	William retired from Rockwell International and was a proud veteran of the United States Navy, where he served from 1957-1963. He was stationed on Kwajalein Island aboard the USS Oriskany. William enjoyed playing the saxophone and was a member of the Impact Band in the early 1960's. He also loved fishing and working in the garden. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Winchester and the United Auto Workers Union.
	In addition to his loving wife of over 60 years, he is survived by his daughter, Natalie Thomas; grandson, Jarran (Amanda) Thomas; and a host of friends.
	Funeral services will be held at 1:00 PM, on Monday, August 28, 2023, at Scobee Funeral Home by Pastor Ron Barker. Burial will follow in the Winchester Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Rusty Gladden, Neal Edwards, Steve Phillips, Berry Omohundro, Lewis Brashear, and Bob Vaughn. Honorary pallbearers will be Bill Dalziel, David Hoffman, Frank Pitman, and Michael Meyer.
	Visitation will be on Sunday, August 27, 2023, from 5:00-7:00 PM at Scobee Funeral Home.
	Donations can be made to George Rogers Clark – Bass Team, 2745 Boonesboro Road, Winchester, KY 40391.

Biggs, Mr	THE man Biggs, who passed a forged check or two on our merchants some time ago, is dead. Shortly after uttering the forgeries here he was arrested and lodged in jail at Mt. Sterling for the same offense. He got out of jail and although the officers sought his track, he had time to retrack to here, he was held but once again he was a free man. Nothing had since been heard from him until he was recognized as the unknown man who was killed while attempting to board a train in Bowling Green. Biliter, Robert	Robert Eugene Biliter, 87, Winchester, Kentucky, husband of Mary Carolyn Beverly Biliter, daughter of Miles and Geneva Beverly, passed away on March 22, 2019, from a courageous battle with cancer.
	Born in Martin, Kentucky to the late John Caudill Biliter and Martha Cea Crisp on January 4, 1932. Bob graduated from Eastern Kentucky University and married sweetheart, Carolyn. He served his country in the Merchant Marines and in the Army Reserves. He had a rich career employed by the Federal Government as Chief of Technical Publications. Upon retirement he and Carolyn, his lifelong love, moved back to Kentucky. The last two decades were spent enjoying time with family and friends.
	Bob was loved by all who knew him. He was genuinely kind, thoughtful, and deeply generous man. He lived a life of service to his country, his God, church community, friends and family. He was invested in his church and valued his time serving others as Bishop of the Winchester Ward and Branch President in Geneseo, Illinois of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. He was a wonderful father and devoted husband. He was a great cook and loved nothing more than to make meals for anyone who came to the house. The tradition and time spent in meals were treasured by all. He loved fixing things, building things, fishing, and watching old cowboy movies or his favorite college sport teams. He will be deeply missed by all who knew him. Goodbye, My Love, Dad, Pa, Brother Biliter.
	He is survived by his wife of 65 years, Mary Carolyn, and his four children: Sabrina Toler (Lynn) of Winchester; Robert Miles (Diedra) South Carolina; David (Maurina) Arkansas; Mary Kimball (James) Utah. He is further survived by 8 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Birch, Abe	The Passing Of "Uncle Abe"
	The funeral of "Uncle Abe" Birch, an unique character who passed away at a ripe old age, was preached at Dundee Sunday to a large gathering of relatives and friends.
	"Uncle Abe" was perhaps the last survivor of the employes of the Red River Iron Manufacturing Company at the old Estill steam furnace, where for many years he held a position as "filler." He raised a large family, and was especially proud of his children who lived to do him honor, In speaking of them he would call over their names in a pretty jingle which became famous wherever he was known.

Birchfield, Larry Dale	Larry Dale Birchfield, age 70, of Winchester, formerly of Pikeville, met his Savior,
-	Jesus Christ, face to face on Sunday, October 17, 2021, while at the Clark Regional Medical Center, Winchester, KY.
	The baby of twelve children, Larry was born in Pike County on March 14, 1951, to Calvin and Viola Smith Birchfield. He graduated from Johns Creek High School in 1970, and in 1974, he graduated from Pikeville College with a Bachelor degree. Around that same time, the eastern Kentucky coal industry exploded and the good pay was enough to entice Larry to take a job at an eastern Kentucky mine. He worked on strip mines for 37 years, 23 of those as a mining superintendent. After he retired, Larry moved to Winchester, Kentucky, where he spent years enjoying and attending many University of Kentucky sporting events, attending Northside Baptist Church, and turning his garage into the neighborhood hangout for his beloved friends. Larry had a vast knowledge of many sports but considering he was a UK fanatic, much of that knowledge revolved around the University of Kentucky Wildcats. His friends lovingly nicknamed him 'Larry Vitale'.

	Larry was a baptized believer of Jesus Christ. He is preceded in death by his parents, Calvin and Viola Birchfield, and his siblings, Fred, Elmer 'Don', Pauline, Betty, and Lester James and Teddy Wayne (stillborn twins). Left to cherish his memory is his son, Mark and wife, Kim, and grandson, Benjamin Birchfield, all of Olive Hill, KY, and his daughter, Amanda Lambert and husband, Jeff, and grand-dog, Krusher, of Baxter, KY; three sisters, Florene Birchfield, Pikeville, Mary Lou Mullins, Versailles, and Shirley Birchfield, Pikeville; two brothers, Russell 'Joe' Birchfield and wife, Ruby, and Harold Birchfield and wife, Nina, all of Pikeville; sister-in-law, Vivian Ford Birchfield (Fred), of Pikeville; as well as many extended family and friends.
	Friends may gather to express condolences at Larry's visitation on Thursday, October 21, in Winchester, at the Northside Baptist Church, 15 Pendleton Street, Winchester, KY, from 5:00-6:30 P.M., with the memorial service beginning at 6:30 p.m. Reverend Jesse Kline will be officiating.
	A second gathering will be held in Pikeville at the Bob Amos Overlook, 891 Bob Amos Drive, Pikeville, KY, on Friday, October 22, from 4:30-6:30 P.M., with the memorial service beginning at 6:30. Reverend David Overbay will be officiating.
	Larry will be buried in a private graveside service at the Birchfield Family Cemetery in Pikeville.
	In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be sent to the Northside Baptist Church, 15 Pendleton Street, Winchester, KY 40391
	The family requests that all who attend Larry's services wear UK gear, in honor of his great love of the Wildcats. Harlan Funeral Home is honored to serve the Birchfield family.

	King Bird, a notorious negro, was hung last week in Maryland for murder. Bird came to the Frankfort penitentiary in 1887 from Henry county to serve six years for detaining a white woman. In 1891 he murdered Dick Hardin, of Louisville, a fellow convict. For this he was tried in Franklin county and sentenced to twenty-one years. He refused to work when taken back to the penitentiary, and on being whipped, placed his left hand in front of a machine saw and severed it at the wrist. He took the severed member and threw it out the window of the shop to one of the bloodhounds kept at the prison. While recovering from the wound Bird feigned insanity and was tried and adjudged a lunatic. He was taken to the State Insane Asylum, and escaped the next day, was recaptured and again confined in the asylum. He again made his escape and was caught afterward at Indianapolis. He was returned to prison and remained until July, 1900,

Williams (Bob) of Burgin, KY; four grandchildren, 2 great-grandchildren, one niece, two nephews, four great-nieces, two great-nephews, and one great-great-niece along with many friends and associates.
	Dick enjoyed aviation starting from an early age and throughout his life ultimately building and flying his own full-size airplane. One of his first accomplishments was building and flying model airplanes with his dad, which led to Dick winning the National Championship for Model Airplanes in the early '60's.
	Dick was drafted into the Army in 1969 and is a Veteran of the Vietnam War. He served his country for six years and had an Honorable Discharge. After the Army, he started a long career in the aviation industry. He was a pilot and flight instructor at the Georgetown airport and then moved to being a private pilot for Codell Construction Co. in Winchester, KY. During his career, he worked for various US government contractors and was responsible for improvement modifications to military aircraft.
	Dick was an avid lover of dogs, especially golden retrievers and owned 7 dogs at one time. His hobbies included traveling and playing Dominos with a special group of friends. He was a member of the Central Baptist Church and attended the Kerr Sunday School class.

Bishop, Wallace	CONVICTS MUTINED.
Dionop, wanacc	Three Desperate Prisoners Attempt to Gain Their Liberty.
	One of the Wounded Desperadoes, Wallace Bishop, Died Later.
	The Wounds of the Others Are Not Thought Fatal.
	Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 21Fired by a desire to gain their freedom, Wallace Bishop and Thomas Mulligan, of Kenton county, and Lafayette Brooks, of Morgan county, all murderers and desperate criminals, made a futile attempt to escape from the state penitentiary here Wednesday morning and as a result Bishop lay for hours in a critical condition at the hospital with a bullet wound in his breast, Brooks is shot through the shoulder and Alfred Ransome, colored, a Louisville murderer, who for a few moments essayed to follow the three daring murderers, is suffering from a wound in the shoulder.
	The mutiny, which lasted for four and a half hours and ended in an ignominious surrender by the convicts, caused great excitement within the prison and among the people of Frankfort. The convicts chose what they considered a most propitious time for their outbreak. Selecting the breakfast for their dash for liberty, when they hoped to stampede a large number of prisoners, they overpowered the guards with their pistols, captured Charles Willis, a foreman of the reed department of the chair factory, and using him as a shield entrenched themselves in a room where they defiled the officials. It was not until they discovered that Warden Eph Lillard intended to starve them out that they decided to surrender. Ransome was shot by Eph Lillard, Jr., while the men were entrenched. Bishop was wounded as he was surrendering, because when told to hold up his hands he attempted to put one of them in his pocket as if reaching for a weapon, and Brooks was wounded by a stray ball at the time Bishop fell. Wallace Bishop is said to be only the alias of the convict shot in the mutiny. His name is said to be Burns, and it is also said that he is a member of a well to do family in St. Louis.
	Brooks made a statement to the warden Wednesday afternoon. He places the responsibility for the attempted outbreak to Wallace Bishop. He says that he and the other two men had worn shackles constantly for months for bad conduct and that Bishop assured them that he could get them out. Wednesday afternoon Bishop, who cannot survive, joined the Catholic church and called for Acting Warden Madigan, he asked forgiveness for the attempt upon that official's life. It is now stated upon good authority that Guard George Fry, of Marion county fired the shot which wounded Bishop. Wallace Bishop alias Burns, who led the outbreak and was fatally shot, died Wednesday night. He was conscious up to an hour or so before his death and made peace with enemies, including deputy Warden Madigan, whom he had sworn to kill. At his request Father Major, of the Catholic church, was sent for and baptized him shortly before he died. His family lives at Hammond, Ind., and the body will be sent there for burial. Guard Geo. Fry fired the shot that killed Bishop. Fry says that Bishop made a move to draw a gun and that he was satisfied the latter intended to kill Capt. Madigan. Acting on this belief he shot Bishop.

Now he and his entire family, seven in all, are ill of the same disease. Five have been taken to the Lexington Infirmary and the other two are too ill to move. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Jan. 13, 1899 Two sisters of Miss Mollie who died in this city of typhoid fever died during the past week of the same melody at the hospital in Lexington and the rest of the family are very ill. The father, Samuel Blackard, is getting better but the rest of the family are still dangerously ill. The Winchester Democrat Tue., Jan. 24, 1899 An Afflicted Family. We have mentioned the serious affliction of the family of Samuel Blackard, who formerly lived in this county, but who for several years has lived in Fayette. For several months past the whole family has been down of typhoid fever. The first victim was Miss Mollie Blackard, a handsome and cultured lady, who was teaching school at the Franklin school house this county. After lingering for weeks she died at the residence of her uncle George Robertson, of this city. Shortly after the father, mother and five children were taken down with the disease and were removed to the Infirmary at Lexington. In a week or two an infant daughter and another about half grown, died. The father got so much better that he was discharged from the Infirmary and went home. After a short while he had a relapse and Wednesday both he and his wife died. Only two children now remain and both of these are ill. Blackwell, Marshall Blackwell, Mrs. Edith	The Winchester Sun Mon., 6-23, 6-24, 6-25-1941 Excessive Heat Causes Death. Mrs. Edith Blackwell, aged 34 years, wife of Mr. G. H. Blackwell, died suddenly at her home on Winn avenue Sunday morning. Saturday night she retired in her usual health.
	About five o'clock next morning Mr. Blackwell awoke and missed his wife from their room. Becoming alarmed on account of her continued absence he searched for her in other parts of the house, finally discovering her body lying face downward on the kitchen floor. Conditions indicated that she had been dead for about an hour. Coroner Brinegar held a juryless inquest and on the evidence decided that death resulted from excessive heat causing probably an effusion of blood to the brain. Funeral services, conducted by Eld. J. W. Harding, were held Monday at the Church of Christ on Fairfax street and the remains were buried in the Winchester cemetery. The deceased was formerly a Miss West. She was a faithful member of the Christian church and a good woman. Her husband and five little children survive. The Sun-Sentinel Thursday, July 21, 1904

Blades, Lucy	Ed. C. Browning Sr., died at his home in the Southwestern part of the county Thursday after a painful illness of several weeks of jaundice and catarrb of the stomach, aged seventy-six years. The funeral was preached at the family residence by Elds. I. B. Grubbs and J. W. Harding, and the remains were interred in the family graveyard. His first wife was Miss Lucy Blades, of this county. She died some ten years ago and several years later he married Mrs. Catherine Mason, of Henry county, who survives.
	Eight children also survive him while two of his children are dead. He was a man of strong convictions but thoroughly honest and most highly respected. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 9, 1895.

Blaine, Emmons	Emmons Blaine, son of ex-Secretary Blaine, died suddenly Saturday at Chicago. His death was attributed to over exertion at the Minneapolis Convention and disappointment over his father's defeat. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 6-22-1892
Blaine, Jas. G.	JAS. G. BLAINE, perhaps the most prominent American of his day died Friday, aged about 63 years. The following from the Louisville times is a fair and conservative estimate of his character: "Mr. Blaine is dead. The news will carry sorrow not only into the ranks of his own party, but also in the hearthstones of others who admired him for his brilliancy: his dash, and above all for his Americanism. No other man since the days of Clay has held so large a place in the minds of the people; no other man has played so great a part in politics no other man could inspire his followers with such enthusiasm. His partisans were always eager to battle under the leadership of their gallant commanders. He inspired men with a confidence which he did not himself possess. Under his direction many a fight was made which was hopeless from the beginning. He was as stubborn as Ben Wade but more conservative; he lacked the profoundness of Matt Carpenter, the eloquence of Conklings but with the masses in the matter of popularity he was more than the peer of any of them. The statures of the land do not contain a page inspired by Blaine as a Congressman. His theory of reciprocal trade between nations, which was rejected by the extreme Protectionists of the Senate was the one great measure originated by the man from Maine. Sorrow and ill fortune seemed to be ever at his hells. His hopeful enthusiasm was the silver lining behind dark clouds of disappointment. The realization of this highest ambition was dead sea fruit to his life. Twice he entered national campaigns, when all presaged a successful voyage and each time his hopes went down in sight of the long sought harbor. Tennyson said of the death of the Duke of Wellington. He fell an oak four square to all the world" The loss of Blaine to his party is the loss of leader who was an oak in the forest of a politics and his death so soon after the defeat of his partisans, leaves a once powerful organization without a leader with power to reform its shattered lines. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, January 8, 1895.

FROM rumors which were heard from various sources yesterday morning our people expected there would be serious trouble at Mt. Sterling yesterday. It was evident that the same feeling existed at other places as the State guards at Lexington had been ordered to hold themselves ready to march at a moment's notice. It was told here that a number of Blair's friends from Morgan and other counties were in Mt. Sterling fully armed and bent on trouble that 150 Deputy Sheriffs had been sworn in and the police force largely increased. Those who attended court there yesterday stated everything was quiet and orderly; there was no show of force, and if there was trouble brewing it was not evident on the surface of affairs. Detective Drake stated that the parties to the recent lynching of Blair were known and that they lived in Mt. Sterling. Circuit Court began there yesterday and the Grand Jury will be given information upon which to act and all will be brought to light in a few days.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, January 22, 1895.

Nothing new developed at Mt. Sterling. Two men, Roach and Forman have been arrested and indicted. Forman has served part of a nineteen years sentence in the pen for murder. Detective Drake claims to be innocent. Joe Bruner is helping to work the matter up. Drake claims to have information that will lead to the arrest of the men engaged in the lynching.

BADLY SCARED

Lynchers Preparing to Leave Montgomery County.

Scope of Judge Cooper's to Punish "Mobbers" Has Been Widened.

The Lynchers of Murphy to Be Brought to Justice Also-Gov. Brown is Ready to Greatly Increase the Rewards if necessary to Secure the Guilty.

Mt. STERLING, Ky., Jan. 28-Mountgomery county "mobbers" are becoming badly frightened and some are making hurried preparations to leave the state. The scope of Judge Cooper's plan to punish lynchers has been widened and he now proposes to bring to justice not only those who hanged Tom Blair, but the lynchers of Murphy also. Monday morning, when he formerly extends the time of the session of the grand jury to February 16. Judge Cooper will repeat a portion of his former charge and demand that all who participated in the lynching of Murphy be indicted.

Murphy, who killed his stepfather in one of the upper counties, was brought here for safekeeping. While in the jail here he killed a fellow-prisoner named Steele. Fearing mob violence, he was sent to Winchester. He was taken from the jail there by a man who represented himself to be an officer and brought to Mt. Sterling and hanged within its corporate limits.

Blair, serving a sentence in the Mt. Sterling jail for carrying concealed weapons, was taken out on New Year's night by a mob, and after being cruelly beaten was hanged until dead. This crime, Judge Cooper declares, was the foulest ever committed by a mob in Kentucky. This state of things is worse, he will say, than the condition of France under the reign of Robespierre.

Gov. Brown has notified Judge Cooper that if the present reward of $500 per head for the conviction of the lynchers is insufficient, he will increase it to any amount necessary. Judge Cooper has increased the pay of the jail guards and his body guards to $3 per day, and has also settled the dispute between himself and Attorney White. It is said that four of the persons against whom indictments were returned Saturday have left the county. No additional arrests were made Sunday, but excitement is still very great.

Commenting upon the present condition of affairs, a local paper says:

"There is a spirit of almost absolute anarchy prevading the very air in and around Mt. Sterling. Courts and juries are abused and lied on, no matter what they do, and attempts are made in every conceivable way, by hook and crook and strategy, to shackle the strong arm of justice and render it powerless to strike in behalf of the constitutional and legal rights of our citizens."

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, January, 29, 1895.

COOPER'S TALK

The Judge Declares Nobody Will Be Punished for Blair's Death

MT. STERLING, Ky., Jan. 31.-the grand jury has taken a recess for a few days. Before adjourning the court was notified that no evidence could be had implicating Ex-Jailer Best with the hanging of Blair in any way whatever, whereupon the court ordered him released from custody. Best's friends are not in the best humor on account of his imprisonment, and it is reported that he will bring suit against County Judge O'Rear for issuing the warrant.

Detective Drake and his associates have left the city, and it is reported that they have abandoned further search for the lynchers. The case in Lee county, charging Drake with murder, was continued, and a writ was issued for Ratliff, who swore out the warrant, but who failed to put in his appearance against Drake.

Another effort will be made Thursday to get a trial for young Roach, who is indicted for the murder of Blair. At this juncture the indications justify the prediction that no other arrests will be made in the Blair case.

Judge Cooper is highly indignant over the way in which the other officials of Mt. Sterling have tried to prevent a full investigation of the Blair lynchers. He said that the political factions opposed to him were the cause of the trouble and he believed that nobody would be punished for the murder of Blair.

The judge bitterly denounced the many lies which he alleges have been sent broadcast over the country about him, declaring that when he killed Pearsell directly after the war he did so in self defense.

The friends of Detective Drake expect him to be assassinated at any time should he push his investigation any further. The situation in Mt. Sterling is more critical than at any time since the investigation began, and it is more than likely that Gov. Brown will step in and take a hand in ferreting out Blair's murderers.

The Winchester Democrat Friday, February 1, 1895.

AT Mt. Sterling Jailer Best was acquitted of all complicity in the Blair lynching. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, February 5, 1895.

THE grand jury is still at work, the term of this body having been extended indefinitely. It is said there is some new evidence in the lynching cases being presented to that body. It is, therefore, possible though hardly probable, that there may be some other indictments in a few days. The grand jury is a good one, and if it is possible it will ferret out the perpetrators of the lynching.-Mt. Sterling Advocate. The Winchester Democrat Friday, February 15, 1895.

SOMETHING sensational occurs every few days to prevent the Blair lynching proceedings of Montgomery county from being forgotten. A few days ago George Owings, one of the guards, accidentally shot himself in the leg, fracturing the bone. Monday, Charlie Rattliffe, shot himself in the breast either accidentally or with suicide intent. He claims it was an accident. Ratliff is the boy who created such a sensation by swearing out the warrant for the arrest of detective Drake on the charge of participating in the lynching of a Lee county murderer.

The Winchester Democrat Friday, February 15, 1895.

L.P. Deatley who was recently taken to the penitentiary to serve a life sentence for the murder of Mart Cline, of Bath county, says the authorities have never been on the right track in regard to the Blair lynchers. He was in jail at the time and says he recognized eleven of the men, some of whom threatened to lynch him at the same time. He says the leader was a well known politician. He also says Roach and Forman who are in jail at Lexington had nothing to do with it and were not there.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, March 12, 1895.

ADVICES from Clay City say that Mrs. Joseph Johnson, wife of City Marshal Johnson, one of the men who assisted Detective Drake in ferreting out the alleged lynchers of Blair in Mt. Sterling not long ago, poisoned herself by taking a large dose of "rough on roaches," mistaking it for morphine, and but for the timely aid of the physicians she would have died. She is resting quietly this morning and will recover.-Lexington Leader, Friday.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, March 12, 1895.

IT is refreshing to know that the lynchers of Tom Blair at Mt. Sterling were not "spooks" and that somebody knows who they were even if that somebody was not a member of the Grand Jury or a witness before it. Editor Tom Young, of the Bath County Banner says: "We will emphasize what we have said by adding that we know every mother's son of those who were engaged in the hanging of Tom Blair. We will say further, while decrying the crime, some of them were our friends in the direst need and a thousand wild horses could not draw the secret from us. This they know too. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, March 19, 1895.

CAPT. HATHAWAY, who was chosen special Judge to try Roach and Forman the alleged lynchers at Mt. Sterling, was unable to attend on account of the near approach of Circuit Court here, and was obliged to decline. Hon. Jas. F. Winn was then chosen but he also was also obliged to decline.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday April 6, 1895.

