	Died in short time Mrs. Andrew Baber, who was so badly burned Monday, died in a short time and the little girl died almost at once. She leaves a husband and one little girl. Before her marriage she was Miss Cooper, and she was a general favorite with all who knew her.
	The Winchester Democrat Friday, February 21, 1908
	We were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Andy Baber and little daughter Bertha, who caught fire Monday morning and were burned so badly they died a few hours later.
	Their funerals were preached the following day by Eld. J.W. Harding at Antioch Christian church and the remains were buried in the family graveyard. She leaves a husband, little daughter, age ten months, and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss. The bereaved ones have our sympathy.

Baber, Hub	Saturday night, a party was held at Hunt. A number of those present filled up on mean whisky and a free fight ensued, in which Jeff Webb, Jack Webb and Hub Baber were badly cut. Baber's wound is the most serious as the knife penetrated the abdominal cavity, and may in fatally. Later; Baber died from the effects of his injuries Monday night. He leaves a wife and five or six children. It is not known positively by whom the fatal blow was struck and in consequence, there have been no arrests made. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, November 15, 1893
	The Court House was filled all day Saturday the occasion being the examining trial of Tilly Shearer, for killing Hub Baber at a party at Colby Parado's near Hunt the Saturday night previous. The testimony was varied and in some cases conflicting, though little or none connected the prisoner directly with the tragedy. After a very patient hearing,
	Judge Haggard discharged Shearer from custody. Although the house was full of people and three men were badly cut, yet it appears highly probable that the wounded men themselves don't know who inflicted the wounds. Amid all this mystery the lamentable fact stands prominent that a man was cut off in the prime of his strength; a widow and five little children are left to fight the battle of life alone: some man will henceforth wear the brand of Cain and all because the dance was turned into a drunken revel. Bailey, children	SPOTTED FEVER. Death Claims Two Victims at Little Muddy-They Contracted the Disease From a School Teacher. BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Feb. 17Cerebro spinal meningitis, or spotted fever, has made its appearance at Little Muddy, Butler county, and two of the children of Cobe Bailey, a well-known farmer of that locality, are dead from it. Miss Susie Gardner, a sister of Mrs. Bailey, was teaching school at Morgantown when the disease made its appearance there, and, with the others, she fled from the town, making her abode at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. Bailey. Soon thereafter she was stricken with the disease, and very soon all three of the Bailey children were suffering from it. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, February 21, 1899.

	Negro Man Is Shot Fatally C.T. Nichols Held in Slaying of James "Pickhandle" Bailey at Rooming House Here. C.T. Nichols, about 18 years old, negro, was in the Clark County jail Thursday charged with the slaying Wednesday night of James "Pickhandle" Bailey, about 35 years old, negro employee of Clark County. Bailey was fatally injured shortly after 9 o'clock by a bullet wound over his right eye. He died during the night. The shooting occurred in a North Maple street rooming house, operated by Lillie Kitchen, negro. Nichols was arrested by Chief of Police Wallace Strode, and Parolman Dan Insko and Matt Ramsey. The youth claimed that he placed the pistol in the room where Bailey was and later heard the shot. Two negro girls said they saw Nichols enter the room with a pistol in his hand. Bailey came here from Alabama and for the past several months has been employed by the county. He recently was arrested on charges of operating a car while intoxicated. County Attorney Jesse Kash said the case would be presented to the grand jury Friday, September 23, for further investigation. The Winchester Sun, Thursday, September 15, 1932.
	The murder trial of Charles Nichols, negro, for the killing of J.M. Bailey, another negro, September 14 was entered into. Bailey pleaded the shooting was accidental. The Winchester Sun, Friday, September 30, 1932.

Bailey, negro, last September 17, in Bucktown, negro settlement of Winchester, was found guilty Friday afternoon of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at Frankfort. Nichols claimed the trigger went off accidentally as he was tinkering with the pistol. He said he immediately ran for a physician. Commonwealth witnesses testified that only one shot was fired. 	The Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgement of the lower court in sentencing Will Jennings, the pal of Wilson Howard, the outlaw of Harlan county, to imprisonment for life. Jennings and Howard were charged with the murder of John Bailey in Harlan county and besides this crime, they committed numerous others, which gave them a wife of 44 years, Judy, and his precious daughters, Brandy and Noelle. He was born in Estill County to the late Myrtle Winburn Bailey and Roscoe Bailey. He was a 1967 graduate of George Rogers Clark High School in Winchester and a 1988 graduate of Morehead State University where he was chosen to give the commencement speech as a non-traditional student. He retired from Arvin Meritor, formerly Rockwell International, with 38 years of service. He started as an hourly employee and worked his way into management after only seven years. He finished his career in Frankfort as supervisor of the welding department. For many years, he was involved in men's fast pitch softball; first as a player for ByPass and then as a coach and sponsor for Top Gun. He won numerous state championships mowing his yard, riding his motorcycle with his best friend Denny, driving his Corvette, spending time in the sunshine, and bringing pies and donuts to his nurses.

	Every Christmas he enjoyed placing the nativity scene in his front yard for the residents of Winchester to enjoy. But most of all he loved taking care of his family and reminding them, as often as he could, how much he loved them and how proud he was of them. In addition to his wife, Judy Railoy (non Chiera), and doughters. Brandy Railoy and Noello

Bert Hall, who has been keeping a little grocery in Lexington, had a cousin, Volney Baird, who boarded with him and clerked for him. For some time Hall had suspected a growing intimacy between his wife and Baird, and the latter had told Mrs. Hall many ugly stories concerning Hall's intimacy with other women, thus causing trouble between Hall and his wife. Friday morning Hall sent for Baird, and confronting the guilty couple, told Baird that he intended to leave his wife and that Baird might take care of her. A fight ensued and Baird was shot through the brain. The Coroner's Jury brought in a verdict to that effect. Hall formerly lived in this city. At first he had a little grocery near or where Mrs. Scott now keeps on Main street and afterward he ran a saloon on North Maple street. His wife was a Miss Kelly, from Bourbon county. Baker, James	was arrested and lodged in jail. The evidence was overwhelming and the only hope was executive clemency. Much pressure was brought to bear on his father, Gov. Desha, for pardon, but the old Governor said he would let the law take it's course. Young Desha was tried, convicted and during some of the legal technicalities growing out of the case, he was placed in the Cynthiana jail for safe keeping. While there he tried to commit suicide and nearly succeeded by cutting a great gash in his throat. Public sympathy was aroused and at last his father pardoned him, just before the former's term as Governor expired. The Governor did not resign as is generally supposed, but served till the end of his term. After the young man was pardoned he lived a wandering life for some time. The brand of Cain was on his brow and he lived a miserable life. Finally he was reported dead and was gradually forgotten. Some time in the early 20's G. W. Crawford, of Greenup county, took a flat boat loaded with produce to New Orleans, as was customary in those days. Each night he would land his boat and only traveled by day. He slept in a portion of that boat remote from the other hands, and one night while tied up to the bank near Vicksburg, a man entered his cabin and awoke him, threatening to kill him if he made a noise. Crawford knew Desha well and when the latter made himself known recognized him at once. Desha told Crawford that he could not live in Kentucky, but had changed his name and was going to change his life; that he was going to some distant island and live as a Christian man should. He refused to tell Crawford the name he had assumed or his intended retreat. At Crawford's invitation he remained on the boat until it reached New Orleans, when he left and was probably never seen again by any of his acquaintances. Crawford asked me at the time not to mention those things and probably told no one else as everybody thought Desha was dead and Crawford thought it unwise to remove this impression. Until Minister Willis discovered his

Baker, John	More Trouble in Clay County
Daker, John	Trouble among the Clay county factions still continues. A dispatch from Barbourville dated Thursday says;
	News has just reached this place of two more killings in Clay county. Yesterday evening at 8 o'clock John Baker, recently in jail at this place for housebreaking, and who was given bail a few days ago, was on his way to Manchester with a negro and another man, they were fired upon from ambush by an unknown person. Baker and the colored man were both killed.
	Baker was much feared in that section, and is said to have been one of the most daring men in Clay county. The trouble is so great between the White-Howard factions and the Garrard-Baker factions that both sides keep an armed guard around them all the time.
	Gilbert Garrard passed through here Sunday on his way South. He said he had to leave or be killed. His father, Garrard, who is eighty-seven years old, and has lived in Clay county all his life, has been given two written notices to leave.

	Latest News From all Parts of the Commonwealth Horribly Butchered.
	NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., July 1-The body of Mary Baker, 18 years, was found by Allen Brock while fishing in the Kentucky river about two miles below Valley view. At the inquest held by Coroner T. J. Crawl a verdict of murder by unknown parties was returned. The girl's body was in horrible mutilated condition, her throat being cut, also several cuts on her face besides this there was a bullet wound through her stomach, her right arm was broken and her head had been crushed by the oar of a canoe, which was lying near covered in blood and hair. Mary Baker had been working for a family in the vicinity by the name of Winkler, and while she was a girl of prepossessing appearance, being both young and beautiful, she was of the country demi-monde class, and it is believed that she was murdered by one of her numerous lovers. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 2, 1895.
	THE dead woman whom Jesse Howard found floating in the river near Valley view last week proved to be Mary Baker, a beautiful but dissolute young woman of that neighborhood. Her skull had been crushed with a canoe paddle, her throat had been cut, she had been shot in the breast and then thrown into the river. No clue to the murderer, but the following from the Nicholasville Democrat will call to mind a young man formerly of this county, who moved into that section some years ago: "Several parties are suspicioned and although no arrests have been made, the party that was seen with her last is known, and at the inquest he failed to put in an appearance, yet he lived only a few hundred yards from the scene of the killing. This man's name is Rowland Tate. The murdered girl had on a ring belonging to Tate, and on Tuesday morning Tate showed the ring to different parties, holding up his hand and saying: "I got my ring.".

	THE woman killed at High Bridge, an account of which was given last week, was not Mary Baker as was reported. The latter is in Indianapolis. Suspicion and had been directed to Roland Tate, formerly of this county, but now the identity of both murderer and victim is shrouded in mystery. Baker, Nansara Jo Penick	Nansara Jo Penick Baker passed away and entered the Kingdom of Heaven on Sunday, September 26, 2021, at the age of 87. Nansara was born on October 5, 1933 in Jackson, Tennessee. Her parents were Albert K. Penick and Alice Pauline Mount Penick. They moved to Winchester, Kentucky when Nan was five years old. There she attended Saint Agatha Academy and graduated from Clark County High School in 1951. She went on to graduate magna cum laude from Georgetown College where she was a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.
	Throughout her life Nan wore many hats—mother, homemaker, sister, teacher, friend, and confidant to name a few—but in each of these roles she brought a sweetness and spunk that could bring a smile to even the most irascible face. Anyone lucky enough to meet Nan gained a friend for life, and felt the joy of being truly known, listened to, and cared for. Nan enjoyed bowling and traveling, and was a very active and beloved member of Russell Cave Road Baptist Church for many years. She deeply loved her church family and the Lord. In addition to her sweet and thoughtful nature, she was whip smart, incredibly protective of her family, and undeniably funny. Nan found great joy in being a homemaker, reading, and flower gardening, but most of all she loved spending time with her children and grandchildren.
	Nan was preceded in death by her parents, her husband Donald Clinton Baker, her sister Polly Penick Edwards (Gene), her brother Jacob Penick, one son Bobby Guy McClain Jr., and one daughter Patricia Ann McClain. Nan is survived by her daughter, Darla Kay McClain-Warren (Ted), her son Mitchell Thomas McClain, her grandchildren, Robert McClain, Thomas McClain, Nick McClain, Hannah Marie Warren, Sara Grace Warren, and two great grandchildren, Alexander Houston McClain and Noah James McClain.
	Funeral arrangements are as follows: Visitation will be at Kerr Brothers Funeral Home, 3421 Harrodsburg Road, Lexington, Kentucky on Sunday, October 3, 2021 from 5:00-8:00 PM. 	Baker Kept His Word.
	Was in Waiting, When the State Guard Arrived—He Says It Will Be Easy to Prove an Alibi.
	Manchester, Ky., June 9.—The Bakers are in the guardhouse at Camp George Bradley, under the protection of the state militia. Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock a detail of 20 men, under Maj. J. Embry Allen and Capt. Fred Wilson, guided by Deputy Sheriff Stubblefield, left Manchester in two jolt wagons. They arrived at the home of Perry Collins on Cane creek, 12 miles from here, about 8:30 o'clock. As per his agreement Tom Baker was there. With him was his wife, his son, his brothers, Dee and A. W.
	Baker and their friend, Robert Henley.
	Immediately upon arrival at Collins' home Stubblefield read to Tom Baker a warrant sworn by county Judge Wright, charging him with the murder of Burch Stoor, who was killed from ambush on April 6, 1898, along with Wilson Howard, and at the same time that A. B. Howard was punctured in the back, for all of which Tom Baker is held responsible. The arrest of Baker by Stubblefield on such a warrant was as much a surprise to the soldiers as it was to Baker, who on the other hand, regarded the troops, whom he believed had come merely for the purpose of protecting him, with suspicion, believing, for a time, that he was being entrapped.
	The entire party named above entered the wagons with the guards and were driven back to Manchester. The Bakers were uneasy all the route and kept watchful eyes on the hilltops and ever tried to penetrate the denseness of the roadside brush and foliage for evidence of some lurking enemy with an assassin's heart. The journey, however, was without particular incident, nothing occurring that was the least in evidence that the opposing faction had made a move to take Baker's life.
	Baker says he is innocent of the murders charged against him and can easily prove an alibi.

	Clay County Feud
	The Trial of the Bakers at Manchester terminated in a tragedy in spite of the presence of the troops. The indictments against the Bakers were quashed, new ones found, and a guns.

	The troops left Sunday for Barbourville with two of the other Bakers as prisoners. John G. White, of this city, brother of Sheriff and of Will White who was killed by Tom

Mrs. Tom Baker.

She Will Take her Children and Settle in the Indian Territory-A Peaceful Outlook in Clay County.

LOUISVILLE. Ky., June 21.- R. B. Lucas, of Manchester, who is here as a delegate to The Winchester Democratic convention, says the Baker-Howard feud is at an end. He says that Mrs. Tom Baker has decided to go to her father, who is a prominent farmer in Indian territory. She will take her children with her. Dr. Lucas declares that the men who have been corralled and armed in the mountains have laid down their weapons and returned to their homes and to their work. A better and more secure feeling prevails throughout the terror-stricken section. Everybody now appears to be satisfied to let the law take its course, and the members of the factions are disposed to have peace. Leading citizens, who have taken no part in the feud, are now endeavoring to get the Whites, Howards, Bakers, Philpots and others involved in the fighting to agree that they will do all in their power to prevent further bloodshed. These men are said to take kindly to this idea and when each faction is assured that no one of its side will receive harm at the hands of the enemy, it is thought peace will be permanently restored. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, June 27, 1899.

A SPECIAL SESSION.

Gov. Bradley Will Call the Legislature Together in July-To Change laws So That Feudists Are Punished.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 23.-Gov Bradley will call a special session of the legislature to meet about the middle of July to pass legislation, giving special judges the power to summons jurors from remote counties to try cases against members of feudal factions and to indict same. This is the report Thursday morning. It is stated that Gov. Bradley has investigated the case thoroughly and has come to the conclusion that a special term of court under the present laws would be void of results because of the fact that indictment could not be found against the parties by jurors who would have to be selected from Clay county under present law. This report is believed here, although Gov. Bradley refuses to discuss it at all.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, June 27, 1899.

THE Louisville Post publishes the following special from Frankfort concerning the Clay county feud: "The rumor this morning as to the situation of in the Clay county feud matters is this: Gov. Bradley will call an extra session of the Legislature to meet shortly after the Republican convention, or about July 15, to pass legislation giving the Governor power to appoint special Judges cases of feuds, and further giving the right to the Special Judge to select a jury from the distant part of the state to try the Bakers and to find indictments of the slayer of Tom Baker. The special term of court, it is said, will not be called until after the legislation requested has been passed, or some time in August. It is argued that the jury could not be found in Clay county under the present state of laws, which would return indictments against the Whites, the special term, therefore, would be fruitless without further legislative action. Judge Eversole has decided to vacate, and requested the secial term, but it will not be called until the legislature acts unless the program as now arranged is changed. The Governor it is stated, by the same source of information, will appoint either Judge Cantrill or Judge Morrow as special judge, though this may be changed. The Governor, it is stated, has hesitated to call the Legislature, because he cannot limit the stay here. The need not last longer than ten or twelve days and the call is expected to be promulgated within ten days."

CROWDS GATHERING.

No Doubt Has the Bakers' Attorneys as to Their Acquittal-The Cases May Be Called Tuesday Afternoon.

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., July 26.-The largest crowd ever seen in this town was here Monday at the opening of court, where Wiley and Jim Baker will be tried on a change of venue from Clay county. A large portion of the crowd was composed of friends and witnesses in the case. No steps were taken Monday in this case, and it will probably not be called before Tuesday afternoon. Attorney Allen Baker, of Manchester, is here, and has been since the murder of his brother Tom. He will take the leading part in the defense. He expresses surprise at the possibility of conviction, and claims no case can be made against the boys. They have many friends and relatives in this county, who say they will contend for their rights. The Whites, who will be interested in the prosecution, have not yet arrived, but will probably be on hand Tuesday. Another murder case to come up at this term is against Lawson Goodin for complicity in the alleged murder of Town Marshal Hubbard 13 years ago. Goodin left this county soon after the killing, returning only last year, when he surrendered for trial. His alleged accomplice, Will Beckett, was sent up for 21 years, but was lately pardoned. There is no indication of trouble.

True Bills Returned.

