

| | Soldiers Tribute to Comrade R. W. Jones. |
| | Again we are called together to perform the last rites over the body of a dead comrade. |
| | It seems only yesterday that we followed the coffins of Pendleton and Curry. More and |
| | more rapidly they are going. The thin gray line grows thinner and in quicker succession |
| | they fall out of the ranks and now Comrade R. W. Jones has laid down his arms. |
| | He had been mustered out and with his honorable discharge in his hands and his brave |
| | breast shining with the insignia of long and faithful service he has gone to join that immortal host "who are resting" under the shade of the trees on the other side of the |
| | river. Comrade Jones was a private in the ranks through life both in the military and |
| | , |

| | civil service, but it is said of him by soldier and citizen that he did well what his hands found to do keeping always and everywhere both his armor and his honor bright. He was true to his convictions doing his duty today and leaving results to Him who shapeth the ends of all, he stood to his post until he fell. We, his comrade, loved and respected him living so we mourn for him dead. To his bereaved family, we the Confederate Veterans of Clark county tender our sympathy. His wife has the consolation of his noble life and his children take from him the priceless heritage of a spotless name. And now comrade "good night" and may we ask in that better world be permitted to bid you good morning. R. H. Patterson, W. H. Tower, B. F. Curtis, Leland Hathaway, committee. |

| Jones, Randy Eugene | Row at School Exhibition. A Free For All Fight in Which One Person Was Killed and Five or Six Others Were Lately Wounded. Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 13—At a school exhibition near Poca, this county, occurred one of the most terrible tragedies ever enacted in the county, resulting in the death of one and fatally wounding five or six others. A crowd of young men attempted to disturb the school exhibition and break up the performance, when the teacher, named Fisher, objected and tried to eject them. They turned on him and several of the audience coming to his assistance, caused a general free for all fight between the two factions who have had a long standing feud. Harry Flasher was shot in the heart and died instantly; Henry Carney, shot in the back and dying. Ralph Jones and two others whose names are not obtainable were fatally shot. George Gibson was shot in the hands. Han Harding had his skull crushed and several others received minor wounds. This has broken out the old Poca feud and the end is feared. No arrests have yet been made. The Winchester Democrat, Friday, December 16, 1898 Randy Eugene Jones, 43, husband of Robyn Michelle Jones, passed away on Saturday, November 26, 2022, at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, after a horrendous cancer battle. Born in Winchester, Kentucky, on June 12, 1979, he was the son of Charles Jones and Barbara Brinegar Byrd. He was employed at Hayes Drilling for more than 18 years. Randy was passionate about all things dirt racing. He was a co-founder of the Kentucky Dirt Racing Alliance and builder of Right Angle Racecars, and driver of |
| | superstock car #74. In addition to his loving wife of 22 years, he is survived by sons, Charles Dylan, and Matthew Jones; sister, Cammie (Donnie) Lambert; and a host of extended family and friends. Randy's wishes were to be cremated. Services will be held at a later date. |

| Jones, Raymond Spencer | Pastor Raymond Spencer Jones believed that taking care of "the flock," ministering to the sick and downtrodden, was his most important calling in life. And indeed, his greatest strength was connecting with people in need. In his 92 years of life, Ray Jones served 10 churches from Kentucky to Ohio, California and back again. He took pride in starting 5 new churches during his career and led several building programs in others. He conducted stewardship campaigns in 3 states, held revivals from coast to coast and organized rallies in the L.A. area to raise money for a hospital in Zimbabwe. Ray received training for the ministry from KY Christian College and Cincinnati Bible Seminary, where he graduated. His first full time ministry was in Hamilton, Ohio at the North 7th St. Church of Christ — and many years later concluded his ministry at that same church. His larger ministries were at First Christian Church in Dodge City, Kansas, and the Knott Ave. Christian Church in Anaheim, CA. For many years he also lead the Westside Church of Christ congregation in Hamilton, the Forest Dale Church of Christ in Springdale, Ohio, North Orange Christian Church in CA, as well as the Ferry Church in Waynesville, OH. After his formal retirement in 1991, Ray served as interim Minister at churches in Oxford and Bellbrook, OH. He is survived by 3 children: Daughter, Dawn Kusumoto (husband Dr. Walter Kusumoto and son, Justis) from Chico, CA, Son, Daniel Spencer Jones (wife Lisa and daughter, Kayla) from Rancho Santa Margarita, CA, Son, Randall Kevin Jones (wife Barbara and son, Samson) from Stamford, CT, Daughter, Lisa Kay, was lost as a newborn (only 3 days old). He was responsible for bringing thousands of people to Christ through his work. Born in Winchester, KY on July 24, 1924, Ray was the oldest son of Jodie Spencer Jones and Laura Pearl Epperson. He had 2 younger brothers, Lloyd and Stanley Jones, who like him, served as Ministers of the Gospel, before themselves going to be with the Lord. Visitation will be held on Sunday Jan |