JUDGE COOPER was sworn off the bench at Mt. Sterling in the cases of Richard Forman and James Roach for complicity in the lynching of Tom Blair. Both sides agree upon Capt. Hathaway, of this city, as special judge to try the case. This was a merited compliment to our fellow townsman.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday April 6, 1895.

Jas. Roach and Richard Foreman who were charged with the lynching of Thos. Blair, were found guilty at Mt. Sterling, Saturday, the jury being out only seven minutes. The brothers of Blair were present at the trial and are satisfied that Roach and Foreman had nothing to do, with the killing.

The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, April, 23, 1895

Jessee Blair, a brother of Tom Blair, who was lynched at this place New year's morning, was shot on Saturday near his home in Morgan county, at the mouth of Pleasant Run, by Heusley Dyer, a son of Tom Dyer of the same neighborhood. Blair was shot twice, one in the breast and again in the shoulder. He will probably recover. The particulars of the origin of the difficulty are not at present obtainable.-Mt. Sterling Advocate.

The Winchester Democrat Friday, June 21, 1895.

	A special from Mt. Sterling Friday says: "It will be remembered that Thomas Blair was taken from the county jail here on last New Year" morning and hung to a trestle within the city limits, and for this offense several parties were indicted, arrested and on trial were cleared. Charles Sledd, son of the Sheriff, was among the number indicted, but was not to be found. Today he returned and gave himself up, and was placed under a bond of $2,000. He will ask for a trial during this term of the court, and will plead not guilty. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, September 10, 1895 "Filed Away" as Usual A dispatch from Mt. Sterling of Monday says: "The case of the Commonwealth vs.
	Charles Sledd, son of Sheriff Sledd, charging him with participating in the lynching of Thomas Blair on last New Year's morning, was called in the Circuit Court this morning, and after the calling of witnesses was ordered filed away. Excitement has all passed away, and the party who lynched Blair is yet a mystery. The Winchester Democrat Friday, September 27, 1895

	Many of Blakeman's colleagues, from veteran journalists to the cubs he helped train, offered their thoughts on an editor known as a perfectionist.
	"To say Bill Blakeman was an 'old school' newspaperman would be an understatement," said Ed Staats, who retired as Kentucky bureau chief of the Associated Press. "By 'old school,' I mean he had a love for the language, a commitment to hard work, a natural sense of what makes a good news story and a real dedication to his readers and their communities. "He wrestled every day for many years getting the paper together, editing copy written by a steady stream of up-and-coming reporters whom he had hired and then filling the editorial columns with ideas about how to make Winchester and Clark County a better place.

Kentucky, this writer included, who have high admiration for his decades-long work as a true newspaperman." Mike Embry, a former Associated Press correspondent, said he respected Blakeman's commitment to journalism, even at a smaller scale. "I heard Bill speak about local journalism and the importance of having good journalists working for smaller daily newspapers," Embry said. "He strived to have good journalists who were dedicated in providing the best news coverage on local news and sports. I believe he succeeded at The Winchester Sun. We need more local editors like Bill Blakeman." Blakeman's talent and abilities could have carried him away to a larger venue for journalism, but he preferred staying in Winchester. Former Sun business manager Sharon Tuminski said throughout the three decades she worked with him, that commitment never waivered. "He was the kindest individual and always put The Winchester Sun as top priority," Tuminski said. "He was a community-minded individual and served Winchester and Clark County well." Tuminski recalled an aquarium Blakeman had built into the wall of his second-floor office. The serenity offered by the tank served as a counterpoint to the fast-paced clamor associated with producing a daily newspaper. "The neatest thing was how he loved his aquarium," Tuminski said. "He was always so proud when my kids would come to see me and always wanted to see it. He will be greatly missed." Throughout his tenure, Blakeman mentored many journalists who applied the lessons learned at the Sun to jobs across the state and country. "Bill was a wonderful editor," said Jamie Vinson, who first worked for Blakeman as an intern and later as a fulltime reporter. "I will never forget his attention to detail. He was so particular. Now that I'm older I realize he was just teaching me what a good editor and newspaper should do — pay attention to detail, be precise and accurate." Vinson worked at the Sun from 2003-2005, and is now the managing editor of the Mount Sterling Advocate. "Many of the things I learned from him I have passed on to those who have worked under me," she said. "He was a great man and will be missed." For Michael Cornett, who worked at the Sun from 1997 to 1999, the reporting job was his first after graduating from Morehead State University. He is now the director of agency expansion and public relations for the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program Inc., the workforce development agency that provides jobs, training and retraining services for residents in 23 Eastern Kentucky counties. "Bill Blakeman certainly was an institution in Kentucky journalism, but he was also an inspiration to hundreds of young journalists like me who spent time under his leadership at The Winchester Sun during his lengthy tenure there as editor," Cornett said. ""Bill ran an exceedingly tight ship, but there wasn't a single piece of news content, photo or cutline written for each day's issue that didn't cross his desk and benefit from his vast newsroom experience and keen insight. "To this day, my own writing and editing of others' work reflect the lessons I learned from Bill, and I'll be forever grateful he took a chance on me as a fresh-out-of-college rookie reporter from Morehead State and helped turn me into a professional journalist." Jay Tate, a former Sun intern who now covers Auburn University sports, said he learned much from Blakeman during his brief stint at the Sun. "Bill was my favorite editor ever," said Tate, who later worked at the Montgomery Advertiser. "He was from the old school, which means he had exquisite command of syntax and grammar — and wasn't afraid to correct mistakes without a hint of subtlety. I loved that about him. "Bill was rigid. He offered no apologies for that rigidity. I'm sure that trait rubbed some people the wrong way, but I had immense respect for his commitment to Clark County and the Sun itself. He was great at his job. For that, he was easy for me to appreciate." While he cut his teeth in print, Tate offers credit to Blakeman for helping him adapt to online media. "He also was a great example for me on a personal level," Tate said. "I run my own website now and I'm Bill Blakeman to several younger reporters. When they make silly mistakes, I can hear Bill in the back of my mind. He'd say, 'I'll lash you with a wet noodle the next time you do that.' He was joking. At least I thought he was. I never actually saw a noodle, though I always assumed there was one in the desk. Bill was tough, but he had a dry sense of humor that really spoke to me. I got him. I understood how he was trying to teach me. I'm proud to say that I

improved a lot during my time at the Sun and the lessons I learned there help me provide for my family today. Bill was one of the most influential people I ever met." Carly Gilkey, who worked under Blakeman from 1999 to 2002, later left journalism to devote more time to raising her two children, but said she will always remembers the lessons he passed down. "When Bill hister die as a reporter in 1999. I was only a few years out of journalism school," said Gilkey, who now is a medical technologist for Wake Forest Baptist Health in Wisson-Salem, N.C. "I was young enough to think I could still change the world, and old enough to think no one could tell me otherwise. Bill accepted me, the young brash New Yorker, and somehow managed to help me assimilate into life in Clark County. "I learned the topes as the city government reporter and slowly grew to love the county the he cared about more than his caruty exterior would let him express. I'm extremely grateful to Bill for allowing me to be creative, and for reining me in when I needed to be. He was not only a good editor and a good writer, he was a good boss and cared for all of us. I will miss Mr. Balkeman, chessed in his suit and tie, ready for his next assignment." The Winchester Sun January 10, 2014 Blakemore, Allen Blakemore, Allen Blakemore, E.J. Blakemore, E.J. 	Bob Blanks Begged to Live—He took a Last Look at His Coffin and Declared That He Was Innocent.
	Mayfield, Ky., April 19.—Bob Blanks paid the death penalty here at 10:33 o'clock Tuesday morning. He wrote letters till midnight, slept till 5 o'clock Tuesday morning and had good nerve till after his talk. Thousands assembled in the streets around the jail, but all was quiet. He mounted the scaffold and requested a collection from the men inside. Then ascending the platform to the fence he talked nearly an hour, protesting his innocence of the crime. He begged to live until 10:30. When he had finished his long talk, he walked to the edge of the scaffold, took a long look at his coffin and asked to be buried by his child in the cemetery here. He begged continuously for a minute more time after looking at his coffin. The cap was placed over his head, after he knelt and prayed, but was raised for a last word. Shaking hands with all he was placed on the trap door, his body trembling like a leaf, and words of prayer could be heard. The noose was quickly adjusted and the drop was complete at 10:33, breaking his neck instantly.
	But few signs of life were noticeable and they were very slight. He was pronounced dead in six minutes. Two colored preachers were with Blanks on the scaffold.

Blanton,	BURIED TREASURE Ill Gotten Gains Awaiting the Fortunate Discoverer For many years prior to the war there lived in Fayette county a man named Blanton who had come from some of the mountain counties. He was of a strangely unsocial disposition and had few intimate friends. It afterwards transpired that he was a manufacturer of counterfeit money, and that he would take the spurious coin into the mountains and buy cattle which he would take to Lexington and other points and sell.
	By this means he accumulated a fortune which is said to have amounted to about fifteen thousand dollars. Becoming suspicious of danger, he converted his property into gold and buried it in an iron pot where he then resided, on the pike leading from this city to Lexington, and near the latter city. Shortly after this he was arrested in another county and sent to the penitentiary for a long term of years. When his time had expired he went back to his old home to search for his buried treasure. In the meantime the war had taken place and his former home had been occupied by the Federal forces. Earth works had been thrown up, trees cut down, outbuildings and fences destroyed and the aspect of things so changed that he was unable to locate the spot. After a long but vain search he was forced to give up, but continued to dig there from time to time until his death, which occurred soon after. John Will Adams, who formerly lived near Allansville, this county, now lives there and, in conjunction with the man who assisted Blanton in his search, has expended much time and labor in endeavoring to locate the buried treasure. Thus far his exertions have been in vain, but he has unbounded faith, that he will ultimately be successful.

Blanton, Mrs. Elijah	Blanton In Jail Charged With The Murder Of His Wife, Claims Accidental Shooting
	Lexington, Ky.
	Elijah Blanton, of Wallins Creek, shot his wife through the hip, causing her death within a few hours. Mrs. Blanton's maiden name was Durham. Her father was killed several years ago in Bell county by Andrew Johnson. Squire Sam Turner held an inquest, the jury returning a verdict of murder. Later Blanton was lodged in jail.
	Blanton claims that the shooting was accidental. Citizens of Wallins Creek say that Mr. and Mrs. Blanton had trouble before.

Bloom, Isaac

Death of Isaac Bloom

Death is not always a thing of terror, but sometimes is a welcome transition from a life whose burdens are too great into another purer, higher, better. Such was the summons that came Tuesday morning to Isaac Bloom, and his spirit was wafted into the Great Beyond. He was a gentleman in the best sense of the term. Kind, considerate and courteous, he numbered his friends by hundreds in all ranks of life, and few men arre in Clark county whose death will be more lamented.

Forty-nine years ago he was born in Bavaria. He came to this city in 1866 and shortly after opened u a clothing store in which business he continued until his health failed a few years ago. For more than a score of years he was a member of the Board of Magistrates and made a good one. In the absence of that official, he frequently acted as County Judge, and his decisions were characterized by good sense and integrity, though sometimes too strongly tempered by mercy. Some time ago his sight failed rapidly and he became blind, and his mind became impaired also.

In 1879 he married Miss Flora Price, of Paris, to whom were born two children, a daughter and son, both bright, interesting children. During his last, long illness, his wife has been eyes and mind for him, and her devotion and care have been extremely touching.

The remains were taken to Cincinnati Wednesday for interment, the funeral being conducted by Dr. Philipson, of that city. For years he had been an enthusiastic Mason and Odd Fellow and a delegation from each accompanied the remains. The Masonic Lodge sent the Worshipful Master D. S. Haggard, and T. Landsberg. The Odd Fellows sent the Noble Grand, F. H. Jackson, and Vic Bloomfield.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The following resolutions of respect were passed by Winchester Lodge, No. 12 F. and A. M.:

WHEREAS, It has pleased an All Wise Providence to remove from our midst our beloved brother, Isaac Bloom, therefore, be it.

Resolved. That this Lodge has sustained a great loss in his death, he having been for years a faithful and devoted brother and an earnest worker among us; that the community has lost a valuable and esteemed citizen, and his family a loving father and devoted husband.

- 2d. That we extend to them our heartfelt sympathy in this their sad bereavement, and that his Lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days.
- 3d. That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Lodge, a copy be presented to the family and The Winchester Democrat and the Winchester Sun be requested to publish the same.

HAMPTON E. S. JOUETT C. F. KLEIN Committee HALL OF LEXINGTON LODGE No. 289, I. O. B. B. February 7th, 1895 WHEREAS, The reaper, Death, has again invaded our Lodge and chilled the life of our beloved brother Isaac Bloom, and WHEREAS Under the circumstances death may have been a relief to our unfortunate brother, who had borne his sufferings so long and so nobly, yet is it meet that on the brink of the grave where life and death forever part and separate we shed tears of profound sorrow in parting from one who was so good and so gentle, and who was so esteemed and loved wherever he was known. Resolved that we sympathize deeply with the bereaved family and that not alone our condolence but the thanks of this Lodge are due to the noble woman, who, swearing allegiance to our brother, in the sunny period of her young life, has redeemed that promise when life became dark and dreary, as few other women ever have-to that noble woman, who with so much patience endurance, and self sacrifice was constantly the one true friend at the side of him who, though he had promised to protect her needed all of her protection and care. Resolved that this resolution be spread upon the minutes, be published in The Winchester Democrat and a copy be sent to the bereaved family. M. KAUFMAN JULIUS MARKS H. (Vic) With his death, Winchester lost one of its prominent native sons and most ardent champions. He often said there was no place he would rather be than his hometown. He is survived by his loving wife of 72 years, Mary Swetnam Bloomfiend; two sons, John Bloomfiend of New York City and Tom Bloomfield of Nashville, TN; a daughter, Anna Mary (Jim) Winer of Atlanta, GA; and three grandchildren, James, Ellen, and Mary Winer. Preceding him in death was his youngest son, Jim Bloomfield. Vic was born in Winchester on November 23, 1924, the only child of Clarence and Catherine Day Bloomfield. After graduating from the Kentucky Military Institute, he attended Centre College in Danville, KY. During World War II he served as an Ensign in the Navy. He was deployed to the Pacific Theater and remained in Okinawa until after the war's end. Upon his return, Vic completed his business degree at Centre College. The day after his graduation in June 1948, he started working in the family business, Vic Bloomfield & Sons, a women's clothing store founded by his grandfather, also named Vic, and great-grandfather, George, in 1885. Vic worked alongside his own father for 29 years, adapting the business as tastes changed. Throughout his career, his customers could count on personalized service, regardless of their circumstances. After his father's death in 1977, Vic continued to run the store for another 12 years. In 1989, one of the chapters in the town's life came to an end when Vic retired after 41 years, closing a business that had stood on Main Street for four generations and more than a century. He was deeply gratified by the outpouring of community appreciation he received upon his retirement.

	Vic was a dedicated member of Winchester's First Baptist Church, where he served for decades as a deacon and Sunday School teacher. He was also active in the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club, enthusiastically contributing to Winchester's civic life. He took great interest in the maintenance and revitalization of the downtown area and was particularly proud of the drive in 1983 to re-create Winchester's "White Way" on Main Street with replicas of the five-globed lamp posts originally erected in 1912.
	Vic had a special gift for playing piano by ear. He particularly enjoyed playing jazz standards from the Big Band era and was happy to lend his talents to many local events.
	Visitation and funeral will be at the First Baptist Church, 32 East Lexington Avenue, Winchester, KY, on Saturday, October 15. Visitation will bea t 10:00 a.m., followed by the funeral at 11:00 a.m. Rolan G. Taylor Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Blue Grass	Blue Grass.
	Col. Folk, in his Kentucky Historical Magazine says that Blue Grass was indigenous to Kentucky. This has not been the accepted understanding. We heard when a boy, and that is seventy years ago that the pioneers packed their china in blue grass hay, and when they camped at night and unpacked their china, that the seed from the hay got scattered all along their route, and this was the way it got introduced into this State. The late Isaac Cunningham, of Clark, the grandfather of the Vanmeters, Mr. Vanmeter having married his daughter and only heir, was one of the most enterprising farmers of his day, having brought a knowledge of the value of blue grass from the Valley of Virginia, from which he came. He cut down the elm, buckeye, gum and sugar trees that he did not consider "timber" and this gave the blue grass a chance to grow and his stock grew fat and thrived while that of his neighbor barely found a living by browsing the vines and brush with which the country was covered.—Lexington Gazette

	A Lexington special says: Miss Lottie Early, of Lynchburg, Va., daughter of the late Clement Early and great niece of Gen. Jubal Early, is now in this city in consultation with attorneys in regard to the bringing of a suit for the recovery of the property on which is situated the famous Blue Lick Springs, near Carlisle, in Nicholas county. Miss Early was born near Blue Lick Springs, but the past twenty years has lived in Virginia, and only recently came into possession of information indicating that she is entitled to the property. The large tract of land originally belonged to her mother, who before her marriage to Clement Early was Miss Lou Holliday, daughter of Thomas Holliday, at one time proprietor of the old Blue Lick Springs Hotel, which was burned during the Civil War by Metcalf's cavalry. Clement Early died, leaving his widow with two daughters, one of whom also died later, leaving Miss Lottie, then a child to the care of a guardian. Later the mother also died and the property inherited by the child through her mother was entrusted to the administration of the guardian. The guardian sold part of the property, including the springs on the south side of Licking river. This sale, it is now alleged, was not in accordance with the requirements of the Kentucky statutes governing the property of infant heirs.

Bodkin,	Peculiar Accident.
	Several days ago while a young man named Bodkin was doing some hauling with a sled on the Ashurst place on the Clintonville pike, in Bourbon, he ran over a piece of wood which bounded up and hit him on the leg, breaking one bone. He walked on the limb

Bodkiii, Niciioias	Policeman Shot and Killed a Deputy Sheriff and Wounded Another.
	Covington, Ky., Nov. 13.—Nicholas Bodkin, deputy sheriff of Kenton county, was shot and killed and John McInerney, also a deputy sheriff and brother of Sheriff Bud McInerney, was painfully shot Wednesday night by Robert Brown, a Covington policeman. The shooting took place in Ben Hegener's saloon in Court avenue, directly across the street from Covington police headquarters.
	The quarrelsome nature of Policeman Brown when intoxicated seems to be the only cause for the shooting, although it was preceded by a quarrel by Brown with two strangers. From the accounts of eyewitnesses it appears that Bodkin and McInerney got into trouble through desiring to preserve peace and even Brown's statement corroborates that theory.

Bolen, Jack	Escaped From Jail Four desperate prisoners confined in the Richmond jail escaped from that institution Thursday night. One of them was Frank Ball, the notorious desperado of Bell county, who had been given a life sentence for killing Jack Bolen, and who had been sent to Richmond for safe keeping, Jim Sayler, another mountain man, under sentence of fifteen years for manslaughter, Jim Turner, charged with stealing cattle in Madison county and Steve Turner, another desperate character and a friend of Ball. The latter's wife had been in the jail to see him and when the jailer came to escort her out, the prisoners seized him, secured his keys and locked him in a cell. An alarm was given but the men had escaped and it is thought friends were waiting for them on the outside and helped them to escape. The Winchester Democrat Tue., July 3, 1906 A Desperado Caught Frank Bell, the Bell county desperado, who broke jail at Richmond some time ago, was captured Thursday in Virginia after a battle which lasted an hour and in which one of Bell's friends was killed. He killed Jack Bolen, a Middlesboro barber. He got into the mountains but was caught and convicted receiving a long penitentiary sentence. He was taken to Richmond for safe keeping but broke jail there and escaped to Virginia. He was located in a log cabin in the mountains and the Sheriff with a large posse surrounded the house and Bell finally surrendered. He was taken at once to the Frankfort penitentiary.

Bolen, Robert H. Sr.	Indicted for murder Some months ago Frank Ball, a noted character of Bell county, killed Jack Bolen a barber. He was tried and given a life sentence from which he appealed and was sent to Richmond for safe keeping. He escaped and went to the home of his father in West Virginia. In August Sheriff Johnson and a posse from Bell county went after him. Ball was taken and sent to Louisville for safety but in the fight for his capture John Lee, a friend of his was killed. Bomar, J. L.	About noon, Monday Capt. J. L. Bomar was shot and instantly killed near the Court
2 SAAM, V. 2.	House in Mt. Sterling, by Clay Turner, Bruce Turner, J. A. McKenzie and Thos. Blair. Bomar accused Clay Turner of undue intimacy with Mrs. Bomar which caused the trouble, Mrs. Bomar was Miss Nora Hazelrigg and Capt. Bomar was formerly mail agent between Lexington and Mt. Sterling. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 7, 1894
	Thursday, H. Clay Turner, Bruce Turner, Wm. McKinsey and Thomas Blair were brought before Judge Apperson at Mt. Sterling for the killing of Capt. Bomar a couple of days previously. Clay Turner was discharged, as it was shown that he acted in self defense. The others were held in $5,000 each to await the action of the Circuit Court.
	The Courier-Journal has the following in regard to the causes of the bloody duel: "Behind the little town's latest tragedy is the story of a scandal that is now on everybody's tongue, now that one of the principals is in his grave, another in Texas and the third in jail. There was a woman in the case, Mrs. J. L. Bomar, the widow of the man who was riddled with bullets. She is the pivotal point of the story, which begins at her marriage to Capt. Bomar, about seventeen years ago. Then Capt. Bomar and H.
	Clay Turner, his slayer, were bosom friends. A little later, when their son was born, he was christened H. Clay Bomar, showing the closeness of the friendship that existed between the two men. About three years ago this boy told his father that he had seen his mother and Turner in a compromising situation. Both were confronted with the charge, which was vigorously denied. Capt. Bomar told several of his friends about what his boy had told him, and added that there were other reasons to confirm his suspicions.
	Efforts were made to allay these suspicions, but they were useless. Mrs. Bomar finally left, or at any rate, she and her husband lived apart, and she went to Texas, where she is now. The boy was sent to Middlesboro. About three months ago Capt. Bomar drew a pistol on Turner, but was prevented by a third party from shooting. The pistol was taken from him, but he drew a long knife and renewed the attack. In the trial that followed Bomar said on the stand that Mt. Sterling was too small to hold Turner and himself. It was currently important and believed that Turner offered him $500 to leave, The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 14, 1894
	THE Mt. Sterling grand jury failed to indict P. B. Turner, Thos. Blair and J. H. McKenzie charged with the murder of Capt. J. L. Bomar. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, April 17, 1894.
	Some Plain Talk The Mt. Sterling Advocate in commenting on the hanging of Blair by a mob of that city, says: "The hanging of Thomas Blair on Tuesday morning was a foul murder. That he deserved death for the part he took in the killing of Captain Bomar, we are not called on now to discuss. Even if he did, the men who took his execution in hand were not licensed to mete out death to him. But this is not the worst of this miserable affair. It is broadly suspected that the motive assigned was only a pretext and that the real motive was not disclosed. Let the motive be because some parties were afraid of him and wanted him out of the way, or because Capt. Bomar's friends determined to wreak vengeance for his murder, the crime was a foul one. If ten or fifteen men are licensed to try, condemn and execute a man for a crime of which the courts had not said he was guilty how long will it be till these or some other ten or fifteen men shall feel called upon to resolve themselves into a court, try, condemn and execute dear reader, you, your son or your brother."