Sol, Jim and Tom Griffin indicted for Murder, and Ed and Floyd Chadwell Charged With Complicity.

Manchester, Ky., Oct. 27.—The grand jury impaneled here at the term of court which began Monday has a big task before it. There are twelve murders besides the assassination of Tom Baker to be investigated. Wednesday the jury returned true bills against Sol, Jim and Tom Griffin charging them with the murder of Deputy Wash Thacker and Eddy and Floyd Chadwell, charging them with complicity in the crime. Eddy Chadwell confessed that the plot was made and executed by the Griffins to revenge the advantage Thacker had give the Philpots by his testimony against the Griffins after the battle of July 17, in which four Griffins and one Philpot were killed. The town is full of witnesses and feudists.

Chanault's regiment and James B. McCreary was a Major in the same regiment; Joseph Tucker of Winchester was Lieutenant-Colonel. Chenault was killed at Green river bridge, July 4, 1863, while trying to take the stockade. Capt. Alex Tribble, of Richmond, was also killed in the same fight, as were Lieut. Bill Baldwin, father of Lew Baldwin, killed at Lexington a few years ago by Tom Green, of Maysville, and the father-in-law of Rodney Haggard, of Winchester; Lieut. West, Lieut. Rob't. McConn, Alex Cosby and John Cosby, brothers; Maj. Brent and others, whose names Hugh could not recall when the writer interviewed him. Capt. Steve Sharp, of Lexington; Bush Castleman, of Louisville, and many other well known Confederate soldiers were in that fight. The stockade was on a bluff on the Columbus side of the river going from Lebanon and was under command of Lieut. Miller, who belonged to some Michigan regiment, we believe. Col. Chenault wrote a note demanding the surrender of the stockade and the men, to which Miller laconically replied: "On any other than today I would consider the matter, but under the circumstances, if you want it, you will have to come and get it." Chenault attempted to do so with the assistance of Cluke's regiment and met with disastrous loss. After the fight was over Miller had the wounded Confederate taken to farm houses in the neighborhood and told the people with whom he left them that he would hold them personally responsible for their treatment, and the result was that they received the best attention. For this act Miller became endeared to all the Confederates, and had they subsequently captured him, they would have vied with each other in treating him the best they possibly could under the circumstances.

While here he was employed as salesman in the large dry goods department of the firm of W. G. Nothing was heard again until this morning, when a telegram was received announcing The deceased was a most exemplary young man, and consistent Christian, having joined the First Baptist church here by letter about two years ago. He was always highly respected by all his acquaintances, who ever had a warm welcome for him when they met him with his bright, sunny countenance, which reflected the inner worth of the The announcement of his death was a great shock to his friends, who deeply sympathize with surviving relatives in their hour of affliction. The Winchester Democrat Friday, March 23, 1894. Baldwin, Lewis D. THE BALDWIN-GREEN TRAGEDY Since our last we have learned the following facts connected with the Baldwin-Green tragedy, which place a somewhat different light on the killing to what our statement last week justified: From the evidence there seems to be no doubt that Baldwin made no effort to strike Green or to draw a pistol until after Green had struck him, and did not fire his pistol until Green had either fired or was about to do so. Baldwin asked an apology from Green, and he declined to give it. Baldwin then denounced him as a liar and scoundrel. Green replied, "I have heard your opinion of me, what are you going to do about it? Baldwin replied that if he saw fit to take what he had said he could do nothing except to reiterate the statement. Green then placed his hand behind his ear and asked Baldwin to repeat what he had said, and just as Baldwin was finishing his statement, Green dealt him a heavy blow in the face with his clenched fist and being the stronger pressed Baldwin back and continued to strike him until the hand in which Baldwin had his pistol, was caught in such a way as to prevent its use. Green then pushed him back and fired the fatal shots; many witnesses saying that Baldwin never fired or attempted to fire his pistol until he had been mortally wounded. It appears that Green struck Baldwin for what he said after telling him in substance that he would not attack him for words, and after Baldwin had told him in substance that he did not intend to strike him. Under these circumstances it is difficult to see the grounds of self-defense relied upon by Green If language justifies the taking of life Baldwin could have killed Green on sight and pleaded self-defense as Green was the original aggressor in this respect. We clip from the Jessamine Journal the following account of Lew D. Baldwin's funeral, together with the eloquent tribute of Elder Wm. Stanley, of the Christian church in relation to the dead: The largest funeral cortege ever witnessed in this neighborhood was that of the lamented Baldwin on Friday lasts the 18th inst. The carriages and other vehicles numbered one hundred and forty-four. The crowd in attendance was variously estimated at from three to five thousand. From early morning, friends and people from a number of counties in the State, were thronging the room where lay the remains. The coffin was an elegant cloth-draped casket covered with flowers and on the plain silver plate was the simple inscription, Lewis D. Baldwin. The rooms and hall and porch were crowed with relatives and intimate friends and hundreds collected in the yard and street who could not find room inside the house. Besides the grief-stricken wife, children and aged mother of the deceased, there were present the wives, sisters, mother, father and brothers, many relatives of the deceased, embracing hid three sisters, Mrs. Pendleton, Mrs. Haggard and Miss Ella Baldwin of Winchester; W. L. Baldwin, brother, from the West, Mrs. John Baldwin, sons and daughters, Lee, Rand, Robert and Miss Rosa; Samuel Baldwin and family of Madison; Senator Rodney Haggard, sons and daughters; Mr. And Mrs. Phillip Hodgkin, Mrs. Ben A. Crutcher and Mr. And Mrs. Thomas Rash of Winchester. Quite a number of friends were here from Danville, Richmond, Lexington, Frankfort and other places. All of the revenue officials from the district came in the morning and at noon the collector, Hon. Thomas Bronston arrived. A number of the Odd Fellows Order from Lexington were present. The services were conducted with unusual solemnity. Rev. D. B. Cooper, the pastor of the Methodist church, led in the exercises with prayer and singing "Jesus Lover of My Soul," and "Nearer My God To Thee," after which Elder Stanley, of the Christian church, a brother Odd Fellow of the deceased and a brother Confederate officer of his father, paid a most interesting and beautiful tribute-a copy of which (furnished at the request of friends) is given at length in this paper. The procession was as follows: T. S. Bronston and all of the revenue officials in the lead, next the Odd Fellows from Nicholasville and many from Lexington, then came the hearse, the casket strewn with floral tributes, surrounded by the following persons as pall-bearers; J. D. Hughes, Hon. E. L. Lillard, Senator E. R. Sparks, N. R. Dickerson, George B. Mosely, S. E. Davis, Wm. G. Mosely, carriages containing the widow and the relatives, then the procession of carriages, vehicles, and the largest cortege ever seen in our streets. A full view could be had from Main cross streets looking West out Harrodsburg and North the full length of Main street to the gates of the cemetery. The line of carriages bridged the span between the residence and the gates. The last sad rites at the grave were the beautiful and impressive burial ceremonies of Odd Fellows, conducted by Past Grandmaster Elliot, Past Grand Chaplain Hunt, Past Grand Marshall Rodenbaugh, and Chaplain Stanley. The last sad rites performed slowly the immense concourse dispersed-sadness on every continence and grief in every heart.

Remarks By Elder Stanley

The following eloquent address was delivered by Elder Wm. Stanley, of the Christian church, at the funeral of the late Col. L. D. Baldwin:

My dear friends—I appear not today as a minister to deliver a funeral discourse. The relatives do not desire it; my friend did not approve funeral sermons. As a citizen, a friend, a brother-man, I shall endeavor, in a few words, to voice the sentiment of those who knew him, and to present a portraiture more faithful than the travesties, which have lately appeared in the public prints. This largest concourse of tearful citizens which this city has ever witnessed, testifies how Col. Lewis D. Baldwin was.

Admired, Appreciated and Loved

In the days of knighthood in olden times, impetuous valor which scorned to count the cost of daring, an unselfish chivalry that forgot self in defense of another, a delicate sense of honor taught to brook no intentional insult, and to rest not while a stain on character was not expunged, threw a weird charm and lent a singular fascination to the spirit of a time now rapidly disappearing before a changed civilization. That spirit was reproduced in a nobler form in our land by a class represented by such men as Clay, Jackson, Benton, Randolph and S. S. Prentiss. With the Lost Cause it has nearly passed away. Col. L. D. Baldwin presented all the structural peculiarities of that class in a clearer type than any one we have known in later years. Of princely manner, knightly bearing, faultless figure, classic features, peerless in courage.

Unselfish and Generous

To a fault it is not strange that he was so admired. Ever ready to risk his life for another, with heart and hand, home and purse, ever open to his friends and to the needy, we need not wonder that he was so beloved where best known. When but fourteen years old he went bitterly when refused permission to accompany his father and grandfather in defense of the cause of his beloved South. The first of these lost his life at Green River, the other at Vicksburg. Refusing to share with his mother any portion of his father's patrimony, he at an early age began to carve out his own fortune. His enterprise could acquire what impulse could not hold. He as rapidly spent as he accumulated. Never taking counsel of fear, and too impetuous to delay for conference with prudence, his life was.

Constantly Imperiled

More than once he has saved the life of others by despising his own. When conflagration was sweeping away the property of his friends, he led where none dared to follow. In the discharge of his official duties as revenue officer, he displayed the mot exceptional heroism. When quite young, an appreciative public recognizing his ability, energy and worth, elected him to the position of Circuit Court Clerk. Re-elected to the same position, he only resigned to accept another of public trust. Col. Baldwin was a natural leader, and so gallantly championed every cause which he espoused that his efficient and gallant services were so highly appreciated that he was known, honored, admired and trusted by the leading men of this State. Better than all he was dearly beloved. Probably no man in our midst was such a favorite with children. He whom children love is lovely. Mystical more than magical, was his influence upon young men. Never before the news of the awful tragedy reached the ears of our citizens did bitter hot tears so freely course down the ruddy cheeks of youth. So generous, so kind, so unselfish, so youthful in his impulses, they could but dearly love him. When his mother over his lifeless form exclaimed, "Oh, my beautiful, my noble boy!" her words found an echo in every heart. She saw her noble boy, whose heart never fluttered with one craven impulse, whose face never blanched until the cold hand of death was laid upon his forehead. At his home he was lovely. His children clambered upon his knees, twined their arms around his neck, and in unchecked glee romped with this larger boy. A devoted warm-hearted husband, he never lost the courteous manner of the youthful lover. How he was more than repaid by the exceptional devotion of the most loving of wives we so well know. Although Col. Baldwin was not extremely sound in faith from unorthodox standpoint, and decidedly Unitarian view, I hear cheerful testimony as one with whom he freely conversed that he had.

Keep Reverence

For all things righteous and a loving regard for all whom he esteemed truly pious men and women. He was not an infidel. Oh, my friends what a fatal mistake his advisors made, who it seems to me might have so readily averted this awful tragedy. Lewis D. Baldwin was a stranger to malice, as forgiving as a child and quickly forgot the past as soon as injury was repaired. As well essay to place a yoke on the North wind, or chain a thunderbolt as by promises or resolve bind him to endure what he considered an insult unatoned, or a stain upon his name, or suspicion of his courage not erased. But it is too late for regret. We to-day only bury his noble form; the memory of his chivalric, generous nature is sacredly enshrined in the hearts of his so many friends, and his every opponent must yield him the need of manly admiration.

Ball, Annie	Ben Johnson, of color, (alias Plunkton) was arrested by Marshal Johnson yesterday
Buil, Millie	afternoon on the charge of attempting to commit an assault on a Miss Ball, daughter of Pomp Ball, of Pinchem, who was riding along the road about 10 o'clock that morning.
	He made a desperate attempt to escape when arrested but was finally lodged in jail to await his examining trial at 10 o'clock this morning. Great excitement prevailed last night and threats of lynching were heard on all sides. In case he is identified by the young lady as the guilty party it will require the greatest effort to prevent his being summarily dealt with.
	The Clark County Democrat Wednesday, March 24, 1880 Lynch Law – Ben Johnson, of color, alias Plunkton, taken from jail at midnight and hanged to a maple tree in the Courthouse yard
	In our last issue we gave an account of the arrest of Ben Johnson, of color, better known as Plunkton, for attempting to commit an assault on Miss Annie Ball, of Pinchem.
	Judging from the excited state of the popular feeling about the matter, we predicted that he would be lynched, in case he was identified by the young lady next day, and this prediction proved to be correct. At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, Plunkton was brought before Judge Allan, and to make sure of his identity, three other negroes were seated with him. The case opened and no sooner had Miss Ball entered the court room than she pointed him out. This aroused the excitement of the large crowd to the highest pitch, and threats of speedy vengeance were audibly heard, but the trial was allowed to go on. The young lady stated that she had been in town Tuesday morning shopping, and had seen the negro Plunkton at Rees' stable, as she started home. She stopped at Mr.
	H.W. Kohlhass' to fix her satchel, and while engaged in doing this he passed her, walking rapidly out the Two Mile road. When she had gotten over the hill near Capt.
	Pendleton's, the negro sprang from the roadside and seized her horse by the bridle. She screamed and struck at him several times with her whip. He then attempted to pull her from the horse, but she struck at him across the face with her whip, and after a determined effort made her escape. Sanford Wills, of color, testified to Plunkton's being at the stable on the morning in question. Marshal Johnson testified to the arrest of Plunkton and his desperate efforts to escape. No testimony was introduced by the defendant, and he was held over to circuit court in the sum of $1,000. It required the greatest coolness and bravery on the part of the officers to get the prisoner back to jail without having him strung up or carved into mince meat by the indignant populace.
	Even the better class of his own race wanted the Judge to place Plunkton in their hands for punishment. It became very evident during the evening that no power could save him. The roads were watched and he could not have been taken to another town, and no citizen of either color could be found who was willing to risk his life in a futile attempt to guard the life of so deprayed a villain, but it must be said that the officers did their whole duty. The night wore away quietly until about half past eleven o'clock, when a number of masked men came into town from several directions, and, at the signal, a pistol shot, orders were given to put out all the lights, and a rush was made for the jail. The jailer and marshal were overpowered and compelled to deliver Ben Plunkton to The jailer and marshal were overpowered and compelled to deliver Ben Plunkton to them. The other prisoners were not disturbed. A rope was placed around his neck while he was being dragged from the jail, and his hands were tightly pinned behind him. The doomed negro yelled, "Fire! Fire!, murder!, murder!" a few times, but was speedily throttled, and only a few piteous cries for mercy escaped him. He was taken across the street to a maple tree in the corner of the Court house yard, and in less time than it takes

Ball, Beulah May Ball, Bonnie J. Jones Ball Buck	to write it the rope was thrown over a limb, his body drawn up about two feet from the ground, and he was speedily strangled. The men who did the hanging were probably not over fifteen in number, but others to the number of forty or fifty were posted around town, and all were armed to the teeth and well disguised. They moved with the greatest alacrity and precision, and the orders were given by the leader to his men by numbers, "No. 4" being detailed to inform the jailer not to cut the body down until after sunrise. The party left a little before midnight, but it was after that hour before the ominous echoes of their horses' hoofs died away on the still night air. There was a terrible earnestness in their movements that showed plainly that they were not to be trifled with, and while mob law is deprecated by all good citizens, yet in an instance of this kind Kentuckians always make short work of the guilty parties. Nowhere in the world is female virtue and purity more highly esteemed or more zealously guarded than in Kentucky, and woe to him, whether he be white or black, who attempts to commit an outrage so shocking to all law and principle. We went to the cell of the doomed negro about dark, in order to obtain his statement of the case. He did not appear to realize the danger impending, and denied to the last that he was the guilty party. His restless air when closely questioned, and the transparent manner in which his excuses were given, did not, however, tend to lessen the opinion of his guilt. He claimed to have been elsewhere at the time, but his identification by the young lady was so clear and positive, and the circumstantial evidence so convincing, that but little doubt was left as to his being the criminal. From all we can learn the regulators did not attempt to secure a confession or denial from him, so well were they convinced of his guilt. His body was cut down about 6 ½ o'clock Thursday morning, and an inquest held thereon in the court house by Coroner Parrish and a jury. The body was greatly swoll

Ball, Charley	Resisted A Sheriff. Two Men Are Dead and a Third One Fatally Wounded as a Result of a Lively Battle. Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 6.—In a general fight which took place near Cumberland Gap, across the state line in Tennessee, two men are dead and another fatally wounded. The dead are Less Raines and Tom Swan (colored). Deputy Sheriff Charley Ball, of Lee county, Virginia, received wounds from which he will probably die. Sheriff Ball had under arrest a man by the name of Gibson and was taking him in custody when the other men attempted to take him from the sheriff. A general fight followed and 20 or more shots were fired, there being several other parties who took part in the battle. The little town, which is near the line of the three states, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, is in a state of excitement. The fight took place in a saloon, the parties involved being drunk. Raines is a distiller and a prominent citizen. Nothing definite can be learned as to who fired the fatal shots and as yet no arrests have been made. The Winchester Democrat Friday, February 9, 1900