| Jones, Robert | In Jessamine county, opposite Valley View, Robt. Jones was shot and killed by Jesse Howard. Jones was twenty-five years old and unmarried. Howard has a wife and several children and lives at Valley View. He was arrested and lodged in jail. Whiskey was at the bottom of the affair. Until recently Howard lived near Ford, this county. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, September 25, 1894 |
| | JESSE HOWARD, recently of this county, who killed Robert Jones near Valley View last week, was tried Wednesday and held over in $1,000 bond to await the action of Circuit Court. It appears that five were together, all drunk. Howard had a row with a man named Winkle and struck him on the head with a rock. Shortly after this Howard went to his house and got his gun. He and Jones then got into a quarrel and Howard claims that Jones was advancing upon him with a knife when he shot him. Howard's wife is a cripple and he has several little children who are wholly without support. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, October 2, 1894. |
| | Jesse Howard, who killed Jones at Valley View, is still in jail unable to give bond. Howard killed a desperado several years ago and got a short term for it, but it is thought he will get out of this case.—Nicholasville Journal The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, Nov. 20, 1894 |
| | THE following in regard to a former Clark county man appears in the Richmond Pantograph: "Jesse Howard, who killed Jones at Valley View is still in jail unable to give bond. Howard killed a desperado several years ago and got a short term for it, but it is thought he will get out of this caseNicholasville Democrat. The above appears in The pantograph in its issue of November 20 th . In behalf of Mr. Howard we desire to say that the Nicholasville Democrat made a mistake in giving to its readers the news that he killed a desperado several years ago and was sent to the |

| | penitentiary a short term for committing such a crime. It is a grievous mistake and does Mr. Howard and his family a harming injustice. It gives us pleasure to correct it. He is entirely innocent of this alleged crime and imprisonment. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, January 1, 1895. |

| | THE case of Jesse Howard, formerly of this county, for murder is set for today in the Jessamine Circuit Court. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 12, 1895. |
| | THE jury in the case of Jesse Howard for killing Young Jones at Valley View failed to agree and the prisoner was placed under a bond of $ 350 for his appearance at the next term of court. The jury stood eleven for man slaughter and one for acquittal Nicholasville Democrat. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, March 26, 1895. |
| | JESSE HOWARD, late of this county, who was tried for murder at Nicholasville recently and released on bond, the jury disagreeing, had a narrow escape from the penitentiary, the jury standing eleven for conviction of man slaughter, and one for acquittal. The lone juror was obstinate and Howard is free for a while at least. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, April 2, 1895. |
| | JESSE HOWARD, who formerly lived near Ford, was tried in the Jessamine Circuit Court last week and acquitted of the murder of Robt. Jones. This was Howard's third trial for the crime. On the first trial the jury stood eleven to one for conviction; the second jury also hung but divided more evenly; and the third one as above stated resulted in an acquittal. | Jones, Robert AA | In Memoriam. We feel sad and grieved because of the death of Robert Jones, (colored) who died after three weeks suffering of fever, aged twenty-one years. He died where he was raised, at the residence of Mrs. Sarah H. Scobee. He was a good boy, loved by his friends and respected by his neighbors. It is due to his memory to say that his habits of life were correct, his morals and religious character blameless, he loved his church and Sunday School, and benevolent order. He was kindly cared for by physicians and nurse, but we do miss Bobbie, and pay this tribute to his memory. |