Chemical Cause of Child's Death Former Coroner James W. Bean said today that an autopsy report on Andy Ray Bond, three years old, son of Mr. And Mrs. Prescott Bond who died Dec 7, listed the cause of death as chemical nephrosis of the kidney's. Bean, whose term expired Jan 1 said the child and his four year old brother, Jerry Claiborne were taken ill at their home on the Water Works Road and Andy Ray died enroute to the Guarrant Clinic. Jerry Clayborne who was dismissed from the St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington on Dec 22 is still under the doctor's care, a member of the family said today. The former coroner said it is believed that the children drank some form of antifreeze since a plastic drinking cup was found in a pan of the solution which had been drained from the radiator of the family car. The exact chemical which caused the death and serious illness of the children is not known. Bean said but he added that in all probability it is ethyleneglycol, an ingredient used in some anti freeze solutions.

	Fair here June 21 st and 22 nd .—Richmond Pantagraph.
	This should have been done a long time ago and by the State of Kentucky. When Col. Stuart was in the Legislature he tried to secure the passage of a law for the State to purchase forty or fifty acres, including the site of the old fort, for the purpose of converting it into a State park. It is a beautiful and romantic place and, if properly

	Judge Flanagan also told an anecdote about Daniel Boone. "One of Daniel Boone's daughters married a Scholl, who founded Schollsville in this county. They had a son, Septimus Scholl, whom I knew as a boy, and who later moved to Jackson county, Missouri, after he was sixty years of age. Another daughter of Boone's married Nathaniel Gore, of Clark county, who afterwards moved to Estill, where his descendants still live.
	"Daniel Boone came to this place in 1798 to visit the Gores at Schollsville, before emigrating to Missouri. He came to Winchester with Septimus, who was then a small lad. Before leaving home the mother of Septimus gave him 75 cents, telling him to bring her a pound of coffee for it. The sights of the village so engrossed the attention of Septimus that he forgot to make the purchase and when about a mile from town on the Red river road, returning home with his grandfather, Daniel Boone, the latter asked:
	"Did you get the coffee your mother told you to buy?"
	"In reply Septimus said, "Oh Grandfather, I clear forgot it."
	"Then, said Daniel, run back and get it and I will lie down here on the grass until you return."
	"Septimus hurried back, purchased the coffee and soon rejoined his grandfather, when they continued on to the Scholl house." In conclusion Judge Flanagan said: "Boone had 500 acres of land on Jouett's creek, in the west part of Clark or "The Neck" not far from Athens. He sold it for a song, He also the mest part of clark of the freek hot fail from Athens. He sold it for a song, He also

Boone, James A.	The Winchester Sun September 25, 2016 James A. Boone, of Bourbon, and a relative of the Clark family of that name, committed suicide in Cincinnati last week. The Clark County Democrat Wed., 3-3-1880
Boone, James Buford Jr.	James Buford Boone, Jr. died February 13, 2023, at UAB-Highlands Hospital following a brief illness. He was 87.
	He was born in Macon, Ga., on November 25, 1935 to Mr. and Mrs. James Buford Boone, Sr.
	Boone, a lifelong newspaperman, succeeded his father, Buford Boone, as publisher of The Tuscaloosa [Ala.] News in 1968 and built over the following half-century a community media company that now owns or manages 91 newspapers and related print and digital products in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.
	The company, which had operated as Boone Newspapers, Inc. since its founding, was renamed Boone Newsmedia, Inc. in 2022 to reflect its considerable progress in serving readers and advertisers both digitally and in print.
	From 1968 through 1980, Boone served as president of Tuscaloosa Newspapers, Inc., the predecessor corporation of BNI and publisher of The Tuscaloosa (Ala.) News from 1968 through 1978.
	Prior to joining his father at The Tuscaloosa News, Boone worked with his mentor Carmage Walls. Seven years were spent as publisher of the Suffolk (Va.) News-Herald, a daily newspaper. Prior to Suffolk, Boone was a business manager and a reporter for the Baytown (Texas) Sun and did group management work with other Walls-owned newspapers in that area. Before the Baytown work, he traveled for Mr. Walls in converting newspapers from hot metal/letterpress to cold type/offset. Prior to 1958, Boone worked six years at The Tuscaloosa (Ala.) News, while a University of Alabama and high school student.
	Boone was a 1958 graduate of the School of Commerce and Business Administration at the University of Alabama and an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters at the University of Alabama (1993). He served the university in many capacities, including positions on the President's Cabinet, Board of Visitors of the College of Commerce and Business Administration, the Board of Visitors of the College of Communication and Information Sciences, and on the board of the 1831 Foundation.
	Boone earned the Julia & Henry Tutwiler Award from the University of Alabama and earned admission to multiple Halls of Fame: the Communications Hall of Fame, College of Communication & Information Sciences at the University of Alabama; the Alabama Business Hall of Fame, College of Commerce & Business Administration, University of Alabama; the Civic Hall of Fame, West Alabama Chamber of Commerce (Tuscaloosa); and was named a Pillar of West Alabama by the Community Foundation of Tuscaloosa. Boone was a proud Eagle Scout (Boy Scouts of America).
	He married Jane Carolyn Farrior, a native of Lowndes County, Ala., on February 14, 1987.
	He was exceptionally proud to be the father of his five children: Kenneth Scholl Boone (Mary Lyman), age 62, owner of The Alexander City (Ala.) Outlook, Dadeville (Ala.) Record, weekly newspapers at Wetumpka and Tallassee, Ala., and LAKE Magazine and Lake Martin Living, each monthly magazines; J. Buford Boone, III, (Cindy), age 60, owner of Boone Ballistics, Tuscaloosa, Ala., conducts ballistics research and consulting, teaches SWAT team and sniper subjects, retired Supervisory Special Agent, FBI, Quantico, Virginia; Martha Frances Boone, Lady Cobbold (Henry), age 58, CEO of Knebworth Estate, Knebworth, England; Dr. Caroline Boone Rockefeller (Will), age 34, Little Rock, Ark., Doctorate of French Literature, Vanderbilt University; and Catherine Boone Hadaway (Harrison), age 30, Vicksburg, Miss., Publisher of The Vicksburg (Miss.) Post and group manager of The Natchez (Miss.) Democrat and The Brookhaven (Miss.) Daily Leader.
	Boone earned multiple industry related awards including the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Alabama Press Association; the Casey Award from the University of Minnesota for leadership in the newspaper industry; and the Frank Mayborn Award from Southern Newspaper Publishers Association for leadership in the industry.
	Boone served on the Board of Directors of Regions Financial Corporation and was chairman of the corporate governance committee and a member of the trust committee in Birmingham, Ala. He also served on the Board of Directors at Regions Bank, Tuscaloosa, retiring from both in 2004 after many years of service.
	Boone has served on numerous boards, such as the Randall Publishing Company Board of Directors; the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association Board of Directors; American Press Institute Southeastern Advisory Board; West Alabama Chamber of Commerce (past president); Christ Episcopal Church Vestry; DCH Regional Medical Center Foundation (twice past president); Tuscaloosa Academy Board of Trustees (twice past president); The United Way of West Alabama (past director and president and twice drive chairman); YMCA of Tuscaloosa (past director and president); Salvation Army Advisory Board (past chairman); Tuscaloosa Park and Recreation Authority Board (three years as chairman); Journalism Foundation of Alabama Press Association (past president); and on the Board of Trustees of the Westervelt-Warner Museum of American Art in Tuscaloosa. Boone was a founding member of St. Paul's Anglican Church in Tuscaloosa. Boone moved in 2022 from Tuscaloosa to Lowndesboro, Ala. and remained active in BNI and with its affiliate newspapers until his death, regularly meeting with senior management, publishers and other staff members by video conference. He was predeceased by his parents, James Buford Boone, Sr. and Frances Herin Boone; and Janette Boone Younkin, his sister. Jim is survived by his wife of 36 years, his five children, seven grandchildren, Christopher O'Brien Boone of Berlin, Germany; Riley Frances Boone Harris (John Wayne) of Virginia; Dr. James Kenneth Boone (Jenny) of Colorado; the Hon. Morwenna Gray Lytton Cobbold Bush (Phil) of London; the Hon. Edward Stucley Fromanteel Lytton Cobbold of Knebworth, England; and Anne Winthrop Hargrove Rockefeller and Lillian Jane Rockefeller of Little Rock, Ark.; one great-grandchild, Dorothy Frances Harris of Virginia; his niece Laura F. Younkin of Georgia; his nephews William E. Younkin, Sr. (Sharlotte) and William E. Younkin, Jr., Charles T. Blount and Samuel D. Blount of Cecil, Ala.; and his niece Michelle Y. Blount (Ronald) of Cecil, Ala. Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lowndesboro Methodist Church, 198 S. Broad St., Lowndesboro, Ala., followed by a graveside service at Oakview Cemetery in Lowndesboro and a gathering at The Marengo House, 100 N. Broad St., Lowndesboro, Ala. Alabama Heritage Funeral Home is handling arrangements. Pallbearers will be Christopher O'Brien Boone, Dr. James Kenneth Boone, William Dickson Farrior IV, Charles T. Blount, Samuel D. Blount, and William E. Younkin, Jr. Honorary pallbearers are managers and publishers of Boone Newsmedia. In lieu of flowers, the family would appreciate donations to the UAB Boone Optic Nerve and Retinal Research Support Fund, UAB Advancement, 1720 2nd Avenue S., AB 1230, Birmingham, Ala. 35294, or to Lowndesboro Landmarks Foundation, PO Box 34, Lowndesboro, Ala. 36752. Booth, Mrs. Madeline	Woman murdered

Booth, Wis. Wadeline	Mysterious murder in Cincinnati – Victim formerly lived at Ford where she killed her Son The Circle and Francisco of Sunday and since does not a few and a few an
	The Cincinnati Enquirer of Sunday contained an account of several columns of the mysterious murder in that city of Mrs. Madeline Booth. She was a cook for Dr.
	Hermann Hopple and when the physician and his little girl returned from a drive Saturday, Mrs. Booth was found dead on the floor of the pantry adjoining the kitchen. A bloody hatchet in the cellar showed the instrument with which the crime had been committed. An examination showed that her skull had been fractured in ten different places, one side of her head being crushed to pieces. She was taken to a hospital, but never recovered consciousness. A basket partly filled with silverware was found near the body, and the first theory of the police was that she had surprised a burglar and that he had killed in order to escape. As no effort was made to carry away the silver spoil and the viciousness of the murder was shown by the many useless blows, caused them to modify their theory, and they now think that revenge or jealousy may have been the cause, but no special person is suspected. Mrs. Booth was raised near Wilmore, this State, and her maiden name was Rohrer. About a quarter of a century ago she married Thomas Hambrick and when Ford, this county, became a prosperous lumber town, the couple moved there to live. They had three bright children, two girls and a boy, and the family seemed to be as happily situated as the ordinary family. In January 1893, one of the children died. She mourned the death of this child with more than ordinary intensity, and, like Rachel of old, refused to be comforted. She brooded over the matter until early in the following March, when the town was horrified by the fact that she had killed her eight-year-old daughter by cutting its own throat, and had tried to take her own life. She was brought before Judge Thos. Scott, who was the Circuit Judge, with B.A. Crutcher as Commonwealth's Attorney, and was defended by Judge Rodney Haggard. It was clearly shown that she was insane and that her insanity was caused by brooding over the death of her child in January previous. She was sent to the asylum at Lexington where she remained quite a while and was finally discharged as cured. She then went to Buffalo, New York, and afterward to Canada. There she married a French Canadian named Jacques, who died shortly afterward. She then married a rich contractor of Sault St. Marie, Michigan, but in less than two years she left him claiming that she could not stand his brutality. She then came to Cincinnati and two or three weeks ago obtained a divorce from him in the courts of that city. The courts awarded her some property in the Michigan city, but she said she was afraid to go and claim it for fear her husband would kill her. Some weeks ago she began work in a Cincinnati laundry, but a few days before her death she had quit and accepted the position she held when killed. Her first husband, Tom Hambrick, is said to have been in Texas a few years ago, but his present whereabouts is not known. Her son, aged fifteen, resides at French Lick, Indiana, with the dead woman's mother. Her daughter left home eight years ago to go to Mexico to marry a man she had never seen and nothing has been heard from her since she left. The police have no clue to the murderer and have no theory upon which to proceed.

	Russellville, Ky., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Emma Borger, a morphine fiend, was found dead in the back yard of her residence at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. She was not missed until morning and her people thought she was in her room all night. When found she was frozen stiff. It is supposed that she took an overdose of morphine, and when the stupor came over her she was unable to get back to the house. She had sold nearly everything in her house and nearly all of her clothing in order to get money to buy morphine with. She was a complete wreck. Mrs. Borger was the wife of a prominent lawyer of Kansas, but they had not lived together for some years. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, February 7, 1899

	Druggist Bossung Killed His Sweetheart And Then Blew Off His Head With A Shotgun
	Louisville, Ky., Sept. 28
	John Bossung, who kept a drug store at Jefferson and Fourteenth streets, shot and killed Grace Preston, at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and committed suicide. Bossung and Grace Preston had had considerable trouble with each other lately, due principally, it is said, to Bossung's jealously. At 2 p. m. Thursday the couple were seen to go upstairs to the rooms over the drug store where they lived, and it is said they quarreled for over two hours. After two shots had been heard persons who entered the rooms found Grace Preston dead and in another room found Bossung who, after killing the woman, had blown off his head with a shotgun.

Funeral services were held at the hotel Sunday afternoon by Eld. C.J. Armstrong and Rev. W.E. Thayer and the remains were taken to Lexington for burial. Mr. Boswell was sixty-two years old and was both widely known and very popular. Genial and kindly in his nature, he easily made friends and as easily retained them. For many years he had been in the hotel business, for which his genial nature so well fitted him. For a long time he was connected with the management of the old Ashland Hotel at Lexington and also with the Clarendon; a few years ago he had charge of the St. Charles Hotel at Maysville. He was proprietor of the old Rees House this city until it was discontinued and he was the manager of the Phoenix Hotel café at Lexington. Botto, Dorothy Mae Swetnam	Dorothy Mae Swetnam Botto, of Ft. Thomas, Kentucky, died February 10, 2018 of natural causes after a stroke and complications.
	She was born in Clark County, Kentucky on September 26, 1930 to Walter Davis Swetnam and Anna Mae Reeves Swetnam.

Mrs. Botto is survived by her three children and their spouses: Mark (Kimbell) Botto of Fort Thomas, KY, Carrie (Wayne) Botto Causey of Portland, TN, and Tim (Brandy) Botto of Mt Pleasant, SC; ten grandchildren: Rachel Botto Campbell, Wesley, Carter, Sasha & Anastasia Botto; Andrew Causey & Joanna Causey Michael; and Cortney, Joshua & Zachary Botto, along with 17 great-grandchildren. She is also survived by her sister, Mrs. Vic Bloomfield, of Winchester, KY and brother, Tom Swetnam of Fountain Hills, AZ, along with their spouses. Mrs. Botto graduated from Winchester High School in 1948 and attended the University of Kentucky. She worked at the Winchester Bank prior to her marriage in 1953. Her interests included sewing and handwork, refinishing furniture and cooking. In Winchester, she was an active member of First Baptist Church, WMU, Homemakers Club and the Clark County Hospital Auxiliary. She was also a Cub Scout and Girl Scout troop leader and served in the GRC Band Boosters. When she lived in Dade City, FL she was an active member of First Baptist Church and the Dade City Garden Club. She was most recently a member of Christ Baptist Church in Fort Thomas where she served on the Bereavement Committee. The life she lived of service to others will long be remembered and missed. Visitation will be held from 10:30-11:00 a.m. with a memorial service to follow at 11:00 a.m., Friday, April 27th at Christ Baptist Church, Cold Spring, KY. 	Louisville, Ky., March 29 An inventory of the estate of the late Emile Bourlier, the widely known turfman was filed Monday morning in answer to a rule. It shows that the estate is much smaller than was at first supposed. It consists for the most part of stocks and bonds to the value of $170,000. Most of these have shrunk so that the real value is about half that amount.
	Among the assets is $16,000 worth of stock in the New Louisville Jockey club and about $11,800 worth of real estate.

Bowden, Mrs. Bettie	Mrs. Bettie Bowden Death of this good Christian woman Thursday morning – Burial in Millersburg
	Mrs. Bettie Bowden died at her home on South Maple street at an early hour Thursday morning of a complication of diseases, aged sixty-four years. She was a native of Nicholas county, but resided in Bourbon county for many years and for several years had been a resident of this city. Before her marriage she was Miss Allen, and her husband, Patrick Bowden, died a number of years ago. She leaves two sons, Dwight and Frank Bowden, and two daughters, Misses Nannie and Willa Bowden, all of this city.
	Her mother, Mrs. Nancy Allen, survives her, also two sisters, Mrs. D.L. Cook and Mrs. F.M. Neal, of Millersburg, three brothers, G.S. Allen and S.R. Allen, of Millersburg, and J.K. Allen, of this city. She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and was a lady of lovely Christian character. The funeral services will be held tomorrow at Millersburg, to which place the remains will be taken for burial.

Bowell, Cuswell	Cas Bowen, of Powell county, who was shot and badly wounded a few days ago by Albert Killen, has since died from the effects of his wound. Killen was brought here the next morning and lodged in jail for safe keeping. He waived examination and is still in jail here. Circuit Court is now in session at Stanton and Killen will be taken back for trial as soon as indicted. Those conversant with the facts in the case say there is grave danger of mob violence when he is taken back and his relatives have signified a desire that he be carefully guarded to prevent an attack on him. The Winchester Democrat Tue., Nov. 10, 1903
	OBITUARY. Caswell Bowen, son of William and George Ann Bowen, born December 6 th 1881, departed this life November 3 rd , 1903, being 21 years and 23 days of age. He leaves father, mother, two brothers and four sisters to mourn his loss. Cas. was a kind, charitable boy, often giving the last penny he would have to those in distress around him. His genial disposition won him a host of friends which was manifest by the way they gathered in to see him during his last hours. Death came so unexpected, almost without warning and snatched from a happy family circle one of the most beloved, prostrating the family with grief, leaving a vacancy in their hearts and home which can never be filled, but as a healing balm for that almost inconsolable grief he confessed his Savior; he told them that he had put his trust in his God. His last words were "I die hard, but I am not afraid to go." Funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. A. Irwin at the family residence; his text being "Whosever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven." The boy was interred in the Faulkner cemetery. The Winchester Democrat Friday, November 13, 1903.

	He Got Three Years. Albert Killen, who has been confined in jail here since he killed Cas. Bowen, of Powell county, a short time ago, was taken to Stanton Monday where his trial began on that day. It excited much interest and considerable feeling was manifested. The case was argued Wednesday and given to the jury that night, and resulted in a sentence of three years in the penitentiary. These young men were neighbors and good friends, but fell out and a shooting scrape ensued, Killen being armed with a pistol and Bowen with a shot gun. After his conviction, Killen was returned to the jail here. Cas. Bowen, who was killed, had many relatives in this county and was highly esteemed.

Bowen, Stephen Hansford	The Winchester Sun Tues., 8-2-1955
Bowen, Steve	Sent to the asylum Steve Bowen, who was under indictment for stealing a lot of cattle from Mr. Pace, was tried Saturday before Judge Benton and a jury on a writ of lunacy. Dr. Wylie, Superintendent of the Lexington Insane Asylum, testified that he had examined him and found evidence of derangement of spinal cord and nerve centers and believed him to be of unsound mind. The jury came to the same conclusion and adjudged him to be insane and ordered his incarceration in the asylum. An attendant from that institution came here that afternoon and he was taken to the asylum at Lexington. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, April 19, 1910
	Card of thanks We desire to thank our friends for their kind words and sympathy shown us in our great trouble over the sad misfortune of our dear son, Steve Bowen, and to assure them their favors will never be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. R.W. BOWEN
	The Winchester Democrat Friday, April 22, 1910 Is now sane
	Steven Bowen, was in lieu of being tried for cattle steeling, tried on a writ of lunacy and sent to the Lexington asylum. Dr. Robert L. Willis, Superintendent of that institution has notified the authorities here that he has recovered his sanity. The order of Judge Benton, when committing him to the asylum prescribed that if he should again become sane, that the asylum authorities should deliver him to the Sheriff of Clark county, and he in turn to the jailer of said county. This puts him in the same position he occupied before the lunacy proceedings were instituted and he will then be liable for trial on the cattle stealing charge.

	Killed His Father. William Bowles, Jr., was tried in the Estill Circuit Court at Irvine last Friday, on a charge of killing his father, William Bowles, Sr., and the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter fixing his punishment at twenty-one years in the penitentiary. The killing occurred last Christmas during a drunken row at the old man's home. It is said from the time of the killing up to the hour of his trial, the prisoner seemed to be perfectly indifferent as to the terrible crime he had committed, but finally broke down and wept.—Richmond Pantograph The Winchester Democrat Friday, April 4, 1902

Bowman, Annie	A couple of misdirected bullets produced very serious consequences Thursday near
Bownian, Annie	Crab Orchard. A country dance was in progress at the house of Joe Efters and a quarrel arose between a couple of young men as to who should dance with Annie Bowman, the step-daughter of Efters. In trying to stop the quarrel she was accidentally cut in the hand. Her sweetheart, Nick Smith, drew his pistol and shot it downward to intimidate the crowd, but instead of entering the floor it entered his groin. The men who had been quarreling made a rush at Smith, not knowing he had shot himself. Efters shot into the crowd with a shot-gun and a misdirected shot pierced his step-daughter's heart, killing her instantly.

