Learn @ The Library: Mourning in Kentucky in the 1800's

Thursday, January 23rd

Potluck 6:00; Program 6:30

Mourning the dead was an important part of life in the 19th century. Cynthia Williams Resor will begin her time-travel tour of this culture of mourning in Kentucky cemeteries by examining the symbols on tombstones and their meanings. Explore customs and beliefs associated with death through the eyes of 19th-century writers and artifacts of mourning such as hair mourning jewelry, stationery, clothing. Finally, we'll visit the new funeral parlors of the late 1800s and memorial park cemeteries of the early 1900s to discover why mourning customs changed. If you would like to join us for the potluck meal, please bring a dish and arrive at 6:00. If you would just prefer to hear the program, it starts at 6:30. Sponsored by Kentucky Humanities Space is limited; please register.