| Jones, William C. | Death Of W. C. Jones William C. Jones, aged about seventy-five years, died at the home of his son, W. Y. Jones, near Becknerville Tuesday of brain trouble. The remains were taken to Madison county for burial. He was a native of this county, but had lived for many years in Madison county. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Eliza Adams, of this county, and eight sons and daughters, Mrs. W. I. Hughes, of Bourbon county; James S. Jones, of Jasper; Mrs. G. C. Farney, of this city; Ben T. Jones, W. Y. Jones and Mrs. Filmore |
| | Osborne, of Becknerville; Mrs. P. B. Poer, of Pine Grove, and Edward Jones, of Madison county. One brother, Capt. B. H. Jones, formerly of this county, but now of Madison, Mo., and Mrs. Amanda Adams, of this city, also survive. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Feb. 7, 1902 |
| | In Memoriam. Tuesday morning, February 4 th , the angel of death summoned from the scene of his earthly labors William C. Jones, in the seventy-sixth year of his age. Death always comes as a shock to those who survive, but to him who has faithfully performed the duties of life, as father, husband, citizen and neighbor, it has no terror, and gently, as the tired one sinks to sleep, so did the spirit of this faithful one seek its Maker. |
| | To those who loved him, it is hard to see the hand of a loving Father in this stroke of Providence, but we know that he doeth all things well, and he who has gone before would not have us repine. The memory of his kindness, love and patience, will make those who are left behind more desirous to be like him, and his death is but an added link to draw us to the heavenly home to which he has gone. Not now but in the coming years, It may be in the better land. |
| | We'll read the meaning of our tears, |
| | And then, ah then, we'll understand. |

| Jones, Willie | For a while Calib Jones, a former Jailer of Knott county, was confined in jail here. As |
| | he was credited with killing twenty-seven men, he was an object of much curiosity. His |
| | son seems to have been a bad man also, but had different luck inasmuch as he was |
| | killed, instead of killing some one. Willie Jones, in company with another man |
| | attempted to rob Morgan Turner, of Floyd county, when a young man named William |
| | Martin seized his Winchester and opened fire. The robbers ran, but next morning Jones |

| | Death of E. S. Jouett, Sr. |
| | Perhaps no event of recent date has caused such wide spread sorrow as the death of Ed. |
| | Jouett, Sr., which occurred at an early hour Saturday morning. About a week previous |
| | he suffered a severe attack of cholera morbus; acute kidney trouble ensued and in less than a week he was dead. He was sixty-three years old and his life was as an open book |
| | upon every page of which was inscribed devotion to duty and love to his fellow man. |
| | No man in the community had more friends and fewer enemies. Gentle, kind and |
| | loving, he was always among the first to sympathize and help those in trouble; to |
| | admonish the erring and wayward in the spirit of Christian charity and to welcome the |
| | wanderer back to the fold. He was proud of his sons, but it was in the love and |
| | tenderness which he lavished upon his wife that his nature found its fullest expression. |
| | For many years he was a leading merchant in this city and in every transaction his word |
| | was law, for everybody knew that what he said was true. As an Odd Fellow and a |
| | Knight of Pythias he was prompt in the discharge of every duty and made a model |
| | member of each. |
| | In early life he made the "good confession" and attached himself to the Christian |
| | church. At the time of his death he was an Elder in the First Christian church, a |
| | position he had held for a long time. His death is a sad blow to the community, which |
| | can ill afford to lose a citizen so valuable, while his life is an example worthy of emulation by the rising generation. |
| | The Chris church was crowded to its utmost capacity Sunday afternoon while Revs. W. |
| | S. Keene, W. T. Bolling and J. W. McGarvey conducted the funeral. The Odd Fellows |
| | and Knights of Pythias, together with a large number of friends accompanied the |
| | remains to the cemetery. |