	A daughter of Benjamin Ball, who lives in Mercer county, died with an ailment that puzzled eleven physicians who were called in to examine her and prescribe for her. On the second day of last March the young lady, who was just sixteen, robust for her years, began sneezing, and kept it up constantly for four weeks, the longest interval between any two sneezes being just one minute. At the expiration of four weeks the sneezing quit, and it was hoped that she would not again be troubled. Three weeks after this she was again attacked with sneezing, and notwithstanding she had the best of medical attention, kept it up constantly until death came to her relief. Ball, George (Pomp)	The trial of the convict Smith for killing Pomp Ball, in Rockcastle county a few years ago, was called at the recent term of the Circuit Court in that county and was continued until next term on account of the absence of material witnesses. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 2-1-1888
	Several Years ago "Pomp" Ball of this county, while guarding convicts in Rockcastle county, was approached by one of them, a Negro named Henry Smith, with a request that his handcuffs be slightly loosened as they were hurting his wrists. Ball kindly complied and being taken off his guard, the convict snatched the gun from his hands and shot him to death with it. The murderer escaped but was caught some time after. After several mistrials he was this week condemned to the penitentiary for life. The sentence will be read with pleasure here where his victim has many relatives and friends. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, March 27, 1889
	Henry Smith, the Negro who murdered Pomp Ball nearly four years ago and was convicted for life during our late circuit court, was taken to Frankfort Wednesday. He wore the same handcuffs he was wearing when Ball was killed, though the had lain hidden for years in an old stump near the scene of the murder, where he had secreted them. He lately divulged their hiding place and the officers thought it a good idea to use them again on him, though he strongly objected and asked that others be used instead—Stanford Journal
	The Winchester Democrat Wednesday March 27, 1889
	The gun with which convict Henry Johnson murdered guard Ball, near this place, some five years since was found by Robert Taylor Tuesday last, hidden beneath a log about 100 yards from where the killing occurred. When Johnson was captured he refused to divulge the hiding place. The fire arm is a double-barreled shot-gun. The stock is partially decayed and rust has damaged the barrels.—Mt. Vernon Correspondence in Stanford Journal. Mr. Ball was from this county and has several children living in and near this city. The negro convict who killed him complained of the hand cuffs hurting his wrists, and when Mr. Ball kindly loosened them the convict snatched the gun from his hand and shot him with it. The murderer was sent to the penitentiary for life.
	The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 18, 1891 A Murderer Confesses
	Many of our readers remember Geo. Ball or "Pomp." As he was familiarly known. He lived near Pinchem and was one of the best hearted men in the whole county. This goodness of heart finally caused his death. He was not a successful business man and after the use of convicts here had become common he became a guard, and after the convicts finished their work here he still retained that position. In the spring of 1891 he was employed in transferring a lot of convicts from the railroad to a convict camp at some point on the K. C. extension. One of the convicts complained that the fetters hurt his wrist and Ball in the kindness of his heart set his gun down to loosen the fetters. No sooner were the handcuffs loosed than a convict grabbed the gun and killed him. The keys to the fetters were taken from the body and the convicts escaped except a few who did not try, but found their way to camp. Morgan Jackson, one of the convicts was tried and given a life sentence.
	The following from Frankfort would indicate that he is the wrong man. A dispatch to Louisville Times from that city, says: "Henry Smith, a negro convict confined here, has written a letter to Capt. Hyde, his Sunday School teacher, in which he confesses that he and not Morgan Johnson killed Guard Pomp Ball in 1891. In his letter he, in substance says: "I want to make a statement about Morgan Johnson. He is confined for a crime he did not commit. It is for the murder of Pomp Ball. I, Henry Smith, and others made up a plot to kill Ball, and Morgan Johnson knew nothing of it, and has already suffered too much for our wrong, falsehoods and wickedness. On May 20, 1891, Pomp Ball was taking some men to the railroad camp, when I, Henry Smith, Bob Ray, Bale Patterson and Landess Griggs made up a plot to hill him (Guard Ball) and Morgan Johnson knew nothing of the crime, and was in another car at the time. After making up the plot we decided to lay it on Johnson. Who was convicted and given a life sentence. I Henry Smith, am alone for the blame for Pomp Ball's death. Morgan Johnson is unjustly confined. He has no money or friends or any way to put the facts before you. I pray you do something for poor Morgan. He needs mercy. I am at your service for further facts." The Governor will at once investigate the truth of Smith's story.

Ballanger, Harry Clarence Ballantyne, Virgil	The Winchester Sun Fri., 10-12-1928 Mrs. Ballantyne's Dream.
	She Saw her Son Virgil Killed in a Railroad Wreck. Newport, Ky., Nov. 1.—Word was received in Newport Friday that the remains of two of the victims of Thursday's wreck on the C. H. & D. railroad, near Oxford, O., have been identified, and that they both were from Newport. The young men are Virgil Ballantyne, the 18 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Ballantyne, of 639 Monmouth street, and Harry Prues aged 19, a son of Mrs. Mary Prues, who lives at 845 Monroe street. The peculiar feature of the death of young Ballantyne is that his mother when informed of the death of her son told of a dream which she had had after reading of the wreck in which she saw her son among the dead. Young Ballantyne had gained some notice as a jockey, having had a number of mounts on local and foreign tracks. He had not been riding lately, and both he and young Prues were on their way from Middletown to Hamilton in search of work when they were killed. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 7, 1902

Ballard, John and Wife	A year or so ago, John Ballard and wife of Madison county, both of them deaf and dumb were struck by a train on the L. and N. and killed. Suit was brought against the railroad for $10,000 damages. The evidence showed that the engineer had given the usual signals which the victims did not hear owing to their infirmity. Ballard, John Edward	John Edward Ballard, of Winchester, Kentucky and formerly of Chatham and Mantoloking, New Jersey, loving husband of Joyce Ann Baber Ballard, passed away peacefully on August 23, 2019 after a fierce battle with cancer and dementia.
	John was born and reared in Paris, Kentucky, son of Bland Ballard and Melvina Davis Ballard.
	He deeply cherished the natural beauty of his native land and the heritage of his ancestors, who pioneered through the Cumberland Gap to settle in Fort Boonesborough in 1775.
	He was blessed with a multitude of lifelong friends with similar roots in the Blue Grass, and they often joked about their multi-generational friendships while playing golf at the Winchester Country Club.
	Shortly after his father passed away when he was 6, John became a Boy Scout, and he always credited this organization with filling the void of his father's premature death. Over the years, he worked diligently to earn the 21 merit badges required to achieve the highest rank: Eagle Scout. John's actions throughout his life were unequivocally shaped by the words of Scout Law: a scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent. Anyone who has interacted with John would readily agree that he was all of this and more.
	His marriage to Joyce, his wife of 68 years, exemplified teamwork, deep respect, and unconditional love. In their lives together, they moved across the country and travelled around the world.
	After serving in the Air Force during the Korean War, John earned a Bachelor of Science from the University of Kentucky in just two and a half years.
	After graduating, he accepted a position at AT&T, where he worked in New York City and Washington D.C. for 37 years until his retirement in 1990. In this role, he was integral in the development and implementation of 'Long Lines,' which facilitated the transition from local telephone service to long distance communication. He also participated in the early development of 'picture phones.'
	John and Joyce were lifelong, faithful members of the Methodist church. They were married in 1951 at First United Methodist Church in Winchester, where he later served as both Chairman of the Board of Ushers and Chairman of the Board of Trustees for a number of years.
	John cherished nothing more than his family.
	In addition to Joyce, John is survived by two daughters who adored him, Joyce Kimberly Ballard of Edina, Minnesota and Mary Ballard Ward (Michael) of Winnetka, Illinois; his grandchildren Kimberly Anne McNulty (Patrick) of Minneapolis, Minnesota, Amy Elizabeth Sacks (Aaron) of Falling Waters, West Virginia, Elisabeth Ballard Ward of New Haven, Connecticut, and Edwin Michael Ward III of San Francisco, California; two great-grandchildren, Aiden and Asher Sacks; and his brotherin-law Paul I. Baber (Pat) of Madisonville, Kentucky.
	In addition to his parents, he is predeceased by his brother Bland Ballard, his sister Nancy Ballard Sandridge, and his sister-in-law Helen Baber Ladson.
	Funeral Services were held on Monday, August 26 at 12:00PM at First United Methodist Church in Winchester, Kentucky, with visitation beginning at 10:30AM at the First United Methodist Church.
	The family wishes to thank all of the nurses and caregivers at Rose Mary Brooks Place and Clark County Regional Hospital who were always so kind and compassionate to him.
	In lieu of flowers, the family asks that donations be sent to the Blue Grass Council of Boy Scouts of America, 2134 Nicholasville Road, Suite 3, Lexington, KY 40503, or the First United Methodist Church, 204 S. Main Street, Winchester, KY 40391.

	Scobee Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Bankhardt, Emma	WOMAN'S AWFUL DEED. She Killed Her Mother and Sister, Fired the House and Suicided. Covington, Ky., Aug. 29The disorder brain of a woman was responsible for one of the most atrocious crimes in the history of Kenton county, Kentucky, Thursday afternoon. Murder was her mania, and she succeeded in killing one person, seriously wounding another, and then committed suicide. At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon the residents of Sanfordtown, a small settlement on the Madison pike, about four miles from Covington, were startled by cries of murder emanating from a cottage situated in the middle of a small cornfield. Before they had an opportunity to get together and make an investigation flames flashed from the house and cries for help could be heard coming from the building. The whole populace was soon aroused, and gathered around the burning building. A door was broken open, and on a bed writhing in the agonies of death was Mrs. Margaret E. Bankhardt, aged 64, while near her was her daughter Dora trying to smother the flames. The house was burning rapidly, and men grabbed buckets and started to the cistern to try to save it. As a bucket was dropped it struck some object. This object was pulled to the surface a few minutes later and found to be Miss Emma Bankhardt, the demented daughter of Mrs. Bankhardt. She had struck her mother and sister Dora with some blunt instrument, set fire to the house and then jumped into the cistern. Before the men could rescue Mrs. Bankhardt she was burned to a crisp, and the daughter Dora was so badly burned about the face and arms it is doubtful if she can recover. Banks, Roscoe Banks, Sarah Elizabeth	The Winchester Sun Mon., 8-26-1935 Sarah Elizabeth Banks, 27, passed away on July 15, 2022, at her home in Winchester. She was born on September 27, 1994, to Kathy Hall (Banks) Botner, and the late Virgil Wayne Banks, parents who adored her from the very beginning. She graduated from the old Winchester Christian Academy in 2012 and was employed by Professional Solutions Property Management in Winchester.
	Besides her mother, Sarah leaves behind many special people in her life to cherish her memory including her older brother, Corey Banks, her maternal grandmother (Nana), Louise Hall, her stepfather, Jerry Botner, the man she shared her life with for many years, Antonio Jerel Haggins, Sr., and a very special little 5-year-old boy named Jerel Haggins, who called her his YaYa and also Mommy. Sarah simply adored Jerel beyond measure and had been in his life since he was 6 months old. She was preceded in death by her father and her paternal grandmother, Jessie Banks. Sarah will be sadly missed and fondly remembered by many aunts, uncles, cousins, and special friends.
	Sarah enjoyed listening to music including classic rock bands and rap. She adored her two cats, Kashi and Guy and many other pets that went before her. She loved all animals, especially cats and dogs, and she and her mother shared many cute and sad tales about lost, abused, and silly animals daily. Sarah also had an affinity for our older generation and always said, I just love old people. She especially loved her Nana and spent many days just sitting with her in her apartment, talking about anything and everything. We will miss her beautiful smile, her sweetness and quiet, gentle nature every day that we remain on earth. Our only hope is that she knew how very much she was treasured and adored.
	Her family invites you to celebrate Sarah's life on Wednesday, July 20, at Scobee Funeral Home. Visitation will be 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm, with the service directly following at the funeral home.

Bannon, Henry	Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Donovan were in Maysville Sunday and Monday to attend the funeral of Mr. Henry Bannon, a cousin of the former. The Winchester Democrat Tue., June 5, 1906 Died, at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Cincinnati, Friday morning, June 1, 1906, of pneumonia, Mr. Henry Bannon, aged forty-seven years. He was a son of Mr. John Bannon, of Mayslick, Mason County, and is survived by his father, one brother and one sister. His remains were interred at Washington Monday at noon after Requiem Mass at St. Rose of Lima Church, Mayslick. Services at the grave were most impressive and were conducted by Revs. P.M. Jones, of Maysville, Eugene deBruyn, of Mayslick, and Father Alfred, of the Passionis Monastery, Cincinnati. From early childhood he had been delicate, but cheerfully and calmly he had battled with an incurable malady, knowing always that it was a losing fight, but never complaining or repining. His good humor was contagious and his whit though keen, had never a sting in it. In his early manhood he accepted a position with Browning, King & Co., of Cincinnati, which position he retained for twenty-three years until his death. On account of the miscarriage of a message to his home, he died without the gentle ministrations of parent, brother or sister, but the hands of friends did what could be done to smooth the passage from the visible world to the realm of the unseen. Cut off in what is ordinarily the prime of life, he yet leaves a rich legacy of cheerful words and sunny smiles, and by his life of strict integrity and kindly deeds won the high esteem of all who knew him.

Bannon, Mary E.	DIED At her home in Mayslick, Mason county, on Thursday, the 17 th inst. Of , ,	pulmonary trouble, Miss Mary E. Bannon. Miss Bannon was a lady of many rare accomplishments and had a host of friends who sincerely mourn her demise. She was an honor graduate of the Academy of Visitation, Maysville, and was especially beloved by the noble Sisters who conduct that institution. Miss Bannon's poetical contributions to the periodicals of the country, were eagerly sought for and widely copied. For a number of years she contributed annually a New Year's address to THE WINCHESTER DEMOCRAT. These attracted much attention for their beautiful imagery and wealth of poetical diction. She was indeed highly endowed with all the qualifications that go to make the perfect woman and, not withstanding the year of suffering, she was a model of cheerfulness and Christian fortitude. In her death earth has lost one of its fairest flowers, which has been transplanted into the brighter regions above, there to bloom through all eternity untouched by decay or death.

Barbee, William T.	Died on western coast
	The remains of Wm. T. Barbee, formerly of this county will be brought here for burial At Marysville, California, on June 4 th , at the County Hospital, a young man, who gave his name as William T. Darby, died. After holding the body awhile without identification, it was buried. A few days after a young man named James Freeland appeared at the Coroner's office and said the dead man was not Darby, but was W.T.
	Barbee, of Lexington, Kentucky. Investigation followed and the body was positively identified as that of Barbee, and the remains will be brought to this city for burial.
	· ·
	William T. Barbee was a son of Bradford Barbee and a native of this county. Mrs. John G. Locknan, of Winn Avenue, is his aunt, and Thomas Wilson, of this county, his uncle.
	John S. Barbee who moved to Fayette county is an uncle, and Miss Kate Barbee, of Lexington, who frequently visits here, is an only sister. He left here seven years ago and went West on account of his health. He had inherited eight thousand dollars before he went west on account of his health. He had hinefred eight thousand donars before he went away and left it in the hands of his uncle, John Barbee, for investment. He drew the interest on this for a couple of years and then ceased to do so, the interest meanwhile being placed to his credit in bank. His family lost trace of him and could not locate him. For some reason he changed his name and nothing more was heard from him until his death as above stated. It is not known at present what day his remains will reach here. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 3, 1908

	Died in California The remains of William Tarlton Barbee were brought here Wednesday from the Pacific coast for burial. He was a native of this county, a son of Bradford and Bettie Wilson Barbee, and was thirty years of age. His parents died years ago and his financial affairs have been in the hands of his uncle, John Barbee. About nine years ago he left and went West. His family kept track of him for awhile, but finally lost all trace of him. Some months ago under the name of William Darby, he entered a hospital at Marysville, California, where he died June 2 nd . Before his death he told the officers of the institution that his home was in Covington, Ky. After his death a young man who was his friend told that his real name was Barbee and that his people lived near Lexington, Ky. By this means his friends got trace of him and sent for the body, which was buried by the side of his parents in the Winchester cemetery Wednesday afternoon, with services at the grave by Eld, M.P. Lowry and Rev. C.E. Crafton. He leaves one sister, Miss Kate Barbee and numerous relatives. The Winchester Democrat Friday, August 28, 1908

Barber, Chester Barber, Eugene Mac	The Winchester Sun Fri., 12-30-1932 "Gene Mac" Barber, 84, passed away in the comfort of his Winchester home in the early morning hours of July 1, 2023.
	From Hillsboro, Kentucky, Gene Mac was the eldest of two sons raised by Henry Eugene and Aetna Walton McRoberts Barber. From their humble beginnings, the Barbers would—through hard work and determination—forge a pathway for building not only one of the largest order-buying livestock businesses in the United States, Eugene Barber and Sons Cattle Company, but later, the Lexington Bluegrass Stockyards as it is known today.
	In the 1970s, the Barber family partnered with Kenneth Holt to purchase Blue Grass Stockyards from its original founders. Gene's family life also expanded around this time, as he married the love of his life, JoAnn Frances. What was once a small family unit of only Gene and his beloved daughter, Sandy Lou, was now a combined household with JoAnn's three children, Bob, Joannie, and Patrick Buttram.
	Over the ensuing years, Blue Grass Stockyards would grow into 7 regional markets located across Central Kentucky, marketing upwards of 500,000 head of cattle annually. With JoAnn's support, Gene emerged as a leader in the industry, and in 1996 served as President of the National Livestock Marketing Association.
	In January of 2016 a devastating fire destroyed the Blue Grass Stockyard complex on Forbes Road in Lexington, KY. Under Gene's leadership, a team of nine partners constructed the new Blue Grass Stockyards and Regional Marketplace, which opened in Lexington less than two years after the loss of the original stockyard. The new stockyard fulfilled Gene's long-standing vision of an integrated livestock market and commercial business hub. Gene was known for his devotion to his family, his love of animals, and his unwavering integrity. Gene's customers could depend on his word and benefitted from his tireless efforts on their behalf. He was a stalwart ally to his loved ones, to whom he showed great affection and generosity.
	Gene was preceded in death by his parents and by his daughter, Sandy. He is survived by his devoted wife, JoAnn, his three stepchildren, Joan, Bob and Patrick (Jamie) Buttram, his two granddaughters, Lauralee (Patrick) Estill and Molly Gene Crain, his two cherished great grandchildren, Francis and Mary Patrick Estill, his brother, Larry (Valerie)Barber, Larry's children, Laura Sue, Lee Ann, Larry Gene, and Laramie, his cousins, Deanie and Eric, and numerous grand nieces, and grand nephews.
	Services will be held on Wednesday, July 5 th at the Blue Grass Stockyards and Regional Marketplace, 4561 Iron Works Pike, Lexington, KY 40511 by Scobee Funeral Home. Visitation will begin at 10:00am with a memorial service following at 1:00pm. Gene will be buried at the Hillsboro Cemetery, Hillsboro, KY, after a family-only graveside service. Pallbearers will be Laramie Barber, Larry Gene Barber, Scott Bucher, Richard "Spike" Elliott, Patrick Estill, Robbie Fenton, Austin Paul, and Guillermo (Memo) Hernandez Viveros, whose tireless devotion allowed Gene to continue to pursue his passions despite the physical limitations he experienced late in life.