Bowman, Evans Bowman, Gary	Gary Bowman, 72, passed away peacefully in his sleep after a long battle with cancer. He had been a resident at Edgemont Healthcare in Cynthiana, KY for the past 12 years. He was born and raised in Tacoma, Washington by his parents Ronald Bowman and Helen Sampson. During his teenage years, he moved in with a cherished Grandmother, Mary Pooley. He was a member of the Class of '69 at Franklin Pierce High School in Tacoma, WA.
	He enlisted in the Marine Corps in September of 1969 during the Vietnam Era, and when he returned from boot camp married his high school sweetheart Janine Brodahl in November 1969. While raising his family he worked 2 jobs and went to college in the evenings. He was a meat cutter by profession and worked his way up to become the Manager of the Meat Dept. at Sand Point Naval Base in Washington. He was a devoted father to both of his girls and through his actions they learned the value of hard work and the work ethic they both have to this date. He would take off work early to attend softball games, and then go back into work on Saturdays to make up for the time off. He would attend many functions held by Parents Without Partners and would invite whoever would tag along.
	He was the life of the party and hosted many at his beloved lake house on Mason Lake in Washington. "House of the Rising Sun" could be heard across the crystal lake in the evenings, along with laughter and good times. He enjoyed smoking, playing cribbage, fishing, baseball, cutting up, and activities with his family.
	He is preceded in death by his cherished grandmother, parents, 2 Wives (Janine and Kathy), 2 Sisters (Vickie and Gail), 1 Brother (Gordie), 3 Admired Uncles (Ed, Bruce and Douglas), 1 Dear Aunt (Sheila) and 2 Loved Cousins (Sandra and June).
	He is survived by his 2 Girls- Beverly (Jimmy) Adams, Jenny (Chris) Shaw; 4 Grandchildren- Brian, Tyler, Renee (Sean) Chaiser and Brandon; 2 Great Grand Daughters- Luna Adams and Athena Chaiser, and a host of nieces, nephews and cousins.
	His daughters would like to thank the staff at Edgemont Healthcare for providing our dad a second family during his later years. You became family to us also; and everything has truly been appreciated over the years.
	Graveside Services will be held at New Tacoma Cemetery in University Place, WA. Date is still pending.

Bowman, Grant	A LOG THIEF'S DEATH He Escapes to Wisconsin and is Shot For a Bear—Wanted in Winchester. In June last a man named Grant Bowman; of Lee county, came to Ford with a raft of logs. Among them were three logs that belonged to Asher Brothers and plainly marked with their brand which is of record in the Clerk's offices of all counties that are washed by the Kentucky river and its tributaries. To steal a log or to convert one to one's own use or to deface the brand on it is a felony and punishable by confinement in the penitentiary, just as horse stealing is. The value of the log has nothing to do with it. Bowman sold his raft to A. V. Jackson, agent of H. C. Long. As soon as the Asher Brothers heard that it contained their logs, they
	C. Long. As soon as the Asher Brothers heard that it contained their logs, they

investigated the matter and became satisfied that Bowman had stolen them and had seen the brands with which they were plainly marked. They had a warrant issued by Judge Mitchell and sent a special messenger with it to Lee where the efficient Sheriff arrested Bowman who immediately gave bond, some of his neighbors out of sympathy going it for his appearance here. He appeared before Judge Mitchell July 13, when he applied for a continuance which was granted until July 20 to enable him to secure the appearance of an absent witness. He came back on the 19th, but when his case was called next day, he did not appear, and it was found, had left the county the previous evening. Col. Tucker had his bond declared forfeited and was preparing to send for him again when one of his bondsmen named Marion appeared with Jailer Drake of Wolfe county who had made quite a reputation as a detective and stated that Bowman had been heard of in Wisconsin and it was his desire to send for him. Our vigilant and active county attorney got out the papers for a requisition and Drake was soon on his way to Wisconsin armed with authority from his excellency Simon Bolivar, to ask leave of the governor of that state to bring back the log thief. From the following statement copied from one of the daily papers last week it will be seen that Drake found his man and that Grant Bowman will not again disturb the logs on the Kentucky River. The Asher Brothers have a large amount invested in logs in Eastern Kentucky and cannot afford to sit still and see them stolen. They are certain not to do so and ought to be assisted by all good men who wish well to the region. If thieves are allowed to steal this way, men will be afraid to deal in timber and the people who have it for sale will suffer. Here is the story of Bowman's death: "At Bryan, Saturday night George Irish was awakened by his dog barking and upon getting up he thought a bear was after his pigs. He got his gun and followed the dog into the woods, and saw what he thought was a bear. He shot and killed a man by the name of Bowman. It seems that Bowman was an outlaw from, that a sheriff from that state was at Bryan to arrest him; that as soon as Bowman discovered the Sheriff in the house he jumped through the window and started for the woods. The Coroner's verdict finds it was accidental shooting. Irish is a good citizen and regrets the occurrence, but the neighborhood are talking of giving him a testimonial as a public benefactor." The Winchester Democrat Wed., 8-21-1889 In the Common Pleas court this week John Lucas sued Matt. Asher for damages for malicious prosecution, but the jury evidently did not believe his story as they gave a verdict for Asher. In conjunction with his brother and Grant Bowman, all of Lee county, he was arrested for stealing Asher's logs, but was acquitted. Bowman's fate was quite tragic. When arrested he gave bond for his appearance here, but forfeited his bond and fled. His bondsmen, who live in the mountains employed Jailer Drake of Wolf county to catch him. Drake found he had gone to Wisconsin, and followed him. Before he reached there, Bowman had met his death in a very peculiar manner. He approached the home of a farmer to obtain shelter for the night and the latter, hearing him coming thought it was the approach of a bear that had been molesting his hogs, firing into the darkness, killing Bowman at once. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 11, 1891 G. W. Drake, the Wolfe county detective who was here this week to prosecute the negroes who broke into the K. U. cars is one of the best on the force and has had some strange experiences. Several years ago one Bowman was indicted by the circuit Court of this county for stealing logs from Asher Bros., of Ford. Bowman forfeited his bond and fled to the wilds of Northern Wisconsin. Drake got on his track and followed him. The man with whom Bowman was staying had a number of fine pigs of which a number had been destroyed by bears, and the owner decided to keep watch at night for the purpose of killing the bear. When Drake arrived at this house in pursuit of his prisoner, the latter saw him and fled precipitately through the back door into the brush. The owner heard him crashing through the brush and concluded it was the bear after his pigs and as soon as he caught sight of Bowman he fired killing him instantly. It seemed the irony of fate that he should thus flee from justice in Kentucky to be killed for a bear in the wilds of Wisconsin. 	JAILER DRAKE brought here for safe keeping, Brock Roberts, of Breathitt county, whom he had just captured near Tunnel Hill, Georgia. Roberts was last June sentenced to the penitentiary for life for the murder of Damon Bowman. His case was carried to the Court of Appeals and while pending Roberts broke jail and escaped. A man whom the Asher Lumber Company had proceeded in convicting of stealing logs and who was awaiting transportation to the pen escaped at the same time and has not been recaptured. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 8, 1893.
	CIRCUIT COURT is in session this week at Jackson. The Sheriff and jailer came down Friday and carried up a couple of prisoners who had been confined in Jail here for safe keeping. One was Joe Raleigh, and the other was Brack Roberts, both charged with murder. Raleigh killed a thirteen-year-old girl because she refused to ride behind him. Roberts killed a man named Bowman, and was sentenced to be hung. He appealed, and while the appeal was pending he broke jail and fled. He was recently apprehended in Georgia, and brought here. Both are serious cases and the Death penalty is expected in each. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, March 15, 1893.

That precious pair of murderers, Breck Roberts and Joe Raleigh, of Breathitt county, are again here for safe keeping. Roberts had his second trial at Jackson last week and was again sent up for life. As before, he has made application for a new trial but will hardly escape again while it is pending. The trial of Raleigh, who is charged with the murder of a helpless girl, was continued. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, April 5, 1893 Brack Roberts, the Breathitt county murderer who has been in jail here for some time for safe keeping was taken to Jackson Wednesday. He killed a man in Breathitt county for which he was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. He appealed and while awaiting the decision of the higher court, he broke jail at Jackson and fled. For some time his whereabouts were unknown but he was finally located at a small mining town in North Georgia from whence he was brought by Sheriff Drake. The court of Appeals affirmed the decision of the lower court recently and Roberts will begin his long term. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, June 21, 1893 Breck Combs, Sheriff of Breathitt county, Will Combs, his deputy, and Jerry Caldwell, Marshall of Jackson were here Friday with the following prisoners on their way to the penitentiary: Marion Armstrong, A. J. Armstrong and Harry Young convicted of confederating under the Ku-Klux act; the later sentenced for one year, the other two for six months each, and Simon Holland, one year for grand larceny. They also brought along Brack Roberts, sentenced for life for the murder of J. Dawson Bowman. Roberts is no stranger to our jail, having been confined here before. He has been tried twice and sent up for life each time. The first time he was convicted and while his case was pending in the Court of Appeals, he broke jail at Jackson and escaped. He was found in Georgia, brought back and placed in jail here for safe keeping. The Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the lower court on a technicality and he was granted a new trial. He fared no better this time as he again received a life sentence. Again he essayed to escape from the Jackson jail and had not the plans of the prisoners been detected, in a few minutes he would again have escaped. His application for a new trial was refused and if nothing is done in the next fortnight, he will be taken to Frankfort to serve out the sentence of the jury. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, June 28, 1893 Arch. Piersall has lost a star boarder. For many months Brack Roberts of Breathitt county, has been in jail here for safe keeping, but Saturday Sheriff Brack Combs of Jackson came and took him to Frankfort to spend the remainder of his life. About two years ago Roberts killed Dawson Bowman. He was promptly tried and sentenced to prison for life. He appealed and while waiting for the higher court to act he escaped from the Jackson jail. Nothing more was heard of him for a long time when Detective Drake found him in a Georgia mining town and brought him back. In the meantime, the Court of Appeals had reversed the decision of the lower court and ordered a new trial. Again he was convicted and came near escaping, but was brought here for safe keeping while his application for a new trial was pending. This was refused and he was taken to the penitentiary. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, November 29, 1893 Bowman, James Ellis The Winchester Sun Fri., 1-2-1987 Bowman, Jennie The Governor has granted a respite of one month to Wm. Patterson, who was to have been hung Friday for the murder of Miss Jennie Bowman, of Louisville. The respite was granted in order that the governor might have a chance to carefully examine the case presented to him for exective clemency. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 2-1-1888 A S. HALL, formerly from this county, and whose wife attempted to blackmail Col. Tucker recently, was last week discharged from jail at Louisville where he had been for several months for obtaining goods under false pretenses. He was at once arrested, this time for obtaining a pair of curtains under false pretenses from A. Hirschberg. His trial was set for February 9th. Hall was the book agent that so positively identified W. Patterson as the murderer of Jennie Bowman for which Patterson was hung after a long trial. The evidence was mostly circumstantial and many doubted his guilt. These doubts are strengthened on learning the character of the principal witness. Bowman, Neville Richard	Neville Richard Bowman, 97, widower of Alene Banks Bowman passed away peacefully Wednesday, May 3, 2023. Born on March 8, 1926 in Ford, Kentucky.
	Neville was a son of the late John and Gertrude Bowman. Neville was a former Boy Scout Leader, Shriner, Boonesboro Lions Club member and a member of the Providence Baptist Church.
	Neville enjoyed dancing, telling stories with friends and feasting on a meal. He was a World War II veteran serving in the United States Army in the Pacific Theater. He retired from the Bluegrass Army Depot in Richmond, KY where he received and monitored the first loads of chemical weapons to be received there. After retirement he concentrated on farming and the selling of real estate.
	Neville was preceded in death by his parents, wife Alene, both sons (Farrell and Michael Bowman), long time special friends Wanda Faye Wills, grandson-in-law Marty Swartz and several brothers and sisters. He is survived by grandsons Shane Bowman (Tanya Marshall), Richard Bowman (Bridget) and Scott Bowman (Katrina), three sisters: Genevieve, Christine and Dorothy; daughter-in-law Libby Bowman and granddaughter-in-law Amy Swartz. Neville was also the proud great-grandfather of Kyi, Walker, Nelli, Alex, Rayvn and Dean Bowman.
	Graveside service will be held at 11:00am for family and friends on Friday, May 5, 2023 at Boonesboro Cemetery. The family is very grateful and appreciative for the exceptional care from the Compassionate Care team at the VA Hospital on Cooper Drive in Lexington, KY and request any remembrances be directed to them in the name

Bowren, John W.	Death of John W. Bowren.
	At this home at Clinton, Illinois, John W. Bowren died of grip complicated with typhoid pneumonia, aged sixty three years. He was a native of this city, a son of Alfred and Elizabeth Bowren. He was a in business here for a while with his brother, A. F. Bowren, and during the war was in the Quartermaster's Department with Buell's army.
	In 1868 he went to Illinois where he has since resided with the exception of a short while in Arkansas. For a while he was in the grocery trade at Clinton and afterward in the shoe business. Most the time, however, he was a clerk and bookkeeper. For many years he was City Clerk, Deputy County clerk, Township Collector and Assessor. He was a Republican for a long time but since the Greeley movement had been a Democrat. In 1872 he married Miss Jennie Graham, a daughter of Judge Graham, of Clinton. She died a few months ago leaving two sons and two daughters. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Magill, of Clinton, Mrs. C. P. ford, of Kansas, and Henry

Boyd, Charlie AA	Killed in jail
	Monday afternoon Charlie Boyd, a negro, was tried at Beattyville and was given five years in the penitentiary for attempted assault. He was taken back to jail and was soon playing cards with John Rooney, a white man, who was under indictment for assault with intent to kill and who was in jail because he could not give bond. A quarrel arose when the negro started after Rooney with a broken chair. The white man stabbed Boyd

	Amos Riggs Secures a New Trial Frankfort, Ky., May 18.—The court of appeals Tuesday reversed the lower court in the case of Amos Riggs, of Maysville, against the commonwealth. Riggs was sentenced by the circuit court of Mason county to hang for murder. Riggs is a noted criminal and is said to have killed several men prior to the killing for which he was on trial in the present instance. The reversal sends the case back for a new trial. About a year ago Riggs killed Wm. R. Boyd and a son of Boyd, the latter being Riggs son-in-law. The opinion is by Judge Hazelrigg and the reversal is granted on the ground that evidence was admitted in the trial below which was incomplete and prejudicial to the substantial rights of Riggs.
	In the case of Thos. Hayden of Ohio county, the death penalty was affirmed. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, May 24, 1898

Bradford, Charles	Killed by train
	Charles Bradford killed by freight train – Result of Coroner's inquest Tuesday night Charles Bradford was on his way home from this city and when near the residence of Judge Geo. B. Nelson, he was run over and killed by a west bound freight train on the C & O railroad. The train men knew nothing of the accident when it occurred, but when the train reached its destination and was examined next morning the engine was found to be spattered with blood and an effort was made to find the cause. The body was found some time the next morning. In the meantime numerous trains going each way had run over the body, and when found it was badly mutilated and almost stripped of clothing. The vest was found east of L.E. & Junction by the section foreman, badly cut to pieces and with coagulated blood and portions of flesh clinging to it. Coroner Brinegar was notified and held an inquest, the jury consisting of W.M. Alvery, Robert King, Geo. Gravitt, Wm. Horsley, J.W. Estes and C.M. Estes. After hearing what testimony could be obtained the jury brought in a short verdict that he was killed by a west bound freight train and that the cause of his being struck was not known. He was unmarried and had, for several years, been a tenant on the farm of Joe L. Brown. The remains were buried in a country graveyard. The Winchester Democrat Friday, December 24, 1909

Bradford, Marjorie	Miss Marjorie Bradford (Walker), age 88, passed away Saturday, August 20, 2016. Born at the onset of the great depression in 1928 in Flemingsburg, Kentucky, Marjorie was the eldest of three children born to the late Hollis and Minnie Reeves Bradford. Miss Bradford graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1950 with a degree in Home Economics. Immediately upon her graduation, Miss Bradford was invited to join the faculty at Centre College in Danville where she taught until 1955. At that time, she moved to Tuscaloosa, Alabama, where she earned her Master's Degree in clothing and textiles. Upon graduation, Miss Bradford joined the teaching staff at Oregon State University for a semester long internship. Afterwhich, she joined the Department of Home Economics at the University of Cincinnati for a year before moving on to a position at Purdue University, in West Lafayette, Indiana. Marge later became a Home Economics Agent in Morgan County, Kentucky for the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Kentucky. She retired from this position in 1994 and moved to Winchester, Kentucky, where she worked part time at Al's Garden Center. Known as a perfectionist, Marge was a master gardener, a remarkable seamstress and a passionate homemaker. Miss Marjorie was smart, feisty, thoughtful and kind. Marge was a member of the United Methodist Church of Flemingsburg. Marjorie is survived by her brother, Robert Jordan Bradford, of Louisville, Kentucky, her three children, William Bradford Walker of Lafayette Indiana, Melissa Allen Walker and Michelle Taylor Walker Campbell, both of Lexington, Kentucky. Miss Bradford was Nana to one grandchild, Donovan Blake Campbell. Marge was preceded in death by her parents, Hollis and Minnie Bradford and by a brother, Lawrence Allen Bradford, all of Flemingsburg, Kentucky. A memorial service will be held on Saturday, October 22 at 1:30 pm at the First Presbyterian Church of Winchester. A devoted Daughter, Sister, Mother, Nana and friend, Marge will be missed by many. Memorial contributions may be made to The Miss Marjorie Bradford Scholarship Fund, Twin Pines, Purdue University c/o Paulette Jones Niles, 321 Highland Ave., West Lafayette, Indiana 47906. Bradford, Mrs. Becky	After killing his mistress, he plunges under a train and is killed Maysville, Ky., - Tom O'Regan, a baker, committed murder here and within an hour acted as his own judge and jury and executed himself in a most horrible manner. O'Regan, it is claimed, lived with Mrs. Becky Bradford, on the Lexington and Maysville pike. They quarreled frequently, it is said, because of her associating with other men. He went to their home, and drawing a revolver, shot her dead. Immediately after the killing he fled. Hoping to elude the officers he started for this city, expecting, no doubt, to escape by the railroad or across the river. He started for the C & O track just about the time a freight for Cincinnati was due. The police were close on the heels of the fugitive as the trains came down. It was nip and tuck whether he could catch the train, and even if he did the thought must have struck him that it would be no use. He would be taken anyhow. There seemed no escape. The train came in. The crew saw him rush toward the tracks. One instant of indecision, a backward glance that measure his pursuers and with a scream the fleeing murderer dashed himself before the rushing train. His body was cut in two and the two parts were picked up by the horrified trainmen.

Bradley, Hugh	A sad blow to the family and friends, was the death Monday afternoon of Hugh Bradley, the eleven year old son of Stephen Bradley of this city. In company with Evermont Johnson and Clay Clinkenbeard, two boys of near his own age, he was bathing in the pond known as the old Hood pond back of Capt. D. J. Pendleton's. Hugh got beyond his depth and sank. His frightened companions went to Capt. Pendleton's but found nobody and ran down in town for help. John B. Noland was the first there and soon recovered the body. Dr. Shirley, the brother-in-law of the unfortunate lad, tried every means known to science to resuscitate him, but half an hour in precious time had been lost in seeking assistance, and the spark of life had fled, and could not be recalled.
	The blow is a sad one, and the sympathy of all goes out to the stricken family. The funeral was preached at the family residence on yesterday afternoon by Dr. W. P.
	Taylor and the body was buried in the cemetery here. The following lads, who were about the same age as the deceased and his playmates, officiated as pall bearers: Charlie Strother, V. Bush, Clyde Gaines, Clay Clinkenbeard, Tot Beckner and Mont Johnson.

The case was where Mr. Bradley held a life policy on his brother, Kinney Bradley, who died three years ago. 	and Bradley was violently jealous of Nicholas. He filled up on mean whiskey, bought a pistol and went to hunt Nicholas with the avowed purpose of killing him on sight. They met in the saloon of Blount Bros., when Nicholas fired several bullets into Bradley's body killing him instantly, two bullets going through the heart. Nicholas was placed under arrest, but will doubtless be acquitted on his examining trial. He is a son of Capt. W. D. Nicholas, formerly of this county, and afterward Sheriff of Fayette county. He has many relatives among out best people. Bradley is well known here, where he was a well known character on jockey row on Court days. He killed a man some years ago and had frequently been in trouble. The Winchester Democrat Tue., April 23, 1901

Brake, Raymond Luther Jr. Bramble, Charles	Charles Bramble, aged seventy-five years is lying fatally ill at his home in Robertson county. Mr. Bramble lives near the prohibition town of Mt. Olivet and has recently willed his wife and four children $10,000 each. Twenty years ago he had his coffin hewed out of stone at Cincinnati. The coffin is made with a partition on the side and he has instructed his nearest friend to fill this cavity with whiskey, which will require a barrel, so as to preserve his body. The coffin has been in his home ever since it was made, and was only known to his most intimate friends. Mr. Bramble will be buried in Kentucky soil and the question now arises, "Won't his grave be robbed to get the whiskey?" The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, May 3, 1893 Covered With Whiskey and Buried in a Stone Coffin Chas. Bramblette, one of Robertson county's oldest and wealthiest citizens, was laid to rest in a little country church yard at Kentontown Sunday afternoon. About fourteen years ago Mr. Bramblette at an expense of $960 had a coffin hewn out of a large rock, in which he proposed to be buried. At that time he purchased a barrel of pure Bourbon whiskey, which he desired to be poured over his remains after they were placed in the coffin. He requested that he be dressed in the finest silk, to prove that the idea of dust to

Bramble, Christine Chamberlain	Christine Chamberlain Bramble, 91, of Winchester, widow of the late Clarence Bramble, passed away Monday, May 28, at her home. Mrs. Bramble was born in Clark County on Feb. 1, 1921, to the late Leslie and Rosa Lee Roberson Chamberlain. She was a homemaker, a seamstress and a charter member of the Aldersgate United Methodist Church until it merged with the St. Luke United Methodist Church, where she continued her membership. She was attending the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church at the time of her death. Survivors include five children, Roberta (Tommy) Bunch of Clark County, James (Pat) Bramble of Paris, Kenneth Wayne Bramble of Clark County, Linda (Tim) Ratcliff of Manchester, Ohio, and Judy Smith of Lexington; 15 grandchildren; 28 great-grandchildren; and two great-great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m., Thursday, May 31, by the Rev. Lowell Langefeld and the Rev. Gary Baker at the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, 6155 Mt. Sterling Road, Winchester. Burial will be in the Clarmont Memorial Gardens under the direction of Scobee Funeral Home. Pallbearers will be Mrs. Bramble's grandsons. Honorary pallbearers will be Pat Stone, Ken and Virginia Burchett, Garnett and Esther Suter, Jeff Smith, the Rev. Orin and Mary Simmerman, Jack Crouch and Don Birch. Visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m., Wednesday, May 30, at the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church. Memorial contributions are suggested to Hospice East, 407 Shoppers Drive, Winchester, KY 40391; the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, KY/WV Chapter, 1941 Bishop Lane, Suite 108, Louisville, KY 40218; the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Kentucky-Southeast Indiana Chapter, 1201 Story Ave., Suite 200, Louisville, KY 40206; or to the Epilepsy Foundation, Greater Cincinnati, 895 Central Ave., No. 550, Cincinnati, OH 45202-5757. No Such Estate.