| | Resolutions of Respect |
| | At a meeting of Ivanhoe Lodge, No. 48, K. of P., the following preamble and |
| | resolutions were adopted: |
| | Whereas, an all wise Providence has seen fit to remove from among us our beloved |
| | brother, Edward S. Jouett, Sr., and Whereas, we sincerely deplore his loss, and desire to manifest our profound sorrow in |
| | some lasting tribute to his memory, therefore be it Resolved: |
| | 1. That in the death of Brother Jouett this lodge has lost one of its most valued |
| | members; a worthy chivalric and courteous Knight; a competent and faithful official, |
| | and wise counselor. |
| | 2. That his family has lost a kind, indulgent and loving husband and father, devoted to |
| | the comfort and welfare of those dependent upon him; and the community an upright, |
| | honorable citizen, just and true in all the relations of life. |
| | 3. That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in this hour of their |
| | deep distress. 4. That as a mark of our actoom for the memory of our deceased brother, this Castle |
| | 4. That, as a mark of our esteem for the memory of our deceased brother, this Castle Hall be appropriately draped, and that the members of this lodge wear the usual badge |
| | of mourning. |
| | 5. That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this |
| I. | 1 Office from the resolutions of spread apon the minutes of this |

| Jouett, J. L. | A dispatch from Cythiana says: "Ex-Jailer J. L. Jouett died here this afternoon from the effect from a severe electrical shock. An electric light wire came in contact with an iron column in the new Hamilton Hotel and charged the entire building. Mr. Jouett was leaving the hotel, and stepped on a zinc plate and was knocked to the floor by the shock. He was taken to his residence, where he died in about fifteen minutes from the time he receive the shock. Several other persons were shocked and the hotel was set on fire by the current, but no material damage was done to the hotel" Rev. J. J. Gilbert, of this county preached his funeral Monday. |

| Jouett, Matthew Harris | Matthew Harris Jouett is the subject of an interesting illustrated article in the May number of Harpers' Magazine entitled "Kentucky's Master—Painter." It is by Chas. Henry Hart, of Philadelphia, the famous art critic who had charge of this department of the World's Fair. Though Jouett lived in the early part of this century and died at thirtynine, his work has given him a world wide reputation. Of it Mr. Hart writes, "It is not extravagant to say that his work borders on the marvelous." He was the father of Admiral James F. Jouett, United States Navy, (recently retired) and an uncle of the late E. S. Jouett of this place. The latter's family have a superb portrait of the artist, painted by himself which has been pronounced by connoisseurs to be of almost fabulous value. |

Judy died Wednesday night at his home on Lexington Avenue, of paralysis, aged about seventy-five years. The funeral will be preached this morning at the family residence by Eld. George Froh and the remains will be buried in the Winchester cemetery. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Nelson, and two daughters, Mrs. A. G. Ratliff, of Bath county, and Mrs. A. W. Stofer, of Montgomery county. Mr. Judy had long been one of our most prominent and substantial farmers and had many friends who will regret to hear of his death. The Winchester Democrat Fri., July 12, 1901 Will Probated. The will of Henry F. Judy was probated Monday. It was dated March 31st, 1899, and gave to his wife, Fannie Judy, for her own use with power to dispose of it the house and lot on Lexington Avenue where he died, horse and buggy, all household goods, cash on hand, not to exceed one thousand dollars, life interest in house and 107 acres which was bought of J. E. Hall on the Mt. Sterling pike, also life interest in 49 acres at same place. To his grandchild and namesake, Henry Judy Gay, he left his watch. The residue is to be divided into three equal parts and is to go to his daughters, Mrs. Annie Ratliff, Nannie Stofer and the children of his daughter, Laura Gay. After the death of his wife the property left to her for life is to be divided in the same manner. A mortgage note of $ 4,462 due from his daughter, Mrs. Stofer and husband, is to be collected before division. He asks the Court to appoint O. S. Johnson as guardian of his three grandchildren, the children of his daughter, Laura Gay.