	In lieu of flowers, please make donations in Gene's memory to the Christview Christian Church, 3133 Boonesboro Road Winchester, KY 40391.

	Crime
	Campton, Ky., April 12
	Ballard Barker, charged with wife murder, in the presence of a number of people, made a detailed statement concerning the killing of his wife. He said they had got into a quarrel over the way she was living; that she threw a rock at him and he struck her on the head with a fence rail. In the fury of his excitement, he says, he does not know how many licks he struck her, but did not kill her the first stroke.
	His confession was brought about by Sheriff Combs. He has had no examining trial yet. It is thought he will plead insanity. There is much feeling in the community against the fellow.

Barnes, Albert	A DISPATCH from Mt. Sterling dated Sunday says: "Albert Barnes, who operated a store at Bowen, Powell county, was assassinated in this county last night while riding horseback to his home near there. Barnes body was fairly riddled with rifle balls. Several years ago Barnes, while waiting for the train from this city became involved in a difficulty with a man named Stevens. During the progress of the affair several shots were fired, some of them going through a coach of the train. One of the bullets struck a young man named Kelley Day, Killing him. Barnes was accused of firing the fatal shot but was recently acquitted of the charge in the Menifee county Circuit Court. The assassins have not been located. It is supposed the killing is in some way connected with the tragic death of young Day. Barnes is a brother of T. K. Barnes, of this city and was not an unpopular man. If the Day tragedy is not connected with the assassination,

Barnes, Albin	no cause of the killing can be given. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, November 16, 1892. Common Pleas Court began at Mt Sterling Monday with a larger docket than for years, comprising 160 new jury cases. Prominent among the new cases is that of Albin Barnes' trustees against the Farmers National Bank. It appears that about a year ago Albin Barnes executed a deed of trust to William and Geo. H. Barnes, conveying to them all of his property, about $75,000, except $10,000, which he reserved for himself. A week after, he determined to increase this reserve to $33,000, and with the consent of the trustees, executed a supplement to the deed of trust, the provision in each case being that whatever balances of this reserve remained at the death of said Albin Barnes should go to, and be held, by the trustees under the same limitations as the original trust. The trustees accordingly placed the $33,000 to the credit of Barnes in the aforesaid bank, and shortly before his death, which occurred last July, he gave a check to N. B. Floyd for a whole amount which check was duly presented, and paid by the bank. After Barnes' death the trustees demanded of the bank payment of the $33,000 and accumulated interest, which they claimed, belonged to them under the deed of trust. The bank refused payment, hence the suit. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 3-21-1888

Barnes, William	A DISPATCH from Mt. Sterling dated Sunday says: "Albert Barnes, who operated a store at Bowen, Powell county, was assassinated in this county last night while riding horseback to his home near there. Barnes body was fairly riddled with rifle balls. Several years ago Barnes, while waiting for the train from this city became involved in a difficulty with a man named Stevens. During the progress of the affair several shots were fired, some of them going through a coach of the train. One of the bullets struck a young man named Kelley Day, killing him. Barnes was accused of firing the fatal shot but was recently acquitted of the charge in the Menifee county Circuit Court. The assassins have not been located. It is supposed the killing is in some way connected with the tragic death of young Day. Barnes is a brother of T. K. Barnes, of this city and was not an unpopular man. If the Day tragedy is not connected with the assassination, no cause of the killing can be given. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, November 16, 1892. Man hunters scour hills Lexington, Ky., - A sheriff's posse is searching the mountains of Laurel county for William Tyree and Robert Barnes, charged with killing William Barnes and Mrs. Emma Taylor, as a result of a family feud. The feud has been under way 40 years, and many people have been slain on both sides. In the past 10 years, however, the Barnes and Taylor families have left off killing each other until this latest outbreak.

Barnett Gang	On Wednesday Gov. Buckner pardoned Alonzo Becraft who was serving a life sentence for murder. This is the last of the celebrated Barnett gang and recalls one of the most exciting episodes of this section of the State. In 1884, Vaughn Helton, who lived in Menifee county, incurred the enmity of old John Barnett and several of his followers. As these were known to be bad men, Helton moved to Montgomery county where he was murdered shortly afterward. A number of the Barnett gang were arrested and placed in jail at Mt. Sterling. In a few days a party of friends of the dead man headed by Jack Ringo, Sheriff of Menifee county, made an assault on the jail where the prisoners were confined for the purpose of lynching them. The jailer was apprised of their intention and the assaulting party was received with a volley of bullets from the guards of the jail. Several of the mob were wounded and Ringo had his leg so badly injured that amputation was necessary. Circuit Court was in session at the time and the prisoners were speedily brought to trial, and within a week, John Barnett, John Gibbs, John Solomon and Alonzo Becraft, Newton Yarber and Elliott Wadkins were in the penitentiary to serve out life sentences. Wadkins was pardoned out in a short time as he was found to be comparatively innocent. The change from the free air of the mountains to the walls of a prison was too much for the prisoners, and one by one, John Barnett, John Gibbs, John Becraft and Solomon Becraft went to the hospital and from thence to the graveyard. Last fall Newton Yarber was pardoned by the Governor and sent home to die in a short time. This week, as above stated, Alonzo Becraft, the last of the gang, was pardoned and sent home to the last stages of consumption, the same disease that carried off the rest of his companions. Barnett, daughter	RESULTS OF JEALOUSY. Two Women and a Girl Shot Down in a Dining Room While Seated for Dinner. Jackson, Ky., Aug. 31Shots fired into the dining room at the home of James Barnett, on Howard's creek, killed Mrs. Nancy Barnett, an aged woman; her 12-year-old granddaughter and Mrs. James Bennett. The latters husband, James Bennett, is being pursued by officers and others, it is said he did the shooting. It is said that Bennett was jealous of Barnett and objected to Mrs. Bennett taking dinner at Barnett's house. Bennett, who was not wounded declares that all the shots fired were meant for him, but simply went awry killing the two women and the child. The persons killed were seated at the dinner table with Barnett. This part of the country is greatly excited by the killing, and it is thought Bennett will be arrested within a few hours. It is presumed in Jackson that Mrs. Nancy Barnett is the mother of James Barnett and that the 12-year-old girl who was killed was Barnett's daughter. 	Two Women and a Girl Shot Down in a Dining Room While Seated for Dinner.
	Jackson, Ky., Aug. 31Shots fired into the dining room at the home of James Barnett, on Howard's creek, killed Mrs. Nancy Barnett, an aged woman; her 12-year-old granddaughter and Mrs. James Bennett. The latters husband, James Bennett, is being pursued by officers and others, it is said he did the shooting. It is said that Bennett was jealous of Barnett and objected to Mrs. Bennett taking dinner at Barnett's house.
	Bennett, who was not wounded declares that all the shots fired were meant for him, but simply went awry killing the two women and the child. The persons killed were seated at the dinner table with Barnett. This part of the country is greatly excited by the killing, and it is thought Bennett will be arrested within a few hours. It is presumed in Jackson that Mrs. Nancy Barnett is the mother of James Barnett and that the 12-year-old girl who was killed was Barnett's daughter.

	interfered with his work as an engineer, but at his request, made before his death, a post-mortem was made in the presence of fifteen physicians. The examination discloses the fact that the ball went through the left orbit, impairing but not destroying his sight, then passed back and down four inches through the vital part of the brain and lodged in the posterior horn of the lateral ventricle. The channel cut through the brain could be distinctly traced, and the ball was found slightly flattened and enclosed in a membranous sack.

Barriger, John W. Jr.	A St. Louis Killing. Friday morning, John W. Barriger, Jr., aged twenty-seven years, was stabbed to death by Thompson Morton at Barriger's private office. He only lived thirty minutes after the cutting. Barriger was resident engineer of the St. Louis, Memphis and Southeastern Railroad. Morton was a civil engineer, and for the time, without employment. After the killing Morton was found to be suffering from mercurial poisoning and was taken to the hospital in a dangerous condition. No one was present at the time of the killing, and as Barriger did not live long enough to make a statement and Morton refused to give the cause, nothing is known of it. Morton was raised in this city and was the son of Mrs. Sarah V. Morton, so long a valued teacher in our public schools. He studied civil engineering and worked for a long time in Central and South America, where his system became saturated with malaria. His friends here and those who know him best says his mind has been impaired for the last year. Naturally of a free, generous disposition, he had become surly and suspicious, and suspected various innocent parties of plotting to do him harm. Judge Beckner, who is an uncle of Mr. Morton, left for St. Louis Saturday afternoon. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 23, 1902. Thompson Morton The news of the action of Thompson Morton in killing J. W. Barringer at St. Louis and then attempting to take his own life was a shock to this community. This was his home, his father J. V. Morton was one of our most honored citizens. His mother was for many years a teacher in our city school. A brother Wm. is at the head of a college in Ashville, N. C. Hay, a younger brother is a Presbyterian minister at Sweet Springs, Missouri. A married sister lives in Louisiana. He is not a man that anyone would suspect of committing a crime. In childhood he had meningitis and his mind has never been just right since, though in many respects he was brilliant. Our hearts go out in sympathy to the family in this their hour of grief. Barry, George	Probate refused

Barry, George
	The will of the late Geo. Barry was offered for probate Monday at Mt. Sterling. He left a small provision for his old mother, also $1,500 for his wife. The remainder of his estate, some six or eight thousand dollars was to be invested in a monument to be placed over his own grave. The will was so unusual and unnatural in its provisions that the County Judge refused to admit it to probate.

Barry, James P.	Death of Father Berry
	Father James Berry, of Lexington, died suddenly of heart disease Wednesday morning aged seventy-five years. He was a native of London, England, and was very highly educated. For twenty years he had been located in Lexington and was greatly beloved by all classes and members of all churches. He had lived all his clerical life in this diocese, having held churches at Ashland and Paris before going to Lexington. The remains will be buried at Lexington today. Father Barry was well known to many of our readers and his death is a great loss to his community.
	The Winchester Democrat Friday, January 29, 1909
	Father Barry's heirs
	When the late Father James Barry, of Lexington, died he left an estate of about fifteen thousand dollars. He had no known relatives and his administrators began to advertise for heirs. About this time a firm of English lawyers were advertising to find out where he was, as he had fallen heir to an estate of $25,000 in Great Britain. Several nieces have turned up in Ireland and they will probably inherit both estates.
	The Winchester Democrat Friday, May 28, 1909
	Many heirs
	When Rev. Jas. P. Berry, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church at Lexington died, he left an estate of about five thousand dollars and it was thought that he had few, if any heirs.
	The executor says that fifty-two claimants have made their appearance, coming from England, Ireland and this country. Most of them were never heard of until after his death.

Basket, George	The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 10, 1894 GEORGE BASKET, a most estimable young man of this city, met with his death Thursday night under painful circumstances. In company with several men and boys he was bathing in the pond back of the N. N. and M. V. depot. He came out of the water before the others, who on coming away, were horrified to find his dead body lying in the edge of the water. He had partially dressed and was seized with an epileptic fit to which he was subject and fell into the water. His struggles were unheard by his companions and unseen in the dark, and consequently he died within reach of help that would gladly have been given. Efforts were made to resuscitate him but without avail. Coroner Alexander held an inquest and the jury retired a verdict in accordance with the above facts. He was buried Friday on the farm of Squire Ben Willis. He was about twenty-five years old and unmarried. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, July 1, 1891.

Bates, Lillie	Is now a murderer
	In a Bucktown row some ten days or two weeks ago, Lillie Bates was cut by Sol.
	Wadkins, the blade entering her back and penetrating her lung. She lingered along until Friday night when she died. The charge against Wadkins has been changed from malicious cutting to that of murder. The murderer is a bad negro and has frequently been in the toils of the law. He fled when the cutting was first done and has not been apprehended, but the police believe they will land him yet.

	But little has been done in circuit court this week. The Grand jury returned indictments for murder against Robert Shrout for killing his son-in-law, Will Ingram, and against Sol Watkins for killing Lillie Bates. Watkins is a negro who fled at the time the deed was committed and whose whereabouts is unknown. Shrout is a white man, and is out

Bates, Lula (Lillie) AA	Caught at last
	Some two years ago Charlie Watkins stabbed Lil Watkins in Bucktown so that the woman died shortly after. Watkins fled and for a long time his whereabouts were unknown. Woods McCord and office Ballard got on his track and several times have had him located, but each time he got away before being arrested. Some months ago they found out he was at O'Keefe, West Virginia, and notified the officials. When they went to arrest him a fight ensued and he got away. He was afterward heard of in New York State, but he got wind of the fact that the officers were after him and left. He was finally located at Indianapolis where he was arrested and officer Ballard went after him Tuesday. The murder was committed with little provocation and Watkins, who is a desperate character, should be hung. He will probably be tried at this term of the court.

	For this combat wounded Marine, there could not have been a more fitting day for him to take his final journey to freedom than on Independence Day. He was born on September 4, 1932 in Winchester, to the late Ben and Bertha Bates.
	He was the husband of the late Betty Myers Bates for 60 years. He is survived by two daughters, Charlene, beloved wife of the late Paul Hollingsworth, and Linda, wife of the late Wade Zack. One son, Eddie Bates. He was preceded in death by his son Johnny Bates. He leaves behind 9 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren. He is also survived by one sister, Betty Banks of Stanton. Preceding him in death, two brothers, Ben Bates Jr. And Rev. James Bates, one sister, Ada Marie (Pat) Rice. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews.
	Roy was honored to serve his country as a Marine. In early 1950, this Kentucky boy found himself on a ship headed for combat zones in Korea. On September 1, 1950, just 3 days before his 19th birthday, while on patrol there was an ambush and his group began taking heavy fire. As he began crawling on his belly, he heard the dreaded click of a land mine beneath him. Before losing consciousness, he realized that his left leg had been blown away. The Marines leave no man behind. One of them was killed in combat just a few days later. A highlight in Roy's life and for his family, many years later, was getting to meet and to thank the other Marine for saving his life that day.
	Visitation will be at the Scobee Funeral Home from 5-8 PM on Sunday, July 7, 2019. Funeral service will be held at the Liberty Bible Church of God located at 6615 Veteran's Memorial Parkway in Winchester at 11 AM on Monday, July 8, 2019. A Visitation will be held one hour prior.
	Our Mayor Ed Burtner will give remarks as will our US Congressman Andy Barr. Pastor Bill Konstantopous will give the eulogy.
	There will be full military honors at the close of the service. Roy will be laid to rest alongside his wife, Betty, at Arlington National Cemetery at a later date.

Batson, D. W.	A Deserved Tribute.
	Rev. J. J. Dickey, in the Mountain Messenger for July, prints the following tribute to Prof. D. W. Batson, Dean and Acting President of Kentucky Wesleyan College of this city. The article was illustrated with a half-tone portrait of Prof. Batson:
	"It gives us genuine pleasure to present to the readers of The Messenger the face of one of Kentucky's most scholarly and successful educators Prof. D. W. Batson, of Kentuck Wesleyan College. For thirty years this man has wrought within the walls of the institution over which he now presides, five years as a student and twenty-five years as a teacher, and yet he is only forty-five years old. He was born in Harrison county, Kentucky, and comes of good stock. Heredity, environment and will, have all been in his favor. His strong physical constitution made it possible for him to do a vast amount of work, circumstances demanded it and he had the will to do it. Upon his graduation h was offered the chair of Mathematics in his alma mater and accepted it. After four year of successful teaching a crisis came in the history of the college. The attendance had ru down and the finances were in a desperate condition. The wisest counselors say no way out. Young Batson, at this grave juncture, started the Board of Curators by proposing to become responsible for the support of the faculty if they would give him the income from all sources. They accepted the offer with trepidation, and in one year he had trebled the number of students and started the college on a new career, marking an era in its history. From that day he has been the strongest pillar in the temple. His work has been principally in the class room and among the students. His executive ability is of a high order. His benignant face is a true index to his heart. The unselfish devotion of his life to the institution which prepared him for his work is the crown jewel of his character. He aspired to a larger field to which his ability naturally pointed him. His brilliant record as a student, especially in Mathematics and Natural Sciences marked him as capable of great achievements in either of these departments. In both of these he had done splendid work. The first ten years he gave to the former, the last fifteen to the latter. His love of research would made him eminent as an original investigator, but he turned his back upon all of these allurements and consecrated his life to the service of his own conference school in the hope of placing it upon an enduring basis and leaving his work as a heritage to the church and his native state. We believe he will realize his hopes. Such devotion as he and his fellow workers have shown, never fails of results. It the young men they have trained they will live, and in them their work will go on. The streaks of dawn are visible in the financial horizon of the institution. Everything indicates a prosperous future. Dean Batson has more hearts beating in sympathy with his work than any other man could inspire. Although not known to fame he is known to a circle of men and women who have it in their power to give him success and we believe they will do it. From the Twentieth Century Thank Offering Fund the college will receive a considerable addition to its endowment and the agitation incident to it is bringing before the people the claims of Christian education as has never been done before. The gifts of this movement will give to the people a taste of the luxury of giving and we look for great results. An unfaltering trust in God and faithful work for the caus will as certainly bring success as that the morning will succeed the night. The eternal hills stand upon a foundation no firmer than are the promises of God's word. The prayer of faith never goes unanswered. We are secure.