Ten or twelve years ago there was considerable talk of a big estate belonging to the Brandenburg's and that the family of that name in this county were among the heirs. The Henderson Journal says of it: "The descendants of Mathias Brandenburg met in Louisville many years ago and contributed a sum of money to have the matter settled, and now the same thing is to be done again. Mr. G. W. Crutcher, of Henderson, is one of the heirs, and he says that the estate is a fraud, in that it has no existence and never had any. He advises the alleged heirs to let it alone and keep the money they have." The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, November 4, 1902

Brandon, Charles	There died at Moundsville, W. Va., last week, a man who deserves more than a passing mention. His name was Charles Brandon, and no man ever obeyed more fully the injunction to increase and multiply than he. He was thrice married. His first wife died early in action, after giving birth to two children. After a reasonable season of mourning, Mr. Brandon married again, and his second wife, after presenting him with 18 sons and daughters, went home to her reward. Mr. Brandon was now past three score and ten, but feeling about as young as he used to be, he laid siege to the heart of a maiden of sweet sixteen, and although he was 75, she gracefully yielded and became his wife. She also went into the infantry industry and when, last of all, the old man died at 96, she had 16 children to show for her work. Of the 35 children, thus accounted for, 17 served in the Union army, add are now all drawing pensions, no doubt, like all good patriots should.—Stanford Journal. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, November 12, 1890

Brashear, Dr. Robert Mark	Dr. Robert Mark Brashear M.D., 66 of Albany, GA, died Wednesday April 29, 2020 at his residence. Services and burial in Winchester, Kentucky will be announced.
	Dr. Brashear was born in Louisville, Kentucky on August 22, 1953 to the late Dr. Robert Finley Brashear M.D. and Lenora F. Knapp Brashear. He was a proud graduate of West Virginia University with bachelors and medical degrees, then completed his medical training in family practice medicine at the University of Kentucky as any Big Blue Nation fan would desire. He served as an independent duty corpsman in the U.S. Navy from 1972 to 1975 during the Vietnam Era. He also worked on several special projects for the NSA and the Department of Defense. Bob was a born doctor. He loved nothing more than solving a problem and helping a patient. His forced early retirement due to medical issues was an aggravation for him since he felt like he had so much more to offer. Bob would do anything for family and friends. When he was in your corner, you could be assured to receive the aid needed. This was especially important for his Veteran patients for whom he felt were underserved.
	Survivors include his wife Ruth Allegra Friend Brashear, son Robert E. Brashear and wife Jessica H. Brashear, grandson Robert Jaxson Brashear, granddaughter Ellawyn Grace Brashear, a sister Lora Denise O'Nan (Steven), sister Lisa Kay Goodrich (Brent), brother-in law, Mark L Friend, nieces, Analissa Hoskins (Roy), Kendra Goodrich, Jordan Friend, nephews, Sean Goins (Laura) Joel Goodrich, John Mark Friend, greatnephews Gavin, Trever, Andrew and Luke Hoskins, and great-niece McKenna Ann Friend. He is also to be greatly missed by lifelong friends Lee and Kim Kidd. And the entire family is forever indebted to caregiver Carolyn Williams who lifted his spirits and provided superb care.
	In lieu of flowers those desiring may make donations in memory of Robert Mark Brashear M.D. to Albany Humane Society, P.O. Box 3151, Albany, GA 31706, or to the Make A Wish Foundation, at wish.org.

Brashear, Ira Combs Brashear, Ira Combs Jr.	The Winchester Sun Fri., 3-14, 3-15-1980 Ira Combs Brashear, Jr. was born in Irvine, KY. to Ira Combs and Grace Guy Brashear on July 20, 1926 and passed on to be with his Lord and Savior on October 25, 2022. Ira was the third born of their five children. His siblings were Dorotha Brashear Beatty, Dr. Robert Brashear, Lewis Brashear and Mildred Brashear Crawford. He attended Trapp School and Clark County Schools. At age 17 in 1944, he joined the Navy and served two years on the USS LST 866 in the South Pacific.
	Ira was hired by Delco Products after the war and moved to Dayton, Ohio, where he met the love of his life, Hildred Faye Smith, on a blind date. They were married a few months later. Their two children, Deborah Lynn and Ira Douglas were born in Dayton. The family moved to Waynesville, Ohio a few years until Ira was hired by IBM in Lexington.

	Ira's work with IBM took him from Lexington to Austin, Texas and back to Lexington. After many years of work with IBM, Ira and Faye retired in Winchester and attended First Baptist Church there. They enjoyed family reunions, camping, and RV road trips to visit their grandsons. Ira also had a local delivery service, Brashear Quick Delivery, for a number of years.
	Ira loved the Lord. Many years he taught Sunday School and served as a deacon. He loved his family, even working extra jobs and sacrificing to put his children through college. He loved his work. He enjoyed mechanical engineering, always thinking how create new and better ways to make things work.
	Ira is survived by his children: Deborah and Gene Carrington, Doug Brashear; grandsons: David Carrington, Greg Brashear and Geoff Brashear; and great grandchildren: Isaac Carrington, Emilie Carrington, Jace Carrington, Henry Brashear and Julian Brashear.
	A Celebration of Life will be November 2nd at First Baptist Church, 32 E. Lexington Ave., Winchester, KY. Visitation will be from 10-11am, service will be at 11am.
	The family would like to thank Lewie and Marilyn Brashear for loving and caring for Ira (or Uncle I.C.) these past few years.
	In lieu of flowers contributions may be made to Winchester First Baptist Church, 32 E Lexington Ave, Winchester, Kentucky 40301.

	Will Sue For Damages It is said that the widow of Dr. James Brashear, who was killed last week by the cars in Montgomery county will bring suit for twenty-five thousand dollars damages against the C. & O. road, alleging carelessness and negligence on the part of employes of the road as the cause of her husband's death. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Aug. 3, 1906
	Mt. Sterling Circuit court The case of Mrs. Blanche Brashear against the C & O railroad for killing her husband, was continued until next term. The Winchester Democrat Friday, April 17, 1908
	Some Mt. Sterling cases Mt. Sterling Circuit court will convene Monday. Among the most important cases is that of Mrs. Bland Brashear against the C & O road for the killing of her husband, Dr. James Brashear. She was twice secured a verdict against the road, the last time for $9,000. But each time a new trial was granted. The Winchester Democrat Friday, September 4, 1908
	Damages awarded For the third time the suit of Mrs. Blanche Brashear against the C & O road for the killing of her husband, Dr. James Brashear, was tried in the Mt. Sterling Circuit court and for the third time she is given heavy damages. Three years ago Dr. Brashear was killed and she brought suit for $25,000 damages. At the first trial she was given $9,000. This verdict was set aside by Judge Young and the next time she was given $10,000. This Judge Young set aside also and this time she was awarded $8,500. If a new trial is not granted the road will appeal the case. The Winchester Democrat Friday, January 29, 1909
	Will be appealed After setting aside two verdicts in favor of Mrs. Blanche Brashear, against the C & O road for killing her husband, Dr. James Brashear two years ago, Judge Young, of the Mt. Sterling Circuit court has refused to grant a new trial to the road and the case will be appealed. At the third trial of the case Mrs. Brashear was given a verdict of $8,750. Braswell, N. T.	JUDGE GRACE, at Eddyville, Saturday decided the noted case of Leonard vs. Braswell, involving the distribution of the estate of N. T. Braswell, valued at $150,000 to $200,000. The children of his daughter Mrs. S. N. Leonard, sought to debar the children of his son, Chas. Braswell, both being dead, from sharing in the estate, alleging the Brashell children were illegitimate. It was claimed that Charles married in Memphis in 1860 under the assumed name of Dobbins, and without being divorced was again married, the fruit of the latter union being Tilford Braswell and Mrs. Mattie Scotts, defendants in this suit. Judge Grace decided there was no proof of the Memphis marriage, and further, that being children of a bigamous marriage, such was claimed, did not debar children from inheritance under the Kentucky law. Bratton, Bobby Bratton, Bobby L.	The Winchester Sun Thur., 9-9-1954 Bobby L Bratton, 87, died on Tuesday, February 14, 2023, at Fountain Circle Care and Rehabilitation Center. He was born October 28, 1935, in Owingsville, KY, the son of Thomas and Flo Lisle Bratton.
	Bobby graduated from Winchester High School, Class of 1954. Attended Georgetown College where he served as President of Kappa Alpha Fraternity and played Football for the Tigers earning a bachelor's degree in Arts, Class of 1958. He furthered his education at University of Kentucky with a Master of Arts Degree in 1961.
	Bobby was married to Joanna Cutter (Sadler) on August 31,1958, and had two children, Dr. Robert Lisle Bratton (Linda) and Lori Bratton Wood Case (Eric).
	In the late 60s, Bobby started in the building business and completed approximately 180 homes in Lexington. In 1969, He started his own Real Estate Inspection and Appraisal Company. In 1971 he added his brokerage license and continued until his retirement in 2012.
	During Bobby's retirement he spent countless hours donating his time and energy to the Clark County Library helping the genealogical files get updated which earned him the key to the city. Bobby loved to help anyone and any organization when it came to ancestry! He was invited multiple times to the Daughters of American Revolution meetings because of his advocacy in helping the ladies research the historical genealogy they needed. Along with his research, he also loved to needlepoint and stitched many pieces that were exhibited for all to see at the Clark County Library.
	In addition to his parents, he was predeceased by a sister, Betty Castillo of St. Petersburg, Fl. Surviving are his children, Dr, Robert Lisle Bratton (Linda), Lori Bratton Wood Case (Eric) both of Lexington; five grandchildren, Davis Bratton, Robert Bratton, jr, Brian Clark Wood, jr., Thomas Wood, and Hewitt Wood. A niece and two nephews and many cousins.
	A graveside service of remembrance will be held Friday, February 17, 2023, at 1PM at Winchester Cemetery Layne Shelter. Those who wish to remember Bobby may make gifts in his memory to the Clark County Library. Arrangements by Scobee Funeral Home.

	An Afflicted Family We learn that in addition to the illness which resulted in the death of David H. Bratton, in this county on last Tuesday, the 2d, inst., there were at the same time other afflictions in his family. In one room he lay dying, in another his devoted wife was confined with a severe illness, and in still another, his son was sick near unto death. Neither the wife nor the son could be with him during his last moments. The condition of the son was so critical that the utmost care had to be taken not to have him know of his father's death, and the members of the family, untiring as they were in their devotion, were all taxed to their utmost strength to watch and nurse their loved ones. Truly, a family is not often so sorely afflicted. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 3, 1892.
	DAVID H. BRATTON When good man died, the people mourn and the passing away of a good husband and a great father leaves scars that time only can heal. Such wounds are left by the death of DAVID. H. BRATTON, who passed into the great beyond on Tuesday, the 2 nd of this month, at his home in this county. Had he lived to the 9 th of June of the present year, he would have been eighty-three years old, having been born on that day in the year 1809

in Bath County, Virginia. His father followed the great emigration of the first decade of this century to the then young State of Kentucky, and cast his fortunes with her people during the fall of 1811; settling first on Red river. He soon afterward removed to the more fertile lands now embraced in the limits of Clark county. Dying in a few years after this second removal, he left the subject of this sketch a mere lad, and his family, consisting of his widow and several children with but little of this world's goods. The sturdy spirit warmed by the Scotch-Irish blood which flowed in young David's veins, was equal to the occasion and he took up the burden this laid down by his father and without hesitation or fear, he took up the task of providing for his mother, brothers and sisters. There are truly little, inglorious Miltnon's and Cromwells, guiltless of their county's book: and there are heroes who walk the humbler way of life, whose deeds are products and whose names are worthier, than many who live in brass and marble; martyrs to duty, whose one selfish devotion and tender loyalty are writ in the Great Lamb's Book of Life", such an one was DAVID BRATTON; and yet so brave and true and modest was he that he did not know he was heroic or grand; and he did not see that this giving of the best years of his young life to his mother and brothers and sisters was anything out of the common. After he had done his duty as son and brother, he was married on the 26th day of March, 1846, to Miss Sarah Ann Evans and took up life's journey as husband and father, and for nearly forty-six-years he kept the open highway of a useful and worthy life, indulging to every day's work quiet courage and kindly perseverance which had made his young manhood a type upon which others should be proud to fashion themselves. Gently and courteous, he made home-life a blessing, and his wife found in him lover, friend and counselor; while his children could truly say ""his is our guardian and protector."" He began life's battles in poverty, but patient industry and wise economy he has been able to give to his family, wife and nine children the comforts of a well appointed home and to start each of them with a handsome competency, and to observe for his old age and for the life of his widow, what to most of us would seem a fortune, and no worthy object ever applied to him in vain for help nor has any man ever said that DAVID BRATTON wronged him, of a penny. Strictly up-right in all of his affairs, his word was his bond, and he would have thought it next to a crime to not meet his obligations, he rendered in all their exact odds, and only asked that such be given him, through no man was more ready to forgive a fellow man in adversity. Thus this good citizen kind and affectionate husband and father walked his well appointed way for nearly eighty-three years so quiet and gently, that he was the closer neighborhood, but to them he was the warmth and the light and the center of a circle who will not see his like again. To do his duty every day as he saw it, was his creed and inspiration, and to "fear God and keep his commandments was his religion" He never made any public profession of his faith but no man trusted more truly in the atoning blood of the crowned Jesus and his orderly walk, his kindly labors in the vineyard of home and neighborhood proved both his faith and works. His life walk live a lesson which the youth of the land should learn; to do one's duty bravely, patiently, and with perseverance whatever that duty may be, and wherever it may lead, and to give to life one's best endeavor, no matter where it may be; thus did this gentle yet heroic spirit, and of him it may be written that he did whatever his hands found to do and did it well, and now. Farewell brave spirit, loyal gentleman; all give you regretful yet kindly adicus, believing that after life and fever, you sleep well. So note it be. H. C. HART.

Bratton, Frank Johnson

Deaths

Thursday, July 2^{nd} , at the residence of Harry Ecton, this city, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. L. Bratton. The remains were buried the following day in the Winchester cemetery.

The Winchester Democrat Tue., July 7, 1903

In Loving memory of Frank Johnson Bratton, Who Died July 3, 1903. Somewhere in heavenly mansions bright Where all is peace and rest and joy. Up high among the angel band You'll find little Frank.

	Somewhere on golden streets above,
	Where pain and sorrow ne'er annoy,
	Amid the seas of heavenly love, You'll find little Frank.
	Tou it find field Frank.
	Somewhere amid the blooming flowers,
	Whose sweetness ever touched your hearts,
	Amid the amaranthine bowers,
	You'll find little Frank.
	Somewhere not far from living streams,
	Where power doth all one's fears allay,
	Up near the throne at home with God,
	You'll find little Frank.
	He is not dead, but now he lives
	Where all are free from care or pain,
	He is not dead, he lives, he lives,
	For Jesus made him well again.
	Oh, if you knew his blest estate,
	Up where he lives in painless joy, You'll pray for strength to watch and wait Until in heaven you meet your darling boy.

	Pension Granted. The widow of Gen. John C. Breckinridge has been allowed a pension of eight dollars per month with back pay from 1887 amounting to about $1,350 in cash. The pension is on account of Breckinridge's services as Major in the Mexican war. Mrs. Breckinridge is now seventy-six years of age and lives at Lexington. Breckinridge was Vice-President under Buchanan and was one of The Winchester Democratic candidates for President in 1860. He was defeated but was shortly afterward elected Senator from Kentucky. He resigned and took up arms for the confederacy. He served as Brigadier General for some time and was afterward Secretary of War in President Davis cabinet. He did not surrender but after Lee's surrender at Appomattox, he escaped to England by way of Cuba. He remained abroad until 1868 when he returned to Lexington and resumed the practice of law.

	Breckinridge Resolutions. The Winchester Bar Passes the Following Resolutions on Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge's Death. At a meeting of the Winchester Bar held at Winchester, Kentucky, Nov. 1, 1904, on motion, W. M. Beckner was made Chairman and L. H. Bush Secretary. On motion of W. M. Beckner, D. L. Pendleton and J. Smith Hayes were appointed Committee on Resolutions, who made the following report which was unanimously adopted. The meeting then adjourned. "The Bar of Winchester wish to join in the universal expression of sorrow over the death of Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge. Our older members have had frequent occasion to recognize his ability as a lawyer, and all have felt his marvelous power as an orator. Rarely gifted by nature, unusually full of the learning of the books, and rich in that knowledge, which mingling with the world and contact with men give, deeply versed in the science and wonderfully skilled in the practice of his profession and with all a courtly gentleman and charming companion, he was in his intellectual and personal equipment a worthy member of the great race from which he sprang. He was so ready, fascinating as an advocate, and so attractive as a personality, that few, even of his profession, realize the depth or solidity of his training as a lawyer. He was more than an orator or a lawyer, when the Civil War broke out, he had convictions opposed to those of his illustrious father and followed them; when it closed and the questions connected with reorganizing the society in which he lived in accordance with the results of that great struggle arose, he accepted the situation with the breadth of intellect and patriotism to be expected of such a man, and did not hesitate to lose temporary favor with the multitude by championing the right even of the despised negro to be heard as a witness in the courts; when the political organization to which he belonged made declarations which he did not approve he unhesitatingly threw away the high place he had earned in his rank to follow what he believed

	Rice Brewer, an aged Pendleton county farmer, loses his life Falmouth, Ky., Jan. 5 – Rice Brewer, 50 years old, a prominent farmer and land owner, living six miles east of Falmouth, met his death by drowning in the Licking river. Brewer was in town and started home about eight o'clock in the evening considerably under the influence of liquor. He was on horseback when he began his journey homeward, but he is supposed to have fallen from his horse, as the horse was found later with bridle and saddle on waiting for his master's return. About nine o'clock in the evening, Mr. Pock's family were awakened by cries of help coming from the river, and upon investigation, saw a man struggling in the swollen waters of the Licking. Every means was used to rescue the man, but all to no purpose. He had gone out upon the ice which lines the bank of the river unmindful of his danger. The body has been recovered. Brewer leaves a widow and eight children. The Winchester Democrat Friday, January 10, 1896

Bridges, Solis Bridges, William	William "Bill" Bridges, 86, passed peacefully at his home surrounded by his family on Thursday, December 17, 2020. He was born on April 12, 1934, in Mt. Sterling, KY, to the late John and Mae Bowles Bridges.
	He enjoyed life and was an immensely proud and hard worker. In his spare time, he loved playing golf with all his friends. He never met a stranger, had a very kind heart, quick wit and loved people. He will be missed dearly by all who knew him. Bill was married to the love of his life Anita Hunt Bridges.
	He began work at Allsmiller's & Lane at age 23. He was hired by Mr. Allsmiller, a strict boss, who hired him after Bill correctly answered two important questions. The first question Mr. Allsmiller asked, "Boy are you a hard worker?" where Bill answered "Yes." The second question Mr. Allsmiller asked, "Do you steal?" to which Bill answered "No." Bill was hired on the spot that day. Stanley Lane soon afterwards became the new owner. Stanley took Bill under his wing and was his boss and great mentor. Bill and Stanley then became partners, and the store became 'Bridges and Lane'. There he and his wife worked closely together for many years.
	Bill loved working with the public. All who entered the hardware store were treated as family, not customers, or employees. He and Stanley became so close that Bill referred to him as Pap. He was at 'Bridges and Lane' for 53 years. After Stanley and Eleanor Lane retired in 1985, Bill became the owner. Bill and Stanley remained close friends for many years.
	In addition to his loving wife of 36 years, he is survived by five children, Donna (Steve) Justice, Patti (Blake) Watts, Cindy (Greg) Moore, Shane (Tresa) Bridges, William Shawn (Lisa) McCoy and David Bridges; grandsons, Will (Cheryl) Justice, Zach (Baesha) Bridges, Chris Boone, and Chris Bellamy; granddaughters, Chrissy Watts, Tonya (Donnie) Donselman, Eden P. Estes, and Kelsey Bellamy; six great grandsons, Landyn Justice, Weston and Sawyer Bridges, Jacob Clay, Keenan Ogle, and Gracey Donselman; brother-in-law, Glenn (Libby) Hunt;daughter in law, Pam Bridges and several extended family members and friends.
	He was preceded in death by his parents, daughter, Lavonne Boone, a son, William E. Bridges, Jr. and grandsons, Lee Justice and Josh Bridges.
	Family will receive friends from 12:00PM until time of service.
	Services will be at 2:00PM, Saturday, December 19, 2020 at Scobee Funeral Home by Pastor Ed Toler. Burial will follow in Winchester Cemetery.

	Dillard Brinegar Shot to Death Stanley Willoughby Surrenders At Jail Following Shooting

Stanley Willoughby, about thirty years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Willoughby, Clay Street, surrendered at police headquarters at 2:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, fifteen minutes after he shot and killed Dillard Brinegar, 38, two miles from Winchester on the Ecton Pike. Willoughby, in a dazen condition, walked into the offices of City Tax Collector W.R. Owens and said "I just shot and killed Dillard Brinegar." Collector Owens summoned officers and Willoughby was placed in jail, booked on a murder charge. Deputy Jailer Ben Allen, Deputy Sheriffs and police officers summoned Coroner Clarence Bean and went to the scene of the shooting near the L & E railroad bridge on the Ecton Pike. A bullet wound in the stomach resulted in Brinegar's death. Although details were not available at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, it was reported by officers that Willoughby wrestled a pistol from Brinegar's hand and shot him following an argument. Willoughby made the statement, "I shot him to keep him from shooting me." Brinegar recently recovered from wounds suffered when he was shot by Robert Taylor following an argument at a soft drink stand on North Main Street. Brinegar was shot several times in the abdomen by Taylor and the victim was confined at the Clark County Hospital for several weeks. Brinegar is survived by his wodow and several children.

Cause Of Fatal Shooting Told To City Judge Two Struggled For Possession Of Shotgun

Funeral services for Dillard Brinegar 38, who was shot to death Wednesday afternoon by Stanley Willoughby 23, will be held at the home at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning by the Rev. Clark Swaim, pastor of the Northside Baptist church. Burial will follow in the county. Brinegar was shot to death Wednesday afternoon by Willoughby, following an argument one half mile east of Winchester on the Lexington & Eastern Railroad near an abandoned lumber mill. Willoughby walked into Police Judge H.B. Scrivner's office at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and said: "I just shot and killed a man. Lock me up." Judge Scrivener quoted Willoughby as saying "Brinegar told me he was going to kill me for running with his wife. I told him that was not true and he grabbed the shotgun in my hands and cocked both hammers. We struggled over the gun and I broke loose and fired both barrels." Willoughby claimed he had borrowed the gun from his uncle to lend it to Brinegar who had said he wanted to kill a ground hog. Willoughby said Brinegar always had been friendly to him.