| | Three Were Killed. |
| | Bloody Shooting Affray in the Capitol Hotel at Frankfort, Ky. |
| | The Tragedy Is One of the Most Sensational in the History of the State—Details of the |
| | Bloody Event. |
| | Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 17.—A bloody battle in the lobby of the Capitol Hotel at 1 o'clock |
| | Tuesday afternoon resulted in the killing of Ethel Scott, of Somerset, a nephew of Gov. |
| | Bradley, G. H. Demaree, of Shelbyville, assistant postmaster, Capt. C. H. Julian, and |
| | the wounding of Harry McEwan and a traveling salesman named Golden. |
| | The principals in the bloody affair were ex-Congressman Dave Colson, of the Eleventh |
| | congressional district and Scott. The trouble was an old one, growing out of a fight at |
| | Chickamauga last year, when Colson commanded the 4th Kentucky volunteers, against |
| | Scott, who was a captain. |
| | The tragedy is one of the most sensational in the history of "The Dark and Bloody |
| | Ground." The killing occurred in the lobby of the Capitol Hotel, the principal hostelry |
| | of the state capital, the room being well filled at the time with politicians and others |
| | who are here attending the contests for state offices before the legislature. The |
| | with are liefe differences for state offices before the legislature. The witnesses to the affair were taken so much by surprise when the shooting began that |
| | most of them were almost panic stricken, and there are many and conflicting stories as |
| | to how the fight began. Col. Colson and a party of friends, among whom was Demaree, |
| | were sitting in the lobby engaged in conversation as Scott and Capt. Golden came up |
| | the stairs from the bar room. When they had advanced about half way across the room, |
| | walking in the direction of Colson, the latter, it is said, half rising from his chair, fired at |
| | Scott, who instantly returned fire. |
| | The shooting then became general and bystanders are at variance as to the number |
| | engaged in it. Demaree was standing slightly in front of Colson, and young Scott is said |
| | to have crouched behind to ward off bullets from Colson's revolver. In an instant |
| | Demaree fell dead, pierced by three bullets. Capt. Golden, who accompanied Scott, |
| | reeled to one side, falling in the arms of ex-Gov. James B. McCreary, exclaiming, "I am |
| | shot." |
| | The smoke in the locality of the antagonists became dense, but Colson continued to |
| | press Scott, who retreated backward, shooting as he moved. Colson emptied the |
| | chambers of a 48 revolver, and quickly brought a 44 into action. Scott by this time had |
| | been shot several times, and as he staggered back and fell down the stairway, Colson, |
| | who was within a few feet of him continued to fire till the lifeless form of Scott rolled |

over and showed life extinct.

The battle was terrific, and bullets fairly rained through the lobby of the noted, several of which went wild pierced window glass or imbedded themselves in the walls and furniture of the hotel. It was not discovered for several minutes afterward that Julian, who died later, had been shot, and at first his wound was thought to be only trifling. After the killing Col. Colson ran out of the hotel and hurried to the residence of Chief of Police Williams, where he surrendered. He was almost exhausted, and he entered the house gasped: "I am sorry he would not let me alone. There were three of them shooting at me."

Charles H. Julian, who was shot in the leg, died shortly after reaching a room, death being due to loss of blood and the shock to his nervous system.

Capt. Golden was removed to a room and made a statement that Colson was the aggressor.

Col. Colson, who killed Scott and who is charged with the killing of both Demaree and Julian, and with shooting Golden, has long been a prominent figure in Kentucky politics. He served two terms in Congress and declined a renomination at the hands of the republican party of the 11th district in 1898 in order to accept the colonelcy of the 4th Kentucky regiment in the Spanish war. Scott was a lieutenant and Golden was captain of a company in Colson's regiment, and trouble which led to the tragedy here began then. A feud sprang up between Colson and Scott while the troops were in camp at Anniston, Ala., and in this it is said by Colson's friends that Capt. Golden was a warm partisan of Scott. The trouble between them at that time culminated in a meeting between them in a restaurant which resulted in Colson being shot by Scott. The regiment was shortly afterward mustered out of the service as a result of the feud between the officers and the serious charges and counter-charges which they had made at Washington against each other as officers. Since then the parties had not met and it has been generally believed that blood would be spilled should they meet, as both were understood to be looking for each other.

Colson Trial Begun.

All Civilians Are Searched for Arms Before Entering the Courthouse—Several Witnesses Are Absent.

Frankfort, Ky., April 18.—The Franklin circuit court was opened up in true East Kentucky style Tuesday morning, deputy sheriffs being stationed at each entrance to the courthouse, and no one being allowed to enter unless he permitted himself to be searched for concealed weapons. This was done on the order of Circuit Judge Cantrill. He gave no reason for the order except that he wanted peace in the court room. The cause of it was the calling of the case of Col. David G. Colson, the surviving principal of the Colson-Scott pistol duel of January 18,last.