We complete this week the story of the Battle of Winchester by Mr. A. C. Quisenberry. We have before us the manuscript of a story which shows that there was another battle in the city and suburbs in 1863 a year later. It is written by one who was a participant on the confederate side. It will appear in a later issue. There was an engagement on Stony Creek in this county that an eye witness will describe. It is not probable that these articles will appear until after the first of the year.

Baxter, Ed.	KILLING AT ATHENS A difficulty occurred at Athens yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, between Cash Halsey and Ed. Baxter, which resulted in the death of the latter. As near as we can learn, the trouble originated in a charge made by Baxter that Halsey had been stealing meat. Halsey asked for a retraction. Baxter replied that he would not take back what he had stated. A fight then took place, in the course of which Baxter cut Halsey, when Halsey shot Baxter, killing him instantly. Cash Halsey is badly cut and under guard at Athens. His uncle, also named Halsey who in some way connected with the difficulty, was brought to Lexington last night by Deputy Sheriff Waller Rhodes and lodged in jail.—Lexington Press,12 th . The Semi-Weekly Sun Fri., 3-14-1879
	The terrible tragedy which occurred at Athens about a year ago, in which Cash Halsey and his uncle attacked and killed a man named Baxter under circumstances particularly aggravating in their character, will be remembered by the public. The trial of Cash Halsey attracted much attention. He was found guilty and sentences to the penitentiary for life. The case was tried before Judge Hunt in the Clark Circuit Court. It was taken to the Court of Appeals, where according to a dispatch received last night, it was reversed. On what grounds it has not yet been learned. The Semi-Weekly Sun Fri., 7-2-1880
Baxter, Ellis G.	Resulted fatally Ellis Baxter, who was struck by an L & N passenger train Monday, dies of his injuries Monday morning, Ellis G. Baxter, while driving the delivery wagon of J.G. Parrish, a Maple street grocer, was struck by an incoming train at the Main street crossing of the L & N road. The wagon was completely demolished, the horse was so badly hurt that it was necessary to destroy it, and Mr. Baxter was found unconscious. He was taken to the office of Dr. Shirley where Drs. Shirley and Cole dressed the wounds. A long, irregular scalp wound was found which required twenty or more stitches, his shoulder was badly bruised, a rib was broken, and probably internal injuries were suffered. The physicians decided the skull was not fractured but severe concussion of the brain followed. He lingered until Wednesday afternoon when he died without having recovered consciousness. Since early manhood he had been a most zealous Mason, and he was also an enthusiastic Confederate veteran. The remains were buried in the Winchester cemetery with services at the grave by Rev. T.C. Ecton, of Lexington, and under the auspices of Winchester Lodge No. 20, of Masons, and John S. Williams Camp of Confederate Veterans. The following acted as pall bearers, all being his old companions in arms: Capt. L. Hathaway, Will H. Tucker, Arch C. Piersall, Robert Quisenberry, J.A. Wills, and Jas. Rutledge, Sr. While but a youth he joined the Confederate army, being a member of Capt. Mullis' company, Chenault's regiment of Morgan's command. He was severely wounded, but soon recovered and fought through the war. Before he was fourteen years of age he was a brevet First Lieutenant and claimed to be the youngest veteran in the service being in his sixtieth year. He was twice married, both his wives being Misses Rupard and half sisters. He is survived by his last wife and two children by his first marriage, Rev. Oda Baxter, of this county, and Mrs. J.H. Brookshire, of Fayette county. He was one of our best citizens and his death is much regretted. The M.H. Haggard, of Georgetown, was here yesterday to attend the burial of his old comrade, E.G. Baxter. They were together eighteen months in prison at Camp Douglass. The Winchester Democrat Friday, August 13, 1909

	In memoriam John S. Williams camp passes resolutions in memory of Lieut. Ellis G. Baxter and Capt. Leeland Hathaway At a called meeting of the members of the General John S. Williams' Camp of Confederate Veterans held at the Court house on Saturday, November 6, B.F. Curtis, Commander in the chair, the following resolutions and notice of death of members was passed, and ordered printed. Whereas it has pleased God to call from among us our dear friends and co-workers Lieut. Ellis G. Baxter and Capt. Leeland Hathaway, and in our association together as members of this Camp of Confederates of this city they have endeared themselves to us by their wise council and unflinching devotions to duty; therefore be it, Resolved by this Camp first that in the death of our two brothers our camp has sustained irreparable loss in that two of its most faithful and efficient members have been called away from us. And we now pledge ourselves anew to a more diligent effort in the work left for us to do, and we will further pledge ourselves to ever keep green the memory of our two faithful and devoted brothers who in their lives were always ready to act for this camp, and the cause it represents. Resolved, second, that we extend our sympathy to the family of Brother Baxter and the daughter of Capt.

	Hathaway and pray that the Holy Spirit may comfort and sustain them in this, their time of great sorrow. Resolved, third, that a copy of the proceedings of this meeting be sent to each of the families of our deceased brothers and also published in the city papers.
	Signed; J.H. Croxton, R.H. Patterson and W.H. Talbott, Committee
	ELLIS G. BAXTER
	Of the many faithful and true soldiers of the Confederacy who followed that flag that went down without a stain upon its fold, Ellis G. Baxter was not excelled by any of the many who were its defendants. He was born and reared in Clark county, Ky., and joined the Confederate Army (when quite a youth), in the summer of 1862 in the Seventh Kentucky Calvary of General John H. Morgan's command as a private; he was soon promoted to the rank of Lieutenant and served as such until his capture with Morgan in Ohio and remained in prison until near the end of the war (refusing, as all good soldiers would, all offers of release upon the terms offered, that of taking the oath). He was finally exchanged and sent to Richmond, Virginia. This was near the end of the war, and with the command of the illustrious and indomitable Lee surrendered at Appomattowx, C.H., on April 9 th , 1865. After being paroled he walked back to his home some five hundred miles, and has continued to reside here until his death which occurred on the 9 th day of August, 1909. There was never a time during his life that he regretted having served the Confederacy as all will testify who knew him, and no one who took more pleasure in relating his own experiences than did he. He was a past Commander of this camp and was always active in its interest. Lieut. Baxter was twice married and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his life.

Baxter, John	Pensions of the War of 1812.
	It has been a long lifetime since our last war with Great Britain, yet we have two widows in our county who are drawing pensions for the services of their husbands during that war. One is Mrs. Nancy Baxter, widow of Capt. John Baxter, an officer in the Virginia line, and Mrs. Frances Chism, widow of "Commodore" James Chism, who belonged to the Kentucky Troops.

Baxter, Luke	Luke Baxter died at his home near Hunt Saturday, November 30 th aged sixty-two years.
	The remains were buried near Brookstown, Madison county. His mind had been affected for a long time, one of his delusions being that if he went near the fire his liver would melt. Hence it was hard to get him to keep sufficiently warm in cold weather.
	When quite a young man he was staying with his grandfather, Lewis Eades, when the latter was murdered by a number of Negro slaves one night, for purposes of robbery.
	Baxter was shot in the head but from some cause the bullet did not penetrate the brain and he recovered. He afterward married Miss Mollie Thomas, of this county, a daughter of Willis Thomas.

	Mrs. Lucy Ann Baxter died in Randolph county, Mo., on Friday, February 5, 1892, of gangrene, superinduced by dropsy, aged probably 65 years. She was originally an Ecton of Clark county, Ky., and as the widow Lawrence married Edmond Baxter Sr., of Madison county who preceded her to the grave about ten years. For some time she had

	The Huntsville paper says: Mrs. Lucy A. Baxter died at the home of her son, Mr. Robert M. Lawrence, 5 miles Southwest of Huntsville, on Friday, February 5, 1892, at 8:35 a. m., of gangrene, aged 65 years, 8 months and 11 days. Mrs. Baxter moved here from Madison county, Kentucky, nearly eight years ago, and had since made her home with her son. She was twice married, and both husbands preceded her to that better life, together with two children, the son with whom she made her home being the only surviving member of the family. She had been a member of the Christian church for thirty years, and having been a faithful and zealous Christian all these years, death had no terrors for her. She talked calmly of the approaching and expressed a willingness to obey the summons of the Master. Having fought a good fight and kept the faith, she went forth into the Unknown like a child among the clover blossoms, to gather the treasures she had been laying up on high. She was a devoted and affectionate mother, and her death was a great shock to her loving son, daughter-in-law and grandchildren, all of whom loved her for many virtues. May He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, pour upon their saddened hearts the oil of consolation and help them to bear their great bereavement as easily as possible. Her remains were interred Saturday evening at Pleasant Grove Church after feeling services at the family residence by Elder Caldwell,

	Last Surviving Pensioner of the War of 1812 Passes Away. Mrs. Nancy Baxter died yesterday morning at her home at Ruckersville of infirmities of age. The remains will be buried at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the family graveyard with services at the grave by Rev. Richard French.
	The deceased was born in the house where she died October 31, 1831. Her husband, Dr, John Baxter served through the war of 1812, and was a member of Congress when the constitution of 1828 was framed. Mrs. Baxter had been blind for seven years, but retained her other faculties and enjoyed good health until recently when the frail tenement succumbed the ravages of time. She was a woman of noble Christian character, beloved and esteemed by all who knew her.
	Mrs. Baxter was the last surviving pensioner of the War of 1812 in the county or perhaps the State.
	She was the mother of eight children four of whom survive, viz: Mrs. G. W.

The Comparing Board can do nothing but count the votes as cast and certify the result, and the question as to who gets the office will be a matter for the Courts to settle."

Daytot, Island	The Refusal to Loan It Causes a Double Tragedy in the Mountains of Kentucky—Two Dead. Pineville, Ky., June 1—Particulars of a double tragedy on Big Run creek, 20 miles from this place have just reached here.
	Jonah Saylor went to the home of Lee Brittain and tried to borrow a shotgun but Brittain refused to loan Saylor the gun. Saylor after making threats started home. Saylor went to a neighbor' house to borrow a gun, and then told Isiah Baylor, his farm hand to get his pistol and follow him. When they got near Brittain's house the latter saw them coming and rushed into the house and got his shotgun. By this time Saylor and Baylor had got to the yard fence, and opened fire on Brittain, but the shots went wide of the mark. Brittain then fired twice, killing Saylor and Baylor instantly. Brittain told his wife that he was going to surrender to an officer at once, and it is supposed he has done so. Brittain is a wealthy, influential citizen. Saylor and Baylor were from Ohio, and were in the logging and farming business. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, June 7, 1898

	The Angel of Death has plucked this bud ere it bloomed. Her sweet face, gently voice, and pattering feet will be missed not only by parents, but relatives and friends will mourn for the departed one. As well was she the pride and joy of the home she filled as the one in whom their every hope was centered; and to know her was to love her. Wherever her tiny form, darling face, and prattling tongue chanced to be, all was brightness and sunshine. Her suffering lasted for a few short days only, when she was called away to fill her place among the angels. Blessed are the little ones "for such is the Kingdom of Heaven." We leave her in the hands of a masterful God, "who doeth all things well." Some bright morning in eternity is that sunbright clime, away beyond the sorrows of earth, precious little Bertha will come again into loving arms garlanded in immortality and eternal life. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 12-25-1889 Dodge; The remains of F. L. Beall and little daughter, Bertha May, were interred in Machpeiah Cemetery at Mt. Sterling Saturday. Quite a number of relatives and friends were present The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 26, 1890.

Beall, Franklin L.	OBITUARY Franklin L. Beall was born in Clark county, Ky., July 18, 1860, and departed this life at his home near Winchester, Jan. 12, 1890. He passed away quietly and peacefully Sunday night after many weary months of suffering. He was married June 10, 1865, to Ida L. Hainline, daughter of S. M. Hainline, of Montgomery Co., who survives him. Their union was blessed with one dear little one, Bertha May, who was called to her Heavenly Father just one month, lacking a few days, before her father, where she was waiting on the beautiful shore to welcome dear Papa home. Mr. Beall was well known and highly esteemed; he was a man of excellent business capacities, honest and upright in all his dealings with his fellow citizens; honored and respected by all who knew him. He had been prosperous thus far on life's journey and could he have lived, his future looked very promising. He leaves a devoted companion and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. To the wife it seems that all she holds most dear on earth are quietly resting in the vault at Mt. Sterling—the husband and companion of her life and the dear little one are side by side. Sometimes it seems that the sorrows of this life will almost crush us and in such cases we are bidden to turn to the only true comforter, Jesus Christ, who says: "I will never leave thee or forsake thee." The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the strong arms." The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. H. Caldwell, of Danville, Ky., Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the C. P. Church in Clark county, where he had been a member for a number of years. His remains were brought to Mt. Sterling and placed in the vault to await future internment. His many relations and friends extend their heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved wife and bid her turn to the only one who can heal the broken heart. "Brother we hope to meet thee, When the day of life is fled, Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee Where no farewell tear is shed." The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, January 22, 18

Beall, M. Leonard Sr.	Suit Over an Estate. The Lexington Herald of Wednesday contains the following concerning a suit in a former Clark county family. "A sensational suit was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday evening. It is that of Mrs. N. N. Beall, against E. B. Beall, administrator of M. L. Beall deceased. E. B. Beall in his own right, and L. N. Beall. The defendants are sons of the plaintiff, who accuses them of fraudulently inducing her to enter into a contract by which she had as she claims, been wrongfully deprived of a share of her deceased husband's estate. She claims to be entitled to a larger share of the estate, which was worth $ 33,000, than that what was given her, which she says, is worth about $ 6,000. She claims and alleges that the estate has never been settled. She asks for a settlement and an accounting by the administrator and six per cent interest upon the portion of her share alleged to have been withheld from her since 1897." The Winchester Democrat Friday, June 21, 1901.
	Contracts set Aside Leonard Beall, Sr., died in 1896 and left some real estate in this county and also some in Fayette county, the heirs being his wife, Narcissa, and two sons, Leonard Jr., and E.B. Beall. In 1897 the heirs decided not to refer the division to the Master Commissioner, but to divide it themselves which was done. In 1900 Mrs. Beall became dissatisfied and brought suit in the Fayette Circuit Court to have the contract set aside. This has been in court ever since until Saturday, when Judge Parker set it aside and ordered the Master Commissioner to divided the property. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, August 14, 1906

Bean, Edwin P.	Death of Edwin P. Bean.
	Edwin P. Bean died Friday at his home on Belmont street, this city, of prostration from heat combined with erysipelas, aged seventy-five years. The funeral was preached Saturday at the Methodist church by Dr. J. R. Savage and the remains were buried in the local cemetery.
	He was a native of this county and had live most of his life here although he resided in Bourbon county for some years. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Sallie Owen, of Bourbon County after her death he married Miss Jennie Catherwood, of this city, who survives him, as do the following children, all the issue of his first marriage: Mrs. J. C. McKee and Mrs. F. T. McIntyre, of London, Mrs. E. B. Huffaker, of California, Mrs. J. A. Hughes and Miss Mattie Bean, of this city, George Bean, of Cincinnati, and John Bean who is now at home, having recently returned from military North Middletown, and four sisters, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, of Elmore, Mrs. Sue Bush, of this city, and Mrs. Eliza Evans and Mrs. Mary Dooley, of the county, also survive him.

	He was a good man and a splendid citizen. He was passionately fond of flowers and perhaps the best amateur floriculturist in this section, and the wealth of floral tributes at his funeral was an eloquent remembrance of this trait as well as a fragrant tribute to his memory.