Two Wounds Found

Coroner Clarence Bean stated that the back of Brinegar's head was torn away and another charge had entered his stomach. Either charge could have been fatal, the Coroner said. Deputy Sheriffs said Thursday there were no witnesses to the shooting other than Willoughby, who was the first to report the shooting to officials. Brinegar recently recovered from severe bullet wounds in the abdomen inflicted by Robert Taylor, during an argument at a soft drink establishment on North Main street. Treatment of Brinegar at that time caused much interest in medical circles since the bullets had severed his "appendix" in a manner identical to that of a surgical operation. Willoughby is a member of a family of fifteen children and resided with his father, Calvin Willoughby a preacher, on Clay street. Willoughby remained in the Clark county jail today on charges of murder. His examining trial has been set tentatively for Saturday morning at ten o'clock and a coroner's inquest will be held at the same hour. The Winchester Sun, Thursday, September 28, 1933.

Brinegar Death To Be Probed Here Saturday Willoughby Will Face Hearing In County Court

Examing trial for Stanley Willoughby, 23, charged with the slaying Wednesday of Dillard Brinegar, 38, will be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock before County Judge Joe S. Lindsay. An inquest will be held at the same time by Coroner Clarence Bean. Willoughby Surrendered to Police Judge H.B. Scrivener following the shooting and said he shot Brinegar after the latter had stated, "I'm going to kill you because you've been running around with my woman." Willoughby denied the charge, he told the judge and wrestled a gun from Brinegar's hands and shot him. Charges from a double-barreled shotgun struck Brinegar in the back of his head and in the chest.

Hearing Is Set For Wednesday

Examining Trial of Stanley Willoughby for Brinegar Slaying Postponed at Defense Request

Stanley Willoughby, 27, charged with the slaying of Dillard Brinegar, 38, will face examining trial at ten o'clock Wednesday morning before County Judge Joe S. Lindsay. The hearing was first set for this morning, but postponed at the request of the defense. A coronor's inquest over which Coroner Clarence Bean will preside, will be held in conjunction with the preliminary hearing. Willoughby surrendered to police headquarters following the shooting and, according to Police Judge H.B. Scrivener, admitted firing two charges from a double-barrel shotgun. Brinegar was struck in the chest and head. The defendant said the shooting followed an argument, between the two in which Brinegar accused Willoughby of "running around with my wife." Willoughby said he denied the accusation and shot Brinegar in self-defense. The Winchester Sun, Saturday, September 30, 1933.

Examining trial for Stanley Willoughby, 27, charged with the fatal shooting last Wednesday of Dillard Brinegar, 38, will be held at nine o'clock Thursday morning before County Judge Joe S. Lindsay. The trial, originally set for last Saturday, was postponed to today and the second postponement was granted by Judge Lindsay due to the absence of the attorney for the defendant. Willoughby surrendered to Police Judge H.B. Scrivner a few minutes after he said he shot Brinegar in self defense. The defendant said he borrowed a shotgun from his uncle to lend to Brinegar who had told him he wanted to kill a groundhog. Willoughby told Judge Scrivner that when he handed the gun to Brinegar, the latter said. "I'm going to kill you for running around with my wife." A struggle over possession of the gun followed and Willoughby said he jerked it out of Brinegar's hands and fired both barrels. A coroner's inquest will be held in connection with the hearing Thursday. The Winchester Sun Wednesday October 4, 1933 Willoughby Is Acquitted on Slaying Charge

	Self-Defense Plea Wins Freedom for Defendant A warrant charging Stanley Willoughby, 27, with the fatal shooting last Wednesday of Dillard Brinegar, 38, was dismissed by County Judge Joe S. Lindsay this morning following Willoughby's examining trial in the circuit court room. Willoughby said that he borrowed a double-barrel shotgun from his uncle, Spiral Smith, to lend to Brinegar who wanted to go hunting. The defendant stated that he laid the gun on the L. & E. railroad tracks and that Brinegar reached for the gun and said: "I'm going to kill you for running after my wife." In the scuffle which followed, Willoughby said he shot Brinegar in the chest and that the victim still had his hands on the barrel, and thinking that his first shot had missed, he fired the second charge which struck Brinegar in the head. Coroner Clarence Bean, called as a witness for the Commonwealth, said either charge could have resulted in Brinegar's death. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Brinegar died of wounds inflicted by Willoughby. Members of the jury were: J.A. Asbourne, Ova Long, Latimer Allen, John Greeting, P.E. Brock and J.P. Perkins. Willoughby surrendered to police headquarters a few minutes after the shooting. Brinegar's body was found near the L & E. tracks in northeast Winchester. Bristow died Monday at his home in New York of peritonitis, aged sixtyfour years. He was a native of Elkton, Todd county and during the war was an officer in the same regiment as Col. J.H. Holloway. While with his regiment he was elected to the State Senate and was afterward Federal District Attorney for the Louisville district for five years. President Grant appointed him Secretary of the Treasury. At that time the famous whiskey ring was in full power and Bristow set his head to break it up. He did so but in his investigations he brought things so close to the Presidential chair that a coolness arose between him and the President and Bristow resigned. In the Republican national convention of 1876, Bristow was the candidate of those who opposed Blaine and got 114 votes on the first ballot. Though a firm believer in Republican doctrines he voted for Cleveland in 1894, but voted for Harrison in 1888 and 1892. Broadus, J. R.	Ex-Clarkite shot
	A shooting affair occurred on the farm of Mr. J.R. Broadus, about two and one-half miles North of town, last Thursday morning about 10 o'clock, in which Mr. Broadus was pretty severely sprinkled with bird shot fired from a gun in the hands of Sherman Wheeler, a tenant. Several days previous to the shooting they had some words and Wheeler had a gun, which he threatened to use. Broadus meeting Wheeler last Wednesday without arms, remarked to him, that he had no arms then and they might settle the matter then and proceeded so to do by jerking Wheeler off his horse and thumping him pretty lively. Wheeler came to town and tried to get out a writ for him.
	No officers were present, and he returned home. The next morning Broadus, accompanied by his little boy, rode down to Wheeler's on horseback. The difficulty was

Brock, Algin	A Sad Affair. Six little boys drowned in Kentucky River. One of those terrible calamities that take all the light out of a happy household, and that appeal so strongly to the sympathies of every parent, occurred near the mouth of Howard's Upper Creek Saturday evening. A number of little boys and two or three men were bathing in the Kentucky river at that point. The water was quite shallow in some places and deeper in others. Eight little boys had waded across the river and were returning in a canoe, which was propelled by Claiborne Brock and Henry Wright. These men were not in the boat but were in the water pushing or pulling it. The boys became frightened at something and overturned the boat in deep water. Messrs. Brock and Wright each swam to the bank with one of the little fellows, but before they could return the other six had gone down in death. Help was summoned and the bodies of the unfortunate children were found in a short time. Those who were lost were Kelley Farney, aged about fourteen years, Claud Farner, thirteen, Walter Farney, eleven, and Charley Farney nine. These were children of Jas. H. Farney; the other two were Algin Brock and Winther Brock, aged twelve and nine years, sons of the late Rev. Henry Brock, and uncles of the other boys, Mr. Farney having married a daughter of Mr. Brock. The two saved were Walker Brock, a brother of the two drowned boys, and Tommie Oliver, a son of J. Simps. Oliver. Coroner Alexander was notified and went to the scene of the disaster Sunday morning. A jury composed of John Goode, foreman, W.F. Clemons, J.S. Jordan, J.N.C. Tuttle, J.B. Ware and S. P. Bush was impaneled and brought in a verdict in accordance with the foregoing facts. The bodies were interred in the old Brock burying ground Monday morning; funeral services by Rev. J.H. Williams. The sympathy of all our people go out to the parents thus suddenly bereft of their children. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, August 3, 1892.

Brock, Augustus Davis	Died- In the Feeble Minded Asylum, at Frankfort, October 27 th , 1880, Augustus Davis Brock son of Simpson W. and Elizabeth Brock of this county. He was born March 29 th , 1861, and was quite small at the time of his birth, only weighing about 5 pounds and was not able to walk until he was about 4 years old. He was not expected to be raised but he lived to be 19 years, 6 months and 28 days old. He enjoyed very good health after he was nearly grown and was very industrious and cheerful, all the time engaged in some kind of amusement, and enjoyed being about where the stock were. He was also found of company. The neighbors and friends were fond of his company. He was a favorite with his parents and the whole family. His parents were solicited to send him to the Feeble Minded School at Frankfort, which they did, where he remained about 2 years and 6 months, and was well cared for and much improved. He was treated with great kindness and humanity by the superintendent, Dr. J. Q. A. Stewart, who is worthy of high praise for his good treatment and kindness towards Gus, while he was under his care. The teachers and managers of said asylum are also entitled to great credit for their good treatment of those under their management. Dr. Stewart is entitled to my warmest gratitude for his kindness toward my son during his illness. He was buried from his father's house last Sunday afternoon, with services by Prof. Johnson, of College Hill, Madison County, Ky., who preached an excellent discourse to a large gathering. S. W. 	ObituaryUncle Jack Brock went home after several weeks of suffering on Tuesday
	March 5 th .
	John Tinne Brock was born November 3d, 1804, in Pulaski county, Kentucky. His father brought him to Clark county a few years later where he resided till his death. He married Polly Goldman in 1824, who was a helpmeet to him for fifty-eight years and was nearly seventy-five years of age, when she died. There are nine living children following the moral and religious training of the Christian parents.
	Uncle Jack and his wife joined the Methodist church a few months after their marriage.
	But, like many others, lived some years-about twelve- enjoying only the forms of religion. They were both happily converted (regenerated) in 1838 at Concord Campmeeting, in Madison county. From that time they gave no uncertain testimony to the saving power of living Gospel. Living Imparts have been John T. Prock about eighteen months. He talked of religion as I have known brother John T. Brock about eighteen months. He talked of religion as one who has traveled the road, and gave many evidences of an unshaken faith to the very end of the journey.
	May the dear ones left behind be encouraged by his faithful life and triumphant death, to run the Christian race with diligence, that they may share the eternal mansions with the departed loved one.

Brock, Mrs. Lizzie	Mrs. Asa Brock
	Death of this excellent lady Friday morning in the county after a long illness Mrs. Lizzie Brock, wife of Asa H. Brock, died Friday at her home in the county, near the Mouth of Howard's Upper Creek, aged thirty-nine years. She had been sick for some time but bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude. The funeral was held at the family residence Sunday morning with services by Rev. Wyatt and the burial was in the family graveyard. Before her marriage she was Miss Baber, of Madison county. She leaves a husband, two sons, Gifford and Algin, and one daughter, Nannie Mae. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Parks and Mrs. Robert Wall, and one brother, Willie Baber, all of Madison county. The deceased was a good, Christian woman, for many years a consistent member of the Methodist church and very popular with all who knew her. The following officiated as pall bearers: W.O. Brock, W.C. Brock, W.A.
	Brock, H.T. Wright, W.H. Baber and W.R. Wall.

Brock, Odie	Killed By Lightning
	The dead body of Odie Brock, a white boy aged 16, was found in a woodland Tuesday morning by Lee Stevenson on the farm of Ed Weathers, near Avon about four miles from Clintonville. The body was decomposed and had apparently been dead since the storm early Friday morning. It is supposed Brock was struck by lightning. Brock recently was in the employ of Mr. Hillard on the Sol Vanmeter farm in Bourbon.

Brock, Riley	Run Down By A Train
	Riley Brock, Husband Of former Wife of Gen. C. M. Clay, Killed
	Versailles, Ky., June 30 News has been received here that Riley Brock, aged 33, was killed by a train near Longview, Ill. He was the husband of Dora Clay, the young country girl whose brief wedded life with Gen. Casius M. Clay lightened the burden of age on the "Sage of Whitehall's" shoulders and formed one of the most romantic incidents in the venerable Kentuckian's life. Brock, a sawmill hand, married her, after she had separated from Clay. That Clay still had affection for his former girl wife is shown by the fact that he gave her a number of valuable articles and heirloons.

He was the son of William Brock, who was born in 1802 and died in 1843, and Jane Brock, who was born in 1799, and died after her husband in 1843. His grandfather, John Brock, came to this county in the latter part of the last century and settled near the Mouth of Red River, where he lived to be nearly ninety years of age. He and his wife were consistent members of the Methodist Church, honest and pure in their lives, and who have always been among our best citizens. The subjoined tribute is from two of his life long friends and associates: "The death of Simpson W. Brock, a native and resident of Clark county, Ky., all his life, in the seventy-second year of his age, leaves a void in this community not easy to be filled. "He was Justice of the Peace and Keeper of the Poor in Clark county, was for many years a member of The Clark County Democratic Committee, was a wise counselor and leader among men, and a devoted husband and father, kind, hospitable and charitable to all. Brock, Winther Brocker, Mrs. J. H.	A Sad Affair. Six little boys drowned in Kentucky River. One of those terrible calamities that take all the light out of a happy household, and that appeal so strongly to the sympathies of every parent, occurred near the mouth of Howard's Upper Creek Saturday evening. A number of little boys and two or three men were bathing in the Kentucky river at that point. The water was quite shallow in some places and deeper in others. Eight little boys had waded across the river and were returning in a canoe, which was propelled by Claiborne Brock and Henry Wright. These men were not in the boat but were in the water pushing or pulling it. The boys became frightened at something and overturned the boat in deep water. Messrs. Brock and Wright each swam to the bank with one of the little fellows, but before they could return the other six had gone down in death. Help was summoned and the bodies of the unfortunate children were found in a short time. Those who were lost were Kelley Farney, aged about fourteen years, Claud Farner, thirteen, Walter Farney, eleven, and Charley Farney nine. These were children of Jas. H. Farney; the other two were Algin Brock and Winther Brock, aged twelve and nine years, sons of the late Rev. Henry Brock, and uncles of the other boys, Mr. Farney having married a daughter of Mr. Brock. The two saved were Walker Brock, a brother of the two drowned boys, and Tommie Oliver, a son of J. Simps. Oliver. Coroner Alexander was notified and went to the scene of the disaster Sunday morning. A jury composed of John Goode, foreman, W.F. Clemons, J.S. Jordan, J.N.C. Tuttle, J.B. Ware and S. P. Bush was impaneled and brought in a verdict in accordance with the foregoing facts. The bodies were interred in the old Brock burying ground Monday morning; funeral services by Rev. J.H. Williams. The sympathy of all our people go out to the parents thus suddenly bereft of their children. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, August 3, 1892.

Brody, Gloria Jean	Gloria Jean Brody was born in Brunswick, Georgia, on Dec. 7, 1931, to Luby and Marion Peters. She was the oldest of three children. Jean was raised in several places in Georgia and Florida. She attended Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri.
	Jean raised her four children, Clarke, Marion, Phoebe and Katy in Delray Beach, Florida, and St. Louis, Missouri. Later in life she earned her teaching degree from Fontbonne College. She taught English in Layfette High School in Chesterfield, Missouri.
	One of the highlights on her life was working for Missouri Youth for Enviornmental Quality and then raising wolves and other wild animals. It is from this work she developed a lifelong love and passion for animals both domestic and wild. Jean married Eugene Brody in January 1982 on Key Biscayne, Florida. The two enjoyed life on the island where they owned and ran a bakery.
	After several years Jean wanted to peruse her desire to own a horse farm. This brought them to Winchester, Kentucky, where they enjoyed life on their white house on the hill. During their years in Winchester they developed many friends who enriched their lives. Jean began writing her column, The View from the Hill, for The Winchester Sun. The column ran for more than 30 years.
	In their golden years, Jean and Gene moved to Salida, Colorado, to be near her children. Upon Gene's death, Jean moved to Brookedale Assisted Living in Littleton, Colorado, to be near her daughter Phoebe. In her final years, Jean continued to enjoy writing her column for The Winchester Sun, the Chaffee County Times and the Fairplay Flume.
	She was surrounded by her children and grandchildren when she passed on Nov. 18, 2020, in Littleton, Colorado. Jean is preceded in death by her daughters, Marion and Katy. She is survived by her brother, Jim Peters; two children, Clarke and Phoebe, and their spouses; eight grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Bronston, Ballard	Ballard Bronston, son of Collector T. S. Bronston, shot and killed Gilbert Dudley at Richmond last Thursday. It is claimed by Bronston that Dudley had been too intimate with his wife and he shot Dudley without a word having passed between them. Gilbert Dudley, who was a nephew of Dr. John D. Gilbert, of this county was a clever, kindly natured boy, and conceding that he had done Bronston a grievous wrong, (which is by no means certain) he deserved a better fate than to be shot down from behind without a word of warning.
	The Winchester Democrat Wed., 3-28-1888
	The trial of Ballard Bronston for the murder of Gilbert Dudley, which occupied the Madison Circuit Court during the whole of last week, terminated Saturday in a verdict of acquittal. The killing was caused by alleged undue intimacy on the part of Dudley with Bronston's wife. The Winchester Democrat Wed., 9-25-1889
	Ballard Bronston was shot and instantly killed at Richmond Monday night by his brother-in-law, G. W. Maupin, the retiring jailer of that city. Bronston was a brother of Charlie Bronston, the Commonwealth's Attorney for this district. In the spring of 1888 he killed Gilbert Dudley, a deputy sheriff, on account of his alleged intimacy with Bronston's wife. For this he was last year acquitted. In the meantime he had obtained a divorce from his wife. On Monday he was remarried to her and went to Maupin's house to stay all night, Maupin had his household effects packed to remove them and told Bronston that he could not accommodate him. This aroused Bronston's ire, and in the trouble which followed, Maupin shot him twice through the head killing him instantly. The Winchester Democrat; Wednesday, September 3, 1890

Bronston, Charles J.	The subject of this sketch was born in Richmond, Madison county, July 29, 1848. He was the only child of Thomas S. and Sallie A. Bronston, the former a native of Fayette and the latter of Madison county. His father has devoted his life principally to mercantile pursuits, but was Assistant Secretary of State under Gov. James B. McCreary.
	Charles Bronston was liberally educated, being graduated from Kentucky University, in 1869, as the valedictorian of his class. Two years later he was graduated in law from the University of Virginia and at once began the practice of his profession in his native town in partnership with Gov. McCreary. In 1874 he was elected Professor of Commercial and Criminal Law in Central University.
	Mr. Bronston is a democrat in politics. His first political vote was cast for Greely and Brown, in 1872. He is a member of the Christian Church, is superintendent of its Sunday school, and is generally active and prominent in its affairs. He was married in

Brook,	A long sentence Robert Stovall, a negro, was convicted on three charges in the Knox circuit court at Barbourville and sentenced for a total of 119 years. He received two sentences of ten years each on the charges of robbery, and a sentence of ninety-nine years for murder. A peculiar feature of the case is that Stovall was placed on trial three days after being arrested, on three charges, and was on trial three days. The murder for which Stovall received a life sentence was committed two weeks ago at Artemus. At that point officers and a crowd of negroes fought a battle following efforts of the posse to serve warrants. Officers Brook and Smith were killed, as was also Jim Foley, a negro. Brooks, John A.	Death of Rev. John A. Brooks
Dioons, Joini 11.	Rev. John A. Brooks, a noted minister of the Christian church, died at Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday night of paralysis and heart failure. He was sixty years old and a native of Mason county, and lived in this city for a number of years.
	During the war party feeling ran higher in Kentucky than almost any where else.
	Families and churches, if not exactly divided, held very different views of politics and the cordiality and good feeling that should exist did not always do so. The Christian church of this city was no exception and during the war, or a part of it at least, the church had two pastors at the same time. One Rev. Aylett Raines was a strong union man and believed in coercion. The other, Rev. J. W. Harding, was a strong southern sympathizer. These pastors served the church on alternate Sundays. The more bitter partisan on each side of polities would only go to hear his favorite minister.
	Shortly after the war both sides united on Rev. Brooks, then one of the most brilliant and talented young ministers of the Christian church. A parsonage was built near the present residence of J. D. Simpson, and deeded to him, and he was paid a salary of two thousand dollars per year. He staid with this church several years and resigned to accept thousand donars per year. He stand with this church several years and resigned to accept the care of a church at St. Louis, Mo. The church at that place had just introduced the organ into the public worship, which at that time, was considered a great innovation, and Rev. Brooks went there with the avowed intention of getting rid of the organ. Bro.
	Brooks staid with this church only one year, but the organ is still there. He then went to Mexico, Mo., and afterwards served other churches in that State as pastor.
	He had a fondness for politics and in 1884 was the Prohibition candidate for Governor of that State and two years later was a candidate for Vice President with Gen. Clinton B. Fisk for President. In 1895 he assumed charge of a large church at Memphis. Shortly after he became pastor he instituted a crusade against euchre parties and other forms of card playing among his members, but without much success. He then resigned the care of this church and went to London, England, where he had charge of the largest congregation in England. His health failed and a few months ago he returned to Memphis to die.

	He was a brilliant, aggressive man, and his debate with Rev. J. W. Fitch, of the Methodist church, was one of the most exhaustive discussions of the tenets of their respective churches ever published.