After listening to motions and postponing a damage case pending before the court, the case was called, and both sides announced ready for trial. Col. Colson was in the court room with his attorneys when the case was called. His attorneys are L. C. Mynott and L. C. Houk, of Knoxville, Tenn., Burton Vance, of Louisville, Ex-Assistant District Attorney John G. Fitzpatrick, James Andrew Scott and Ben G. Williams, of this city. For the prosecution, commonwealth Attorney Robert B. Franklin will be assisted by county Attorney Jas. Polsgrove and Judge Geo. Denny, of Lexington. After several hours a jury was secured, the attorneys being unusually careful in selecting the panel. The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, April 24, 1900

Frankfort, Ky., April 19.—The first day of the Colson trial failed to reveal positively who fired the first shots in the duel in the Capitol hotel lobby last January. Capt. Golden testifies that Colson fired the first shot while other witnesses for the commonwealth said both men fired about the same time, and still others said the report from the first shot was not as loud as the second. When the men met Colson had a 45-calibre pistol, while Scott had a 38.

The Winchester Democrat, Tuesday, April 24, 1900

Frankfort, Ky., April 20.—John E. Paxton was placed on the stand Thursday morning in the Colston murder trial.

Paxton was talking to Chas. Julian who was killed, when the fight commenced. Paxton said he couldn't tell who fired the first shot, as he did not know there was any trouble until he heard the first shot.

Paxton said he was positive the first shot was not as loud as some that followed it. He said it was his impression that a man standing in the center of the room fired the first shot. He saw Colson follow Scott to the stairs. Colson stopped at the head of the steps and fired a shot down the stairs at Scott. Paxton is of the opinion that Charles Julian tried to escape by way of the front door when he was shot in the leg and bled to death. As no agreement was reached relating to the testimony of Sheriff Watwood, the commonwealth continued to introduce witnesses. Dr. G. F. Thompson testified as to the wounds on Scott's body and hand.

J. M. Hargrove, of Somerset, Scott's old home, told of the meeting of Colson and Scott at the republican convention at Lexington last July.

Attorney Franklin announced that the commonwealth, with the exception of sheriff Watwood's evidence, was ready to close. The attorneys for the defense and the defendants held a short consultation, after which Attorney Williams arose and said they would like to be courteous, but they could not agree to permit the commonwealth to introduce a witness for the prosecution in the midst of the testimony for the defense. The court ruled that the witness was unavoidably detained, and the case would be suspended until Friday morning.

| Justice, William Wallace | Justice |
| | Dr. William Wallace Justice died at his home on Lexington Avenue in this city at 8:30 |
| | p.m. Thursday, July 11 th after an illness of three weeks. Deceased was born in Cass |
| | county, Indiana, March 11 th , 1827. He was of Scotch-Irish descent and his ancestor, |
| | Matthew Justice, was driven out of Ireland and fled to Holland on account of the |
| | persecutions of James I. Afterwards he came to Maryland and the father of the subject |
| | of this sketch moved to Indiana in the early years of the last century. His father and uncles were revolutionary soldiers. Dr. Justice moved from Indiana to Mt. Sterling in |
| | 1851 and three years later came to Winchester. In 1861, he was married to Mrs. Sophia |
| | E. Scott (nee Croxton) who with one daughter, Rose Hood, survives him. At about the |
| | age of ten years, he became a member of the Methodist church and hence was a |
| | member for about seventy years. He was a steward of the church for many years and |
| | superintended the Sunday school for forty years. For twenty-seven years he did not miss |
| | a church service and in the forty years as superintendent he missed two or three |
| | services. He had his dental office in the same room for forty eight-years, and there were |
| | but few days in that long stretch of years that he was not practicing faithfully and |
| | efficiently his profession. The recital of dates above indicate in a mere feeble way his |
| | life's labors. In all these years he was the industrious competent professional man, the |
| | loving tender husband and parent, the upright man of affairs, the faithful church worker, |
| | the humble Christian. He deserved esteem and love, and his fellow citizens without stint |
| | praise his deeds and honor his memory. He feared and honored his God and four score |
| | years of great peace and joy came to him. He died as he had lived, calmly and |
| | peacefully. He trusted God in life and in his death he was assured of his Father's help |
| | and presence. The funeral took place from his late home at 3 p.m. Saturday, July 13 th . |
| | Services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J.L. Weber, and the remains were interred |
| | in the Winchester cemetery. |