Eminence, Mrs. O. Dooley and Mrs. John Evans, of the county. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 25, 1898 Tribute to John W. Bean. After his long life, Mr. Bean has indeed, gone to his rest, from the love and praise of our whole people, and I take the occasion of his death to pay my tribute to his memory, and to inspire the youth of our land to imitate his pure life. He was my friend and I loved him well. And not without cause, for he had often befriended me. And there are many others, also, whom he has oft befriended. He helped you without making you feel it. He gave and asked no return. He was the most approachable man in the world. His humanity attracted the humblest; his mind conceived no cunning; he practiced no deceit and in his heart there was no guile. In early and middle life he was very successful, but prosperity never made him proud, and trouble only left upon him the marks of honor which misfortunes may bestow. He exercised his paternal love and generosity by distributing his estate among his children while they were young. Of his deeds of usefulness to others I need not speak, for they are known to us all. He served the Clark County National Bank as its President twenty-five years without compensation, bearing its burdens on his mind and heart. He was always faithful and never deserted when calamities assailed. I am sure I may say, that not one of the officers of the Bank, or its Directors, who did not love him, or who withheld at his death the tribute of regret. He was my supreme ideal of an honest man, whose acts were kind and whose spirit was pure. I shall never forget him, and in bidding him farewell I employ not the words of the wisdom of men, but quote from the chapter of promises that are written: "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth! Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy! Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God!" and underneath it all I'd write his name. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, November 29, 1898 Resolutions of Respect. At a called meeting of the Directors of the Clark County National Bank yesterday, the following resolutions were adopted: Whereas, It has pleased the Great Architect of the Universe to remove from our midst our late President, John W. Bean, Esq., and whereas, it is but just that a fitting recognition of his many virtues should be had, therefore be it Resolved, by the membership of this board, that while we bow with humble submission to the will of the Most High, we do not the less mourn the great loss this bank has sustained by his death. Mr. Bean was elected to the office of President in the year 1873 and re-elected each year thereafter (without opposition). Through all of these years he has devoted his time to the welfare of the institution in such a manner as to merit and receive the confidence and respect of all his associates. It was not alone, however, as an officer of the bank were these virtues displayed, for while he was known to the entire community as an upright, honest and devoted President, he was as well a great friend and liberal supporter of his church as well as the poor in the community, and many were his acts of charity of which the world knew not. Resolved, That we tender to Mrs. Bean and her family the expression of our profound sympathy in an affliction which we full well feel can best be but little mitigated by our poor words of humble consolation. T. C. Robinson, W. B. Kidd, D. B. Hampton, F. H. Dudley, J. L. Brown, Jas. M. Rash, Geo. B. Nelson, I. C. Van Meter. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, November 29, 1898 Will Act as President. The death Thursday of John W. Bean left the Clark County National Bank without a President, a position which Mr. Bean had filled so long and acceptably. Mr. Thos. C. Robinson, the Vice President, will fill the position until the next regular election in 1899. Mr. Robinson is a careful, conservative man of much financial ability and will make a splendid President. 	OBITUARY—At Rest in Heaven
	On the evening of the 10 th of October, as the curtain of night drew its mantle over departing day, the lovely spirit of Mrs. Alice Bean, wife of Eldred Bean, passed from a body racked with pain to the fair Eden of eternal delight. For eighteen long months she was truly a child of affliction; but like the gentle spirit of the compassionate Savior, when tormented by the pain of the cross, she murmured not, looked on by an eye of faith to that rest that remaineth for the people of God. As the chilly waters of death gathered around her feet, and she became conscious that the time of her departure was at hand, she called to her beside her faithful companions, brothers, and sisters and in language characteristic of her lovely nature, pointed them to the Lamb of God, and urged them to be prepared to meet her in that city where oblivion's veil will mantle forever the heartaches of the past. We read to her a portion of John's Apocalyptic vision, descriptive of the New Jerusalem, and although the cold perspiration of death was gathering upon her brow her countenance beamed with delight, and her eyes gave expression to the feelings of her heart—all is well. She often spoke of death, and with that courage known only to the child of God, said she dreaded not its shaded valley. As we turn from that grave covered with the flowers of friendship and love dampened with the tears of mourning, we can truly "sorrow not as those who have no hope," but as we stand upon the crumbling shores of time, we may penetrate the mystic vale which intervenes, by the telescope of faith, and live with God and loved ones who have gone before. To the bereaved husband and family we would say, remember the gift of a departed mother's love—the bible, with her dying request, "meet me in Heaven." For the sweet little motherless babe we weep in profound sympathy, and offer a prayer that the guardian angel may protect it from all harm, and that it may finally wear a robe of righteousness like that of its mother, for whom its innocent heart knows not how to weep.
	The fell destroyer in silence came,
	A shining mark he sought and won;
	But all is o'er and Heaven has gained
	The fragile form he once had claimed.

Bean, iviis. 7 tilla Bright	Mrs. Anna Bright Bean, wife of John E. Bean, died quite suddenly Friday afternoon at her home on South Maple Street, of heart disease, from which she had suffered for a long time. The remains were carried to Danville Sunday morning for interment. Mrs. Bean was originally Miss Croxton, a daughter of Gen. Thomas T. Croxton, a Federal General during the civil war and afterwards Minister to Bolivia. She was twice married, her first husband being Mr. Lucien Logan, a druggist of Danville, and after his death she married Mr. John E. Bean, of this city. She leaves a husband and daughter, Miss Carolyn Logan, aged about twelve years. Mrs. Bean was a lovely woman, a great favorite with all who knew her, and her death has caused universal sorrow.
	We join a host of friends in sympathy with the bereaved husband and daughter.

	OBITUARY
	Died-In Winchester, Clark county, Kentucky, on the 18th of November 1889, Mrs.
	Annie Bean. She was born on the 10 th of October, 1862, and from prattling infancy to the time of her death, was a constant and faithful attendant upon the Sabbath school/ At home and at Sabbath school the admonitions of a sainted father and a Christian mother-the lessons of moral excellence inculcated by her bible and the holy warfare enjoined by her Savior were never forgotten. At an early age, timid and shrinking as she was, she boldly espoused the Master's cause. From that time until her death, such fidelity is seldom seen and rarely surpassed. Her family, her church, and this community are the losers-she the gainer. Her graces were all her own, yet they were heaven-born and in imitation of her Master. Her musical voice, whether in speaking or singing, was tuned to the sweetest melody, and will vibrate in the memory of loving hearts until their hearts like hers are stilled in death. Oh! That voice. Shall it soon be forgotten? No; for it was an echo from a serene clime, and today forms a component part in the heavenly minstrelsy.
	Her last solo in the choir was touching prophetic as to her early demise: "Out of my bondage, sorrow and night,
	Jesus, I come, Jesus, I come;
	Into thy freedom, gladness and light,
	Jesus, I come to Thee, Out of my want, into thy wreath,
	Out of my sin, and into thyself,
	Jesus, I come to Thee."
	In the full tide of her usefulness and young womanhood she passed away, mysteriously to us, but by the call of Him who doeth all things well.
	For at least a week before she died her earthly vision was clouded; but twenty-four hours before she died she exclaimed to a faithful attendant, "Tomorrow night Jesus will call for me." True to this prophetic vision, her Redeemer came and a short while after twelve o'clock the body was without a tenant for the spirit had gone to God who gave it.
	The humble writer feels that no words of commendation from him are commensurate with the subject, but to the widowed mother, the devoted husband and loving sisters, he tenders his profoundest sympathy.

Bean, Mrs. Eliza	Death Of Mrs. Bean
	Mrs. Eliza Bean died yesterday morning at her rooms on South Main Street, aged seventy-four years. She had been quite ill of grippe and pneumonia and about ten days ago she fell, breaking her hip, and these complications caused her death.
	The funeral will be held at the Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with services by Rev. Wm. Cummins, and the remains will be buried in the Winchester Cemetery. Her husband, John W. Bean, died some years ago. She was a native of this county and before her marriage was Miss Redmond. She was a woman of sterling character, with a high standard of christian life, which she lived up to. She leaves a large circle of relatives and friends who are among the best people of this community, and her death will leave a vacancy which will be hard to fill. She was loyal to her convictions of duty, an ardent member of her church and stood for all that is purest and best in home and community. She leaves three sons, Eldrid, John and Chester, of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. W. O. Head, of Louisville.
I	,

	We join the many friends of the family in sympathy to the bereaved ones. The Winchester Democrat Fri., March 30, 1906

Bean died in Texas without direct heirs, and leaving an estate Bean, Thomas said to be worth ten million dollars. Mrs. J. W. Scobee of this city, is said to be one of the heirs in the chain of descent is said to be susceptible of easy proof. While the estate will be considerably cut up before it reaches her, still Mrs. Scobee's share will be many thousand dollars. We hope this may be true and that her good fortune may soon be realized. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, September 24, 1890 Meeting Called Col. John Cunningham, administrator of his mother, Mary Bean Cunningham, calls a meeting of the heirs to demand "The Great Tom Bean Estate" in Texas, at the law office of his attorney, Judge Grant E. Lilly, Richmond, Ky., on Friday, May 26th, at 2 o'clock. All relatives who desire an interest in this estate are expected. The Sun-Sentinel Thur., May 18, 1905 The Great Tom Bean Estate. Last Friday afternoon a meeting was held in the Director's Room of the Clark County National Bank, of the heirs of Tom Bean; of Texas, who died some time ago intestate and leaving lands valued at many millions of dollars. The meeting was called by Col. John Cunningham of Bourbon county, who, with his handsome and talented wife and sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis, is the leader in the movement to get possession of their heritage. About fifteen members of the Bean family were present most all of whom were from this county. J. E. and Matt Bean were elected secretaries, with instructions to make such investigations and secure such proofs as they find necessary. Tom Bean went from Virginia in the early forties to Texas and being a surveyor, he located large quantities of lands for various parties and took his pay when possible in land. In this way he accumulated a vast acreage in the counties of Grayson, Collins, Franklin, Lamar, Johnson, Clay, Fannin, etc., all in Northeastern Texas near the present thriving cities of Sherman, Bonham and Tombeantown. The advance in real estate values makes it difficult to estimate what they would bring if sold but it would be somewhere in the neighborhood of 10 to 20 millions. Tom Bean was the son of Colman, who was the son of Mordecai who was the brother of John Bean, of from whom all our Beans descend. The immediate ancestors of our Beans are William, Eli, James, Asa, Peter and Mrs. Mary Cunningham, the mother of Col. John Cunningham. Tom Bean had two brothers but they died without descendants and intestate leaving our Beans the next of kin. Dr. Howard, of Bonham, Texas, is administrator of the estate and through his attorney, Maj. Cassius K. Breneman, of San Antonio, has been looking for the heirs for some time past. Maj. Breneman feels sure the Clark county family is entitled to the heritage but certain things have to be proven which may be difficult to do. Col. Cunningham, who knows the genealogy of the Beans thoroughly feels sure there will be no difficulty in establishing their claim. Judge Grant E. Lilly, of Richmond, is attorney for the heirs. The Sun-Sentinel Thursday, May 25, 1905 Bean, Waller The Winchester Sun Wed., 9-25, 9-26-1957 Bean, Wilburn L The Winchester Sun Sat., 1-19, 1-21-1952 Bean, William Buckner (Billy) "Billy" Bean Dead. On Friday afternoon last, William Buckner Bean died of abscess of the liver. He was the second child of the late Asa Bean and his wife, nee Anna Buckner, and was in his 38th year. For five long weeks he was bed-ridden, lingering between hope and fear until the summons came. His ready wit, genial social qualities and tender sympathy made him everybody's friend and every boy his friend. In many ways he was one of the most accomplished young men of the present generation. His education was excellent and he had read the best literature, but the side of his character that the public knew best was the bright, genial fun-maker and boon companion, the life of every social gathering. Possessed of a good fortune he was an unostentatious but liberal giver to any good cause that appealed to him; "Billy, why don't you get married!" "Well, I'll tell you," he quickly answered, "my life so far has been so full of happiness that I have never cared to increase it." He had one grave fault, as modern society views it, which embittered his last days until repentance brought him peace. It was characteristic of him, that, fearing the lesson of his life would be lost, he called in, one after the other, those he loved and impressed on each the folly of sin and the wisdom of righteousness. His funeral was preached at the First Presbyterian Church, of which he had become a member, by Rev. Wm. Cumming, Sunday at 3 p.m. The grave was covered with flowers in the most beautiful designs. The Elks conducted the services at the grave. The Sun-Sentinel Thursday, September 7, 1905

Beckner, William Morgan	The Winchester Democratic convention at Campton on Wednesday endorsed Hon. W. M. Beckner, of Clark county, as the proper person to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. M. C. Lisle last Saturday. This, we think, was eminently right and roper, and we believe The Winchester Democrats all over the District will in turn endorse the action of the convention, though it is an open question as to their right to take any action in the matterHazel Green Herald. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 17, 1894.
	FROM the expressions found in our exchanges published in the 10 th Congressional district and from all other information at hand we think the district is highly pleased with the action of the Campton Convention in endorsing Judge Beckner for the short term. He above all others, will be ready to step into the harness next December and knows how and what to do in the three months' of service to which he will be called. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 17, 1894.
	Hon. Rodney Haggard made a magnificent speech in presenting the name of Judge Beckner to the Convention. We never heard a better nominating speech-Sentinel-Democrat Convention Notes. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 17, 1894.
	"Both Judge Beckner and Mr. Connie Lisle state they are willing to submit their claims as candidates for Congress to Clark county for settlement. We shall be very glad to have Clark county settle this matter between these two gentlemen, and certainly, since it is on all hands, conceded that Clark should name the candidate to fill the unexpired term, no fairer adjustment of the matter can be proposed. A settlement such as these gentlemen say they are willing to submit to, will be the very fairest method of disposing of the question. Let us near from ClarkMt. Sterling Advocate. We do not know the views of either of the gentlemen on this subject, and however this matter is settled, it will give us great pleasure to support either Judge Beckner or Mr. Lisle, and we believe either would make a congressman worthy of the district. The truth of the matter is, no agreement made between these gentlemen is binding upon The Winchester Democrats of the district. It has The Winchester Democrats of the district. It has passed beyond them, and the district committee will decide how it is done. While we think it is right and just that the nominee should come from Clark county, we think that The Winchester Democrats of the Wolfe or any other county should have a say as to which of the Clark county candidates they prefer to support. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 20, 1894.
	JUDGE W. M. BECKNER At the Campton Convention Judge Beckner, of Clark county was recommended to The Winchester Democrats of the district as a man in every way qualified to fill out the unexpired term. This recommendation, be it understood, carries combined judgement of the delegates in convention assembled (these delegates, by the way, being representative men of the district). And expressed by them may amount to. It was not proposed to crowd any man off the track, nor do we wish to forestall any good Democrat in his desire to offer for nomination, for this term, by anything we may say of Jedge Beckner now, or at any time, till the nominee is declared. In Judge Beckner we recognize a man of unquestioned ability; a man of wide experience in legislative affairs, and a man of integrity. In short, a man who can fill this short term, not for the money in it, but to the credit and advancement of his State and his district. We sincerely hope there will no one offer for the short term against Judge Beckner, not alone because we recognized in him a peculiar position to which he aspires, but as well because we think the tacit promises of a support from so many delegates, in so many counties, can mean nothing less than needless expense and defeat to any man who opposes him. Judge Beckner will no doubt have a clear field and when elected, will go to Congress so well equipped for the service that he can at once take his place in the ranks of the workers in the House. Almost any other man in the district, who would be willing to accept the nomination would be about as much use to us during this "piece of term," as a wooden-man. (When the above was penned we did not know of any opposition to Judge Beckner. Later we are informed Mr. D. Connie Lisle, brother of the late Congressman, is an announced candidate.)-Mt. Sterling Advocate. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 24, 1894.

Of The Winchester Democratic Primary election, Aug 6, 1894.

The Winchester Democratic County Committee met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of appointing election officers and the transaction of other business. S. J. Shinfessel who had been selected as member from Goodes declined to accept and W. F. Clemons was chosen as the member from that voting place.

A mass meeting at the Court house Saturday, August 11th, at two o'clock was ordered, to choose between W. M. Beckner and D. C. Lisle as to which should be considered the choice of the county for the unexpired term of Hon. M. C. Lisle in Congress. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 24, 1894.

Judge W. M. Beckner, of Winchester took the oath of office in Congress Monday, as the successor of the late M. C. Lisle, of the Tenth district. Mr. Beckner is a Democratic type, but a good man at any rate. Were he serve a long term, he would undoubtedly make himself felt as he is capable of introducing new and good ideas.—Richmond Pantagraph.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 11, 1894

All things come to him who waits. This is true in the case of Henry T. Godsey, of Wolfe county; who was today appointed Superintendent of the Stamp Vaults Internal Revenue Bureau, Treasury Department. Mr. Godsey is a bright young man who came here during the early days of the Administration, but, like a number of other worthy Democrats, he failed to catch on. He did the next best thing, however, he succeeded in being appointed private Secretary to the late lamented Marcus C. Lisle. After that he secured a temporary place in the Post office Department as disbursing officer. While here in Washington he studied law. When he lost his place in the Post office Department he returned to Kentucky only to come back to act as private secretary to Judge Beckner, who was elected to fill out the unexpired term of Representative Lisle. Mr. Godsey was recommended for appointment by the entire delegation. He will no doubt make an efficient officer. The place was formerly held by Henry Boyd, who has been promoted to the position of Chief of the Stamp Division. Mr. Godsey's new place pays $ 2,000 a year.-Washington Cor. Courier Journal.