Brooks, Mrs. Nora	Deaths. After an illness covering a period of several months, and which she bore with Christian resignation, Mrs. Nora Brooks, daughter of the venerable Dr. George S. Savage, passed away at her home on south Maple street Thursday night. Funeral services conducted by Rev. J. R. Savage were held at the family residence Saturday morning, and the remains were taken to Lexington for interment. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful—eloquent tributes to the memory of one who made the world better by living in it, Mrs. Brooks was born in Covington, Ky., May 25, 1852. In 1872 she graduated from the Cincinnati Wesleyan College and on September 5, 1878, was married to Nathaniel O. Brooks who died several years ago. In childhood she became a member of the Methodist church and throughout her life was a faithful exemplar of its tenets and teachings. For a dozen years she had resided in Winchester, where on account of her intellectual ability, nobleness of character, devotion to her aged father and to her children and self-sacrificing solicitude for the relief and comfort of the sick and distressed, she made steadfast friends of all with whom she came in contact. She is survived by her father, Dr. Geo. S. Savage, universally known and beloved through his ministry in the Methodist church and connection with the American Bible Society; a brother, Dr. John P. Savage, of Sioux City, Iowa, and six children, Dr. Geo. S. Brooks,

Broughton, Mrs. Mary J.	Servant held Mistress' Head
	While the black fiend cut her throat.
	Body was then "toted" into rocky ravine, where searchers found it days afterward. London, Ky., July 28 – One of the most shocking murders ever known in eastern Kentucky occurred on Fighting Creek, in Knox county, two miles east of Barboursville, Wednesday night. Mrs. Mary J. Broughton, a respectable white woman, was murdered and robbed by Annie Henson, a negro woman, and a negro man named Fitzhugh. Mrs. Broughton's husband came home last Saturday night from Artemus, where he works in the coal mines. He left with his wife $40 he had worked out, and returned to his labor Sunday night. The Henson woman, a colored servant, knew where the money was kept.
	Fitzhugh, a southern negro and a desperate character, who had been working in the mines at Artemus came to the Broughton home and called on the Henson woman, but left the house early in the night. About midnight the negro servant gave the alarm that an unknown negro man had broken into the house and murdered Mrs. Broughton, and that she had fled for her life. This naturally excited the citizens of the neighborhood, who immediately organized searching parties. The neighbors found that Mrs.
	Broughton was gone from the house, but the bed and floor in the room where she slept was besmeared with blood. Crowds of excited people were searching every nook and corner for the woman's body, but it could not be found until Friday morning. It was discovered in Fighting Creek, a few hundred yards from the house, where it had been carried that night with the head almost severed. The fiend, after the butchery was concluded, had shouldered up the corpse, and, with the blood drenching his back, had carried it to a lonely spot in among the rocks, where he tried to hide it. The unfortunate woman's body almost denuded of night clothes, was wedged in among the rocks much after the fashion of the body jammed up a chimney by the chimpanzee in one of Poe's stories. Capt. A.G. Mulligan, of Wilmore was telegraphed to bring his blood hounds. The negro was trailed to Artemus and then pursued to the mines of the Cumberland Coal Co., where he was captured. On his person was found the identical money which Mrs. Broughton had, and in his pocket a large knife covered with blood and blood down his back clothes. The negro woman was then arrested. A blood-curdling confession was made by her in the bastile which was afterward corroborated by Fitzhugh. She said the whole plot was carefully planned by Fitzhugh and her. That she told the negro about the woman having the money and where it was kept, and that he carried out the plot by stealing back at midnight. She said that they went into her room and she held the unsuspecting victim while Fitzhugh almost beheaded her with his knife, and that the money was then taken. Fitzhugh, in confessing the crime, said this was the third white he had murdered and robbed.

	Sentries Fired on the men who attempted to reach the Barboursville Jail Barboursville, Ky., - An attempt was made at two points to enter the picket line of the troops guarding the jail. The intruders did not obey the order of sentries to halt and were fired upon, but no one was hurt, and the men escaped in the darkness. Great excitement resulted, many thinking the soldiers had been attacked and the entire militia force was called out. Officials summoned 80 men from Whitley county to be brought here for the jury to try Jesse Fitzgerald, one of the negro murderers of Mrs. Robert Broughton. They were selected from the mountainous districts, where the fact of the murder is not generally know.

Broughton, Steve	On Thursday night the westbound freight train while nearing the trestle in this city struck Steve Broughton, a white man in the employment of Mundy & Co., knocking him down the embankment. When found he was unconscious and remained so for some time. He had been drinking heavily and shortly before the accident had a row in one of the Negro saloons and had been badly beaten. Concussion of the brain and internal injuries are feared, but whether they are the effects of being struck by the cars or by the beating received is not known.
	Later: Broughton died Saturday, never having regained consciousness. Coroner Boone summoned a jury, which, after viewing the body, adjourned until yesterday afternoon. Up to the time of going to press no verdict had been reached. Jack Harris, a Negro was arrested charged with being concerned in the quarrel in which it was thought his deathblow was received.
	The coroner's inquest over the body of Steve Broughton, the railroad laborer who was struck by a freight train in this city last week and who died a day or two later, was concluded Wednesday. After a thorough investigation the jury returned a verdict declaring that he came to his death from a blow given by a Negro, Poley Kelley, in Jerry Wilson's saloon, on Maple street. Kelley fled immediately after the array and has not since been heard from. Jack Harris, another Negro who was arrested for complicity in the crime, was tried Wednesday and discharged. Broughton left a wife and three small children, the youngest but a few months old, in very destitute circumstances. A collection was taken up by Coroner Boone to enable her to reach her relatives near Williamsburg.

Brown, AA	The jury at Lexington acquitted Wm. Shipp Friday of the murder of the negro Brown. A short time ago young Shipp, who is the son of Mayor Shipp, of Midway, went with his mother to Lexington to attend the Mills meeting which was then in progress. He left his mother at the Phoenix Hotel while he went for the buggy to return home. Instead of doing so, he went to a saloon and from there to the home of Bettie Brown, a mulatto woman with whom he had been criminally intimate. She was not at home and her husband met him at the door. A row ensued and the husband was killed. The case has attracted much attention and the negroes are much wrought up about the matter, feeling that if the circumstances had been reversed, the murderer would probably have been hung without judge or jury. Brown, Arch	One of the most terrible tragedies ever enacted in the State resulted in the killing of Arch Brown and Mrs. Jennie Gordon by the latter's husband, Fulton Gordon. Tuesday about noon, at a negro assignation house in Louisville, an anonymous note had warned Gordon of his wife's intimacy with Brown and he followed the guilty couple to the assignation house. A short time after their arrival Gordon came and going upstairs entered the room engaged by Brown, which was not locked and found both undressed. Both men had pistols and firing began at once. Brown was shot five times, twice through the heart. Gordon was not hit. After killing Brown, Gordon took the dead man's pistol and shot his wife twice. She ran down stairs and fell dead. Gordon was arrested and lodged in jail. He is much prostrated and fainted several times. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide and public opinion justifies Gordon. Both parties belong to the best families. Brown was the oldest son of Gov. Brown and a grandson of Gov. Dixon. Mrs. Gordon was a daughter of Mrs. Cornelia Bush, formerly State Librarian, and Gordon was for many years proprietor of the Kentucky Hotel at Frankfort. The Winchester Democrat Friday, May 3, 1895

	It seems that Fate has spread its darkest wings over the Executive Mansion, and the shadows fall thick and fast. Only a few short months ago, the Governor was bowed with grief caused by the death of a lovely daughter whom he idolized. 	Probably no case in Kentucky for a long time attracted so much attention as the killing of Gov. Brown's son and Mrs. Nellie Gordon at Louisville by the latter's husband, Fulton Gordon. Brown, Bob	Law Takes Its Course Bob Brown Hanged at Glasgow, Ky., for the Murder of His Father-in-Law, Alonzo McClelland.
	Glasgow, Ky., April 4.—Bob Brown was hanged here Monday morning. The trap was sprung at 9:35 o'clock. Brown was dead in 12 1/2 minutes. He was game to the last moment.
	Brown's pulse: First minute, 80; second, 82; third, 21; fourth, 63; fifth, 114; sixth, 89, seventh, 52 and irregular; eighth, 85; ninth, 31; tenth, 25; eleventh, 8; twelfth, 4; twelve and one-half dead.
	Brown, at the very last moment, nerved himself for the last scene of the morning and he darted down to death calmly. Five minutes before his death he wept and moaned in his cell. When the sheriff in his cell loosely fitted the binding straps his knees sank and he leaned on Sheriff Barlow for support. Brown cried.
	Spiritual consolation, however, caused him to die calmly, and as Revs. Brooks, Wheeler, Harwood and Spimman sang the hymn "How Firm a Foundation," Brown braced up and dried his eyes. He did his utmost to walk bravely, but his step was faltering. The procession of death was led by the sheriff, and after a few words on the scaffold by Rev. Wheeler the straps were tightened, a black cloth placed over his face and the trap sprung. The body twitched and there were anxious eyes watching for movement that Brown promised to make, if he could, after the trap was sprung.
	Rev. Brown an hour before the fatal moment told Brown that a question had been raised as to whether a man might be conscious after he went through the trap. Rev. Brooks asked him if he was conscious and felt pain to open and close his hands. Brown promised to do it if he could.
	The moment the drop fell Herman Morris, city attorney; W. D. Dickinson, Robert McMillan and a correspondent went to the side of the body and watched his hands. During the first moment the fingers twitched. During the second minute the body began to squirm as though in pain, and Brown tried to close his hand, succeeding only, however, in making the index finger and thumb of the right hand meet. It seemed a plain effort to carry out his promise.
	Others in the crowd noticed the movement in the hands, and when the third minute had almost slipped by they were startled to see him interlace his fingers in which they remained till death. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, April 11, 1899

Brown, Charles	AA	At Clintonville, on last Saturday night, while religious services were being held in the church at that place, two negro men raised a row in front of Helfman & Stipp's grocery, and were creating considerable disturbance, when Fred Link, a white citizen of the place, interfered, and told them that they were disturbing public worship and must desist. One of the negroes—Charlie Brown by name—picked up a large stone and threw it at Link, striking him on the side of the head and knocking off about one-half of one of his ears. Thereupon Link drew his pistol, and Brown, seeing it started to run. He had got only a few steps when Link fired, and Brown fell with a bullet-hole through his head. He died instantly. The Coroner held an inquest, and the jury found from the evidence that several shots had been fired during the melee, and they were unable to tell who did the killing. The general opinion is that the shot from Link's pistol did the work. The Semi-Weekly Sun Tuesday July 22, 1879 Fred Link was tried in Paris, last Week for the killing of the negro Charles Brown, at
Brown, Charles	AA	Clintonville, on the 19 th inst., and was acquitted on the grounds that he acted in self-defense. The Semi-Weekly Sun Tue., 7-25-1879 Charles Brown was waylaid and killed by Howe Jackson, near Paris Saturday night.

The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, December 14, 1892. AT Mt. Sterling Friday, Henry Bowling was sentenced to be hung for the murder of H. C. Brown last fall. The murder was a most unprovoked one, the murderer walked up behind his victim and without a word of warning shot him dead. The two men came from Ticktown and had a little trouble some time previous, but not enough to justify the brutal murder. This will be the first judicial hanging in Montgomery county. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday February 1, 1893 HENRY BOWLING, the Mt. Sterling murderer, has been sentenced to be hung April The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 8, 1893. Whether Henry Bolling, who killed See Brown in Mt. Sterling last October is to have a new trial or not has not been decided by the Court of Appeals as yet. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, May 24, 1893 On Friday the Court of Appeals reversed the verdict of the Montgomery Circuit Court by which Henry Bowling was sentenced to be hung for the murder of See Brown last fall. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, May 31, 1893 The case of Henry Bowling of Mt. Sterling, who, was sentenced to be hung last Friday, but whose case was appealed has been set for consideration by that body for the 29th. The execution, therefore, has been postponed. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, April 19, 1893 Henry Bowling, who killed See Brown is once more in our jail. Deputy Sheriff Wm. Sledd went to Lexington, where Bowling has been for safe keeping, Tuesday, and brought him back. Bowling seems to be in good spirits and does not think the jury that will try him in September court will sentence him to death as did the last jury. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, August 2, 1893 In Montgomery Circuit Court Thursday, Henry Bowling received a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary for the murder of C. Brown, in 1892. This case will show the uncertainty of what juries will do. He was tried last year and was sentenced to be hung. He got a new trial and the next jury with the same evidence before them gave him ten vears. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, April 27, 1894 HENRY BOWLING, who was sent to the penitentiary in April, 1894, from Mt. Sterling, for ten years for killing Henry C. Brown in that city, was pardoned by Governor Bradley last Friday, and it is presumed at the instance of Col. A. T. Wood. Bowling shot his victim in the back and on his first trial was sentenced to be hung. Shooting at Clay City

At a picnic at Clay City Saturday some trouble arose and Deputy Marshal Blythe arrested or attempted to arrest a man named Hardwick. H. M. Brown, a young attorney of Stanton, interfered in some manner and the officer shot him, inflicting what will probably be a fatal wound. Dr. Shirley, of this city, was sent for and opened the abdominal cavity. It was found that the intestines had not been cut and the wounded man may possibly recover, though the chances are largely against him. Mr. Brown was in the internal Revenue service quite a while and was for some time stationed at Merritt distillery in this county. Blythe was released on one thousand dollars bond.

The examining trial of officer Blythe for the killing of H. M. Brown at Clay City was continued until to-day on account of the absence of the prisoner's counsel. The Clay City chronicle says public opinion justifies the marshal in his action.

Brown, Hollis Bradley	Hollis Bradley Brown, a longtime resident of Maysville, Kentucky, passed away December 8, 2018 at Wesley Village in Wilmore. He was 87.
	He was born August 19, 1931, to Mattie Todd Brown and Lee Brown of Pulaski County.
	He was a graduate of Eubank High School, Berea College, and the University of Kentucky.
	He served in the US Army near Regensburg, Germany from 1954 to 1956.
	He had a distinguished career with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service. He was 4-H agent in Lewis County and Taylor County, prior to spending most of his career as the Area Development Specialist for the ten-county Licking River Area. For the latter position, his office was in the Fleming County courthouse until the construction of the Maysville Community College, where he was one of the original occupants in 1969. He was a welcomed guest speaker at Homemaker meetings and garden club meetings.
	He enjoyed his long-running live monthly chat on WFTM radio's True to the Farm program hosted by Bill Stewart.
	He was an active church member. During the years in Campbellsville, he and his wife Jill were youth group sponsors at Bethel Presbyterian Church. In Maysville, he was the founder of the audio tape ministry at Central United Methodist Church, where he held various leadership positions over a 45-year period. He was active in United Methodist Men at the local and district level. He served on the board of United Methodist Mountain Mission based in Jackson. He served as a lay speaker for United Methodist churches of the Maysville district.
	He served in the leadership of the UK Agriculture Alumni organization.
	As an active retiree, he could be found daily walking the indoor track at the Maysville YMCA, where many considered him a friend.
	He was longtime secretary of the Mason County Men's Club.
	He was married in 1958 to Clara "Jill" Wolfe, originally from Parsons, West Virginia, who survives him. Jill and Bradley met in the fall of 1953 at Berea College.
	Other survivors include daughter Jayne Brown Zimmerman (Jeff) of Deerfield, Illinois, John Bradley Brown (Jennifer) of Lexington, and four grandchildren: Kelsey Rose Brown, Kurtis Bradley Brown, Anna Zimmerman and Ellen Zimmerman.
	He was preceded in death by sister Velma Brown Blankenship and brother John Barkley Brown.
	A brief committal service will be held, near his boyhood home, at the Woodstock Baptist Church, 12600 KY Hwy 39, Somerset, KY 42503, on Tuesday, December 18, 2018 at 2:30 pm with Bradley's son-in-law, Rev. Jeff Zimmerman, officiating.
	Burial, with full military honors performed by the Caswell-Saufley American Legion Post #18, will follow in Woodstock Cemetery.
	A memorial service will be held at Wesley Village, 1125 Lexington Road, Wilmore, in the Wilmore Senior Community Center, on Wednesday, December 19, 2018 at 2:30 pm with Rev. Todd Nelson and Dr. John Oswalt officiating.
	Following the service, attendees are invited to a reception hosted by Wesley Village in memory of Bradley. In lieu of flowers, the family encourages contributions to Central United Methodist Church, 916 East Second Street, Maysville, KY 41056. Barnett, Demrow & Friend Funeral Home, Waynesburg, KY, is entrusted with Bradley's arrangements. Guest Book at www.friendfuneralhomes.com .

Brown, Howard Sr. AA	Killing at Becknerville. 388

	Saturday night a festival of the usual kind was in progress at the negro lodge room and church at Becknerville. Jim Turner was there as was Charlie Bybee, Howard Brown, and his sons Howard and Green all colored. Trouble occurred between the Browns of the side and Bybee and Turner on the other in which Turner shot Brown Sr., three times, from the effects of which he died in a few hours. Howard Jr., was also shot but the ball struck a suspender button and glanced off. Sheriffs McCord and Stokely hunted for Turner all day Sunday but could not find him. Mr. McCord went to Lexington that night and found him in Ike Carey's saloon and brought him to this city where he was lodged in jail. He claims that he shot the old man by mistake while trying to shoot the younger man in self defense. His trial has not yet been set. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, December 20, 1902.
	Killing At Becknerville At a negro festival near Becknerville, Saturday night, Jim Turner shot Howard Brown, Sr., in the breast and neck. Brown died the next day and was buried Monday. Turner escaped and went to Lexington. Sunday night Sheriff McCord found him in Ike Cary's saloon on Water street in Lexington. He is now in the jail here. A warrant is out for Lee Bell, who, it is claimed has been selling whiskey at Becknerville. Whiskey is supposed to be the cause of the trouble Saturday night. 	Murder Followed Three Men Attacked James Turner At A Lodge Meeting Lexington, Ky., Dec. 29 What may be a double killing occurred at Becknerville, on the edge of this county, when James Turner shot and instantly killed Howard Brown and seriously wounded "Bud" Brown. It is believed the latter will die. The parties are colored, and the trouble came up during a Negro lodge entertainment. A quarrel arose, in which Turner was assaulted by three members of the Brown family, and claims that he shot in self-defense. The tragedy brought the fete to an end. + Turner was arrested Sunday morning by the Sheriff of Clark county and a charge of murder made against him.
	Released On Bail Jas. Turner, colored, who killed Howard Brown, also colored, at Becknerville during the holidays, was brought before Judge Evans Tuesday charged with manslaughter. He made out a pretty good case of self defense, but was held over to Circuit Court in $250 bond, which he gave and was released. The Winchester Democrat Fri., Jan. 9, 1903

Brown, James	An Unfortunate Affray.

	A Deplorable affray which led to the death of a young man at the hands of his uncle and the almost fatal wounding of the latter, occurred on the Two Mile road beyond Flanagan Monday night. Several persons who lived on Four Mile left town about sunset on their way home. A number of them had been drinking and were considerably under the influence of liquor. A supply was evidently taken along, as several hours were consumed in going from this city to the place where the fight occurred, about five miles distant. Exactly how the fight occurred is not known, as we have heard two or three accounts which differ in details. It seems, however, that James Brown demanded of Squire B. A. Thomas some money which Brown declared Thomas had in his possession and which belonged to Brown. The cash was not forthcoming and Brown attacked Thomas with a knife, cutting his clothing in several pieces and inflicting slight wounds. In some manner, George Brown, an uncle of James Brown, got into it and James began cutting him, inflicting a number of wounds, the worst being a cut entirely across the throat, exposing the windpipe. James was cut only once, but the knife penetrated his heart, killing him instantly. The wounded man was taken to his home and the body of the dead man was conveyed to the home of his father, Jas. B. Brown, or "Buck" Brown, as he is best known. The remains of James Brown were buried Wednesday in the family graveyard of D. H. Morgerson, funeral services being held at his residence. George Brown was about thirty years of age and when sober was a kind and generous man, but when drinking was reckless and dangerous. He was unmarried while his uncle George has a family. Shortly after the crowd left town trouble occurred near the Fair Grounds, and Herman Baber was arrested by police and lodged in jail. Next day he was fined $ 10.00 for being drunk and disorderly. He paid the fine and was released. This trouble, however, had no connection with the fatal affray. The Winchester Democrat July 26, 1901.

Brown, Jane Woodford Venable	Jane Woodford Venable Brown, 89, of Clark County, passed away Wednesday, November 24, 2021, at her ancestral S.A.B. Woodford Home.
	She was born on April 25, 1932, in Winchester, to the late Charles Sanford and Martha Fishback Venable. She attended Winchester High School Midway College, and graduated from the University of Kentucky with a degree in Home Economics followed by a Masters of Fine Arts degree in textiles from Cranbrook Academy of Arts in Bloomfiled, Michigan. She was a member of Salem Presbyterian Church. Upon her graduation from Cranbrook, she took a position as Michigan State University home economist agent in Cadillac, Michigan. It was here that she married Ted Brown, who preceded her in death, along with her brother, John Oliver Venable, and her parents. Upon her return to Kentucky from Michigan in 1975, she took up farming with her brother John. They were breeders of purebred Angus cattle. Jane was a life-long learner, fascinated by a host of interests including textile and basket weaving, quilting, and travelling the world. She was an avid collector of antique furniture and tools, quilting fabrics, puzzles and books. In their later years, she travelled the country with her brother John following the Midwest Tool Collectors, where they made many friends. She was a life-long admirer of quilts: she played with doll quilts her mother had made when she was a child, and once said there were very few nights in her life that she didn't sleep under a quilt that one of relatives had made. This love of quilting led to her joining the Kentucky Heritage Quilt Society, and later organizing the "Scrap Baggers" quilt group in Winchester and Clark County.
	Her interest in genealogy led to her greatest passion: the Daughters of the American Revolution. She joined Hart Chapter of DAR in 1970, and served for 51 years. Jane was a descendant of Brigadier General William Woodford and Jacob Fishback, both of whom served valiantly in the American Revolution. Like her ancestors, Jane was steadfast in her service and embraced the DAR motto of "God, Home, and Country". Her inimitable wit and humor charmed all the members of Hart Chapter, and the example of her tireless dedication was an example to follow. She served two terms as the Regent of Hart Chapter, became an Honorary Regent and spent several years as its Librarian. She also gave her time and energy to countless chairmanships and comittees. A staunch supporter of Duncan Tavern, Kentucky's DAR Headquarters, Jane spent many days in its kitchen preparing and serving luncheons, as well as receiving and cataloging precious artifacts for its museum. She was generous in supporting of Duncan Tavern and encouraged this stewardship in Hart Chapter and all Kentucky Daughters. Jane supported many institutions through her service on boards that included the Hindman Settlement School, the Clark County Public Library, and Winchester Federal Savings Bank. She took an active interest in the formation of organization that furthered the preservation of local history, such as the Bluegrass Heritage Museum and the Lower Howard's Creek Nature and Heritage Preserve. She helped improve the lives of many women through her involvement and financial support of the New Opportunity School for Women in Berea, Kentucky. She is survived by her niece, Martha Huntington Venable Johnson, a great niece Ashley Woodford Johnson, and great nephew Nelson Hagan Johnson. Funeral services will be Thursday, December 2 at 11:30 a.m. at the Rolan G. Taylor Funeral Home, 289 South Main Street, with Rev. John McCord presiding. The family will receive friends on Wednesday, December 1 from 4-6 p.m. at the funeral home. Burial will be in the Winchester Cemetery. Serv

	the love of her life, Lucian E Brown. Lucian was a WWII veteran, and preceded her in death February 14, 1975. Lucy spent her earlier years in Eastern Kentucky but then moved with her family to a farm in Winchester, Ky where she spent most of her adult years. After her husband's death, she moved with her daughter to Lexington, Ky where she lived her remaining years. She was an active member of Fayette Chapel United Baptist Church in Paris, KY for many years, and loved her church family.
	Lucy spent her life dedicated to her family. She especially enjoyed spending time with her children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, brothers, sisters, and her many nieces and nephews.
	Lucy is survived by her loving children, Ronald Brown, Winchester, KY, Malinda (Ted) Schmidt, Hampton Cove, AL, and Elizabeth (Stan) Parker of Lexington, KY. Grandchildren; Michelle Reeves, Sarah (Brian) Ellis, Stanley and Logan Parker. Great Grandchildren, Kristine (Jordan) Kelly, Gina (Gilberto) Rios, Eli (Jasmine) Reeves, Michael Reeves, Abigail and Penelope Ellis.
	She is preceded in death by her Parents, Emory and Carrie Wagers; husband, Lucian Brown; grandson, Matthew Schmidt; Brothers, Gardner and Garlin Wagers and Sisters; Della Burton, Ellen Coffey, Vilena Taulbee, Maudia Taulbee, Mary McCarty, Martha Crase, Luna Perkins, Genova Wright, Irene Perkins and their spouses.
	The family would like to thank the nurses, aides, and therapists at The Willows at Hamburg for all their continuous care and concern over the past three years. We also want to thank the Bluegrass Hospice (Red 1 Team) for helping us with this final transition stage of Mother's life.
	Visitation will be Thursday 6-8 PM at Rolan G. Taylor Funeral Home, 289 S Main St, Winchester, KY 40391. A Celebration of Life Service on Friday at The Historic Church, 40 E Lexington Ave. Winchester at 2 PM with visitation an hour before service. Reverend CJ Murray Jr will be officiating.

