Bigfoot Adventures with Charlie Raymond

Friday, November 1st, 6:00

Charlie Raymond is the founder of the Kentucky Bigfoot Research Organization and a Kentucky BFRO investigator. He has been researching Bigfoots in Kentucky for over three decades and has interviewed over 500 credible eyewitnesses. With a degree in Psychology from the University of Florida, Charlie utilizes his knowledge of human behavior when interviewing witnesses to determine credibility, exaggeration and embellishment. He tries to make as certain as possible the encounters he documents are legit. As a passionate, die-hard, boot-on-the-ground researcher, he leads numerous private and public expeditions, acquiring a wealth of knowledge and evidence in the process. He is NOT one of these arm-chair researchers, rather he spends almost every weekend in the woods in search of answers. Charlie has appeared on The Animal Planet, The History Channel and The BBC. Casts from Kentucky will be on display and his very successful book, Bluegrass Bigfoot: Encounters With The Kentucky Wildman will be available for signings. Space is limited; please register.

Native Seed Swap

Saturday, November 2nd, 9:00-1:00

Join Growing Natives KY– Clark County for our very first native seed giveaway and swap! You’re invited to bring any native seeds you’d like to share with the community. If you don’t have seeds to contribute, that’s okay! We’ll be offering free native seed starter packs, complete with detailed planting and care instructions to help you begin your journey with native plants.