W.M. Beckner

Death of this prominent and useful man – a sketch of his life Judge William Morgan Beckner died Monday night at the home of his son, Lucien Beckner, on Hickman street, in the sixty-ninth year of his age. He had suffered for some time from a complication of diseases, but the immediate cause of death was edema of the heart. He was a native of Moorefield, Nicholas county, but the greater portion of his life was spent in Winchester. After attending the country schools he attended Richeson & Rand Academy at Maysville and matriculated later at Centre College, Danville, but for want of means did not finish the course. He taught school and then read law under Judge Phister, of Maysville. In 1865 he came to this city, shortly after the close of the war, and in a short time was chosen Police Judge. He was Principal of the Winchester public schools for one term and many of our leading citizens were his pupils. The close of the war found politics, especially The Winchester Democratic party, in rather a chaotic state, and Judge Beckner was a leader in the reorganization of the party in this county. Feeling the necessity of a party organ, he was instrumental in starting The Clark County Democrat and was for many years it editor. The young lawyer soon became very popular in the county of his adoption and he was chosen to fill various offices in rapid succession. In 1866 he was County Attorney. Four years later he was County Judge: in 1880 he was State Prison Commissioner and in 1882 he was State Railroad Commissioner; he wrote the report of the commission in each case and they were noted for the exhaustive manner in which the subjects under consideration were treated. In 1889 he represented the county in the Constitutional Convention where he was a leader and many things in our organic laws were largely his work. In 1893 he was a member of the Legislature; in the following year he was chosen to fill out the unexpired term in Congress of Hon. Marcus Lisle. He was a candidate to succeed himself, but in the memorable Beattyville convention, he was beaten for the nomination by Tom Fitzpatrick by a fractional part of one vote. In 1896 he left the party, not being in accord with it on financial matters or its position in regard to the new territory acquired from Spain. He at once assumed a leading position in the Republican party and in 1903 was the candidate of the party for Attorney General, but with the rest of the ticket, went down in defeat. At the time of his death he was Chairman of the Republican County Committee. He was twice married. In 1866 he married Miss Hettie Smith, of Danville, who died the following year. In 1872 he married Miss Betsy Taliaferro, daughter of Maj. John Taliaferro, with whom he lived long and happily until her death a few years ago. To them were born six children all of whom are living, Lucien and Taliaferro, of this city; Seth, of Ft. Worden, Washington; Hickman, of Clairfield, Tennessee; Mrs. Edw. Clark, of Lexington, and Mrs. John Worth, of Reno, Nevada, all of whom will be present at the funeral except Seth. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at ten o'clock from the First Presbyterian church, services being conducted by Rev. William Cumming, and the remains will be buried in the Winchester cemetery. Judge Beckner was by nature a leader of men; what he believed was right he advocated with all his might whether or not it was popular at the time. He advocated better schools, better roads, better streets, turnpikes, railroads, public improvements of all kinds and was not afraid of increased taxation if the community secured corresponding benefits. He was largely responsible for the preliminary work which finally culminated in the removal of Kentucky Wesleyan College to this city, and much of the most progressive school legislation of the State was due to his influence. He also was a great advocate of increased rights and privileges of women before the law. He believed in organization and was one of the moving spirits in the beginning of the Commercial Club and was its first President. He took great pride in the growth of Winchester to which he had contributed his full quota. In his death our city and community has lost one of its most progressive citizens whose loss will be much felt. The Winchester Democrat Friday, March 18, 1910 Much regret The death of Judge Beckner occasioned much regret throughout the State and numerous telegrams of sympathy were received by the family. The Winchester Democrat Friday, March 18, 1910 Funeral of Judge Beckner The funeral of Judge Beckner was held Saturday morning at the First Presbyterian church of which he had long been an officer. The services were conducted by Rev. William Cumming and many friends attended to attest their regard for the deceased. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. After the services the remains were taken to the Winchester cemetery where in our city of the dead they will await the last summons. Quite a number from other points attended the funeral. The following were the pall bearers: Honorary – J.M. Benton, M.S. Browne, Nelson Bush, B.F. Curtis, J.H. Evans, J.E. Garner, C.B. George, F.H. Haggard, A.H. Hampton, J.L. McCord, R.R. Perry and J.F. Winn. Active – R.O. Fitch, David S. Gay, H.S. Gilkey, S.A. Jeffries, B.R. Jouett, and E.S. Jouett. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, March 22, 1910 Wm. H. Beckner, of Winchester, died Monday night in the 69th year of his age. We believe he was a native of this county, but this county will not dispute for the doubtful honor if any other county wants to claim it. - Flemingsburg Times-Democrat All right Bro. Duly, Clark, the county of his adoption will gladly accept the honor of his nativity also, if Nicholas, where he really was born is as indifferent to her own honor and glory as Fleming seems to be of hers. Bedford, Littleberry	The Winchester Democrat Friday, August 17, 1906 Accused of Killing Her Husband. Mrs. Bedford is under arrest at Paris, accused of killing her husband, Littleberry Bedford, formerly County Surveyor of Bourbon. They had had a quarrel over the provisions of a will, and witnesses state that Mrs. Bedford knocked her husband down, jumped on his prostrate body and choked him viciously. Mr. Bedford, who was a cripple, got up feebly but fell over on the ground, expiring almost instantly. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 8, 1902 The Wife in Jail. Paris, Ky., July 5.—Mrs. Fannie Bedford was arrested and placed in jail. She is suspected of having caused the death of her husband, ex-County Surveyor Bedford, who died under suspicious circumstances early Friday morning. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 11, 1902 Quite a sensation was created when the news of Mr. Berry Bedford's death was reported, claiming his wife as his murderer. She is in jail and it is claimed she is a raving maniac. Whiskey seems to have been the ruin of both parties. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 11, 1902 No Arsenic found.

Bedford, Lucinda AA	The death of Lucinda Bedford, of Nashville, a week or so ago, affords the Russellville Ledger the opportunity of reviving an old romance, connected with her early-life. She was a former resident of Logan county, belonging to Col. William Bedford, but with her child was freed in 1830. The woman acquired considerable wealth, according to the story and sent her boy to New York to school. The child-boy was taught to believe, as he was perfectly white, that his mother was his nurse. He remained in the East and attained manhood. He met and loved a beautiful heiress to whom he was to have been married, when along came somebody from the south and told his sweetheart who he really was. He was so humiliated by the disclosure that he committed suicide. His mother was ninety-four years old at the time of her death and is said to have been worth a hundred thousand dollars. 	On Friday, May 14th, Mary Caswell Bedford, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Caswell P. Bedford, died after a few days illness, aged fifteen months. The burial was in the Winchester cemetery on Saturday with services by Eld. J.H. McNeil. Childhood in all its innocence and purity, and the anticipations of fond parents for its bright future on earth has been severed by the death of this lovely child and the fond parents who loved her with such devotion now feel that sublime sacredness in thinking of her as a sweet angel in heaven. Christ has said suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not for of such is the "Kingdom of Heaven." So leave your precious darling in His keeping, knowing that He doeth all things well and in His kindness will administer consolation to your aching hearts. Begley, Jerry Lynn	Jerry Lynn Begley, 68, departed his life on Thursday December 14, 2023 to his eternal home. He was the husband of the late Darenia Diann Townsend-Begley of 34 years. Jerry was a beloved husband, father, grandfather, brother, uncle, and fellow Christian brother. He was a devoted member of the Boonesboro Holiness Church. He was a 44 year employee of Central Equipment in Lexington, KY. Jerry was devoted to his job and clientele. He truly enjoyed repairing farm equipment and building relationships with all who crossed his path. Jerry was the family mechanic and birthday/christmas gift assembler. He gleefully attended all family events throughout the year, truly cherishing memories made with loved ones. Jerry loved to retell stories from his childhood and teenage years with good friends. He enjoyed fishing, camping, and occasional hunting. But most of all, Jerry loved his wife dearly. After her passing, he grieved her loss deeply. His children have always valued and been very proud of their father's model of a man. Along with his children, Candice Parks (Derrick) and Wesley Begley, Jerry is survived by his siblings: Larry Begley, Teresa Marshall (Kenny Robert), Paula Rhodus (Harold), and Brenda Vanderhyden (Roy). Jerry is preceded in death by his late sister, Phyllis Scott, his parents, Herbert Begley and Lorine Shanks Begley. He is also survived by his five grandchildren: Adam Cole, Ethan Cole, Demari Parks, Peyton Banks, and Remi Begley. He leaves beloved uncles and aunts, cousins, nieces and nephews, brother-inlaws, and sister-in-laws, and special friends. Jerry will be sadly missed and forever loved by all who he touched while on this Earth. Professional services entrusted to Scobee Funeral Home Chapel, 219 W. 	Mrs. Bell has participated in her church by teaching Sunday school, providing usher duties, welcoming visitors with a sermonette, and participating in the Willing Workers and the Mary Haggard Missionary Society. She was also a member of the Clark County Hospital Federation Club, the Tuesday Evening Sewing Club, the Senior Citizens' Bowling League and a council member of the Senior Citizen's Club.
	Mrs. Bell worked for GTE Sylvania for 24 years and retired at the mandatory age of 65.
	Mayor Ed Burtner proclaimed Nov. 15, 2010, as Margaret Bell Day and commended her for her years of dedicated service to her family, friends, community and church.
	Charlotte Chenualt Menifee, also 100 years old, shared memories with guests about the friendship she and Mrs. Bell have shared. Although Mrs. Bell is no longer able to get up and go, she still has a get up and go spirit.
	She made sure her children had everything they needed. She would always prepare her children a hot breakfast, never any cold cereal, her doors were always open and her children would bring their friends home with them. She loves her children and expected a lot out of them. Three of her children have doctorate degrees. Among those in attendance was the Rev. Marvin King Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church, which led the crowd in prayer, while deacon Justus Daniel shared scripture and the crowd sang a hymn to Bell. Following the celebration, cake and punch were served.

	Kentucky papers have recently chronicled the death of Mrs. Susan Stringer Bennett "Kentucky's last and only daughter of the American Revolution" Mrs. Bennett was the daughter of a Revolutionary soldier and perhaps the only one in Kentucky. But there are yet hundreds of Daughters of the American Revolution in Kentucky and in every other state of the Union and their number increases daily. The real daughters of the American Revolution are those women who have the spirit of '76, who hate tyranny, and who love justice. You do not need to search any genealogical records to find out who these Daughters are. Their names are written on the rolls of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, an organization of women which stands for the principle for which the men of '76 wrought-"Taxation without representation is tyranny." The day will never come when it can be said of Kentucky that her "Last and only Daughter of the American Revolution" is dead, and what is true of Kentucky is true of all her sister states.

	Vanceburg, Ky., Nov. 9.—A mysterious murder occurred near Concord, 10 miles from here, at an early hour Tuesday morning. William Bennett was found by a neighbor lying in the county road mortally wounded by an assassin's bullet. He was taken to his home, where he died at 9 o'clock, without recovering sufficiently to tell how or at whose hands he met his death. He was a farmer with a large number of friends and the citizens of Concord and vicinity are highly excited.

Bentley, William	Some weeks ago we had a notice of Mrs. Bentley, who is living near Bloomington, Ill., with her son, who is eighty. He writes to the Paris Kentuckian that his mother was born near North Middletown. John Nelson and Betsy Nelson were her parents, and she married William Bentley. They lived for years between Boonesboro and Clay's Ferry. Her husband died in 1863 and she went to Illinois. At one time they owned the farm on which Boonesboro Fort stood, but met with misfortune and lost it all. Her son, with whom she lives, has ample means and has only himself, wife and mother in family. Uncle Zach Bush, of this city, remembers the family well and has often visited her home. The Winchester Democrat Friday, April 1, 1898

Bently, Charley	Shooting At Boonesboro At a dance at the home of William Green at Boonesboro Monday night Charley Bently, aged about nineteen, son of George Bently, was shot and probably fatally wounded by John Sharp, aged twenty-one, son of Tillman Sharp. Reports as to the cause of the trouble are conflicting. One story is that Bentley and Everett Barnett had gone out of the house and were engaged in a quarrel over some trivial matter when Sharp took a hand, using his pistol. Bently suffered several perforations of the bowels, his wounds being pronounced fatal by attending physicians. Sharp surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Reed and was brought here Tuesday morning and placed in jail. The Sun-Sentinel Thur., Jan. 28, 1904 Died Of His Wounds

Domon, Horace IVI.	Well known real estate man succumbs to pneumonia after a short illness
	The death of Horace M. Benton, which occurred Friday at his home on Lexington avenue, was a great shock to his many friends, few of whom knew that he was sick. He was taken with pneumonia the previous day, but the immediate cause of his death was heart failure. He was sixty-three years old and a native of this county. His wife died several years ago and he is survived by two sons, Horace and Norvell, and two daughters, Misses Lucy and Clara. The funeral was preached at the family residence Saturday by Rev. H.C. Wright and the remains were buried in the family lot in the Winchester cemetery Saturday. The following were the pall bearers: R.L. Scobee, Levi Goff, J.M. Poynter, T.C. Robinson, J. Hood Smith and R.A. Scobee. Mr. Benton was one of the best known men in the county and for many years was in the real estate and insurance business. He was a kind hearted man and had many friends who will regret to hear of his death.

Benton, James	Died-At his home at Estill Springs, March 1 st , 1888, after a protracted illness, James
,	Benton, of paralysis. Hall of Irvine Lodge No. 137, F. and A. M., Irvine, Ky., March 3 rd , 1888.
	Whereas, The Great Master has called from this Lodge to that Lodge not made with hands, eternal in the heavens, Brother James Benton, and whereas, Brother Benton was an honest man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and an exemplary Christian, therefore, be it resolved that this Lodge has sustained a great loss in the death of Brother Benton. He was a model Mason, never turning a deaf ear to the appeals of distress or the dictates of Masonry.
	Resolved, That the church has lost a true and devoted member. He was not bound by church creeds, but while he allied himself to our denomination he was a brother to every true Christian regardless of creed or denomination.
	Resolved, That the family should not mourn as those without hope, for what is their loss is truly his gain. The wife has lost her husband, tender and true and the children their father, kind and indulgent.
	Resolved, That society has lost an ornament, the community a zealous advocate of public improvement, the poor man a benefactor whose place will be hard to again fill.
	Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Lodge and preserved upon their archives. That a copy be furnished his family and a copy be sent to the Richmond Climax and also to The Winchester Democrat for publication.

Berry,	A CURIOUS case is in the Court of Appeals from Bath county. In 1854 Mr. Berry died, and by his will, his six slaves were set free and $100 given to each of them to take them to Africa. This was not carried out and the slaves remained in bondage until all the slaves were freed in 1865. All are still alive although some of them are very old, and have sued for hie from the time of their master's death until 1865. This, with interest, amounts to between twenty and thirty thousand dollars. They were beaten in the lower court.

Berry, George	Engine blown from track on C & O Railroad near Colby station FOUR MEN MEET DEATH
	Three men were instantly killed and another so badly injured that he died while on the way to the hospital at Lexington as a result of a wreck on the C & O road near Colby Station, about five miles from this city at 12:15 Tuesday. The dead are: George Harp, engineer, Lexington; Fred Runyon, fireman, Olive Hill; Claude K. Marshall, fireman, Lexington; George Berry, brakeman, Mt. Savage. The train, a heavy freight, was run as a double header, and was running at the rate of twenty miles and hour, when the boiler of the front engine, No. 232, was blown up and turned in the opposite direction from which it was traveling. The force of the explosion was so great that it shook houses some distance from the wreck, and blew heavy parts of the machinery into adjoining fields, 100 yards away. The cause of the disaster is not known yet, but it is said that the engine had not been in working order for several weeks, and that the injector was not in proper working order. The pony trucks and front drive wheels of the second engine were derailed, but the engineer and fireman escaped injury. The word was at once telephoned to this city, and Drs Shirley, McKinley, Browne and Combs & Combs were immediately sent to the scene, besides a number of people from town drove out. When they arrived Engineer Geo. W. Harp, Fireman Claude Marshall and Brakeman George Berry were dead. Fireman Runyon was placed on a passenger train which backed to Winchester and left over the L & E road with Runyon for the hospital at Lexington.
	Runyon died on the way. Engineer Harp was blown up in the air, and fell in time for the pony trucks of the somersaulting engine to rest across his horribly torn body, and it was late in the evening before he could be removed. Fireman Claude K. Marshall was found

Berry, Harold L.	under the debris between the two engines. Brakeman Berry had his body so badly torn that his remains were picked up in a basket. Runyon was found a little distance from the wreck mangled and badly bruised. All the bodies were sent to Lexington that night. The disaster, while not as great from the standpoint of loss as some which have occurred, was the most horrible one that has occurred in this section in years. The Winchester Sun-Sentinel Thursday, February 7, 1907 Harold L. Berry, 51, of Winchester, father of Jonathan and Aaron, passed away Thursday at his home. A private memorial service will be held at a later date. The online guest book is available at www.scobeefuneralhome.com and the 24-hour funeral information line can be reached by calling 744-2122.

Berry, Thompson Morton AA	A Winchester Boy at Santiago. "Smoked Yankees" was the name given to the colored troopers who fought so gallantly at Santiago. Winchester had seven representatives in the ranks of these heroes—Jas. Rogers, Sam Wheeler, Jack Bell and James Watts, of the Ninth Cavalry, and Thompson Morton Berry, George Taylor and William Jackson, of the Tenth. James Watts is said to have been killed and Berry and Jackson were wounded in storming San Juan hill. Our reporter last week interviewed Berry, who has been at home several weeks on a sick leave. He is just twenty-one years of age and quite an intelligent negro. He graduated at our colored public school with the highest honors and took a medal last year. He was also awarded the medal at an oratorical contest in Richmond in 1897. He taught school five months at Ruckerville and in February joined the Tenth United States Cavalry (regulars) at Cincinnati and was sent to Fort Reboe in Montana where he stayed until April 19th, when his regiment was sent to Chickamauga where it remained one month. It was then ordered to Lakeland, Florida, where it stayed until June 12th, when it embarked at Tampa on board the Leona for Cuba. After a week's voyage the fleet reached Baiquiri, about eighteen miles East of Santiago, and landing June 22th, when it embarked at Tampa on board the Leona for Cuba. After a week's voyage the fleet reached Baiquiri, about eighteen miles East of Santiago, and landing June 22th, when it campa bout one and one half miles from the seashore. Breaking camp the next evening, it marched nearly to Siboney. Resting a few hours, the regiment ate an early breakfast and moving forward was joined by the First Cavalry and the Rough Riders and a part of the Twenty-Third Infantry, making a force of about one thousand men. Early that morning (June 24th occurred the fight at La Guasima, where young Hamilton Fish was killed and the Rough Riders were rescued from their perilous position by the charge of the Tenth Cavalry (colored). Berry's company, in this struggle, had one man

	Berry had taken him in his arms to help him to where he could be cared for, when a bullet struck the wounded soldier in the forehead, killing him instantly and spattering his blood and brains over Berry's hat and clothes. At half-past four, just as his command was rushing on the fort and victory was assured Berry was shot in the foot and, with a little aid, hobbled back to where the ambulance corps took charge of him and carried him to the rear. He left for Port Tampa on the 5 th of July on board the Cherokee, which by mistake was fired on by gun boats during the voyage. He was sent to Fort McPherson, Ga., but on the way his train was wrecked. He was in a hospital there about a month and was then sent to Washington where he remained in barracks nursing his wounds until he was allowed to come home, reaching here August 24 th . He speaks in the highest terms of General Wheeler's courage and kindness. During the battle, he went among the men and would tell them to lie down and keep under cover as well as they could. When the soldiers would call to him to lie down too, he would say, "Never mind me, boys. Take care of yourselves." Berry says his Captain, Watson, behaved very gallantly, and is much beloved by his men. All the commissioned officers of the Tenth Cavalry are white, and many of them from the South. Mr. Whitehead, who married Miss Louise Eginton, of this place, is a Lieutenant in this regiment. He is a Texan, and behaved with great courage in the fighting before Santiago. He was wounded slightly. Berry has had malarial fever since he came home but is not recovering rapidly. He saw Gen. Shafter lying in his tent on a cot, as he went to the rear after being wounded. Berry says that the country where the army operated around Santiago is hilly, but looked as if the soil might be rich and productive. It is covered with thick brush, and is afflicted with the cactus, which puts out myriads of sharp needles. Berry does not think the climate is much warmer than ours. He saw and felt many of the land crabs. Berry

Berryman, Achilles	Scobee Funeral Home Web Site 3-26-2004 Killing Near Ford
	The Inevitable Woman in the Case That green-eyed monster, jealousy, is responsible for another of the killings that disgrace the fair name of our State. The latest tragedy being enacted near Ford Sunday afternoon. Will Merrill, a middle aged widower, and Achilles Berryman, a young man just of age, were suitors for the hand of Miss Stone, who lives just across the river near Ford. This fair and fickle dame evidently gave encouragement to both as she is said to have been engaged to both the men. The time set for her marriage with Berryman was July 10 th and for her union with Merrill a couple of days late. The young man was exceedingly jealous of his older rival and his feelings were reciprocated to some extent by the latter. To the madness of jealousy Berryman added that of drink and when he saw Merrill Sunday evening on the Madison side of the river, he crossed at once and attacked Merrill with a stick, breaking it across the latter's shoulders. The men clinched and in the struggle got into the river when Merrill drew a pistol and fired three shots. The first struck Berryman in the left eye and crashed through his brain. The second cut the skin on top of his head and the third missed. Merrill was taken to Richmond and lodged in jail. Coroner Miller of that city held an inquest over the remains, and the jury returned a verdict in accord with these facts. Berryman was a son of Fielding Berryman who lives above Allansville where the remains were taken for interment. Merrill came originally from Estill county, but at one time lived near this city. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 3, 1894 Tom Crow and wife attended the burial of Achilles Beryman who was killed at Ford. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 13, 1894. FORD-The principal topic of conversation the past week was the killing of Berryman by Merrell. Quite a number of our citizens were summoned as witnesses in the examining trial to be held at Richmond today (Tuesday). As this is the first killing in Damman Al' D	Ford since the mills were built here it naturally causes a deep sensation in our quiet village. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 13, 1894.