Brown, Madge Serena Burgher	Madge Serena Burgher Brown, 88, of Winchester, widow of Garrett H. Brown, passed away peacefully after a long illness on Dec. 5 at Rose Mary C. Brooks Place. She was the daughter of the late Oliver and Lillie Christopher Burgher. She was born on March 16, 1923 in Powell County, but was a resident of Winchester and Clark County most of her life. She was an active member of Central Baptist Church, where she was a member of the Omohundro/Strong Sunday School Class and the Watts Circle. She was a homemaker, a retired Columbia Gas cashier and bookkeeper for 23 years, and a volunteer at the Clark Regional Medical Center for many years. She is survived by her sister and brother-in-law, Emma Sue and Don Stone; a brother-in-law, Robert E. Swift; and one niece Donna (David J.) Meibers, all of Winchester; two nephews, Robert M. Swift of Primm Springs, Tenn., and David G. Stone of Elizabethtown; a great-niece, Jessica Meibers; and a great-nephew, Joe Meibers, both of Winchester; and several cousins. In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by an infant son, Gary Field Brown, and a sister, Ida B. Swift. The funeral will be Thursday, Dec. 8 at 3:30 p.m. at Scobee Funeral Home by the Rev. Dennis Wainright, the Rev. Michael Houchens and the Rev. Pat Finley. Per Serena's request, there will be no visitation prior to the service, and due to inclement weather, the funeral will be at the funeral home instead of a graveside service at the cemetery. Burial will be in the Winchester Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, her family requests that memorial donations be made to Central Baptist Church, 101 W. Lexington Ave., Winchester, KY 40391, or Hospice East, 407 Shoppers Drive, Winchester, KY 40391. The online guest book is available at www.scobeefuneralhome.com, and the 24-hour funeral information telephone line can be reached by calling 744-2122.

Brown, Mrs. A. J.	Sudden death Mrs. A.J. Brown died suddenly Saturday evening, at the home of her parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell Sr., in Lexington. Mrs. Brown, whose maiden name was Jean Mitchell and who resided in this city for many years, moved to Elizabeth city, North Carolina, some years ago, but recently came to Lexington to make that place her home. She had felt indisposed for several days previous to her death, but not sufficiently so as to require the services of a physician. Dr. Isaac Browne, of this city, was making a social call on the family when the fatal attack occurred and rendered all assistance possible but without avail and a few minutes after it came the end came. The deceased was about 35 years of age, is survived by her husband, A.J. Brown, her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell, and two bothers, Lee Mitchell, of Pittsbrug, Ky., and A. Mitchell Jr., of Lexington. The remains were brought here on the afternoon train on the L & E yesterday. Services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Wm. Cumming. The remains were buried by the side of her only child in the Winchester cemetery, who died some years ago. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 7, 1908

	Sorrowful, Mission Brings Attorney Brown Back From the South. Mr. George O. Brown, a former student of Kentucky University, but at this time a practicing attorney in San Antonio, is in Lexington on a sorrowful mission. Sometime less than a year ago he married Miss Emma Kilvington, of Jessamine county, one of the sweetest, brightest and most vivacious young women in the State, and took her to his delightful Southern home. Several days ago she died and it was to lay her remains away in the soil of her native State at Versailles that he journeyed back to Kentucky. Those who knew the kindly, chivalrous open-hearted schoolboy here a few years ago will sympathize with him in these hours of his perhaps greatest earthly sorrow. He will

The Semi-Weekly Sun Tuesday, April 29, 1879 The Winchester Sun Thur., 3-25-1954 The Winchester Sun Tues., 7-18-1922 The Winchester Sun Tues., 3-22-1988 The Winchester Sun Tues., 12-15-1981 The Winchester Sun Tues., 7-6-2004 Scobee Funeral Home Web Site 7-5-2004 The Winchester Sun Mon., 7-14-1997 After weeks of patient suffering, Mrs. H. M. Brown died at the home of her son-in-law, J. I. Robinson, this city, yesterday afternoon of consumption, superinduced by la grippe. Mrs. Brown was 58 year of age, and was formerly a Miss Isbell, of Buckenham, Va. She joined the Southern Presbyterian church when she moved to this city about twelve years ago, her first act was to place her letter in the church here. Since her residence in this city by her quiet Christian life, she made a large number of friends, who will learn with sadness of her death. Mrs. Brown leaves three married daughters, Mrs. J. I. Robinson, and Mrs. John W. Williams, of this city and Mrs. W. F. Fretwell of New Hope, Va. All of whom were with her at her death. – Mt. Sterling Gazette. Mrs. Brown formerly resided on Winn Avenue, this city, and has many friends here who will regret to hear of her death. The Winchester Democrat Wednesday, February 10, 1892.

Brown, Mrs. Lee	LOCKED JAILER IN THE CELL.
	Mother of a Prisoner Assisted Him and Another man to Escape.
	Frenchburg, Ky., Nov. 17Monday William Hopkins and Floyd Webb, each sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, escaped from jail in a peculiar manner. Webb's mother visited him, going with jailer Hackney as he took dinner to the prisoners. Some shavings had been placed inside the cell door and the jailer undertook to gather them up. As he stooped Mrs. Webb pushed him in the cell and locked the door. The two prisoners then ran out of the jail and started for the hills. Lee Brown, a prisoner awaiting trial for wife murder, pushed the woman aside and released the jailer. Rev. C.
	W. Williams, a Methodist minister overtook and recaptured Webb. Hopkins was also captured.

Brown, Oscar	Oscar Brown Assassinated He Was Shot While Returning To The Farm From Lexington
	Lexington, Ky., Feb. 23 Oscar Brown, for 20 years the trusted second foreman at the famous McGrathiana Stud of Col. Milton Young, and, until his death, the groom of the famous sire Hanover, was assassinated Saturday night while returning to the farm from the city. He was picked up about midnight dying, with two bullet holes in his body, and taken to the home of his father-in-law, nearby. One story is that two white men, with whom he was riding, shot him, and another is that an enemy fired on him from the roadside.

	her home. Nothing then could have made the men change their resolution to hang him. When the carriage stopped at the jail the mob demanded Brown. The officers protested, the mob insisted, the crowd surged forward against the carriage, the officers gave up the prisoner. He was half dragged, half carried almost unconscious to the courthouse yard. When a tree immediately in front of the building was reached a rope was placed around his neck and hundreds of hands grasped it to swing him up. A few gasps, a few twitches of the face and hands, and it was all over. The Negro was left hanging for several hours, and was viewed by hundreds of people, men women and children, white and black. The mob was a very orderly one, there was no shouting, no loud speeches, all was done quickly and quietly. Instructions to coroner by a county official were to return a verdict of death at hands of unknown men or of citizens of Jessamine county. Miss Powell is a student at the Jessamine institute in this city, and lives at her brother's home, about three miles north. Wednesday evening she started home in company with the Misses Braden, who also lives out of town and attend here. Leaving the Braden girls at their home Miss Powell continued on foot her way to her brother's, about half a mile further on. At a secluded spot an unknown Negro sprang out from the roadside and assaulted her. When she reached her brother's house a half hour later she was so ill and dazed that she could give but little description of her assailant beyond saying that he was a low, heavy-set yellow Negro. The alarm was at once given, and a hunt for the Negro began. Suspicion fell on Tom Brown and he was placed under arrest. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, February 11, 1902

She died some ten years ago and several years later he married Mrs. Catherine Mason, of Henry county, who survives. Eight children also survive him while two of his children are dead. He was a man of strong convictions but thoroughly honest and most highly respected. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 9, 1895.
CITY, COUTNY, STATE-JOSEPH F. JONES was Monday appointed administrator of the estate of E. C. Browning with John W. Hart, J. Frank Lanter and Hub. L. Stevens appraisers. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 26, 1895.
PERRY and H. B. Browning this week purchased the dower right of Mrs. Catherine Browning in the estate of her late husband, E. C. Browning, for $2,000. The estate consists of 300 acres of good land in the Western part of the county. Mrs. Browning waived her right to administer on the estate and at her suggestion, Joseph F. Jones, a friend of the family, was appointed and qualified with H. B. and Perry Browning as sureties. William Browning, Misses Edna and Lucy Coleman Browning and Lula Embry, a granddaughter of the deceased, will live at the old homestead. The Winchester Democrat Friday, July 26, 1895.
By mutual and satisfactory arrangements with the family, Joseph F. Jones has resigned as administrator of E. C. Browning, deceased and Perry Browning and H. B. Browning, sons of the deceased, were appointed. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday July 30, 1895
Remember the sale of E. C. Browning's administrators, Thursday. Read the advertisement in another column. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, August 13, 1895
A large crowd attended the sale of Mr. Ed Browning, Sr. Thursday and things sold well. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday August 27, 1895
In this issue appears the advertisement of the sale of land belonging to the late E. C. Browning. The land is in a good neighborhood, convenient to schools, mills, churches, etc., is well fenced and watered and has good improvements. Incidentally, it may be remarked that Messrs. Perry and Blaydes Browning, as executors held a big sale, took notes for the purchase money and have settled everything without the loss of a dollar and with only one small suit. Such care and circumspection is not often seen. This sale of land, June 30th, is for the purpose of winding up the estate and making a proper distribution of the proceeds. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, June 7, 1898
The lands of the late E. C. Browning, which were advertised to be sold publicly Thursday were withdrawn. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, July 5, 1898
Remember the public sale Tuesday, October 11 th at two o'clock on the premises near Jones nursery, 230 acres of land, the home of the late E. C. Browning. Perry Browning, Agt. The Winchester Democrat Friday, October 7, 1898
THE lands of the late E. C. Browning, which were advertised to be sold Tuesday, were not offered. On account of the severe and continued rains no bidders were present and no sale was attempted. The Winchester Democrat Tuesday, October 18, 1898.

	Cala of the December 1 and Sale of the Browning Land. Perry Browning, as agent for the heirs of the late E. C. Browning, has sold to Dr. Geo.

Browning, James	Death Of James Browning James Browning died about two weeks ago at his home in Monroe, Missouri, of blood poisoning which was produced by an abscess of carbuckle. He was about fifty-five years old and was a native of this county, a son of the late Ed. Browning. His wife, who was Miss Anna Capps, daughter of Charles Capps, of this county, survives him, also five sons, several of them grown. He was quite popular with those who knew him and was a good citizen. He leaves numerous relatives in this county.

Browning, Woodford	LITTLE WOODFORD BROWNING
Browning, woodford	The bright sweet child of H. R. and Lucy B. Browning of Clark county died of membranous croup Jan. 31, 1890, being just five years and one month old. Ordinarily, the death of a child in its innocence, escaping future snares and possible calamities awaiting its development to responsible youth and manhood is pronounced fortunate and felicitous as regards its own safe destiny. And while this is to be admitted, there is another point of view in which such event may be considered. Who can tell what sources of usefulness might not have been opened up in the life if spared, and what streams of blessings might thence flow on through ages to the happiness of generations after generation? We cannot, indeed look into the future, but we know that the government of the universe is conducted in its infinite wisdom and faultless righteousness. And whether its Divine Ruler actually appoints or simply permits an event, faith recognizes the fact that. "He doeth all things well."
	To this view of the matter the judgement of Christian parents accedes, but their hearts yearn for the departed treasure for which ten thousand worlds would be to them no adequate substitute. And this is right. Bereft of a child, the measure of sunshine that departs from parent's heart, reveals the intensity of parental love and affords proof of God's wisdom in making the father and mother responsible for the welfare of their cherished offspring. It is not our capacity to reason as to what is best, but it is our undying affection for our precious children that is most intimately concerned with these sad bereavements through their untimely death. And yet this very feeling lites up the soul to a higher world and makes it dwell with the departed child in the bosom of God;
	fore "Where your treasure is there will your heart be also." In the death of little Woodford, a promising child and one of the gentle ways and sweetness of spirit has left the world. I myself will miss him whenever I am sad about his father's house. He was one of my many little friends with whom it was a pleasure to hold converse on childish subjects and in childish ways. But with higher views and expanded vision he now holds communion with Him who tenderly said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for such is the kingdom of heaven." For his sorrowing parents who so keenly felt this heavy blow the profoundest sympathy of one who has had similar experience over and over again, is here tearfully expressed and a prayer offered for the extension of divine help in this season of trial. L. B. G.

Bruce Peter	The large attendance at the funeral of the late County Clerk P. Edward Bruce at the Baptist church Sunday morning attended the high estimation in which the deceased was held. Although the weather was very inclement the house was crowded with sorrowing friends whom mingled their tears with those of the bereaved ones. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and the funeral discourse by Dr. Bailey was a fitting tribute to the memory of the dead as well as a comfort to the living. While not wholly unexpected the death of Mr. Bruce, which occurred at the home of his mother, Mrs. Eva Bruce, on Highland street Friday night, was a shock to the community in which he had lived since childhood. He was about thirty years of age and had so lived as to gain the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. The Sun-Sentinel Thursday, January 14, 1904.

	New evidence Alleged to have been discovered in the case of Sturgeon Louisville, Ky., - Clarence Sturgeon, who was given the death penalty for the alleged killing of three men, has through his attorney, Capt. Wm. Sweeney, filed a motion and grounds for a new trial. Aside from formal grounds, it is set forth that newly discovered testimony since the trial should entitle the defendant to another hearing. It is said that a big knife was found on Ira Bruner, one of Sturgeon's victims, after the killing, and that the other two men were seen exchanging pistols just prior to the shooting. It has been the contention from the first that Sturgeon fired only in self-defense.

	Information has reached here of the death of Capt. Jack Bruner, who died at his home in Missouri some weeks ago after a long illness of Bright's disease, aged seventy years. He was a native of this county and lived here until late in life when he went to Missouri where he has since lived.
	He was three times married. His first wife was Miss Sallie Baker. After her death he married Mrs. Mary Haggard, the widow of Woodson Haggard, and daughter of the late Jack Lisle. His third wife was Miss Mary Hisle, a daughter of the late Willis Hisle. The last marriage was not a happy one and they soon separated. He leaves two daughters, Misses Tulie and Minnie Bruner, daughters of his second wife. He, at one time had considerable property, but lost it all before his death. He was at one time quite prominent, and during the civil war was Captain of Co. C. Chenault's regiment of Morgan's command. He was the last survivor of a large family of brothers and sisters.

Bruner, John	Clark County Man Killed.
	A special from Jackson, Ky., to the Cincinnati Post of Tuesday says: "It has just come to light that murder has been committed in this county. A man named Holton shot one of the Bruners, killing him instantly. Holton fired two shots, both taking effect in Bruner's head. They were both drinking. Bruner's body was brought here. It was sent to his home at Indian Fields today for burial. The corpse presented a most horrible appearance, as Bruner fell in the fire after he was shot, and his head was almost burned off. Helton has surrendered. The killing was done on French Creek, shout ton miles.
	off. Holton has surrendered. The killing was done on Frozen Creek, about ten miles North of here." The dead man was John Bruner, of this county, a son of Mrs. George Hisle, whose first husband, Henry Bruner, was killed during the war by Joel Elliott. Both Holton and
	Bruner were more or less drunk and a quarrel ensued over some trivial matter. After quarreling for some time the matter was adjusted and all was thought to be over, but as Bruner turned his back, Holton drew his pistol and shot him in the temple, blowing the whole front of his body to pieces. He was raised in this county near West Bend, where two brothers, Brownlow and George still live, and to which point the remains were brought for burial. He leaves a wife and probably children. Bruner, John Bell	Order Book 18; P. 301; May Court 1883 An ancient Claim
	A voluminous suit was filed in the Circuit court here Wednesday by Hamilton & Ray, lawyers of Frankfort. The plaintiffs named number some thirty-five or forty, while the defendants number one hundred and fifty-three. The latter embrace prominent living persons such as J.W. Poynter, Col. H.P. Thomason, the city Board of Education and a number of others of less prominence, comprising many negroes. The defendants include many long since dead, such as John Gordon, Thos. Eginton, Henry Poston, Judge Flanagan and others. Many years ago John Bruner lived in this town where Jas.
	Watson now lives on the corner of what then was Water and Main Cross Streets, but now Maple and Broadway. He died leaving a will by which all his property was to go to his wife for life and after her death to her eight children. The share of one of these, Mrs. Catherine Hamilton, was left in the hands of a trustee, Samuel Jackson, to go to her heirs after death. Mrs. Bruner died in 1869 and shortly after Samuel Taylor died and was succeeded by Joe Bruner as trustee and guardian. The petition alleges that in 1865 Joe Bruner had the property sold and that the proceedings in court by which the sale was ordered were not according to law and the sale therefore illegal. Mrs. Hamilton lived to be 88 years old and died in 1900, and her children and descendants now sue for her part, one seventh, of the John Bruner Estate. It includes the old brick house alluded to above, twenty-three acres in the Massie addition, seven acres in the Oliver addition and thirty-three acres of which is now the negro suburb, Brunerville. The most of this property is now thickly settled which accounts for the large number of defendants. The Winchester Democrat Friday, August 31, 1906
	Motion overruled
	Judge Benton overruled the motion made by a Frankfort attorney to set aside the order of sale by which the estate of John Bell Burner was settled half a century ago and we suppose this will be the last attempt to disturb the validity to the title to this property which is now held by hundreds of persons.
	The Winchester Democrat Friday, April 29, 1910
	Ancient history Circuit clerk Bush received a telephone message Friday that Lester W. Morris, a Frankfort lawyer, would be here at the afternoon session of the Court and would bring up a suit that was settled fifty years ago. He represents Rebecca Dodson and Charles Hamilton who are descendants of John Bell Bruner, who formerly lived in this city and 416

1
	died before the beginning of the Civil War. He resided in the house the corner of Maple and Broadway now occupied by Watson's Store and owned considerable tracts of suburban land. He owned what is known as the Oliver lot and the negro suburb called Brunerville, and also a lot of land near Jackson street. His estate was wound up by an order of sale and distribution entered in the circuit court early in the sixty's, and the Frankfort lawyer asks that this order be set aside and the old case be again opened. He names as defendants the city Board of Education, the colored school house being built on this property, and Jas. W. Oliver, Jr., who formerly owned the Oliver lot, which was sold to J.W. Poynter. Some two or three years ago a similar suit was filed by another Frankfort lawyer against about seventy five persons who now have houses on the Bruner land, but these cases were finally dismissed for want of prosecution.

Bruton, David	Died-Near Hallsville, Boone county, Missouri, on April the 9 th , 1872, David Bruton, in
,	the 68 th year of his age. Mr. Bruton's death was a sad bereavement to his many relatives and friends. But they are consoled by the knowledge that he was a pure and just man, and a true Christian. He was killed by falling from a loaded wagon and the wheels passing over his body. He moved from Montgomery county about 20 years ago, to Boone county, Missouri. He married a daughter of Col. Francis Jackson, formerly of this county, who still survives him. His death will be regretted by all who knew him, and who admire the character of a just and honorable man.

Bruton, Paul	Legacy of service: Bruton remembered as engineer, firehouse cook
	Paul Bruton was many things. He was a career firefighter and engineer for Winchester Fire-EMS. He delivered flowers for the Flower House. He was a skilled chef, a straight-faced storyteller and a prankster. "Normally he drove the truck," Winchester Fire-EMS Chief Cathy Rigney said. "He was a solid engineer. You never had to worry about

1	getting water if Paul Bruton was on the truck." Bruton passed away Monday. Bruton retired from the fire department in 2002 after more than 20 years. Former fire chief Danny Castle said he was one of several firefighters who were fired, and later rehired, following a strike in 1976 over working conditions and pay at the department. The only ones left, Castle said, were the chief, assistant chief and training officer. Bruton returned in 1982, according to city records, and spent most of the time running the truck and cooking on his shift. "Paul could cook but he was slow," Castle said. "He came in one morning with a half bushel of apples" and said he was making apple butter. For the entire day, Bruton peeled and cooked apples. "Around midnight, we put a pan of biscuits in" and started eating, Castle said. Rigney said Bruton usually fixed breakfast and dinner on his shift. If there was anything left, the next shift had leftovers for lunch.
	"When you asked what his secret was, he'd always smile and say it was cooked with love," Rigney said. Those who worked with Bruton had their favorite meals. "Fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy," Rigney said, without pausing to think. "I always liked his potato soup," said Fire-EMS administrative assistant Janet Hackworth. "That was the only day I ate down here." "My daughter said he made the best meatloaf, bar none," Castle said. After he retired in 2002, Bruton would keep in touch with the firefighters. "Even after he retired, at any function we had, he'd show up," Rigney said.
	"He didn't put his 20 (years) in and go. If he saw the guys sitting out, he'd swing in and visit." Bruton was well-known throughout Winchester, and he knew the town just as well. It paid off on fire scenes, not only from knowing the streets and house numbers, but also from knowing the residents or neighbors to find more information, Rigney said.
	It could be a challenge in other situations. "If you went to the store with him, plan on two hours," Rigney said, while Bruton chatted with people. That affability also paid off around the station. "He was a guy you wanted to be around," Castle said. Bruton was one of the veterans when Rigney joined the department as part of the merger with the ambulance service. "As a rookie coming in, he was very nice to me and had the utmost patience with the new guys," Rigney said. "He would always make you laugh. It seemed like his timing was always great. If you needed (a laugh), he was always there to give you one." Visitation will be from 5 to 7 p.m. Friday at Broadway Baptist Church and the funeral service will be at noon Saturday at Broadway Christian Church.