Berryman, Betty Jean	Our beloved Betty Jean Berryman went home to be with the Lord on Christmas morning, December 25, 2021, after 92 wonderful years of life. She is survived by her loving husband of 71 years, Robert Hilton Berryman, and three sons, Stephen Hilton (Kim) Berryman, Richard Scott (Beverly) Berryman, and Robert Stuart (Janelle) Berryman. Additionally, she left behind seven grandchildren: Jennifer (Anita) Berryman, Andrew (Wendy) Berryman, Elizabeth (Ben) Schlosser, Bethany (Isaac) Dunteman, Kristina (Joshua) Dewitt, Joshua Berryman, and Morgan Berrryman and nine great-grandchildren, Clay Berryman, Phoenix Berryman, Lilli Dunteman, Norah Dunteman, Zoe Dunteman, Zane Dunteman, Benjamin Duteman, Cali Jo Dewitt, and Jesse Dewitt.
	She was born on August 13, 1929, and raised in Winchester, Kentucky, the only child of Richard and Alma Chism Mays. She attended St. Agatha Academy until her senior year, when she moved to Clark County High School in order to take bookkeeping. At the age of twenty, she married the love of her life, Robert Berryman, who joined the Air Force to support his new bride. Upon returning to Winchester in 1954, Betty began her career as assistant to the publisher of The Winchester Sun, James Tatman. While working full-time and raising her young family, she attended classes on nights and weekends to complete her bachelor's degree at the University of Kentucky.
	Betty is best remembered for her professional achievements. Her career broke boundaries for women, as she was selected as the first female president of the Kentucky Press Association in 1986, and ten years later was inducted into Kentucky Journalism Hall of Fame. In 1994, she was elected to the board of the National Newspaper Association of America, a 34-member body that would guide approximately 1500 newspapers in the nation. She was twice voted Most Valuable Member of the KPA and in 1988 won the Templin Award for Outstanding Community Service.
	Her service was not only to the newspaper, but also to a community she called home. She served on the Winchester Planning and Zoning Committee, on the 1998 Comprehensive Improvement Committee, as the director of the Clark County Chamber of Commerce, on the board of the United Way of the Bluegrass, on board of the Clark County Habitat for Humanity, and was a member of the Clark County Kiwanis Club. Upon retiring as publisher, she established the Partners in Education program in Clark County, and served on the board of Winchester Municipal Utilities, for many years as treasurer. Her accomplishments are too numerous to name and demonstrate her loyalty and devotion to improving her community and a town she was proud to call home.
	While many remember her as a pioneer in the newspaper industry and a gifted public leader, her family knows her best as "Granna." She had a great sense of humor and often joked that she had to have a rock garden, because she would kill any plants and even her rock garden had to be replanted every year. She may not have been able to grow plants, but she sure knew how to grow people. She saw the potential and importance in those around her. She expected it and believed in it, even when it was difficult to believe it ourselves. It was this quality of bringing out the best in people that caused her to thrive as a manager and a publisher as well as mother and grandmother. Even while she had these high expectations, she held us accountable. She was honest in her appraisal of where things stood, whether it was a choice of outfit, how you did on a recipe, or an important life decision; she would always give you an honest opinion and sage advice.
	Betty Jean was a Keeper. She kept her home neat. She kept superb care of her children and grandchildren. She kept family traditions and history alive. She kept great records. If you wanted to know the date of any accomplishment, birthday, or anniversary, she had it written down. She kept her word. No matter how she felt, she honored her many commitments. But most importantly, she kept her faith. She studied her Bible, served in her church, and covered her loved ones in prayer. She held a confident Hope of Heaven. In her study Bible she marked "the glorious promise of God" in Revelation 21:3-6, that someday "He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of things has passed away", and He has made all things new. Even through the terrible pain of this loss, we can smile through our tears knowing Betty is with Jesus. In this knowledge, we can rejoice.
	Visitation will be held at Scobee Funeral Home in the chapel from 4:00-6:00pm on Thursday, December 30, 2021. The funeral service will follow at the same location on 11:00am Friday, December 31, with burial following the service at Clairmont Memorial Gardens. Besuden, John H.	Death of John Besuden. John H. Besuden died Tuesday at his home, "Vinewood," on the Mt. Sterling pike, of heart disease, aged 46 years. He was a native of Cincinnati, but had lived in Clark for many years. His wife died some years ago and one son, Henry, is the sole survivor of the family. The funeral was preached at the family residence by Rev. Geo. Froh and the remains were taken to Cincinnati for burial. The Winchester Democrat Friday, August 24, 1900.

To the Memory of John Besuden. Sixteen years ago Mr. Besuden came to Clark county from Cincinnati, Ohio, and purchased a large farm on the Winchester and Mt. Sterling pike. Here he made for himself a lovely home, furnishing it lavishly and surrounding it with flowers and evergreens. In this happy home lived husband, wife, son and daughter, until five years ago when the circle was complete, the Angel of Death came and took the wife and mother, Emma Besuden 1895, March 15th. Again another was taken, this time the daughter, and only sister, Mary M., who died June 22, 1898. August 21, 1900, Mr. John Besuden was called from time to eternity. Truly it can be said that death enters the palace as well as the cottage. This leaves the only son the sole survivor of that once happy home. John Besuden was a good citizen, a kind husband and father. He was brought up a Lutheran and died in that faith. Surrounding himself with the beautiful and attractive, he lived in the home he loved so well until God called him to His home above not made with hands, to join the loved ones gone before. Our sympathies are all with Henry. The writer preached the funeral sermon afterwards the body was taken to Cincinnati and placed in Greenwood cemetery. G. Froh. These were residences and no account is taken of tenant houses, cabins, barns, stables, etc,: Thacker Bush, Ben Davis Enoch Elkin, Woody Elkin,-Brockman, John Dykes, A. G. 	BIG FIRE Ford Visited by a Destructive Conglagration A Whole Square Burned Saturday night Ford was visited by the most destructive fire in the history of the town. Between nine and ten o'clock flames were discovered issuing from the nearly completed lodge building, and notwithstanding the efforts of the people it spread both ways until in a short time the whole square from the depot to the Christian church was burned, except two dwellings. The fire originated in the new lodge building, being erected jointly by Pilot Lodge Knights of Pythias and Ford Lodge of Masons, and was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. Among the houses burned are the following: The lodge in which it originated. The store owned by Spurlock & Gibbens, and occupied by W. A. Scott. The upper part was used by the Masons and Knights of Pythias until the completion of their new building, which would have been in time for their next meeting. A portion of Mr. Scott's goods were saved, but much of those saved were damaged in moving. A dwelling owned by Spurlock & Gibbens and occupied by Royal Augustine. The negro church recently built was burned without insurance. Two dwellings belonging to Jas. C. Richards went with the rest. One of them was occupied by Mr. Gee. This makes the second time Mr. Richards was burned out in the last month or so. The house belonging to C. G. Bowman and occupied by Lawson Edwards. A building belonging to Ode Kelley, a portion being used by Mr. Kelley as a restaurant, and the other part by Kelly and richards as a saloon. The boarding house of Mart Edwards, with much of its contents went up in smoke. The Christian church was badly scorched, and the steeple partially burned. It was only saved by the heroic efforts of Walk Hampton and others. J. T. Moore fell from the roof of this building and was badly hurt. Pate Elkin was cinsiderably burned about the face. Jas. Turner, Dick Rue, Chad Taylor, W. Z. Eubank, and others fought like heroes, and kept the flames from spreading further. Will Post's house was on fire a number of times and had it burned the flames would have spread to the big lumbe yard. The houses of f. M. Spurlock, Charlie Gibbens, the White Hotel, J. W. Howard, S. P. Witmer, and several stables were on fire at one time from burning shingles. A gentleman from there estimates the losses as follows: The Masonic Hall, $ 1,200; C. G. Bowman, $ 900; Mart Edwards, $ 1,500; Colored church, $ 500. We have no information in regard to the amount of insurance. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, March 27, 1894.
Bigelow, Brynlee Minee'	SOMERSET — Brynlee Minee' Bigelow, 21, beloved daughter of Bradley David Bigelow and Johnna Lee Atkinson-Bigelow tragically left her earthly body on February 11, 2020. Brynlee's grand entrance into this world occurred on June 9, 1998.
	She joined her loving brother, Braden Paul Bigelow, in being the pride, joy, heart and world of her adoring parents.
	From her toddler years, Brynlee had a very serious demeanor as she hardly ever smiled while she was studying the world around her.
	Even at that tender age, her ability to focus allowed her to rapidly advance through all the developmental stages.
	Before her parents knew it, she was climbing trees, scaling fences and running at a break-neck speed toward every finish line.
	Along with her physical development, her academic skills were equally outstanding. Through her school years, she frequently earned awards for Writing, Math, Science, Art, Reading and PEalong with winning awards for fundraising for school, band, Special Olympics and any other competition placed before her. Brynlee was a competitor in all things, regardless of the awards.
	She just wanted to win.
	She epitomized the definition of a well-rounded individual. Following in her big brother's footsteps, she started playing Cal Ripken t-ball at the age of 4 and enjoyed watching her big brother's Lake Cumberland All-star team catcher in action.

Due to her studying the older catcher, when she started Coaches Pitch at 6 years old and had a chance to play the catcher's position, when other players her age were just content to wear the equipment, she was ripping off her helmet to catch foul tips like a pro and sending the batters back to the dug-out in a state of confusion because they hadn't even learned that a caught foul tip was an out. She mastered the catcher's position and also became a solid hitter, base runner and even pitched on occasion for each level of Cal Ripken. She was selected to an all-star team each year.

In 8th grade, she switched to playing softball at Meece Middle School leading the team to a 10-win season banner year.

After the 8th grade season ended, due to the varsity catcher's injury, she moved into that position for the Somerset High School Briar Jumper Softball team just prior to the district tournament. Shocking those who had never seen her perform, her advanced level of play helped the team win the District title allowing them to advance to the Regions.

She continued to play varsity softball for the remainder of her high school career winning numerous district and regional awards.

Brynlee also started playing basketball in the Upward Basketball program at the tender age of 5.

In 7th grade, she started playing basketball for both Meece Middle and Somerset High School and where she was a stand-out point guard and led the state in charges taken and ultimately was recognized as an elite member of the 1000-point club.

Her name will be on a banner in the SHS gym forever.

She also won numerous district and regional awards for basketball. She was recognized as Outstanding SHS Freshman Female athlete.

Her Junior year, she was asked to replace the injured SHS soccer keeper. Although entirely new to the game, she studied and practiced until she mastered the position like every other sport she played. Her very first year playing soccer, she was recognized for the All County Soccer team almost winning the top honor of Soccer Player of the Year, in spite of it being her first year ever playing that sport.

By the time she graduated from SHS, she had been recognized for numerous all district and all region awards in all three sports. Additionally, she was selected as a member of the All County team for all three sports being recognized as Player of the Year in Softball.

Her Senior year, she had a personal goal accomplished when she was named The Commonwealth Journal 2015 Female Athlete of the Year.

Upon her 2016 graduation, she had a dream come true when she was recruited by the University of Kentucky softball team and was recognized as being the fastest runner on the team. Brynlee had the honor of seeing significant playing time.

As she became more intent on her future, Brynlee decided to focus on her plans to be a Digital Media Graphics major which would maximize her artistic talent and creativity. She was excelling in art classes, film, web design and print art. She was on target to graduate in December 2020 with plans to transfer to a smaller school to pursue a degree in business and, perhaps, to her family's excitement, play basketball.

In addition to her athletic prowess, many people have spoken of her ability to encourage all those players coming up behind her.

Many have commented on how polite, encouraging and inspirational she was for so many younger athletes and artists alike.

Brynlee was also an adventurer. She loved going on explorations to places unknown. She was never content to sit still. Even as a child, she was always creating and mastering new skills like skateboarding, playing guitar, waterskiing, planning the next scary scene for Bigeloween, the family's annual Halloween Trick-or-Treat experience, and most recently was pursuing getting certified in scuba diving.

Miraculously, in spite of playing and participating in all these sports and activities with such fierceness and competitiveness she never experienced any major injuries causing many people to declare she was invincible.

Brynlee had the kind of skill that even made the competitors admire her abilities.

In short, Brynlee lived every second of her life with great intensity, joy, laughter and charm.

With all of her qualities, everyone expected even greater things to come from her life in the years to come.

Sadly, these expectations will never be fulfilled due to her tragic death.

She leaves behind a legacy that is far more reaching than most people who have lived four times her age.

Her sudden passing has resulted in the broken hearts of her parents, brother, grandparents, Bill and Nancy Bigelow, Jo Harrison Sparks Milward and husband Rob, aunts, Jolie Thompson (Jon), Jill Atkinson-Petter and Amber Atkinson-Petter, uncle Brett Bigelow (Tuesday), cousins, Cade Thompson, Chloe Thompson, Emerson Atkinson-Petter, Hudson Atkinson-Petter and other great aunts and uncles and cousins.

Preceding her in death in her lifetime was her granddaddy, Robert Paul Atkinson and her great-grandparents, John D. and Minnie Harrison.

In addition to her human family, Brynlee also leaves behind her beloved fur babies, cat, Pongo and her loved beyond belief special needs dog, Takoda.

The outpouring of love from thousands of people from around the world is a testament of the far reach Brynlee had in her too brief life.

It would be impossible to list all who are left with broken hearts due to her passing.

Most importantly, Brynlee accepted Jesus Christ as her Lord and Savior in her childhood and was baptized at Eagle Heights Church where she learned the fundamentals of her faith.

She also attended First Baptist Church during her young teen years.

Later, she was an active member of the youth group and The Creek Church where she never missed watching Nothing But Christmas, yet another Bigelow family tradition.

Her sincere Christian faith gives her friends and family deep comfort knowing one day she will be waiting to greet them with that huge infectious, beautiful smile and the warmest of hugs, when they, too, pass from this earth.

Believing that to be absent from the body is to be present from the Lord, a two-day celebration of her life will occur at First Baptist Church, Somerset, KY, beginning with a visitation 5:00 -8:00 p.m. on Monday, February 17.The visitation will continue on Tuesday, February 18 starting at 9:00 a.m. with the funeral service starting at 2:00 p.m.

After the service, interment will take place at the Northside Cemetery in Science Hill, KY. Followed by a celebration dinner in The Bridge of First Baptist Church.

The Active Pall Bearers will be dear friends Castle Hatcher, Carlos Canella, Tyler Mullins, Hala Ayyash and adoring, broken-hearted big brother, Braden Bigelow. Breaking with tradition, which is what the Bigelow family frequently does, the last two pall bearers will be her father and mother. Being the first two people to create her and usher her into this world, they want to be the last two to carry her to her final resting place on this earth.... a lovely spot near a grove of trees and a small pond. Brynlee loved water and the outdoors and the spot seemed perfect. She will be the first person interred in this new cemetery and her family agrees she would have thought being first would be way cool.

Additionally, she will have plenty of space for years to come before any others invade her space. Those who knew her knows she did NOT like anyone invading her space.

Honorary Pall Bearers will be all of the coaches and teammates who have impacted her life. In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that donations be made to the Brynlee Bigelow Scholarship fund soon to be set up at Citizens National Bank, Somerset, KY. Pulaski Funeral Home is honored to assist the Bigelow family with arrangements.
